One Killed in Gilman House Fire: Roosevelt Says He Will Take Nomination

LEAPS TO DEATH TO ESCAPE FLAME; HUNDRED SAVED

M. Rice, Lodger, Becoming Dazed With Fright, Jumps Three Stories When Fire Attacks Gilman Hotel.

GUESTS FLEE DOWN THE FIRE ESCAPES

Man Dies Suddenly Following His Experience; Firemen Aid in Rescue Work.

One man met a tragic death by jumping from a third story window, another died of heart failure and 100 guests were driven from bed and escaped down fire escapes as result of a fire which at 6:30 o'clock today gutted the three upper floors of the Gilman hotel, First and Alder streets.

Apparently crazed by the flames which threatened him from behind, a Greek whose name is supposed to be M. Rice, leaped from the third floor to the street below, breaking his neck and injuring himself badly otherwise. While being taken to St. Vincent's hospital in the patrol automobile he died and his body was removed to the morgue.

The fire started apparently from defective wiring on the second floor just behind the old elevator shaft and before it was discovered by A. W. McCormick, an employe of the hotel, at 6:10 o'clock, it had gained such headway that all hope of escape by the stairway was cut off.

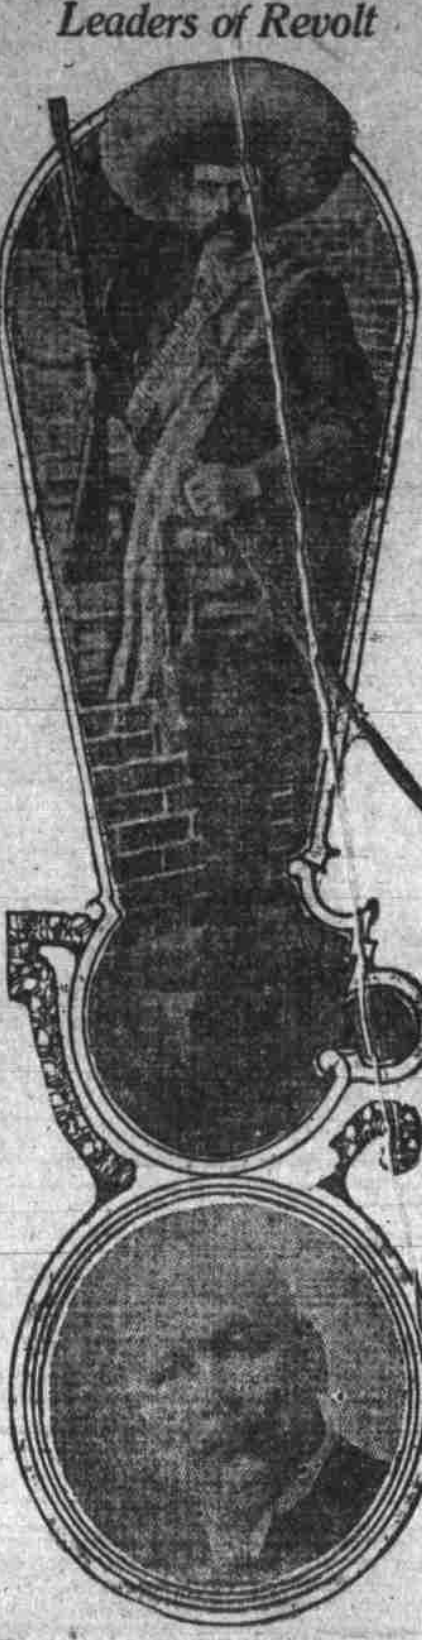

As soon as the firemen arrived they raised the ladders and the work of rescue began. Over 100 lodgers were in the building and practically all of them were taken down by ladders and the fire escapes. Two women were carried down by the firemen—Mrs. A. W. McCormick, wife of the clerk, from the second floor, and Mrs. G. Peterson and her four young children from the third floor.

The man who was killed was in one of the rooms on Alder street and could easily have been saved had he gone to a window in his room. He evidently became confused and instead ran into a room on the first street side. In the next room to the one into which he ran was the window leading to the fire escape and people were going down the escape at the time.

Several others are not accounted for, and have probably gone on to work. One man by the name of Roberts is supposed to be in Vancouver, where he

Mrs. Willis Brown and Jack Wilson Found in Road Near Tacoma, Skulls Crushed.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 26.—Men starting for the Puget Sound at Larchmont early today found the bodies of a man and woman, their skulls crushed with a blunt instrument, lying in the road. The victims are Mrs. Willis Brown, of Larchmont, and Jack Wilson, a butcher employed by the Great Western Meat company in the public market here. Wilson and Mrs. Brown came into Tacoma last night to spend the evening, returning on the last car. The bodies were found 200 feet from the carline on the road to the Brown home.

ALLIED REBEL FORCES MOVE UPON JUAREZ; CITIZENS ARM SELVES

Four Hundred Civilians Will Make Effort to Resist Insurrecto Attack and Hold City.

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 26.—The combined forces of Colonels Campa, Rojas and Salazar, consisting of 1700 rebels, left Bauche early today to attack Juarez, and fighting is momentarily expected. Bauche is but 12 miles below Juarez.

Juarez is practically defenseless. Although Colonel Villa, commanding 300 federals, is reported 50 miles south of the city, it will be impossible for him to arrive there in time, and several companies of citizens, numbering 400 men, have organized for the defense of the city.

HE FINDS $3,000,000 ANNOYS; GIVES IT AWAY

New York, Feb. 26.—Henry Phipps, millionaire and former partner of Andrew Carnegie, it was learned here today, has handed out a bunch of presents amounting to $3,000,000. He gave $1,000,000 to each of his three sons, John S. Henry Carnegie and Howard. The gifts are in Chicago real estate.

CONVICT BARRETT KNEW JUST WHERE GOLD BULLION LAY

He and Warden Curtis Pretended to Go Fishing but in Reality Went to Dig on Mehama, Or., Farm.

THIS TREASURE HUNT WAS EASY; AUTO TAKES THEM

Governor Appealed to Barrett "On His Honor" to Make Clean Breast.

Salem, Or., Feb. 26.—Recognition of Charles A. Barrett, serving time at the state penitentiary, when he passed through Stayton, a station between here and Mehama, Saturday afternoon, in company with Warden Curtis of the penitentiary, fixes the identity of the prisoner who made the confession to Governor West regarding the robbery of the $57,000 of gold bullion from the steamer Humboldt in Alaska in September, 1910.

How many men Barrett implicated with him in the robbery is not known, except James E. Wheelan, formerly proprietor of a saloon in Portland; Frank Caviness, serving a year's sentence at McNell's Island; Orville Caviness, serving time in San Quentin, and a man named Thomas.

It is believed there are others, but Governor West and Warden Curtis absolutely refuse to give any information. They refuse to say whether Barrett is the man who confessed, but enough is known to leave no doubt as to that part of it.

Barrett led Warden Curtis to the spot where the bullion was buried, on the ranch of his father-in-law, George Sims, about half a mile from Mehama station, on the Corvallis & Eastern, about 26 miles from here, Saturday morning. The trip was made in an automobile, the two men being accompanied by a third man whose identity is not known.

But instead of going toward the Santiam river they cut across the field toward Stout creek and stopped about 300 yards north of the house, at the edge of a field and near two small waterfalls. There one of the men, probably Barrett, was seen digging. This was about noon. Then the two

LAWRENCE POLICE CLUB WOMEN AND MEN; SCORES HURT

Officers in Face of Protests From Over All Country, Brutally Beat Parading Textile Strikers.

STRIKEBREAKER IS SHOT WHILE RUNNING AWAY

Unionists Assert Authorities Believed Him Demonstrant and Fired at Him.

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 26.—Brutal clubbing of women today again featured the strike of the textile workers here, the police ignoring protests from every section of the country to Governor Eugene N. Foss that the persecution of women cease. Scores of women were knocked to the ground, the police raining blows after blows on the heads of the procession of strikers, paying absolutely no heed to sex.

Again Charge Strikers. Evidently dissatisfied with their work, the police, after the strikers had dispersed, boarded automobiles, rushed ahead and again charged groups of strikers, as they were going quietly to their homes.

Despite the clubbing, some of the men, women and children continued their march, singing. After each attack they calmly reformed in line and marched toward their homes.

Accounts of the affray differ. The police charge that 15 special policemen were marching quietly along the street when a tenement house window was opened and a hand holding a revolver was thrust out. The weapon, the police as-

THREE CENT FARE FIGHT NOW LOOMS IN CITY COUNCIL

Clyde Ordinance Providing for Reduced Rates on Street-car Lines Between Certain Hours Certain to Bring War

GRANT SAYS COUNCIL MAY PASS ORDINANCE

Aldermanic Body Must Do Investigating; Three Lines Affected.

Portending one of the most bitter fights in the history of municipal law-making in Portland is the ordinance filed in the city auditor's office today on the question of the validity of the so-called "3 cent fare" ordinance drafted several months ago by Commitman Ralph C. Clyde. The city attorney investigated the legal phases of the ordinance in detail and his 5000 word communication to the council represents nearly six weeks of research. He states, in brief, that it is within the province of the city council to pass the Clyde ordinance providing that the reduction contemplated in street car rates is, in the opinion of the council, reasonable.

That every legal expedient will be invoked by the street car interests to defeat the Clyde ordinance is a foregone conclusion. It is looked upon as the opening wedge for a general 3 cent fare rate, such as the city of Cleveland is now enjoying. From present appearances the vote in the council will be about evenly divided, though the final outcome cannot be predicted with any degree of accuracy this early.

Must Proceed With Care. One of the most powerful elements in the city council is the coteries of men who are avowedly sympathizers of organized labor. The Clyde ordinance would be of great benefit to all the laboring classes, as the reduction in the rates applies to the "rush hours" of the day, when the army of wage earners are going to or coming from their daily tasks.

Provisions of Ordinance. The Clyde ordinance provides that public service corporations owning or operating street railway lines within the limits of the city shall be required to reduce the rate of fare between the hours of 5:30 and 8:30 a. m. and between the hours of 5:30 and 7:30 p. m., and that such companies shall be re-

Hardly Had Letter to Governors Cooled Before Active Work Began; Colonel Expected to Visit Arizona.

T. R.'s Reply to Governors. (United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Feb. 26.—The text of the remarkably brief letter of Theodore Roosevelt to eight Republican governors, urging them to become candidates for the Republican presidential nomination follows. Dated New York, February 24, the letter says:

Gentlemen: I deeply appreciate your letter, and I realize to the full the heavy responsibility it puts upon me, expressing as it does the carefully considered convictions of the man elected by popular vote to stand as the head of government in their several states.

"I absolutely agree with you that this matter is not one to be decided with any reference to the personal preferences or interests of any man, but purely from the standpoint of the interests of the people as a whole.

Very truly yours, "THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Clashes With Committee. He said he had not voted for the law, but he accepts it, and if it is to be changed, people should change it.

Workman freed of conspiracy charge

Los Angeles, Feb. 26.—The case of F. Ira Bender, union laborite, charged with conspiring to blow up the Hall of Records here, was dismissed in the superior court today on motion of Deputy District Attorney Horton. Horton, in his motion, stated that the evidence in possession of the state was insufficient to authorize him to ask for a jury conviction.
