

'VOTERESSES' WILL SING CALIFORNIA PRIMARY ELECTION

Women to Decide Whom State Will Support in National Conventions of Democrats and Republicans.

(United Press Special Wire.)
San Francisco, May 6.—California women will decide at the presidential preference primary a week from tomorrow the name of the Democrat and Republican who will receive California's presidential endorsement at the Baltimore and Chicago conventions. That the several candidates realize the newly enfranchised voters hold the balance of power is indicated by the manner in which the women are being appealed to in the present campaign.

If Robert M. La Follette carries the state, he will owe much of his success to Mrs. La Follette, who has secured the women voters in his behalf in nearly every city and town in which "Hattie Hob" has appeared. Senator La Follette is making a thorough canvass of the state, and in addition to Mrs. La Follette has several other women campaigning in support of his candidacy. La Follette is more than pleased with his chances and is confident that he will carry the state.

Interest in Republican Fight.
Interest, however, centers chiefly in the fight between President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt for the state's delegation. Although the Rooseveltites claim the column will "win in a walk," they are taking no chances, and have sent some of their best stump-speakers to California to carry on the fight for the former president. Modell McCormick, the Chicago progressive, has been in the state for several weeks, and former Senator Beveridge of Indiana is due today and will canvass the state thoroughly in Roosevelt's behalf. Governor Johnson has been making a strong campaign for Roosevelt and is conceded to have won many votes for the former president.

La Follette on Stump.
Senator La Follette spoke today at Hanford, Merced and Modesto. Before the campaign ends next Monday night La Follette will have covered the state pretty thoroughly. He has arranged his itinerary so that he may close his campaign with a big mass meeting in San Francisco Monday night.

The Wilson and Clark people are not making big speech making campaigns, relying largely upon campaign literature and long distance efforts to carry the state. It is believed that the race between Clark and Wilson will be close.

81 DELINQUENTS BEFORE THE JUVENILE COURT

Eighty-one delinquent and dependent children were brought before Juvenile Judge Gatens during April. The report of the court further shows 69 of this number were in for their first time. Incurability was the chief complaint against them, 19 being charged with this offense. The number arrested for burglary was seven, which is a lower number than any previous month for such offense. Five were before the court for larceny, six for truancy, six for immorality, four for malicious mischief, four for destroying property, and the others for petty offenses. Three were taken care of by the court on account of poverty, two for desertion, and 26 for separation of parents, immoral surroundings and general incompetency of parents.

Of the 81 brought into court, 27 were given another chance, eight placed on probation, eight warned against further trouble, 15 committed to the Frazee home, two to the House of the Good Shepherd, one to the Baby Home, four to charitable institutions, and two to the Oregon Training school.

GAS IN YOUR STOMACH OFTEN COMES FROM NERVOUSNESS

Rather than a nervous, irritable stomach, and it takes a remedy prepared particularly and especially for Stomach Gas to cure this. Baalman's Gas-Tablets do this because they are prepared distinctly and especially for Stomach Gas and particularly for all the bad effects coming from Gas Pressure. That empty, gone and gnawing feeling at the pit of your stomach will forever disappear in a few days; that anxious and nervous feeling, with heart palpitation, will vanish and you will once more be able to take a deep breath, so often prevented by gas pressing against your heart and lungs. Your limbs, arms and fingers won't feel numb and go to sleep, because Baalman's Gas-Tablets prevent gas interfering with your digestion. That intense drowsiness and sleepy feeling after dinner will soon be replaced by a desire for some form of entertainment. Your distended stomach will reduce by inches, because gas simply cannot form after a few days' use of Baalman's Gas-Tablets.

Ask these San Francisco people what they think of Baalman's Gas-Tablets: Archbishop Riordan, San Francisco; Col. Chas. Bonting, State Prison Director of California; Ferd Wodon, Belgian Consul, San Francisco; Mr. J. Craig, Woodland, Cal.; Mr. Geo. H. Kahn, 34 Kearny St.; Mr. W. W. Coulter, 1119 Sutter St.; Mr. T. E. Campbell, Lake House; Mr. Wm. H. Hand, Goldberg Bowen.

YOUNG SON HERO AS FATHER DIES

Lakeview Lad Takes Dead Body of Parent 90 Miles by Wagon.

(Special to The Journal.)
Lakeview, Or., May 6.—The accidental death of Davis M. Jones while on his way to his homestead in Goldie valley, Harney county, has brought out a story of heroism on the part of his young son that is seldom equaled. The homestead held by the elder Jones is apart from any settlement and some 15 miles from the nearest neighbor. The day of the accident, as the father and son were starting down a hill into the valley, the neckyoke broke and allowed the wagon tongue to drop, twisting the wheels over a large rock near the roadway and throwing the father out of the wagon. A revolver carried in a holster fell to the ground and was discharged, the ball entering the thigh. Though the wound was not necessarily fatal, the jar of the fall, combined with the shock, resulted in heart failure. Mr. Jones never regained consciousness.

The boy bandaged the wound and tried to restore his parent to consciousness, but after working some time over him trying to induce artificial respiration, found that his father was dead. The little fellow straightened his father's body, and after covering it as best he could, started for the nearest ranch. In the hurry, the animal that he rode gave out, and he then walked some miles to obtain assistance, returning with the men after the body and endeavoring in bringing it here, a distance of 90 miles.

The deceased was formerly a resident of the Willamette valley and came here about 3½ years ago to make his home on government land. He left a widow and two sons, Henry and James, the latter having been with him at the time of his death. A daughter, Mrs. John Stoop, is a resident of Portland.

RAILROAD WORK CALLS FOR MEN

Reports From Vale Indicate That Large Forces Are to Be Used.

(Special to The Journal.)
Vale, Or., May 6.—Between 1000 and 1500 railroad laborers are to be rushed to Vale and into the Malheur canyon railroad camps on the Oregon Eastern, according to reports being given out here from railroad men who are keeping posted on construction work on the new trans-Oregon line. Information is that the army of railroad laborers will be sent to Vale even before the general budget of railroad appropriations is made known to the general public.

At present the railroad building west of this city is moving slowly, but surely, delay being due to a lack of money, the first appropriation for this work having given out. However, practically all of the first 15 miles of grading from this city is completed, and the big cut, 68 feet deep and 1600 feet in length, at mile post 15, will be completed within another week.

At the big 3600 foot tunnel, between mile posts 19 and 40, the operations are well under way and the air drills have already penetrated 60 feet into the rocky mountains. The work here has been tedious, especially the construction of the approach, as the rocky bluff has had to be torn down to a height of 200 feet in order to properly build the eastern entrance to the tunnel. Considerable work has also been done on the western approach and portal on the other side of the mountain.

The high water stage of the Malheur river in the narrow rocky gorge has been one of the causes for the slow operations and has made hauling of supplies to the Malheur camps difficult. The river must be forded nearly 20 times and several of these fording places are dangerous, as the water is deep, swift and over the horses' backs. Six or seven fine animals have been lost since the first of the year, while fording the Malheur river. At present the river is two feet higher than it was a few weeks ago, on account of the recent downpour of rain. And the large amount of snow still in the mountains is causing more anxiety to the railroaders and freighters.

In order to eliminate some of these risks and losses, between half a mile and a mile of wagon road is being built along the edge of the rocky precipice, near the Wasatch camp at mile post 21. The work is tedious and costly, as the road must be cut into the solid rock, but it will do away with two of the worst fording places, where so many horses and mules of freighting outfits have been lost.

ENTERTAINED ROYALLY BY SEATTLE AD CLUB

Filled with enthusiasm because of the warmth of their Seattle welcome, the delegation of Ad club members who attended the annual meeting of the Seattle Ad club Saturday night returned home yesterday.

"The Seattle Ad clubbers made us feel like we in Portland had been asleep," averred Chairman C. F. Berg of the committee in charge of the Seattle excursion.

"They had a playlet that demonstrated how we of the northwest must work together for the benefit of all. On the stage was an Indian scene and the pipe of peace was passing its rounds. There was a rope and one after the other we were invited to tug on it and thus move the burden to which it was attached. None of us singly could do it. Then we all pulled together and this moved aside the screen that had hidden the figure symbol of the 'All-Northwest Spirit,' which is opposed to knocking and hostility.

"Nothing that could contribute to our pleasure or entertainment was left undeveloped by the Seattle Ad men. Our journey about the city in automobiles was a beautiful climax to a great day. We have a trainload of the Seattle Ad men in Portland at the time of the Pacific Coast Ad convention, June 10 to 12, and the Rose Festival, June 10 to 15."

PIONEER OF THE DALLES GIVEN BURIAL SATURDAY

(Special to The Journal.)
The Dalles, Or., May 6.—The funeral of Patrick Fagan, who died in St. Vincent's hospital Thursday, was conducted from St. Peter's Catholic church in this city Saturday.

Patrick Fagan was born in Newry, county Down, Ireland, 72 years ago, and came to America in 1871, locating in Boston where he remained until 1879. In that year he came to the Dalles and opened a merchant tailoring establishment which he conducted for a number of years. In 1885 he sold his tailoring establishment and engaged in sheep raising on Currant creek, Crook county, where he accumulated a competency, and retired from active business about 10 years ago, returning to this city. Mr. Fagan served on the city council for two terms, and as a public official was conservative and his only relatives in this country are Edward Fagan, a brother, and M. L. Curran, a nephew, both residing in The Dalles.

OREGON EASTERN PAYS HIGH PRICE FOR LAND

(Special to The Journal.)
Vale, Or., May 6.—The first and only right of way condemnation suit for the Oregon Eastern railroad resulted in the jury awarding Charles W. Thibault, a ranchman, three miles south of this city, $2200 as the value of 11.3 acres and damages to his large ranch. Thibault in his answer to the complaint stated that the tract of land for the right of way and the damages to his ranch was worth $12,000, although at one time before the case was taken to court, he had been willing to settle for $1000.

The amount in excess of $12 per acre will have to be paid by the business men of Vale according to an agreement with Assistant General Manager Secretary of the Oregon Short Line, providing Vale was made the dominating link of the Oregon Short Line and the new trans-Oregon road. This agreement provided the purchase of 15 miles of right of way between Vale and the mouth of the Malheur canyon, and Vale's share of the cost of the entire right of way will be $1000.
