WORKMAN KILLED BY FALL FROM TOP OF LIPMAN-WOLFE BLDG.

N. J. Roche, Bricklayer, Drops 160 Feet When Cornice Is Dislodged.

N. J. Roche, a bricklayer, married, employed on the Lipman-Wolfe building, who resided at 117 Eighteenth street, was almost instantly killed at 1:40 o'clock, this afternoon, when the piece of cornice at the top of the building, where he was working, gave way. He dropped a distance of 160 feet to the street. In falling he grabbed a piece of terra cotta, but it came loose and fell to the ground with the man. The accident caused excitement among the pedestrians on the street. Some crowded around the victim in morbid curiosity, while others turned away from the shocking scene. Roche had just returned to work from lunch when the accident occurred. He was working on the cornice of the building near the top, finishing the inlay work, when, without a second of warning, a large piece of the terra cotta work broke loose and the workman fell from the dizzy height to his death. He was picked up by several pedestrians, who, with the assistance of Patrolman Houston, carried him across the street into the entrance of the Yeon building. At first it was thought that he was only badly hurt, but upon the arrival of the Red Cross ambulance it was learned that life was extinct. The body was removed to the morgue.

FATHER OF BANKER WHO SLEW BOYCE KILLED BY TENANT

Sire of Amarillo Financier Who Shot Parent of Elger Murdered by Farmer Who Then Ends Own Life.

LEAVES NOTE SAYING REVENGE WAS MOTIVE

Slayer Meets Minister in the Postoffice and at Once Opens Fire.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Austin, Texas, March 6.—Rev. J. T. Snead, father of J. R. Snead, the Amarillo banker, recently on trial in Fort Worth for the murder of A. G. Boyce Sr., was shot and killed today at Georgetown, near here, by R. O. Hilliard, who afterward committed suicide. Hilliard left a note saying that revenge was the motive for the crime. Rev. Mr. Snead attended his son's trial in Fort Worth, which resulted in a disagreement and an order for a new trial. The younger Snead shot and killed A. G. Boyce Sr., following a quarrel with the latter over the elopement of A. G. Boyce Jr. with Mrs. Snead. Hilliard, who was a tenant on one of the Snead farms, met the minister at the postoffice. He at once opened fire, sending three bullets into the clergyman's body.

Active in Son's Defense. Snead's father, who was a Baptist minister, was active in the defense of his son, whose shooting of the Elder Boyce sprang from the elopement of A. G. Boyce Jr. with his (Snead's) wife. Snead and his beautiful young wife lived directly opposite the Boyce residence; the families occupying the two handsomest mansions in the town of Amarillo. Boyce owned the famous Capital ranch, which is known as one of the largest in the world. The banker and the ranch owner had been friends for years and never had a disagreement of any kind until last November when Snead's young wife ran away with the son of the husband's best friend.

Before leaving town young Boyce drew $100,000 from the local banks, and Mrs. Snead stocked her trunks with $15,000 worth of her jewelry. Supplying himself with liberal funds the grief-stricken husband tracked the elopers to St. Louis and then to New York, where he lost track of them. The couple were finally located in Winnipeg, Canada, and were placed under arrest. Mrs. Snead defiantly declared that she would never return to her husband, that she loved Boyce and would stand by him forever. But the appeals of her banker, who had hurried to Canada, caused her to change her mind and re-

SUFFRAGETTES ARE BALKED; CELLS OF FELONS WAIT THEM

All Women Destroying Property in England Hereafter Will Be Sentenced to Seven Years in Prison.

CONSPIRACY CHARGES MADE UNDER NEW POLICY

Leaders Confer as to Whether to Continue Demonstrations; Majority Say "Yes."

(United Press Leased Wire.) London, March 6.—Determined to end the reign of terror throughout England caused by the activities of the suffragettes, the government today inaugurated a policy by which all those destroying property of any sort will be sentenced to seven years' imprisonment as common felons. This was announced by Police Inspector McCarthy after a raid on suffragette headquarters. He said: "Hereafter, women breaking the laws will be treated just as everyone else committing crime is treated."

Conspiracy New Charge. All those arrested under the new rule will be charged with conspiracy. The first so charged were Pethick Lawrence and his wife, joint editors of "Votes for Women." It was reported that Christabel Pankhurst had been arrested last night, but today it was admitted that she had eluded the police. The government officials today are perusing letters and documents seized in the raid on the suffragette headquarters. It is reported they found a complete plan of campaign which Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and other leaders had prepared and that this will be used as a basis for "conspiracy" charges. Mrs. Pankhurst is serving a term in Old Bailey prison.

Plan to Attack Fund. To further cripple the suffragettes the government plans to attach the funds of the organization to reimburse out of them those persons whose property was damaged by suffragette outbreaks. More than $500,000 is available for this purpose. Commenting upon the activities of the militants, Mrs. David Lloyd-George, wife of the chancellor of the exchequer and a suffragette outburst, said today: "We hope that woman suffrage is coming, and it is if these militant women do not persist in making the friends of suffrage its enemies. If they want suffrage to pass this year, they will act in a sensible way." Pethick Lawrence and his wife were arraigned this afternoon and remanded without bail. Their hearing was set for March 14. The police courts today were crowded.

MUTINOUS CHINESE SOLDIERS MURDER MISSIONARY DAY

Companion, at Last Reports, Barricaded in Town Hall at Chin Chow; British Soldiers Sent to Rescue.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Peking, March 6.—The Rev. F. Day, a missionary, was murdered by mutinous Chinese soldiers at Chin Chow, according to advices received here today. No details were given. Missionary Day was connected with the Church of England mission. His home address is unknown. M. S. Hughes, another missionary, accompanied him. At last reports Hughes was barricaded in the town hall at Chin Chow. Ten British soldiers have been sent to the rescue.

Washington, March 6.—United States Minister William J. Calhoun at Peking today cabled the American authorities at Manila to rush 700 additional troops to Peking, according to advices received here by the war department. This action followed a conference of foreign diplomats in Peking who decided to ask their respective governments for additional soldiers. The request for more troops indicates that

FULLER OBJECTS TO FARE REGULATION BY CITY ORDINANCE

To Council Manager of P. R. L. & P. Co. Says Proposed Measure Will Positively Not Be Accepted.

Vice President and General Manager F. I. Fuller of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Co. made the emphatic statement in the city council this morning that the company would refuse to accept the proposed franchise ordinance covering street extensions aggregating more than seven miles if the council should insist on the inclusion of an amendment to the draft submitted by the company reserving to the city the right to fix, alter, change or regulate fares to be charged over the lines affected by the ordinance. The council immediately became the scene of a tumult that has not been in evidence before since the celebrated blanket franchise was granted to the streetcar company several years ago. In the end, however, the lawmakers incorporated the regulative amendment in the ordinance, only Councilman John H. Burgard holding out to the last and voting against its insertion. Just before the main body met, the street committee held a final session.

HANDS AND FEET FROZEN, TRAPPER LIES DOWN TO SLEEP LAST NAP; BITE OF DOG SAVES HIS LIFE

"Bill" Lamorie of Portland, Without Food, Leaves Camp in Mountain Wild to Come to Civilization for Food; Extreme Snow and Cold Nearly Ends His Career; Eats Cougar Meat Then Falls Asleep; Bite of Pup Awakens Him and He Rises and Stumbles Into Estacada.

His hands and feet frozen as the result of five days and nights' exposure in mountain wilds, during which his only food was raw cougar meat, and saved from death by the bite of a fox terrier pup, "Bill" Lamorie of Portland, hunter and trapper, arrived at Estacada in a pitiable condition last night, and is now at the home of his brother, David Lamorie, Delaware avenue, where physicians are working to save the frozen parts from amputation. "Bill" Lamorie's story sounds like an embellished leatherstocking tale. Late last fall, lured by the reports of splendid hunting and trapping, Lamorie and three companions, Boston, Curley and Williams, "packed" into the wild country above Government Springs, Clackamas county, with Joseph Lamorie as guide. The party was well provided with provisions for any ordinary emergency, it being understood that the trails would be open to nearby supply camps during the winter, though they were 40 miles from Portland. Early breaks camp. Winter snows were unusually heavy,

HI GILL IS AGAIN TURNED DOWN BY WOMEN, HE SAYS

With Unofficial Count Complete Except 1 Precinct Cotterill Has 500 to 600 Majority in Huge Vote.

SINGLE TAX LOSES BY AT LEAST TWO TO ONE

Bogue Plans for "City Beautiful" Rejected; Terminal Plan Passes.

Features of Seattle Election. Cotterill wins by 500 to 600. Single tax loses by 2 to 1 or 3 to 1, but pleases advocates by polling heavy numerical vote. "City Beautiful" plans lose; voters feel taxes are too high. Bush terminals probably voted. Four Socialists defeated, although E. J. Brown, corporation counsel candidate, got perhaps 25,000 votes. Fifty thousand dollars lost on Gill. Gill carried vice election.

(Special to the Journal.) Seattle, Wash., March 6.—With 250 precincts out of a total of 281 reporting their votes, unofficial returns this afternoon indicate that George F. Cotterill is elected mayor by a majority of between 500 and 600 votes. A recheck of the count may change the figures to some extent, but a majority of 500 is considered a conservative estimate of the result of one of the most hotly contested elections in the history of this city.

Seattle, Wash., March 6.—By a majority of about 600, which complete returns may raise to 1000, Seattle has elected George H. Cotterill mayor and has once again repudiated Hiram C. Gill, who was recalled from the majority a year ago. This is the result of the most strenuous campaign in recent years, the short one candidate election. At noon unofficial figures gave Cotterill $1,322 and Gill $0,530, with about half a dozen precincts yet to hear from. They may change the majority but not the result, although at Gill headquarters admission of the result was not given in face of these returns. It is expected the official count may increase Cotterill's majority. At noon only 76 precincts had reported to the comptroller and the more complete figures are the result of the newspaper canvass and the count kept by the Cotterill committee.

Gill Men Hope to the East. As late as 8 o'clock last night, when the polls closed, Gill men were still offering odds of 2 to 1 and although Gill odds dropped from 4 to 1 to 2 to 1 during the last week, little Cotterill money was in evidence. The last few days even money was offered on Gill's majority at 900, and considerable was wagered at this figure. Results by wards show that Gill carried the first and sixth, including the downtown districts, while Cotterill carried the seventh, a residence section, by about 300. Gill carried his own ward, the third, by less than 100, while Cotterill carried his, the eighth, by nearly 600. In the other residence sections, including University district, Ballard, West Seattle, Green Lake, Fremont and all the northern part, Cotterill carried all the wards from the seventh to the fourteenth, inclusive. Gill lost the thirteenth.

LAWRENCE OFFICERS CHARGE UPON PICKETS; TO WOMEN ARRESTED

Police Allege Unionists Carried Red Pepper Intended for Strikebreakers.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Lawrence, Mass., March 6.—Renewing their "physical force" tactics with the textile strikers here, police and militiamen charged a crowd of picketers at the Arlington Mills today and arrested 10 women and five men on charges of intimidation and assault. The strikers assert that the charge was unwarranted, claiming that the picketers were only trying to induce workers not to return to the mills until granted the 15 per cent increase. The police allege that some of the strikers carried bags of red pepper and feared they would attempt to blind the workers who wished to take advantage of the five per cent increase offered by the mill owners. There was no unusual violence today, the police refraining from clubbing women. One striker who resisted arrest, however, was severely beaten. More men are at work in the mills today than at any time since the strike started. Mill owners assert that the backbone of the strike is broken, but 100 strikers declare that 15,000 operatives are still out.
