

LIVESTOCK SHOW GREAT FEATURE FOR THIS YEAR

Exhibition Will Be Twice as Large as That of Last Year—Stockmen Taking Keen Interest—March 18 to 20.

Entries already made assure a show fully twice as large as the one last year," said D. O. Lively, general manager of the Pacific Northwest Livestock show, today, in speaking of the second annual exposition of the association, to be held at the Union stockyards, North Portland, March 18, 19 and 20.

"I have received many letters and telegrams," said Mr. Lively, "from stockmen and others interested in the northwest livestock industry, promising their hearty support and attendance at the show. I have been notified that a special party of 100 will be here from Lewiston, Idaho. Special railroad rates have been made between Oregon points and Portland for the show, and stockmen from Vale, Baker, La Grande, Pendleton, Joseph, Bend, Redmond and other sections of the state have expressed their intention of attending.

"The show this year will be much more extensive and interesting than the one last year. The big tent already in place will provide protection from the weather if protection is needed.

Unusual Steer Exhibits.

"The single steer exhibit will be unusual. It will be the most wonderful showing of the kind ever made west of the Rocky mountains. The exhibit of Short Horn cattle and hogs will also attract much attention. The showing of pure bred sheep will not be as extensive as we had hoped for, but it will be very representative. The draft horse entries indicate a splendid show in that line.

"No entry fees are charged, there are no admission fees and no one makes any money on the show. The cash prizes offered come from a fund raised by popular subscription.

"The idea of the show is to promote the interests of the northwest's livestock industry. There is need of a north-west center for the industry and we want to make Portland that center."

Among the entries is that of the Percheron mare "Amorita," owned by the University of Idaho and bred by Maasdam & Wheeler of Fairfield, Iowa. This mare is 6 years old and weighs 2970 pounds. "Amorita" was grand champion at the International Livestock show at Chicago in 1909 and was reserve champion Percheron mare at the 1911 show. The mare is believed to be one of the most perfect types of the Percheron in America.

Monday Judging Day.

Monday will be judging day at the show. Tuesday will be club and association day. The East Side Business Men's club will attend in a body, accompanied by a brass band. Delegations from the Rotary club, the Ad club, the Progressive Business Men's association and the realty board will also attend. Wednesday will be sales day.

A livestock judging contest, open to regularly enrolled undergraduate students of western agricultural colleges, will be a feature. Delegations of students from the agricultural colleges of Oregon, Washington, Montana and Idaho have arranged to be present. It is probable that a program of addresses by competent livestock authorities will be given.

Officers of the show are: President, M. K. Parsons, Salt Lake City, Utah; vice presidents, James J. Hill, St. Paul, Minn.; Robert S. Lovett, New York city, N. Y.; William Hanly, Burns, Or.; Frank J. Hagenbarth, Seaside, Idaho; general manager, D. O. Lively, North Portland, Or.; secretary, N. C. Maris, Portland, Or.; treasurer, L. R. McGee, North Portland, Or.

DOCTORS ORGANIZE; TO RAISE STANDARDS

With the object of cultivating the art and science of surgery, uplifting the medical profession, promoting the highest ethical standard in the practice of surgery and deprecating secret fee divisions between physician and surgeon, the North Pacific Surgical association has been organized in Portland. A meeting was held March 2, which was attended by surgeons from Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane and Victoria and Vancouver, B. C. Association membership will be limited to 50.

Officers were elected as follows: Dr. E. A. J. Mackenzie, Portland, president; Dr. Meredith Jones, Victoria, first vice president; Dr. A. C. Sharples, Seattle, second vice president; Dr. Otis B. Wright, Portland, secretary; Dr. J. M. Naff, Spokane, recorder.

Members of the council: Dr. Alfred Raymond, Seattle; Dr. J. R. Yocom, Tacoma; Dr. T. L. Catterson, Spokane. The association goes on record as particularly opposing the custom of fee splitting between physician and surgeon, which tends to criminal traffic in the sick and redounds to the discredit of those engaged in the practice and to the profession at large.

Those who attended the meeting were: Drs. C. A. Sharpley, G. M. Horton, J. B. Eastman, Alfred Raymond, Everett Jones, Seattle; Drs. H. B. Luhn, T. L. Catterson, J. M. Naff, C. F. Elkensbar, Spokane; Drs. K. A. J. Mackenzie, E. F. Tucker, A. C. Smith, G. F. Wilson, William Jones, L. H. Hamilton, A. C. Baird, Otis B. Wright, Portland; Drs. G. M. Jones, H. M. Robertson, Victoria, B. C.; Drs. G. V. Lockett, A. B. Moore, Vancouver, B. C.; Drs. J. R. Yocom, B. M. Brown, D. K. Thynge, Tacoma.

Former Banker on Trial.

(Special to The Journal.)
Guthrie, Okla., March 12.—The case of Frank S. Westfall, the former Sapulpa banker, under indictment on a charge of false reports to the state banking board, was called for trial in the district court here today. After the failure of the Sapulpa bank, of which he was president, Westfall went to Arizona, where he was subsequently arrested and returned here for trial.

BANJO GIRLS WIN FAVOR OF CZAR

One of De Faye Sisters, now appearing at Orpheum.

Dancing is combined with banjo playing this week at the Orpheum by the De Faye Sisters, billed as the "Brinkley Girls." Announcements that have preceded them from the booking office in New York say they are favorites of the czar of Russia, before whom they appeared prior to their engagement by the Orpheum managers. Their act not only includes the popular melodies and steps of the sunny south, but grand opera arias, which the girls rattle off with musicianly finish on the instrument that requires nimble fingers. The De Faye sisters received flattering mention from the newspaper critics of Seattle, where they appeared last week.

FORMER LOCAL SINGER VISITING FRIENDS HERE

Fred M. Gilmora, one of the founders of the Prescott club, which was later converted into the Boyer club and, finally, merged into the now famous Apollo club of Portland, is visiting in the city.

"It was at least 30 years ago," said Mr. Gilmora, "that Judge Harry Hogue, George Hoyt, H. Manson White and myself, all singers, conceived the idea of forming a quartet. To this end we were ably assisted and encouraged by C. H. Prescott, then a well known and well liked railroad man of the city. He is now dead. To honor our helper, we named the organization the Prescott club.

Later came W. A. Boyer to the city and he asked us to extend our membership, which we did, taking in besides Mr. Boyer, "Kit" Carson, Don Zan, John Gill, W. A. Montgomery and Paul Westinger. Then we named it the Boyers' Glee club.

"Later, when more singers came to the city we enlarged our membership and called the organization the Apollo club, which is now one of the finest musical organizations on the Pacific coast. I think I may say that the Apollo club is equal to, if not better, than the famous Long club of San Francisco. It seems to have more vim and go to it than the organization in San Francisco."

Mr. Gilmora said that L. L. Hawkins, then manager of the Almsworth bank, would take the original Prescott club around about the city in his four-in-hand and they would serenade the residents at least once a week for many years.

As soon as he arrived in the city last evening, Mr. Gilmora immediately telephoned Judge Hogue, and together they went to the Apollo club, where Mr. Gilmora renewed old acquaintances and met many new members of that organization.

LAWYER MUST RULE WHETHER DANCING IS PROPER IN SCHOOLS

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Los Angeles, March 12.—Attorney General Webb of California must decide whether graceful dances designed to teach poise and rhythm of movement to young pupils ought to be included in the public schools course of study along with the three R's. Superintendent Francis of the Los Angeles schools is in a quandary following the protests of many parents in schools where dancing is taught, and before he goes ahead with his plans to make Genesee of the children of Los Angeles he wants the attorney general's opinion. Pending the receipt of this, dancing in the schools will be denied.

BRITISH NAVAL ESTIMATES INCLUDE 4 DREADNAUGHTS

(United Press Leased Wire.)
London, March 12.—The British naval estimates, made public in the house of commons, provide for four dreadnaughts, eight cruisers, 29 destroyers and a number of submarines.

ROOSEVELT'S FOR THE LAUREL

Roosevelt Advocated Presidential Primaries Only Since He Became an Open Candidate, Says W. L. Houser.

"Let us see. When did Theodore Roosevelt become an advocate of presidential primaries, or of the general primary system? Since he became an open candidate for a third term, not before, and not until it became evident that the direct primary would improve his chances."

Thus did Walter L. Houser pay his respects to the sudden ardor of the Roosevelt campaign managers in favor of nominating a president at the primaries. Mr. Houser, who is the chairman of the national La Follette organization, was in Portland for a few hours Monday on his way from California to participate in the windup of the primary campaign in North Dakota.

"Before the last convention did Roosevelt cry for presidential primaries?" Houser continued. "No, at that time he was engaged in forcing upon the party the nomination of Mr. Taft, his secretary of war, by the old convention system. By means of patronage and the use of the power of his office, he secured the nomination of the man he wanted. We heard no call for presidential primaries then, and we heard nothing from Mr. Roosevelt upon that subject until he found it to his advantage."

Election of Senators.

"Mr. Roosevelt first advocated election of senators by the people in his Ossawatimie speech. He first advocated the initiative and referendum in his Columbus speech. I cannot remember that he has advocated the income tax, and he has never made a statement covering his position on tariff revision. In his plan for licensing corporations he refused to stand for squeezing the water out of the inflated issues, because, he said, it would injure innocent purchasers. He has said nothing for the plan of a physical valuation, whereby the public interest may be protected from the continued burden of paying interest on millions of watered stock."

"These things in the record of Mr. Roosevelt are to be analyzed as the campaign goes on, and the analyzing will be done by Mr. La Follette himself. There is no retreat in this fight. Mr. La Follette will be on the platform again within a short time and will show that he has lost none of his old fire."

"Just before leaving California I received a message from La Follette, saying he intends to start soon for a speaking tour through the Dakotas, Nebraska, Oregon and California. He sent me also a message saying the prospects in North Dakota are fine. The primaries will be held there next Tuesday, and we expect to carry the state over Roosevelt by a large majority. Taft will receive only a small vote there."

"We expect to have the balance of power when the convention meets. We expect 10 delegates in Minnesota, an entire delegation of 10 from North Dakota, another solid delegation of 10 from South Dakota, 12 or more in Ohio, 10 from Pennsylvania, 4 or 6 in Washington, the 26 from Wisconsin, and perhaps the 26 from California. I am making no prediction as to Oregon and certain other states where we are by no means out of the reckoning."

"Roosevelt will get some of the delegates from the south, and by the time the situation is balanced, it will be seen that Taft and Roosevelt will have about equal strength. The balance of power will be in the hands of the La Follette men and the Cummins delegation from Iowa."

"In Los Angeles I made a speech in which I told the story of steel, of the support given to Roosevelt by George W. Perkins, the right hand man of Roosevelt, of the support of Dan Hanna, another limb of steel, of the springing of the Roosevelt boom in Ohio by Walter Brown, the lobbyist of Hanna, after La Follette was in position to sweep the state, and other concrete evidence of steel trust money supplying funds for the Roosevelt campaign."

"Soon after that Governor Johnson came to speak for Roosevelt, and it was announced he would 'tear off the lid.' But he said nothing unusual. He said nothing about steel. He avoided mention of La Follette, but when one of the other speakers inadvertently mentioned La Follette's name, the house broke out in cheers equalling those for Roosevelt."

WORK OF PAROLE BOARD TO RECEIVE PUBLICITY

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., March 12.—For the purpose of giving the public an idea of the problems and the stories presented to the state prison parole board at its meetings, members of the board have decided to admit newspaper reporters at the meeting of the board to be held April 2, providing there is no objection to this innovation on the part of Governor West. The matter will be presented to the governor before the board's next meeting. If newspaper men are admitted they will be requested not to use the names of the prisoners asking for parole.

"Almost every conceivable story is told the board by convicts who believe they have cause, entitling them to parole," said Attorney John E. Logan of Portland, a member of the board who was here yesterday attending a meeting. "There are humorous situations and pathetic appeals made to the board. But the one great cause for the imprisonment of those men is liquor. Talk about your sermons! Just attend a meeting of the parole board."

CALIFORNIA "U" HEAD GETS HIGHEST SALARY

Washington, March 12.—Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, is the highest salaried state university president in the country, according to the report of the bureau of education, made public here. Dr. Wheeler receives $12,000 a year. The president of Cornell university and the University of Illinois stand next on the list, each receiving $10,000.

GIRL DRAGGED BY CAR; IS SEVERELY INJURED

Miss Minnie Lehman, 18 years old, and her father, Frank A. Lehman, of 479 Kirby street, were badly injured yesterday morning at Mississippi avenue and Morris street, while attempting to board an "L" car. The car started without a signal from the conductor. The young woman had just placed one foot on the first step when the car started. She was dragged a half block, finally falling on her face on the pavement. She sustained frightful bruises and was rendered unconscious. Her father, who had run along by the car in an effort to hold his daughter and keep her from falling, tripped and fell just before the daughter did. He sustained a badly bruised knee as well as suffering much damage to his clothes. Miss Lehman was carried to 424 Mississippi avenue, where she was treated until the Red Cross ambulance arrived and took her to her home, in 124 Sixth street.

"Little Journeys"

You'll be equipped to go anywhere, if you wear a Moyer $15 Suit; good looks and long service will go with it. Moyer $15 Suits are better than any sold at the same price—they're as good as many that are sold at a higher price.

We want you to take a little journey to one of our five big stores and see the new Spring styles; never before was there such a meeting of good woolsens and thorough tailoring for $14.

You can't help saving money on a Moyer $15 Suit, because we save it for you when we have it made, and we turn the saving over to you with the suit. Suppose you come in and see.
