

WALLA WALLA WHEAT CROP STILL PERFECT

Walla Walla, Feb. 24.—Another week's end finds this grain crop of the Walla Walla valley in perfect condition. The weather of the week just ended was warm, and rainy; and when made was warm, and rainy; and when made the ground. The roots are taking hold in good shape, and when warmer weather comes, the grain will shoot into the air rapidly.

There was no cold weather, it was cool enough to check the growth of grain above ground, and this was beneficial in a great measure to the fall grown crops. The ground is becoming more covered with green, and wheat is better advanced than at this time last year. More than an inch of moisture, rain and snow, fell during the week.

Spring planting has been delayed in the heavy soils by the rains, but nevertheless there will be much of this done, and much spring grain sown on it. Summerfallow lands will be less in acreage than for years.

A more than average amount for the good of the grain crops of the valley, in the tendency towards the utilization of the summerfallow lands for other crops. Potatoes, beans and corn are being planted in large quantities throughout the valley, and will add heavily to the production of the district. More than that, these crops do not detract from the fertility of the soil, prevent baking during the summer, and keep the ground clean by cultivation.

Some 250 acres of beans will be planted in the valley this year, it is estimated, most of this being in the West on district. Potatoes in the foothill region will be planted in large quantities, and probably 500 acres will be harvested in the higher land country, and immediately around Walla Walla, corn will be planted quite generally, probably 300 or 400 acres.

The market has been quiet during the week, the usual run of small sales having recorded, with but few large deals pulled off.

SHEEP SHEARING TO START VERY EARLY

Sheep shearing to start very early.

Walla Walla, Wash., Feb. 24.—That

100,000 sheep will be shorn in this district this year is the statement made by shepherds of the district, who have been invited to attend a conference with Forest Supervisor J. M. Schmitz of the Wenaha re serves where the sheep are grazed.

The wool crop will be the earliest and will run well over three quarters of a million pounds.

As there is every indication that the price of wool will be high, the revenue from the sheep should be large this year.

Lambing season is expected to bring forth about 40,000 mutton babies, and sheepmen are now preparing for this.

This season, they state, has so far been favorable to the shepherds.

Shearing will begin early next month in most places of the valley, it being the intention to get the work done earlier than in the past.

The Wenaha district includes sheep from the Walla Walla valley and eastern Oregon.
