To Learn Forestry-In order to help in the work of conserving the forest wealth of Oregon and neighboring states the Portland Young Men's Christian Association has just announced the addi-tion of forestry to the curriculum of its educational department. A short course of six weeks will be provided, lectures being given each Wednesday evening on the fourth floor of the Y. M. C. A. building. The course will be conducted by T. T. Munger, a graduate of the Yale School of Forestry, and in charge of one of the local departments of the government forest service. Mr. Munger has made a close study of the forests of the Pacific northwest, and is said to be eminently fitted to deliver such a series of lectures as is contemplated. The course will take up the subject of reforestation, protection against fires. forest nurseries. timber estimating and the duties of officials of the forest service. In all of these topics the study will be applied particularly to forests of the Pacific northwest. The Oregon Agricultural College is now the only institution in the state conducting a course in forestry, and the Y. M. C. A. officials feel that opportunity for this study in Portland is desirable.
