The cry of these bandits, as of all other so called rebels, is 'clear the country of the gringos'.

J. C. Elkins, of San Francisco, who has been teaching in a government school in the state of Oxaca, ascribes much of the inflamed feeling to the apathy of President Madero and to the afforts of Mexican educators to instill into the minds of students that the United States is only awaiting a favorable opportunity to gobble up Mexico. This belief, he said, is general among the lower class of Mexicans, who are responsible for nearly all the outrages against foreign residents.

His successor Sherman, Clay & Co. in Portland is J. H. Dundor, former head office man for the company.

The announcement of Mr. Johnson's change of business came as a surprise to thousands of his business friends in Portland and Oregon. For six years, while he has been identified with the Sherman, Clay & Co. Interests, he has been a leader in plans for Oregon and Portland development. He has been a large contributor to the practical religious enterprises of the city, and is noted for his public spirit.

A large portion of the second floor of the Seiling building has been fitted up as offices for the Provident Trust company, which will continue to be engaged in the financial and realty operations usual to such institutions.

FRENCH TOO HARD FOR UNCLE SAM

New American Ambassador at Paris Conducts Diplomatic Business in English.

Paris, June 1 .- For the first time in to years the diplomatic business of the United States in France is being con-ducted in English. The predecessors of Ambassador Myron T. Herrick used French. There is not only a precedent upholding the new ambassador's new change, but actual instructions from Washington demanding the use of Eng-lish here. Not being as familiar with the French language as he would like, and as he hopes soon to be, Ambassador Herrick burked in true democratic form when friends suggested he learn a set speech in French to deliver before President Fallieres when handing in his letters of credence.
