

WOMAN DESCRIBES SCENES OF HORROR SEEN AT LAWRENCE

Editor's Wife Tells of Cruelty of Police and Militia; Says She Was Told to "Move on" While on Street.

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, March 6.—A graphic description of police oppression and cruelty to the striking textile workers of Lawrence, Mass., was given here by Mrs. Fremont Older, wife of the managing editor of the San Francisco Bulletin, who has just returned from the disturbed city. After dealing with the causes which led up to the strike, Mrs. Older said: "I went to the jail to see Joseph Ettore, the young strike leader, who was thrown into prison charged with being an accessory to the shooting of Anna Lapozzi, a striker. The shot was fired by a militiaman, but instead of arresting the commanding officer or Governor Ross, who brought them there, they arrested Ettore. By getting rid of Ettore the mill owners thought they had broken the back of the strike. "They would not allow me to see Ettore, but I went into the women's ward. There I saw 14 year old girls and mothers with babies. I shook hands with the women through the bars and tried to show them that we were in sympathy with them. "The women understood no English. One of them kissed my hand. I decided it was I who should kiss the hand which was in jail for a principle, and I did so. "Several times ill-mannered police ordered me to move faster, when I was hurrying along the street. Had I stopped to argue, it is likely I, too, would have been thrown into jail. "I visited the homes of the strikers and saw pale and anemic boys and girls of 14 whose eyes were old, and their stunted bodies were those of children of 10 and 12. "There are 25,000 men and women out on strike. They are all underfed and underclothed. They are fighting the millowners for the right to live, and it seemed a shame for the courts, militia and even the churches to be arrayed against them. Conditions in Lawrence could not possibly be exaggerated."

Bank at Medford Enters $150,000 Home

Building Occupied by First National Saturday, March 2. (Special to The Journal.) Medford, Or., March 5.—The new home of the First National bank was thrown open for business for the first time Saturday. The new building was erected at a cost of $150,000 and is said to be the most handsome structure of its kind in southern Oregon. Its exterior is of stone while the interior fixtures are all of marble. The First National was the first bank in southern Oregon to pass the million dollar mark.

YOUNG WOMEN ACCUSE POSTMASTER FISK

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, March 6.—Charges preferred by two young women against Postmaster Arthur G. Fisk, alleging him to have been guilty of improprieties and to have persecuted them, are believed here today to be the reason for the holding up of the postmaster's reappointment for four years. The complainants are Miss Mary Joesten and Miss Mattie Fitzgerald, former employees of the San Francisco postoffice, who were dismissed from the service for the alleged stealing of magazines sent through the mails. Miss Joesten claims that Fisk made improper advances to her, and that when she repulsed him he caused her dismissal and trumped up charges against both her and Miss Fitzgerald. The charges are being investigated by a subcommittee in the senate.

TINGLEY DEFENSE NOT CALL WOMAN

Star Witness for Contestant Will Not Be Summoned by Theosophists.

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Diego, Cal., March 6.—Attorneys for the defense in the Thurston will case, which has been in progress here for nearly 10 weeks, and in which Katherine Tingley, leader of the Universal Brotherhood and Theosophical society, is the principal defendant, stated today that they would not call Mrs. Maratta Dixon, star witness for the contestant, back to the stand for further cross-examination, and that they had practically finished their case when Mrs. Tingley was dismissed from the stand late yesterday. Most of the large estate of Mrs. Harriet Patterson-Thurston was left to Mrs. Tingley. Mrs. Tingley took up every statement made by Mrs. Dixon and denied them all. She then went over the testimony of Arthur Friebe, E. Jones Jarvis and several other witnesses for the contestant, and contradicted all their statements. The attorneys have stated that the rebuttal for both sides will consume only about two hours, and they have stipulated that two and one half days for each side will be ample time for the arguments.

NORTH COAST NOT DUE IN PORTLAND THIS YEAR

Extension of the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation Company (formerly the North Coast) to Portland and Seattle will not be undertaken this year, according to Vice President Robert Strahorn, who is virtually head of the construction department. The extension of the street railway 11 miles into the Selah is about all this district will get this season, he thinks. Mr. Strahorn came over from Spokane to confer with state officials in regard to some changes in the state quarry at the Selah gap. Such readjustments of the quarry work will be made as to permit the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company to use its proposed right of way along the river bank about 20 feet above the Northern Pacific tracks. The quarry will be moved higher up the hill and the rock thrown down over a slide across the tracks. Mr. Strahorn had a good word to say for the commercial and industrial prosperity of the northwest in general and especially for eastern Oregon, which is developing wonderfully, he says.

2 "WIDOWS" IN LEGAL FIGHT FOR A MILLION

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, March 6.—A bitter fight is on in the courts here today between two women, each claiming herself as the widow of the $1,000,000 estate of Colonel William James Sutherland, an American mining man, who died last April in England. The claimants are Agnes Pearman Sutherland of Tacoma and Mrs. W. J. Sutherland of San Francisco. The former is the woman named in Sutherland's will as his "beloved wife," but Mrs. W. J. Sutherland entered suit to enforce her claim to the estate, alleging she was married to Sutherland in Boston in 1874 and was never divorced. Sutherland bequeathed his entire estate to Agnes Pearman Sutherland.

STATE SHORE LAND SELLS AT $7.50

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Or., March 6.—The state land board, at a meeting yesterday, ordered that a deed be executed in favor of the town of Umatilla for about 20 acres of shore lands on the Columbia river, adjoining the town. The state will receive $7.50 an acre for the land. The land board instructed the attorney general to begin condemnation proceedings against the Savage heirs for 5.31 acres of land, which jogs into the state prison grounds on the east side near the rear. The heirs ask $1000 an acre for the land, while the state has offered $150 an acre. The members of the state land board contend that the land is useless to anyone but the state, as it is low and hedged in by prison walls.

TOOTSY MAY NOW SEND TOOTSY REAL SMACK PICTURED ON CARD

(United Press Leased Wire.) Los Angeles, Cal., March 6.—Los Angeles society maids are excited today by the arrival of the "kiss picture," any number of which may be slipped inside a letter and sent to someone who will recognize them wherever he may be, just as easily as the expert criminologist recognizes "Four Fingers Fred" by the imprint of his missing thumb. The sender of the kiss pucker her fair lips, dabs them with the wiper, then presses them to a sheet of highly sensitive paper. When she removes her lips the kiss picture is there, its voltage is figured with ease, and its identity, say experts, as easily may always be determined. Shops selling the kiss print paper are doing a flourishing business today.

AZALEA RIVER TO GIVE WATER FOR 2600 ACRES

(Special to The Journal.) Roseburg, Or., March 6.—The farmers of the lower Cow creek valley have organized at Riddle the Azalea River Irrigation district, which is a project of John C. White of Roseburg, to build a dam and irrigation ditches and put 2600 acres of land in the district under irrigation. The main dam will be placed in Cow creek (Azalea river) about five miles southward from the mouth of the big canyon. The main canal will be brought down to the upper end of the valley and from there a large ditch will be run down on each side of the valley to cover all the irrigable land in the district. Each of the two main ditches will be about six miles long, making about 17 miles of the main canals. This valley is one of the best in the country and is a fine fruit growing region. This new irrigation system will cost the land owners $34 per acre.

"WIRE TAPPING" SWINDLE NIPPED IN BUD BY POLICE

(United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, March 6.—Three men were arrested in the Planters hotel in the act of working the old "wire tapping" game in an effort to swindle a Chicago business man out of $500. The victim, whose name is withheld by the police, was in the act of turning over the money in a scheme to "clean up" the local handbooks, when the police accidentally broke into the room in search of a poker game. The men arrested are William Hayward, of Detroit; C. W. Farewell, of Dayton, Iowa, and William Collins, of Springfield, Ill.

YOUTH CONFESSES HE TOOK PART IN MURDER

(United Press Leased Wire.) Weaverville, Cal., March 6.—Breaking down completely, Tom Duncan, after hearing of the confession of Edward Hewitt, his associate in the crime, confessed the part he took in the murder of February 3 of Peter Roberts. Tom Duncan with his brother, Steven, John Nelson, and Hewitt, all under 20, killed Roberts, according to the confessions of Hewitt and Duncan, after they had gone to his cabin near here in an attempt to rob him and had burned his home. Steve Duncan, the only one of the four not under arrest, is expected to be captured within a few hours. He is somewhere in Humboldt county. The Duncan boys are half breeds and are the sons of Alonso Duncan, an honored pioneer of Trinity county.

FORMER POLICE CHIEF TURNS CRITIC; FINED

(United Press Leased Wire.) Los Angeles, March 6.—For making known his disapproval of an act staged at a vaudeville theatre, a man declaring himself to be Thomas Wylie, former police chief of Vancouver, B. C., is out of pocket $30 here today. He was arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace.
