

SAYS IDAHO WILL ADOPT INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM

State May Also Try Modified Form of Recall, Declares Governor Hawley; Discusses the Political Situation.

"I believe there is no doubt but that Idaho will follow Oregon's lead and will adopt the initiative and referendum and possibly a modified form of the recall also, when the constitutional amendments are submitted at the November elections," said Governor James H. Hawley of Idaho, at the Portland last night shortly before the departure of himself and party for Boise.

The governor is enroute to Boise from San Francisco where he and a special commission of Idaho business men selected a site for the Idaho state building at the Panama Pacific exposition. Included in his party are Commissioners Kelly Atkinson, secretary of the Boise Chamber of Commerce; O. V. Allen, state treasurer, and Judge E. L. Bryan of the Fourth-Judicial district.

"I am inclined to favor the initiative and referendum, but I would rather not speak on the recall at this time," added the governor, jabbing his cigar into an ash tray in a manner that indicated the subject was a tender one with him.

Political Experiment.
"But don't misunderstand me," he continued hastily, "I think the principle of the recall is good. However, I am not sure as to what it would lead us into, and up there in Idaho we like to go slow. In a word, the recall, to my mind, is a political experiment at present, and whether it is practical, is problematical, to say the least."

"Our proposed recall amendment provides that a recall may be invoked only on the petition of 40 per cent of the voters."

Although he was loth to express any opinion as to whom the Idaho Democrats would select as their choice for the Democratic presidential nomination, Governor Hawley predicted that the Idaho republic delegation, which will cast eight votes at the National convention, would be unanimously for Taft.

"Of course, I'm a Democrat and don't tinker with Republican affairs," said the governor. "My friends tell me, however, that Roosevelt is not half so popular in Idaho as he was among Republicans. I am told, recent attitude Roosevelt took toward Taft—they think he went back on a friend—others think Roosevelt showed his true colors when he came into the field against La Follette, and others still believe Taft made good as president, and should have another chance."

Governor Hawley was non-committal on the Democratic situation. He said: "While I think Taft will be the Republican presidential nominee, I frankly admit I don't know who will represent the Democrats in the field. I don't even know which of the three aspirants—Wilson, Harmon or Clark—will win out in Idaho. Maybe a dark horse will spring up at the last minute. Up in Idaho, we aren't worrying about that so much now."

Sentiment Divided.
"There is a sharp division of sentiment in the party and we are working for harmony preparatory to the state convention in June. It is virtually certain though that the Idaho delegation will go to Baltimore unfractured except to vote as a unit. We intend to send 16 delegates, each with one-half vote."

Concerning the proposed meeting of the Western Governors' association at Boise, August 1, for a three days' session, the governor was enthusiastic. "I think we will accomplish something and pave the way to help the entire west," he said. "Combined the western states can do a lot of things. Our interests are the same. If each state goes it alone little can be accomplished. Many things will be discussed, among them being matters connected with the government's public lands policy and irrigation. The progress of the west and Idaho and Oregon particularly have been retarded five years by some of the government's land policies."

and I think it is up to us to get together and do something."
The Governors' association was formed about the "Governors' Special" last summer. It is expected that governors of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Kansas and Nebraska will attend the meeting.

MUSICAL COMEDY IS HIT; RICE AND CADY

The new Keating & Flood Musical comedy company, which opened at the Lyric theatre last week, has made a very favorable impression upon the Lyric audiences. This company is headed by Rice and Cady, who have a way of their own in the entertaining, line and many is the laugh they cause during their patter during the production of "At the Fair," the present week's bill. Rice and Cady are supported by Miss Eugenie La Blanc, as dainty a sourette as ever played in musical comedy stock in this city; Harry Burgess, a clever singer, dancer, and comedian; Shirley Lewis and William Stanley as character and juvenile, respectively; and Miss Gladys Middleton as prima donna, who possesses a good soprano voice and has a charming stage appearance. The chorus has a few new faces and are as big favorites as ever and do some novel and difficult dancing steps that receive well earned applause. "At the Fair" is put together for laughing purposes only and it has answered the purpose well all week. Tonight as in the usual event at the Lyric theatre on Friday nights, the chorus girls will hold a contest after each performance. These contests are a novelty, each girl doing a turn selected by herself and the audiences acting as the judges in awarding three cash prizes to the best number.

HYDE MUST GO ON TRIAL NEXT WEEK FOR BRIBERY

(Special to The Journal.)
New York, March 29.—Unless some new delay intervenes, former City Chamberlain Charles H. Hyde will be arraigned next Monday in the criminal branch of the supreme court to stand trial for the part he is alleged to have played in the banking scandal that has involved the heads of the defunct Carnegie Trust company, the Joseph G. Robin banking enterprises and the New York political machine. In the indictment returned against him the former city chamberlain is charged with bribery in connection with the $500,000 loan from the Carnegie Trust company. Hyde will be the fourth man of a coterie of prominent politicians, bankers and promoters to face a jury on charges growing out of the failure of the Carnegie Trust company and the collapse of the Robin banks.

The lot embraced more than 1000 runaway match certificates, upon some of which appeared the names of men and women of wide celebrity. WORK MAY BEGIN ON VALE PROJECT

Promoters Behind Big Irrigation Scheme Promise Early Construction.

(Special to The Journal.)
Vale, Or., March 29.—That the Bully creek irrigation project, which will place water on 40,000 acres of land surrounding Vale, will be commenced about May 1 is the promise being made to the people of Vale this week. The necessary legal matters are practically adjusted; the survey of the main canal will be completed this week. A careful survey of the farms on Bully creek proper had just been completed. A topographical survey of lands which are to be irrigated will be commenced shortly and more land is being contracted for daily. Of the 75,000 acres under the system, not more than 40,000 acres can be supplied with water and landowners are beginning to see what it will mean to them if they are slow to sign up for water at the price of $80 per acre. D. M. Brogan, who about three years ago started the reclamation of the Willow River valley north of this city, by building the irrigation project, is expected to arrive from the east about April 1 with representatives of the capitalists who are to furnish the $3,000,000 needed for the construction of the Bully creek irrigation project. Mr. Brogan has been in the east for nearly a year interesting capitalists in the Bully creek project, on which residents here depend so much for the welfare of Vale. Judge George E. Davis and John Rigby have had charge of the affairs at this end and they give assurance that May will see construction started on the project, which has been held up for the last three years by promoters and filers of water rights and reservoir sites.

ARIZONA SOLONS HIT CORPORATIONS

Important Legislation Aimed at "Big Business" Introduced in Assembly.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Phoenix, Ariz., March 29.—Important legislation aimed at corporations was introduced in the Arizona legislature as a preliminary to the anticorporation campaign promised by certain leaders. Senator Worsley introduced a bill providing for the formation of a tax commission composed of three members empowered to compel corporations to declare all actual property and to submit to an assessment on their actual cash value. Failure by a corporation to comply with the law would render it liable to a forced sale of its property to the state at a 10 per cent advance of its valuation. A second bill designed to prevent interstate corporations from securing the transfer of legal cases from state to federal courts under penalty of forfeiture of business rights within Arizona also was introduced. It is based on a Kentucky statute enacted in 1903, and declared constitutional by the United States supreme court. A spirited battle on each measure is anticipated.

Like the denuded skull, American clothing is today considered the badge of
