

FEDERALS RETREAT BEFORE OROZCO AFTER 4-DAY FRAY

Government Has 200 Killed and Wounded; Arrival of Rebel General Saves Insurrectos From Defeat.

(United Press Leased Wire.) El Paso, Texas, March 27.—After four days and nights of fighting which began at Escalon Saturday and ended at 9 o'clock last night on the outskirts of Jimenez, the federal troops under Generals Aubert, Villa and Urbana are retreating today. They stopped this morning 10 miles from the San Pedro ranch.

About the San Pedro ranch the battle raged with varying success all day yesterday. The cannonading was continuous, the federals having 10 machine guns and three cannons, the rebels four machines and one cannon. The rebel marksmanship was the more accurate, making up for the difference in artillery strength.

Orozco Drives Enemy Back.
At one time yesterday the federal forces moved in a solid formation to within 500 yards of the rebels and were forcing them back when General Orozco with 600 men rushed from Jimenez to the Imperial General Camp.

Overwhelmed by the combined attack, the federals retreated in good order at 5:30 last evening, carrying their wounded. They admit losing 200 killed and wounded, while the rebels claim that less than 100 of their forces were killed.

Both Sides Resting.
Both sides are exhausted and are resting up for further conflict, taking advantage of the lull in hostilities to care for their wounded and bury their dead. The federals are reported to be waiting the arrival of General Blanquet with 1000 fresh soldiers.

The renewed attack on Jimenez is planned by the federals for this afternoon.

Mazatlan Is Bombarded.

Tucson, Ariz., March 27.—Eight persons are dead and several are suffering from wounds today following a bombardment of the port of Mazatlan by the Mexican rebel gunboat Guerrero. Five of the dead are federals and three rebels, according to reports of the engagement received here.

A force of rebels which simultaneously attacked Mazatlan from the shore side were turned back.

FALLING TREE KILLS WELL KNOWN WORKER

(Special to The Journal.) Castle Rock, Wash., March 27.—Thomas J. Holce, an old resident of this section, was fatally crushed yesterday afternoon while at work as a faller in the logging camp of the Sawyer Lumber & Lumber company, on the shores of Silver lake.

In falling the tree struck another, and bucked back over the stump so quickly that it caught Mr. Holce and crushed him to death. In order to release him it was necessary to saw the tree in two and lift the big log from him. The accident occurred shortly after 1 o'clock but it was after 6 o'clock before he was released and brought to town on a locomotive.

Dr. Wolf accompanied the sufferer to Portland. On arrival at the hospital in Portland it was decided that amputation of the left leg was necessary, but the man was so weak it was not attempted last night. Mr. Holce died this morning. He leaves a wife and several sons and daughters to mourn his sudden death.

ETERNAL FEMININE PARADES TO SEE IF CAR STEPS FIT SKIRTS

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, March 27.—General Manager Frank Hedley of the newly organized New York Street Railways company, has completed arrangements for tomorrow's novel "promenade des toilettes." Women have been invited to attend in their latest garb, whether it be the hobbled ankle or the new Tallien slit, slot, slash or whatever it is, which lets the knee get glimpses of the outer world.

Hedley understands women in hobbles cannot mount the old car steps, which were 19 inches from the ground. The new car steps are only 18 inches high, and Hedley wants to see whether women wearing the new Tallien can mount these without showing their knee clear through the slit.

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, March 27.—John Arbuckle, the sugar and coffee magnate, died suddenly at his home here today. A cold which Arbuckle caught Saturday became suddenly worse yesterday, and his physicians were unable to revive him.

Arbuckle was 74 years old. The body will be interred in Pittsburgh.

How to Absorb an Old Complexion

(From Popular Monthly)

A girl signing herself "Discouraged" writes she has "tried everything" for her "coarse, horrid, muddy complexion," and asks, "Is there no really effective remedy?"

Doctored your complexion with stuff that comes out of jars and bottles is liable to make it worse. The surest way to banish a bad complexion is to remove it. Ordinary make-up (get an ounce at your druggist's) will do this. Apply at night like cold cream; wash off in the morning. The wax absorbs the old skin, revealing the clear, soft, healthy and beautiful skin underneath. Naturally all surface defects go, too, as pimples, blotches, liver spots, freckles and blackheads. The treatment causes no discomfort; no one can tell you are using it, the cuticle coming off so gradually.

HAZEL DOLLAR IS NEARLY LOST IN GREAT HURRICANE

Reaches Victoria, B. C., Today, Her Rudder Stock Broken, Part of Her Houses Washed Off and Part Cargo Gone.

(Special to The Journal.) Seattle, Wash., March 27.—Seriously disabled after a strenuous struggle with terrific storms in the North Pacific, the British steamer Hazel Dollar, which loaded at Portland, arrived at Victoria this morning. The vessel's rudder stock broken and a portion of her houses washed away and she is thought to be badly damaged.

Sailing from Seattle February 27, after coaling, the Hazel Dollar encountered heavy weather and on March 7 ran into a hurricane of unusual force near the Aleutian islands. In terrific seas her rudder stock was carried away and the vessel was left helpless in a great swirl. Until March 19, she floundered in the sea while the crew worked like heroes to make repairs. Finally, after all hope appeared to be gone a jury rig was completed and under this the steamer was turned about and made for Victoria, where she arrived for repairs, which will be costly.

Part of the deck cargo of lumber is reported lost. Officers state they had a terrible experience, at times it being feared the big freighter would be swamped and all lost.

The Hazel Dollar arrived at Astoria January 27 and after loading 3,500,000 feet of lumber at Portland, left for Seattle, arriving here February 25 to bunker. She proceeded for Hankow, China, two days later.

Since last May the Hazel Dollar has been pursued by a hoodoo. With a full cargo from Everett, she ran ashore on Whidbey island, Puget sound, May 3, and repairs cost close to $100,000. Proceeding, she was next ashore on the Japan inland sea and an equal amount was expended to rehabilitate her. This is the third mishap in 11 months. Captain Alexander, a veteran master of the Dollar fleet, is in command.

Adverse Decision of Supreme Court Spurs Proponents to Further Action.

Undiscouraged by the supreme court decision, handed down at Salem yesterday, which declared the St. Johns annexation election of November, 1910, illegal, proponents of the movement to make the town an integral part of Portland today decided to inaugurate another annexation campaign.

According to J. S. Downey, a contractor of 933 North Hayes street, and one of the leaders in the last annexation fight, citizens of St. Johns who favor joining the two cities will be called together in mass meeting to decide upon a line of action as soon as lawyers can determine a legal way of bringing about annexation should the people favor it.

The decision was a distinct disappointment to me, and I believe to a large majority of St. Johns citizens," said Mr. Downey today. "The fact that the annexation election carried by a majority of nearly 100 votes indicated what the sentiment was then, and I feel certain that more citizens favor annexation today than ever before. As soon as it can be determined whether there is any way of merging St. Johns with Portland we shall call a mass meeting and make an organized effort to do so."

"Annexation would redound to the mutual benefit of Portland and this city, and it seems to me that Portland should aid in the fight. About the only opposition to the movement is the local water company, which would have to cut rates if St. Johns joined Portland, and the mayor and police. The citizens are for it."

Mayor K. C. Couch said he was neither glad nor sorry that the supreme court decided against annexation.

"I took the stand that we should go in if the people wanted it," said Mr. Couch. "A number of us, as private citizens, backed R. W. McKee in his contest, as we wanted to be sure that the town was annexed legally—if it was annexed at all. We didn't believe we could be annexed by the election, and the court has upheld us."

BEGINS HER FIRST VAUDEVILLE SEASON

Louise Dickinson.

Pretty Louise Dickinson, the juvenile Mary Garden appearing with David Schooler, the boy Paderewski, at the Orpheum this week, is only 18 years old and has just begun her first season in vaudeville. While new on the Orpheum circuit, she appeared on the concert stage in New York frequently, having made her debut in the music world under Madame Vhella Johnson, a prominent teacher of vocal in Boston, Mass. Little Miss Dickinson has been before the public as a singer with an extraordinary high soprano voice since childhood. Her mother, Mrs. Addie Dickinson, accompanies here on her vaudeville tour. Miss Dickinson is frequently mistaken to be a sister of Master Schooler, her stage mate. The young musicians are not related.

LIST OF CANDIDATES FOR LEGISLATURE TO BE COMPLETE IN WEEK

One week from today will be the last day for filing with the county clerk the petitions of candidates for offices to be voted for in only one county or district. As several days usually are required for the circulation of petitions, and one or two days are needed for printing and preparing the petitions, quick work is required by those late comers who desire to enter the fight.

Candidates for the legislature continue to straggle in, but the list may be regarded as complete by the end of this week, for the time to enter will be too short afterward. The Democratic legislative ticket this year approaches more nearly to a full ticket than has for years, and members of that party generally are congratulating themselves upon the showing they are making in the primary fight.

For the state senate, with five nominations to be made, the Democrats have a full list. For 12 places on the representative ticket seven candidates have announced, and others may file before the end of the week. On the Republican side there are 11 candidates for senator and 25 for representative.

Preparations are being made for a capacity house.

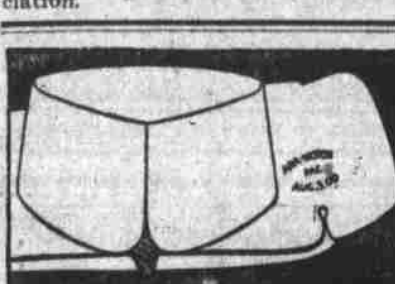

Mr. Bengough is conceded as Canada's foremost cartoonist.

SHEPHERD FEARS POWERFUL TRUST

Declares All Power Facilities of State to Be Merged; Hits at Gantenbein.

George S. Shepherd, primary candidate for congress, addressed the voters of Albina last night at Mair's hall. Mr. Shepherd paid his respects to the recent merger of the Mount Hood company and the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, declaring that this was merely the beginning of the amalgamation of all of the transportation light and power facilities in the state. He warned the voters that it was more than ever essential that the United States government should maintain a 40 foot channel in the Columbia river and 40 feet of water on the bar.

Candidate Shepherd, in speaking of the candidacy of Judge Gantenbein, declared that Gantenbein is the candidate of the Oregonian and of the old political machine that ran the political affairs of Oregon with such a high hand prior to the adoption of the primary law and the Oregon system.

"Judge Gantenbein was elected circuit judge," said Mr. Shepherd, "and when he took the oath of office he subscribed to the following: 'I will not accept any other office except judicial office during the term for which I have been elected.' He is a candidate for congress, the candidate of the Oregonian and of the old political machine of this county. He was brought out by the Oregonian and is being actively supported by that paper. A few days ago I met Mr. Piper, editor of the Oregonian, and he told me that I had 'annoyed him very much by coming into this race,' but I held that it is not the province of any newspaper or any combination of politicians to prevent a candidate from running for office. If my platform meets the approval of the voters I have as good a right to run as any man. In the last analysis it is a question for the voters to answer."

"Before Judge Gantenbein filed his declaration as a candidate for congress he announced that he would resign from the judgeship. When once he came into the race, he said he would not resign, as he had been requested not to do so for fear the governor would appoint a Democrat in his place. Does he fear to let go of one office before he gets another, or is he really afraid of a Democratic judge? What right has Candidate Gantenbein, with cases under advisement, to hold over the bar of this county the prospect of his defeat and with the opportunity to punish litigants and members of the bar who might think some other candidate more suitable for congress than he is? Judge Gantenbein should resign from the bench; he should keep faith with himself and with the people."

Mr. Shepherd was introduced last night by Councilman R. E. Menefee, who acted as chairman of the meeting, and who in introducing the speaker, warmly commended him to the voters as a proper candidate for their support.

ARTISTIC GIFT TO STATE UNIVERSITY

Sun Dial to Grace Campus, in Memory of Son of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Mays.

A lasting and artistic gift designed permanently to beautify the campus of the University of Oregon is to be given to the university in the form of a beautiful sun dial, by Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Mays of Portland, in memory of their only son, Wilson, a member of the class of 1909, who died about three years ago before his graduation.

The sun dial, which was made by Francis Baker & Son, Ltd., of London, arrived from England about two weeks ago and is now at the home of Mr. Mays in this city. It is to be mounted on a block of solid California granite, to weigh four tons, and will be set up in Portland before it is sent to Eugene. More than a year ago the dial was formally accepted by the board of regents, and there now remains only the formal presentation.

This has been left to President Campbell of the university, and while he has not yet made an announcement, it is considered probable that the formal unveiling will be one of the features of commencement week. The dial will occupy a prominent place on the college campus, probably at the intersection of two of the most used walks, where many students pass each day.

It was the desire of Mr. and Mrs. Mays to give the university a memorial that would have not only beauty, but educational and scientific value. For more than two years they have had the gift in mind. After considering a memorial arch, a pipe organ and a campanile, they finally decided on a simple sun dial that would endure through many generations and confer lasting benefit to the college as most fitting.

Mr. Mays has been a student of sun dials for years, and he and Mrs. Mays personally worked out the design for the beautiful gift. Three times in a year they sent suggested designs back to the makers before they were satisfied.

The dial face is engraved on gun metal, a material virtually indestructible. On the face is engraved the exact latitude and longitude of the university, latitude 43 degrees, 3 minutes, 4.638 seconds; longitude 123 degrees, 4 minutes, 46.593 seconds, and there are two mottoes in Latin, "How slowly approaches, how swiftly passes the hour," and "If you would seize it, be patient, but be thou vigilant."

So carefully was the dial worked out, that the difference between Greenwich and Eugene time is given exactly. It is 8 hours, 12 minutes and 19.1062 seconds. Between two scrolls below the stylus appear the words, "In Memory of Wilson Pierce Mays, 1894-1910." There is also a table showing the difference for each day between solar and watch time.
