

NATIONAL LEAGUE DELEGATES PICKED

Old Guard and Progressives Alike Named by Republicans

Old guard and progressive Republican alike have been appointed as delegates to the Republican national league convention at Chicago, which will hold its opening session on the day the national convention meets.

The appointment of delegates was made by J. Frank Bennett, the state president of the Republican league. Oregon is entitled to 18 delegates and 17 of them were announced by Mr. Bennett yesterday. The eighteenth member will be named when Bennett learns of some one who will be in Chicago at convention time.

All 18 of the Oregon delegates to the national convention were named by Bennett to attend the league convention. The others appointed are Senator Jonathan Bourne Jr.; Fred W. Mulkey, congressman; A. W. Lafferty, congressman; W. C. Hawley, John H. McNary, A. W. Prescott and J. Frank Bennett. The Oregon delegates to the national convention will also be privileged to sit in the league convention are Charles H. Carey, Thomas McCusker, Henry Waldo Cox, H. C. Campbell and Charles W. Ackerson of Portland; D. D. Hall, of Mosier; Daniel Boyd, of Bly; A. H. B. Bly, of Salem, and F. S. Byrnes, of Salem, and A. V. Swift, of Haines.

The league is to meet on June 18, and will then adjourn until after the nominations for president and vice president are made. It will then hold a rally and hear addresses by some of the national leaders. John Hays Hammond of Massachusetts, is president of the national league clubs.

are crowded and the streets thronged. The city never entertained more people. It is said, than are in the city today, and this number will be greatly increased when the festival gets well underway.

Great Welcome in Store.

Government, state and city have joined hands in preparing for the reign of Rex Oregonus. The governor, the mayor and the officials of Oregon and Portland will gather this afternoon at the Gipsy Smith auditorium in a mass meeting observance of Rex Sunday.

The boom of cannon fired from the government war vessels, Maryland and Boston, will signalize the arrival of the king tomorrow at noon. He will be transferred from the Maryland, his flagship, on the way to Portland, to his royal barge, the Sea Otter. Accompanied by ships, steamers, yachts and launches, he will lead a kingly pageant through the harbor while the whistles scream, the bells ring and the people cheer.

The United States cruiser Maryland, it is expected, will anchor in the lower harbor some time this afternoon. A wireless message from the big war ves-

ISSUES ORDERS TO "SKIPPER" IN WATER PARADE ON MONDAY

Admiral C. V. Cooper, commander in chief of all the brilliant water parades during the Rose Festival, issued final instructions to all boats entering the parades, yesterday, as follows:

"Four boats participating in Rose Festival water parades will assemble at 10:30 a. m. Monday, June 10, for the morning parade and 7:30 p. m. Thursday, June 13, for the evening parade, as follows:

"Morning parade will move about 8:30 o'clock.

"Class 'A' (work boats) will assemble in line at the Portland Flouring Mill company's dock, on East Side, and report to Captain W. L. Beyer, of the 'D.S.' who will be in command of 'A' division.

"Class 'B' (cruisers and cabin boats) and class 'C' (open pleasure boats) will assemble in line at the Pacific Elevator company's dock, on East Side, and report to Captain C. B. Brown, of the 'Beta' B,' who will be in command of 'B' division.

"A gun will be fired five minutes before the start. Five minutes after the first gun a second gun will be fired. This is the starting signal. Division 'A' will move first. As the last boat of 'A' division passes the first boat of 'B' division, 'B' division will move. As the last boat of 'B' division passes the first boat of 'C' division, 'C' division will fall in line.

"The line of march for both parades will be the river through all the bridges, around a star boat above the Hawthorne bridge, and down the river through all the bridges. The parades will disperse in the lower harbor.

"The county commissioners have kindly consented to keep the bridge draws open during both the day and night parades.

"In passing through the bridge draws, boats going up the river will pass on the west side of the draw pier and those going down the river will pass on the east side. In passing through the new railroad and Hawthorne bridges, boats going up stream will keep as close to the west pier as possible and boats going down stream will keep close to the east pier.

"All boats will keep a reasonable distance apart, about 100 feet. All boats should increase or decrease their speed as conditions require. The intention is to keep as straight a line as possible with the boats about the same distance apart.

"The king's barge will fall out of line after passing around the stake boat above the Hawthorne bridge and arriving off Stark street to enable the king to review the parade. The king must be landed at Stark street at exactly noon.

"Fireworks—In the evening parade a barge will be towed upon which Mount Vesuvius will be spouting fire, rockets will be sent up and red fire burned. Red fire sticks and other safe fireworks will be furnished all boats. Boats should call alongside of the fire barge for their proportion. The fireworks barge will be at Oceanic dock at 7 p. m.

"In using red fire or Roman candles, hold the stick over the side of the boat, so the melting material will fall in the water. All large boats are cautioned to go slow in passing the little motor boats."

very to meet tomorrow the margin either way would not be more than 10 and would probably be closer to half that number.

With the convention still 10 days off there were more than 200 delegates already on the ground tonight and others were arriving on every train. The harbor was jammed with anxious citizens all desirous of getting a line on the situation.

KING GEORGE REVIEWS BIG MILITARY PARADE

(Called From London Wire.)

London, June 7.—One of the most striking military parades ever seen in England was held this evening when King George reviewed 25,000 men of the London branch of the national reserve, a force of ex-soldiers and ex-volunteers, who have enrolled themselves as ready to serve their country in any emergency.

While highly gratifying to the veterans, who mustered in Hyde Park, King George's review was fairly arranged to boost War Minister Lord Haldane's territorial army scheme, but the thousands of spectators who thronged the fashionable West End thoroughfares leading to the parade ground forgot politics in cheering London's citizen soldiers.

NO QUESTION WHETHER ROOSEVELT MEN WILL BOLT IF IT'S NECESSARY

follow them and neither cares if the outcome is temporary wreck of the party.

These two bosses have used various expedients to get the other committee-men behind them. Ralph Williams, once for Roosevelt, has been promised the United States marshalship of Oregon to keep him faithful to Taft. Mulvane of Kansas has been promised state patronage. Lowden of Illinois has had a senatorship dangled before him. Hartz of Iowa has been promised big political preferment if he can get Life Young, the Iowa reactionary, out of his way. Young, apparently hearing about this offer to Hart, came out this morning with a loud declaration that Taft cannot be nominated and pleaded for the selection of Cummins as a compromise candidate.

Dr. Coe Present.

The conference of the 22 direct primary delegates, at which Filin, Dixon and Knox were named as a steering committee, was very lengthy. The entire situation was carefully canvassed but none of the members of the committee cared to disclose exactly what was done. It was learned, however, that the committee was unanimous in believing that if the Taft forces controlled the delegates from nearly all of the states having direct primaries would bolt and hold their own convention, which they would then claim was the only regular Republican convention. The direct primary delegates were E. C. Carrington, A. A. Morland and G. L. Taft of Maryland; E. M. Lee, Indiana; T. K. Neldringhouse, Missouri; Frank Knox, Michigan; M. D. Purdy, Minnesota; Governor Stubbs, Kansas; Medill McCormick, R. McCormick and John G. Hamilton, Illinois; George Record, New Jersey; George O. Priestly, Oklahoma; Robert Burton, North Dakota; William Plinn, Pennsylvania; Dr. H. W. Coe, Oregon; Dwight Heard, Arizona; Nathan Morrill, Nebraska; Walter Brown, Nat C. Wright, Ohio; S. S. McNinch, North Carolina; E. A. Dixon, California.

Taft Men Also Active.

But while the Roosevelt leaders were outlining the program, the Taft men were no less active. While the national committee calmly continued seating the Taft delegates from each district taken up, all of the president's chief lieutenants were organizing the delegates for him. The Taft men made it very plain that they believed they had the delegates to organize the convention and that they were prepared to bolt. Roosevelt men also held the claims of the Roosevelt leaders that they would take out of the convention all of the delegates from direct primary states.

The real result in connection with the selection of the convention will be known until the roll call which will come immediately after Victor Rosewater, as chairman of the national committee, calls the convention to order. This will be on the selection of the temporary chairman if the Roosevelt men continue firm in their determination to continue and prevent Senator Root being elected temporary chairman. If the Root fight should be abandoned, it will be on a motion to replace the names of the Taft contestants placed on the temporary roll with the Roosevelt delegates that were turned down. No matter what the issue the first 10 minutes of the convention session, and the result will be very close.

Margin Will Be Narrow.

The Taft men publicly claim they will have 145 votes to spare. The Roosevelt men claim they can and will be in control by more than 150. Careful and impartial analysis tomorrow would seem to indicate that if the convention
