

ROOSEVELT LOSES SUPPORT OF MANY ROYAL FOLLOWERS

Progressives Disgusted With Entry of Ex-President Into Presidential Race; Division of Forces May Mean Defeat

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.)
Washington, March 5.—Perhaps the French seeress who predicts that neither Roosevelt nor Taft will be the next president is right, although Taft continues to annex instructed delegates while Roosevelt is also beginning an active campaign. Many of the progressives are very much disgusted at Roosevelt's entry into the race for they see their own chiefs deserting La Follette and assembling under the banner of the rough rider. La Follette, protesting at the "treachery" of his late followers, is grimly recuperating his powers and straining at the leash in his anxiety to plunge once more into the anti-election fray. The Taft supporters do not see how the president can lose in the convention, with a big block of southern delegates at his back before he even begins the fight. They do not look for trouble from La Follette, or Cummins, or in fact anyone but Roosevelt. There may be a "dark horse," but at present it is not even suspected whence he will come.

In the Democratic Ranks.
Enthusiastic campaign warhorses are busy in a dozen Democratic camps with their favorite candidates. Here too there are "progressive" and "reactionary" candidates, although the latter term is not one of Democratic origin or application. "Conservatives" probably would please them better. Harmon is a type of the latter, and word comes from Wall street that he is acceptable there.

Wilson is touted as a model progressive. He is clean cut, scholarly, a pleasing—even captivating—speaker, and a good fellow who can outgilds like a winner. Just now it looks as if Champ Clark, the plain and honest champion of the "plai. peepul," were Wilson's principal opponent. He has won his own state, split Oklahoma, and is giving Wilson the fight of his life in Kansas. Clark is experienced, honest and sane.

Underwood is openly in the fight. His campaign was virtually launched by the fruit importers of New York city at a banquet given him last summer at the close of the extra session. His wife was a testimonial by the Italian and Sicilian fruit men who wished to show their appreciation of the effort made by Underwood to put lemons on the free list. Many persons do not realize the strength of the Italian vote, but Mr. Underwood does, and so does Congressman Burton Harrison, who was also anxious to get lemons on the free list, and who at this session was the instrument used to carry the duty on olive oil "out of deference" to our citizens of Mediterranean birth. It would be strange if a president were elected on the lemon and olive oil issue.

No One Wants Second Place.
There is no scramble for second place. Perhaps John Hays Hammond may open his sack again. It's full to burst, and he doesn't care for expense if he sees anything to be gained. Chamberlain is often mentioned on the Democratic side and it's conceded that he would make a safe and desirable candidate. But so is Foss suggested and he comes from the far opposite coast. That question is not bothering the slate makers very much. The leavings of the job in making the head of the ticket will usually be used to furnish material for the second place. It doesn't seem likely that Sherman will again be nominated. Perhaps the Democrats may select Hearst, especially if Clark be chosen. Hearst could run as a candidate and his strength in New York would be a help. The conventions are but a little way off now and congress is already showing an anxiety to shorten up its program and adjourn so that its members can take a good rest in the making of the tickets and in getting themselves reelected.

Oregon Politics.
Both congressmen from Oregon are actively working for re-nomination. They have filed their petitions and feel very hopeful for success. At home, it is heard in Washington that the aspirants for the seats in the house, and there will be something of a scramble at the primaries.

Senator Chamberlain, not being in need of looking for his own safety, is putting in good talks for Governor Wilson, and is making speeches whenever he can find time to do so for the Oregon system, and belittling the good opportunities ambitious men can find in Oregon. Senator Bourne is working very hard, keeping his a dozen clerks and stenographers busy and conducting his campaign for reelection at long range.

Democratic Senate, Perhaps.
Republicans are openly anxious regarding the results of the elections because of the probable effect on the senate. It will take but a few changes from Republicans to Democrats to give the upper house a majority on the Democratic side. Then when a tariff reform measure comes from the house it will have more chance to be enacted and the "interests" (that mysterious aggregation of which we hear so much and identify so seldom) will be on the anxious seat. There seems to be no reason to think that the Democratic majority in the house will be reduced or overcome for some time. It's far more likely that there will be a Democratic senate—yes, and a Democratic president. "It's about time," say the political forecasters, scanning the political heavens and professing to see there certain well defined evidences of a political deluge.

Hours on Tariff Commission.
Senator Bourne of Oregon believes in a tariff commission to provide a basis for tariff legislation. "While I differ from the president fundamentally in many ways," said he to The Journal correspondent, "regarding questions of government, yet I think the president is right regarding the tariff board. Congress should receive the views of such a body and the information it could gather as specialists, before undertaking legislation on the tariff. For years I have been in favor of a nonpartisan tariff board or commission on the lines of the interstate commerce commission, to collect and collate data, information, facts; to tabulate this information and present it for the information of congress, together with the views of the commission itself—the deductions of the members of the board based on the information collected."

"With some 20,000 items submitted to the committee on ways and means, and the committee on finance, and some 4000 items included in the Payne-Aldrich bill, it is perfectly evident that no member of congress not connected with either of these committees could formulate any intelligent opinion or come to any intelligent conclusion on those subjects, even though he devoted his entire time in congress exclusively to the tariff. "Nothing will come of the present attempt to revise the tariff in the unscientific manner."

TO HONOR MEMORY OF INVENTOR OF MONITOR

Next Saturday, March 9, is the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of the Monitor and the Merrimac at Hampton Roads. In honor of the memory of John Ericsson, inventor of the Monitor, celebrations will be held in various parts of the United States under the auspices of Swedish-American organizations or committees.

In Portland the exercises will be held in the Swedish Tabernacle, Seventeenth and Gilman streets, Saturday evening. Admission will be free upon presentation of tickets secured in advance, and it was stated today by W. W. Lindgren, who has charge of the distribution of the tickets, that the entire seating capacity of the tabernacle has already been reserved.

Governor West will be one of the principal speakers. Others will be Rev. B. J. Thoren, Swedish Vice Consul Valdemar Lidell, Attorney Waldemar Seton and David E. Lofgren and F. W. Longren, editor of Oregon Posten. A united chorus, composed of the several choruses of the Swedish churches in Portland, will sing the American and Swedish national anthems under the direction of Professor Charles Swenson, and solo numbers will be rendered by E. E. Egan and Miss Christine Olson. Mrs. C. O. Young will recite a poem descriptive of the historic battle. Rev. J. Richard Olson will close with prayer, after which the audience will join with the chorus in the singing of "America."

LEADERS OF DRAMA TO APPEAR FOR 'MOVINGS'

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, March 5.—Vaudeville, then the "movies." Madame Sarah Bernhardt, Herbert Tree and Madame Rejane, after listening to the lure of the "two-a-day" have agreed that they will also lend themselves as attractions for the motion picture shows. At the office of the Kinemaolor company here it was announced today that contracts for the appearance of the three noted stars, European leaders of the drama, have been signed. Tree will appear in the vaudeville sketch he is now presenting in London music halls, but the French actress will perpetuate their greatest successes—Bernhardt in "Camille," and Rejane in "Madame Sans Gene."

No intimation of the salaries the stars are to receive was given.

HOUN' DOG SONG DOES NOT APPEAL TO HADLEY

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Jefferson City, Mo., March 5.—Governor Herbert S. Hadley has kicked the famous Missouri "houn' dawg" song around. He will not consider that among the songs to be warbled extensively before the people of Missouri before a referendum vote is taken for a state song.

ANNIVERSARY OF BOSTON "MASSACRE" OF 1770
(Special to The Journal.)
Boston, Mass., March 5.—The local historical and patriotic societies today held exercises in observance of the one hundredth and forty-second anniversary of the "Boston Massacre," on March 5, 1770, which claimed three of the patriots who were defending their homes and demanding their rights against the onslaughts of the British troops, who had made life anything but pleasant to the people of Boston during the period after the repeal of the Stamp Act.
