GARRISON NEWS

The First United States Infantry camp (unattached), United States War Veterans, was recently organized in Washington on Alaska. The following comrades were installed as first officers: Commander, Sergeant-Major Harrison; vice commander, A. A. Bellamy; adjutant, E. D. Hammond; junior vice commander, O. H. Bates; quartermaster, E. S. Woodruff; sergeant-at-arms, J. C. Crockett; officer of guard, William C. Chaplain, Carl H. Vuest; trustee, A. E. Peak, M. Bass and N. Andrews.

The friends of Lieutenant Campbell regret to hear that he is again in the fort hospital. He was home a few days, but became ill again.

Captain and Mrs. Kinnison entertained with an informal Sunday night supper for their daughter, Grace. The table was pretty in ferns and flowers. The guests were Misses Arbelia and Rose Clarke and Helen McLaughlin.

Mrs. Fred Hughes will entertain the post bridge club on Saturday, April 13.

Major Fleming has arrived in the garrison and taken up his new duties as adjutant general, relieving Major Layman, who has been acting in that capacity since the departure of Colonel Keran.

Major Fleming and family are occupying the quarters recently vacated by Major McLaughlin.

An official letter was received in the post last week stating that quarters were now under construction for the First Infantry and would be finished by September. Although the new station for the First Infantry is 20 miles from Honolulu there are splendid roads and as many have purchased touring cars and runabouts it will be a delightful spin.

Mr. Miller, instructor at the Corvallis State Agricultural college, was host at a very pretty dinner at the Multnomah hotel on Thursday night. His guests were Mrs. W. M. Edwards, Mrs. Edward Stewart and Miss Kathrine Taylor. They afterwards attended the performance of "Madame X."

Mr. McCreavey, aide to General Marion P. Maus, entertained friends at a dinner and theatre party on Thursday evening. Among the guests were Mrs. Morrison and Miss Kathrine Taylor.

General Marion P. Maus has returned from his trip to Seattle.

Mr. Whitley is expected home in a few days from Seattle, where he has been on department duty.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Robert Sears left on Sunday last for Monterey, Cal. Lieutenant Sears has been appointed a member of the permanent personnel of the school of musketry at that post. This is considered a most desirable detail and lasts four years.

The garrison is beautiful in its new blossoms and new shooting buds and leaves, and presents a vastly different appearance to that of three short months ago during the "dormant" when the same trees were snowy white only laden with ice and snow, many bent and broken and a number totally destroyed.

Many people from the post went to Portland to hear Tetrazzini. Among these were Colonel and Mrs. McGunneke, Captain and Mrs. Kinnison, Mrs. Clayton, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Morrison, Miss Taylor, Miss Clarke, Miss Danforth and Dr. and Mrs. Foster.

A ball was given at the gymnasium on Thursday night by the Spanish-American War Veterans.

The artillery riding school term has ended.

Chaplain W. K. Boyd of the Second Field artillery is conducting the services at St. Luke's Episcopal church, during the vacancy of a clergyman. The vestry has several names under consideration. There will be services on Easter day at 8 and 11 a. m. A full vested choir will render music appropriate to the day.

There were little or no social affairs during Holy Week, but much is being planned for April.

Letters from Mr. Burnett, who has been in Leavenworth, Kan., state he is trying to be transferred back to his old regiment, the First Infantry. His promotion as captain took him to the Seventh Infantry. He is now visiting his home in Knoxville, Iowa.

Captain Alfred Ains has just bought a handsome touring car, which he intends taking to Honolulu when he sails, May 5.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK

A very enjoyable entertainment was given by the children of Professor Begg's dancing class at Christiana's hall Friday evening. It was the close of the season's work and diplomas were presented to the members of the graduating class who had completed their course. They were assisted in the program by the members of the junior class. The program was opened with a little "Fairy Fantasy" in which Miss Marjory Lange was crowned May queen by the fairies and flowers led by their respective queens Mildred Howell and Dorothy Mackenzie. The grand march was given in old colonial costumes, and ended in the old time graceful minuet. Those dancing in the minuet sets were Eva Versteeg, Margaret Versteeg, Marjorie Lange, Dorothy Mackenzie, Constance Mitchell, Arline Cameron, Helen Versteeg, Rebekah Whistler, Winifred Hopson, Miriam Lyton, Margaret Laidlaw, Helen Laidlaw, Louise Cameron, Gladys Versteeg, Loris Gratta, Pauline Titus, Lucile Jenkins, LaDessa Gibson, Marsh Davis, Beth Hayes, Allan Mann, Brubaker Hutchinson, Frederick Winifred Hill Whittle, Doreen Lange, Wendell Huriburt, George Hartness, Eric Hopson, John Haak, Fielder Jones and Delbert Oberstuffer. The Scotch reel and sword dance, by members of the graduating class, was the next feature. Scotch costume and brought forth great applause for the skill and grace with which they were performed. Sixteen girls in pretty airy costumes appeared in the skirt dances. This was scored and responded to by the two youngest members of the class, Louise Cameron and Gladys Versteeg, each no more than 8 years of age. The tiny performers were heartily applauded. The sailors' hornpipe, and the "Perkins" fancy were very pleasing. The most difficult dance of the evening was performed by Misses Irene Barnes and Loris Gratta. The little girls were in Spanish costume and the grace and ease with which they moved through the most complicated movements won the heartiest applause of the evening. At the close of the program the diplomas were presented, after which the class presented Professor Begg with a handsome pair of gold cuff links as a token of their appreciation of his excellent training. The members of the graduating class are Irene Barnes, Grace Fields, Gretchen Jackson, Margaret Versteeg, Eva Versteeg, Dorothy Mackenzie, Lucile Jenkins, Lucile McClung, Marjorie Lange, Arline Cameron, Rebekah Whistler, Constance Mitchell, Gladys Versteeg, Eleanor Cameron, Helen Versteeg, Louise Cameron, Loris Gratta, Beth Hayes, Marsh Davis, Allan Mann and Brubaker Hutchinson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Annand of Portland Heights entertained 20 of their friends at dinner and bridge at the Bowers hotel last evening. The dinner was served in the tea room at 7. MELVILLE CLARK'S APOLLO Player Piano

Tell "Baby" This Story Tonight—

"Once 'pon a time there was a Daddy and Mother who had a little child like you. Out of their great love for this child grew a great wish—they wished for their 'Baby' the greatest gift of after years—the gift of music—and they reasoned it out just as we have—like this—

"Now, 'Baby' you're two years old and it will be at least five years before you can start taking music lessons. Though we know that you are just about the smartest 'Baby' in the whole world, we could hardly expect you to play well before you have studied and practiced at least three years. So—since ten years is a long time to go without music, we are going to have an Apollo Player Piano in our home. And just as surely as a child brought up in a German speaking family will be able to speak German, you're going to be musical because you're going to be brought up with music—true music—the music of the wonderful Apollo Player Piano. And we might add that 'Daddy' and 'Mother' are going to enjoy it too—"

Tomorrow set about making this story "come true." Learn what the Apollo Player Piano is—learn what it will do for you and your children. We are willing to rest our case with you on the strength of what an investigation will develop. Your name and address will bring you back literature that is worth reading for its own sake as well as that of the information it contains. Write right now.
