

PENDER BALLOTS SHOW A STRANGE CONDITION IN JURY

On First Vote All Declared Him Guilty, Yet on Final One, Nine Are for Acquittal and Three for Hanging.

(Special to The Journal.)
St. Helens, Or., June 10.—At shortly after midnight this morning Judge James U. Campbell discharged the jury which tried James Arthur Pender for the murder of Daley Washburn. The jury, after having been out since shortly before 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, was in a hopeless deadlock, standing nine to three for acquittal.
The first ballot held was for the purpose of determining the jury's opinion of the guilt or innocence of Pender. "Guilty" was the verdict.
On the second ballot, held for determining the degree, nine stood for first degree murder and three for second degree.
The third ballot showed seven for first degree and five for second degree. Then came numerous ballots, those who at first favored second degree voting for acquittal.
The final ballot, developing an unbreakable deadlock, stood nine for acquittal and three for conviction of murder in the first degree.
Pender's second trial probably will not be held before the fall term of court, which opens in September.

POLK COUNTY WILL IMPROVE HIGHWAY

(Special to The Journal.)
Willamina, Or., June 10.—Polk county is making up to the advisability of good roads. For years the road west of this place, running seven miles through the northern part of Polk county, has been notoriously bad in the winter time. Last year about $5000 was expended and the grade was cut down and about one and a half miles was macadamized. This year the work will be taken up where it was left off last season and about four miles will be thoroughly macadamized. The rock crusher is at work about four miles west and the crushed rock is being hauled out.

BONANZA MAY GET ELECTRIC RAILWAY

Proposed Irrigation Project Encourages Men Planning to Build Extension.

(Special to The Journal.)
Klamath Falls, Or., June 10.—Several years ago promoters undertook to build an electric railway from Klamath Falls to Bonanza. When the government abandoned the so called Upper Klamath irrigation project the electric road proposition also went by the board. Now that the state project is likely to materialize there is another movement on foot to build the railway. Preliminary surveys made for the irrigation project show that about 30,000 acres can be irrigated from the Horse Fly reservoir site at a cost of about $20 an acre. The project has been organized and a competent engineer will shortly go over the ground to establish permanent lines for the canal. If the project is approved by the state the bonds will be offered for sale. The men behind the state project feel sanguine and say that water will be placed on the lands included in the irrigation district within two years.
George C. Clark, who built the Lost river diversion dam, has been over the route of the proposed road. On his trip of inspection he was accompanied by W. Paul Johnson, local manager of the Klamath Development company, Charles E. Worden, one of the local capitalists, and the Moore Bros., well known here and also in Portland. Mr. Clark estimated that it would cost approximately $12,000 a mile to build the electric railway. The survey made several years ago shows the distance to be 26 miles.

STREET ORATORS CROW IN SAN DIEGO

Five Successful Meetings Are Held in City by I. W. W.—No Interference.

(United Press Special Wire.)
San Diego, Cal., June 10.—With the local jails cleared of I. W. W.'s and the vigilantes and police inactive in the campaign against that organization, sympathizers with the local Free Speech league are discussing today the first successful street meetings, held Sunday, which have been permitted by the authorities in many weeks.
The first meeting was held at Seventh and E streets. Here a small crowd gathered to hear Mrs. Laura Payne Emerson and other speakers denounce the present system of government and advocate changes in the constitution and abolishment of the wage system.
Later in a vacant lot at Seventh and B streets, the local Socialists held a Debts rally.

OLDEST CONVICT SEEKS HIS RELEASE

Entered Prison When Twenty-One; He Is Now Old Man of 74.

(Special to The Journal.)
Hartford, Conn., June 10.—Among the half hundred petitions laid before the Connecticut board of pardons for consideration and action today was an application for the pardon of John Warren, who is serving a life sentence in the state penitentiary at Wethersfield. Warren has the unenviable distinction of being the oldest convict in the United States in point of service. He had just attained his majority when he was re-arrested at the penitentiary to begin a life sentence for the murder of his young wife.
Today he is an old man of 74, with a record of 52 years spent behind prison walls. The state board of pardons is familiar with every detail of Warren's case. Seven times has the board considered a petition for the old man's release and seven times has the petition been turned down. Whether the eighth petition will meet with a similar fate will soon be known. Warren has been a model convict and it is safe to say that there is not an official or inmate of the state prison who would not be glad to learn that the old man would be released to spend his last years in freedom.

MT. HOOD RAILWAY MAY BE ELECTRIFIED

(Special to The Journal.)
Hood River, Or., June 10.—David Eccles, of Salt Lake, head of the Sumpster Valley railroad, Oregon Lumber company and Mt. Hood railroad, spent Saturday in Hood River and in company with Charles T. Early, manager of the Oregon Lumber company and Mt. Hood railroad, went over the property interests here. Mr. Eccles was especially interested in the proposed railroad from Hood River to Lost Lake, which is now being surveyed. Visits to the several power sites on Hood River recently secured, were made and it is learned that several other sites will probably be secured, which, it is understood to mean that the company's lines here will be electrified. The large power plant now in operation by the company is used to furnish light and power to the large sawmill at Dee, Or.

It is a fortunate thing for the average man that his actions are less than one half as fierce as his thoughts.
