

WOMEN'S UNION TO CONSTRUCT BUILDING THAT WILL PROVIDE ALL WHO MAY APPLY FOR ACCOMMODATIONS.

An average of 20 girls a week are being turned away from the girls' home of the Women's union at Fifteenth and Flinders street, because the demand for a home for girls away from home has far exceeded the building's capacity.

The girls' home is an institution that is self-sustaining where girls who work get room and board and wholesome surroundings without field discipline at as low a price as is consistent with the cost of operation.

At a meeting of the official board of the Women's Union yesterday afternoon a plan for raising the fund will be adopted.

The pledge to the public is that the home when built will be self-sustaining, that construction cost shall not be more than is needed for safe, plain, comfortable, fireproof quarters.

DELEGATION DEES COLUMBIA SLOUGH

J. Woods Smith.

City Engineer Hurlbut, 12 members of the city council and a delegation of 60 prominent citizens of the city made a trip through the Columbia slough yesterday with a view to ascertaining if the proposed plan of the city engineer to make it a great freshwater ship channel is feasible or not.

An expenditure of $250,000 would make a remarkable showing, declared Mr. Hurlbut yesterday, "and would add 12 miles of water front to the local harbor. The dredging would not cost more than 3 cents a yard. I believe it would be necessary to widen the channel to 400 feet and to make it 30 feet deep.

World Help Bear Expense. If this is done the current from the Columbia river will be accelerated sufficiently so that the slough would become a sanitary outlet for the sewage of the entire peninsula and the city would be saved hundreds of thousands of dollars in the cost of the sewerage system now being planned for that locality.

Property owners of the peninsula in the locality of the slough have expressed their willingness to bear a part of the expense of the dredging project. It is their intention to call a mass meeting in the near future to consider a scheme of cooperation with the city and a committee will be delegated at the meeting to hold a conference with a committee of the city council to discuss ways and means.

Better Dock System. Enthusiastic advocates of the ship channel idea say that its fruition would mean the addition of millions of dollars to the annual tax rolls in the immensely increased property valuations that will ensue. It is pointed out that the slough would be convenient to the great railway systems, both the Harriman and Hill lines crossing the peninsula at points from which a system of spur tracks and belt lines could be easily and economically constructed.

The party which visited the slough yesterday were taken down on three steam yachts, the Sea Otter, the harbor patrol boat Eldor, and the Marie, flagship of the Port of Portland fleet.

ADVENTISTS DONATE MUCH TO MISSIONS

A. G. Daniels, president of the general conference of Seventh Day Adventists, and chairman of the foreign mission board, said yesterday morning, in a speech at Women of Woodcraft hall, that the Sabbath schools of the denomination had raised $135,000 to missions last year, and that this amount will reach at least $150,000 this year.

He described the healing of a leper in India through prayer and faith in Christ. This man, he said, had suffered terrible tortures from the dreaded disease. But for 10 years, the speaker said, he has lived in a healed condition.

No meetings were held in the Adventist churches of the city today, all the church members uniting in the union service at Women of Woodcraft hall. Elder Daniels is also speaking this afternoon at the same place.

Speaking of missionary work, he said that the $150,000 to be raised this year will support 200 missionaries; that the average expense of a foreign missionary is $700 a year.

"We have 75 missionaries in India," he said, "and they are trying to reach 300,000 persons."

"The strongest evidence of the genuineness of a movement is that it fulfills a prophecy of God's word. We have thousands of men, hundreds in the ministry and doing co-operative work, living lives of self-denial, receiving in many cases meager salaries, who have no thought of laying up anything in this life, who are not engaged in speculation, and it is worth our while to be sure our belief is genuine. If this word is genuine, and I could cite many proofs that we are engaged in a mission which we are engaged in upon a firm foundation."

Elder Daniels told of a soldier in the German army, who, he said, had been kept in solitary confinement, and was bitterly persecuted because he kept Saturday as the Sabbath. But this man has now been pardoned, he said.

MAY MAKE EXCURSION ACROSS CONTINENT. It has been suggested that some time in the future the Portland manufacturing and business interests arrange an excursion across the continent with an excursion to the goal. C. C. Chapman, manager of the Portland Commercial club promotion department, is discussing the matter with members of the board and has already received a great deal of favorable comment.

"Portland has business men and manufacturers representing a purchasing power of $100,000,000," said Mr. Chapman yesterday, "and it would be a splendid thing for the business men to take a trip across the continent on a special train. It would extend their acquaintance to all parts of the states and incidentally it would mean a great deal of publicity for Oregon."

PAIR WEDS WIFE AIR MAIL TO HAVE 3D WEDDING

Hansel Harrison Hicks and Ida Allen Hicks of Portland Meet Storms From Outside in Married Life. (Special to The Journal.) Everett, Wash., March 2.—Hansel Harrison Hicks and Ida Allen Hicks of Portland, where they have resided since last September, will probably have to be married for the third time as a result of an old matrimonial mix-up.

Early in 1905 Hicks resided with his first wife, Maggie Hicks. In Alaska she went to Sacramento, Cal., and while she was there Hicks sued for divorce in Alaska, sending the summons to San Diego instead of Sacramento. He was awarded a decree of divorce by the Alaska court. A few months later he came to Everett and was married to Ida Allen Hicks, who declared void the Alaska divorce secured by Hicks from his first wife, Maggie.

He was awarded a decree of divorce by the Alaska court. A few months later he came to Everett and was married to Ida Allen Hicks, who declared void the Alaska divorce secured by Hicks from his first wife, Maggie.

Maggie Hicks, whom he had married and from whom he had obtained a divorce decree in Alaska last January, filed suit in the King county superior court for divorce from him, alleging the decree granted in Alaska was void. Hicks and Ida Allen Hicks came to Everett, February 7, the day following the hearing, and on the advice of their attorneys were remarried. On February 14, Judge Elbertson ruled that the Alaskan divorce decree was void and that Maggie Hicks was entitled to a decree of divorce from her husband.

This meant that the marriage of Hicks and Ida Allen Hicks in 1905 and the second marriage here last February 7 were void. Hicks, however, appealed to the supreme court from the ruling of Judge Elbertson on the Alaska divorce of 1905. On a complaint sworn out by Attorney G. R. Metzger, counsel for Hicks, Hicks filed suit against Hicks in King county, the twice married but possibly not yet married pair were arrested at Tacoma Friday night.

Hicks is a witness in one of the cost fraud cases in Alaska and is subpoenaed to answer as a witness in the federal court here. He will sail tomorrow morning.

He declined to disclose the identity of the buyers.
