The Sentiment--The Value

21 Cash Prizes for Popular Societies, Churches, Charitable Organizations

We would not call it by another name because it is the universal flower. It is found in every clime--in the frigid north and in the sunny south. It was the honored flower among the ancients. It grew in the hanging gardens of Babylon. Solomon sang its praises. The Greeks called it "Queen of Flowers." The Romans made their couches into literal beds of Roses. The rose speaks a universal language. A peasant in Italy at a wayside gate may hand an American traveler a rose and its meaning is clear, though neither understands the other's words. Tomorrow Portland will strew her streets with roses, with the same sentiment to all the world. We ask the people of all nations to take a few moments' respite from business and join with us in our ROSE CARNIVAL FESTIVITIES, a magnificent tribute to the flower of untold value. William Penn exacted from his daughter a single rose in payment for the first brick house erected in America.

The Rose grew on his own bush--but to him was the most valuable thing in the world. Baron Steigel decided to the people of a German community at Manheim, Pennsylvania, a church on condition that they pay to his heirs each year a single rose. This has been done annually to this day, in what is called "The Festival of Roses." Tomorrow Rex Oregonus will arrive in Portland. The people of this great and prosperous commonwealth will pay him their tribute of love and honor by showering him with roses. All visitors to the city are cordially invited to make headquarters at this store.
