By this time much of the original enthusiasm for Hadley had been converted into a demonstration for the wocontagious enough to inoculate the thou-sands that packed the Coliseum.

As soon as the tastefully gowned figure of the young woman disappeared A wild yell went up from the Roose- gates back into their seats. Just when coices, and Watson turned and brought original seat in the balcony and another permit the arrest to be made, but in demonstration cut loose.

The Missouri governor stood smiling while the delegates cheered. It was the first real, spontaneous enthusiasm of the convention. More than half the delegates were on their chairs. Hats were swinging and handkerchiefs were waving while Hadley and Watson, representing the two great factions in the party, stood smiling side by side.
