 Tomorrow Is Last Day of Our Great Semi-Annual Sale of Notions and Dressmakers' Supplies — Provide Needs for Spring Sewing

THE MEIER & FRANK CO., 5TH, 6TH, MORRISON, ALDER

WEATHER REPORT—Fair today.

THE MEIER & FRANK COMPANY, ESTABLISHED 1857

Wheels Start A-Turning at 9 o'Clock Tomorrow Morning in Greatest Industrial Show Portland Ever Witnessed!

HOW many Oregonians know what this wonderful section in which we live produces? How many women know that much of the beautiful dress goods is woven right here where the wool is grown? How many of us realize that men's shirts and overalls, trunks, blankets, mattresses, pottery, gas mantles and numerous other necessities and luxuries are manufactured in Oregon for Oregonians?

At 9 o'clock tomorrow morning will be given the signal which starts the wheels of our Second Annual "Made-in-Oregon" Exposition in motion. The thousands who come tomorrow will see Dress Goods woven on a full-sized loom right in the department. They will see the dozens of young women from Neustadt er Bros.' factory making shirts and overalls.

And many other exhibits, where actual manufacturing will be done, are scattered in the various departments from fifth floor to basement. Visit all of them—a complete list here:
In the Basement—
 Portland Rice Milling Company—Manufacturing "Rice Hearts."
 Western Gas Mantle Company—Manufacturing Gas Mantles.
 Pacific Stoneware Company—Manufacturing Pottery.
 Coffman Candy Company—Making Coffman's Society Chocolates.

On First Floor—
 Fleischner, Mayer & Co.—Full size loom from the Thomas Kay Woolen Mills, Salem, weaving Dress Goods.
On Second Floor—
 Paris Hat & Dye Works—Manufacturing hat frames in Millinery department.
On Fourth Floor—
 Multnomah Trunk & Bag Co.—Manufacturing of Trunks.

Portland Upholstered Furniture Company—Manufacturing exhibit.
 Carman Manufacturing Company—Making of Mattresses.
 H. W. Thompson—Manufacturing of wire Bed Springs.
On Fifth Floor—
 Neustadt er Brothers—Manufacturing "Boss of the Road" Overalls in Men's Clothing department.
 Neustadt er Brothers—Manufacturing "Standard" Shirts; 10 Machine.

On Fifth Floor—
 Multnomah Mohair Mills, Sellwood—Full-sized loom weaving mohair dress goods, men's suitings, linings and auto-top cloth. Only mohair mill west of the Mississippi river.
 Willamette Tent & Awning Company—Manufacturing awnings, tents, men's waterproof clothing, etc.
 Pennant Manufacturing Co.—Making of pennants, banners, flags, etc.
 Kiser Hand-Colored Pictures—Exhibit of newest Oregon subjects.

Portland—Second Manufacturing City on the Coast!

EVEN the broad lines on which this great "Made-in-Oregon" Exposition is planned, can give but a faint idea of the extent which Oregon has reached in manufacturing the last few years.
 Portland, the second manufacturing city of the coast—and gaining every day! Oregon products are shipped by carload and cargo to Washington, Idaho, Montana, California—to far off Alaska and Hawaiian Islands. Its woollens and mohairs find a place on leading markets of America.
 Oregon factories today number over 700. The capital invested approximates $45,000,000. The output is $75,000,000. The number of employes 28,000, with a payroll of $22,500,000.
 Every man, woman and child for miles around should see this wonderful assemblage of manufacturing exhibits which comprises the second annual "Made-in-Oregon" Exposition which opens tomorrow at Meier & Frank's.

Chic Spring Dresses at $20
