

LORD LONGBOW—HE IS DECORATED FOR SERVICE TO ROYALTY

"Once, while the club was entertaining a certain royal person, I sat at the window, opposite the apartment where his highness. I saw him sitting asleep in a chair near a window hung with light drapery, you understand."

"He had been smoking and reading the newspapers, and feeling sleepy had laid his cigar upon the newspaper and drowsed off just as the paper caught fire. On the same stand stood an unopened bottle of champagne. Hastily drawing me revolver, I fired, and—"

"Shot the neck off the champagne bottle just in time. The resulting fountain of fizz at once distinguished the fire and undoubtedly saved his highness from a frightful fate, old chap. He at once awakened and, perceiving me, took in the situation at a glance."

"Shortly afterward, at the instigation of his royal highness, I was formally decorated with the gold star of the Order of the Bath, which I cherish among many others received upon occasions of equal merit, so to speak, old chap."

BRAINY AND DROWSE—THEY WANDER INTO CELESTIAL FIELDS

Monday's Delayed News Briefly Told

Resume of World Happenings Received From 3 o'clock Yesterday Afternoon Until 3 o'clock This Morning.

Congressional. The workmen's compensation act, framed by the federal employers' liability commission and recommended by the senate judiciary committee, came up Monday in the senate for the first time, when Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, spoke in advocacy of it. The grades of admiral and vice admiral in the navy will be established by a bill introduced by Representative Bates of Pennsylvania, Republican. The bill would include in the active list one admiral and four vice admirals. The house public lands committee held another meeting Monday, but neglected to consider the Lafferty bill for the relief of innocent purchasers of Oregon and California railroad lands. The bill appropriating $150,000 for fighting the Mississippi flood was amended in the house to make the money also apply to operations on Mississippi river tributaries. James A. Conroy, director of the Port of Boston, appeared before the committee in opposition to the proposal in the Panama government bill to divorce railroads from steamship lines. The agricultural committee listened to arguments in favor of a bureau of markets to investigate methods of marketing farm products. The house continued debate on the Indian appropriation bill. The judiciary committee of the senate ordered favorably reported the nomination of George L. Townsend to be to replace the one stolen by burglars at Chicago. Mrs. Agnes Racilla, mother of 22 children, rather than continue in bringing children into the world, attempted suicide in New York. Before she could accomplish her purpose medical aid was at hand and her life was saved. Mr. Racilla is a railroad laborer in Jersey City, and Mrs. Racilla says he has always been good to her, but she insists she does not want to continue bearing children. She is 48 years old. Colonel Horton K. Jamison, for many years one of the best known bankers of Philadelphia, died Monday near Saltburg, Pa. Colonel Jamison was 75 years old.

Political. Nominations sent to the senate Monday by President Taft included Edward M. Balster of Missouri, commissioner of education of Porto Rico, and Earl L. Hunter, postmaster at Juneau, Alaska. Governor Hooper has announced the appointment of Newell Sanders as United States senator to succeed the late Senator Robert L. Taylor. Mr. Sanders is a manufacturer of Chattanooga, 62 years old, and the third Republican to serve Tennessee in the United States senate, the last being W. W. Brownlow, elected in 1869. Equal suffrage scored a victory in the Arizona assembly Monday when the house, 21 to 4, passed Assemblyman Moore's bill granting women the full right of suffrage. The bill immediately was sent to the senate, where the leader announced public hearings would be held before any action was taken. The Arizona senate has passed the recall amendment to the constitution, with only two negative votes. The measure had previously passed the house.

Miscellaneous. For the use of the patented "De Bange Gas Check" on its cannon in the army and navy, the United States government has been held liable by the supreme court of the United States to pay $136,000 to the owner of the French invention. Western coal has been found unsuitable for the use of the navy except at shore plants and on tugs and other vessels which would not be expected to take part in battle. Comparative tests held aboard the cruisers West Virginia, Colorado and Maryland have convinced naval officers that it would be unwise to give preference to western coal, which, it is said, produces excessive amounts of ashes and soot, tending to clog the tubes and grates, and having a certain destructive effect on the boilers. Representatives of Catholic and Protestant organizations were heard Monday by Secretary Fisher of the interior department in relation to the recent order issued by Valentine, a commissioner of Indian affairs, forbidding the wearing of religious garb by teachers in Indian schools which receive government support. This order was suspended by order of President Taft. Secretary Knox arrived at Kingston, Jamaica, Monday on the Cruiser Washington. Lieutenant Colonel L. C. E. Wyndham, the governor's private secretary aide-de-camp, accompanied by the United States consul, escorted Mr. Knox on shore.

MERGER OF LIGHT CONCERNS HASN'T AIDED WOODBURN

A complete incandescent system throughout the city. The company thereupon refused to deal with the council except by renewing the contract for the arc system. The old arc system was so entirely unsatisfactory that the city refused to renew the contract, even at a lower figure, and kept after the lighting company for a new system, which finally brought out a proposition for the installation and maintenance of one hundred and forty to candle power incandescent lamps, for which the power company proposed to charge the city $14.40 each, per year and submitted a contract to run 10 years. This contract was promptly rejected by the city of Woodburn and was referred back to the lighting people for elucidation. In the meantime the lighting and power interests of Portland had consolidated, which was to result in a great reduction in lighting rates. The Portland Railway, Light & Power company, however, refused to deal with the city at the prices named, except on a 15 year contract, and quoted a new price of $16.20 per lamp per year, on the 10 year basis, or an increase of $1.80 per lamp per year. The city council immediately served notice on the company to discontinue all arc service within the city, and a petition was circulated by the citizens asking a special election to provide bonds to install a municipal plant. This action brought General Manager Hill of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company to Woodburn, where he conferred with the council and attempted to show that the city could not possibly operate its own system and produced figures to prove that his company would actually lose money every day after the signing of such a contract as he proposed to give to the city. As matters stand today, the Portland Railway, Light & Power company is operating the system of arcs at its own expense and the city council has several proposals under advisement with an amicable settlement apparently as far away as it was two years ago. The average woman couldn't keep a secret by putting it on ice.

Appropriate civil and military honors will be paid to the memory of Major General Philip Kearney of Civil war fame, upon the removal of his body this week from the family vault in Trinity churchyard to Arlington cemetery in Washington, where a fitting monument is to be erected through a $10,000 appropriation of the New Jersey legislature. After telling his landlady he intended to end his life, George Carlson, a Chicago printer, purchased 30 bottles of whiskey. Later he was found unconscious beside eight empty bottles. He was fined $15 for attempting suicide by drinking the liquor. Women of Excelsior, Minn., are planning if necessary to keep the village "dry" to purchase the saloon licenses at $1500 each. The formation of this plan comes as the result of the recent election in Excelsior, which went "wet" after several years of prohibition. While the town of New Madrid, Mo., was overflowed by the Mississippi to the depth of several feet, voters went to the polls in skiffs, motor boats, launches and rafts and voted the town "dry" by 390 majority. Dr. Charles H. Greene, lecturer in the Harvard medical school, has made the discovery that women talk too much. In a lecture on the "Hygiene of Women," he declared: "Yes, women talk far too much. They would be better looking if they listened more. They are nervous because they do so much talking. The energy they use up in talking should be used for other purposes."

Pacific Coast. State Horticultural Commissioner A. J. Cook, of California, has obtained a ruling from Postmaster General Hitchcock, whereby the sending through the mails of small trees, slips and shrubs, which might be carriers of fruit-tree pests, will be prohibited unless they bear the stamp of a state or federal official. Dr. Cook says a recent official pest was brought to California in the mail. Hood River housewives and the managements of the different local hotels find great difficulty in securing girls for domestic service. The hotels find so much trouble that they can scarcely secure girls to serve in the dining rooms, and it is almost impossible to secure them for private families. Cable communication with Alaska, which was severed last Saturday night by a break in the submarine line between Seattle and Sitka, may not be restored for several weeks. The government cable ship Burnside is out of commission, and no other vessel is available to repair the break. Ranchers in the vicinity of White Salmon are complaining of cattle running at large in that community to the detriment of young trees of orchards. One man had 15 acres of trees badly damaged, so many new orchards are being started in the White Salmon district that it is thought it will be necessary to abolish the free range for cattle. The body of Robert McD. Grant, who was drowned by falling overboard from the Flavel wharf on the morning of March 17, was found on the beach near Hammond Monday. Mr. Grant was 52 years old and was born at sea when his parents were emigrating from Scotland to America. A town row of long standing which culminated in a disturbance in the council meeting of the Springdale, Wash., council, February 19, at which time revolvers were drawn and bloodshed seemed imminent, resulted in the conviction in the district court of J. W. Gillingham, Willard Taylor and J. S. Fellows, prominent citizens of Springdale, on a charge of rioting. A. L. Salnane and P. T. Cedarholm, both old pioneers of the northwest, died suddenly in Spokane Monday. Orders were received at the Mare Island Navy yard Monday to place the cruiser Annapolis in full commission by May 1. It is thought the Annapolis will be sent either to Central American waters or to Alaska for seal patrol duty. Attempting to escape Monday from the Folsom, Cal., prison, Manuel Rodriguez, a Mexican, serving one year and a half, was shot and killed. The convict with others was working on the wall being constructed on the north side of the prison.
