Fined for Fighting.—A fight between a barber named W. J. Winn, who was armed with a watering can, and Adam Myers, a teamster, resulted in the arrest of Myers Monday afternoon by Patrolman Gault at Russell and Mississippi avenue. The fight started when Myers asserted that Winn had sprinkled him and ended when Winn knocked his opponent out with the watering can. Myers was fined $15 on a disorderly conduct charge.

Engineers to Meet.—The June business meeting of the Oregon Society of Engineers will be held this evening in conjunction with an informal 6 o'clock dinner in the Elizabethan room of the Imperial hotel. Matters of more than usual importance are to be discussed at this meeting, as regular meetings may be discontinued until September. A cordial invitation to attend has been issued to all visiting and resident engineers who are not members of the society.

Grade Teachers' Meeting.—The Portland Grade Teachers' association will be represented at the National Educational association, Chicago, July 4 to 7, by Miss Anna E. Cooley from Brookline school, Miss Harriet Van Amburgh, Stephens school, Miss Cora Williamson, Clinton Kelly school. The grade teachers of the United States plan to organize a National Grade Teachers' association at this meeting.

Copies of Pardons Filled.—A copy of each of the two pardons which were recently issued by President Taft completely removing the sentences imposed on Willard N. Jones, convicted of land fraud in connection with lands in the Elletts county, was filed with the local United States district court yesterday. The papers were filed in Washington, D. C., June 7 and just arrived in this city.

Steals Pig and Away He Runs.—A pig, not a large one at that, proved the downfall of Thomas Shafer, an employe of the Curry brick works on the Cornell road. Shafer was arrested last evening by the sheriff's office for embezzling the money received for the sale of the porker last February. The pig belonged to J. B. Haley. Haley has a small ranch back of Madley park. Shafer was seen a home there last winter. In February, Haley decided to kill the pig, and he went to a local market and purchased his summer stock of groceries. Shafer brought the pig to Portland, collected the money and fed it to his hog. This was the last seen of the man until recently when Haley discovered him driving a brick wagon. Shafer is in the county jail. He explained to the officers that the money, $12 00, was too great a temptation to him, and it was spent on a joy ride.

Four "Buggers" Fined.—Following a decision by Judge Tazewell that bugging from a passing automobile is a violation of the law, four persons constituted disorderly conduct Sergeant Klenon and Patrolman Niles and Hutchings this morning arrested Cecil Brockman, Evelyn Reed, George McAfee and Vida Graham at Twenty-third and Overton streets as they were returning in an automobile from the road houses. The quartet were charged with disorderly conduct, as their actions were such as would bring them within the ruling made in municipal court recently. They were each fined $10 when their cases came up for hearing this morning.

Hold-Up Get It.—Charles W. Emmerich, a grocer at 486 East Sixty-seventh street North, reported to the police last night that two men held him up, while he was driving his horse in the vicinity of Seventy-seventh and Baxter streets. Emmerich reports the loss of $1. One man held his horse while the other man armed with a large black revolver, searched his pockets. The police have been given a description of the two highwaymen.

Everson, Deputy City Attorney.—Fred L. Everson was today appointed by City Attorney Frank A. Huston to fill the position made vacant by the resignation a few days ago of W. C. Benbow as deputy in the office. Attorney Everson is well known in Portland, having been associated with the law firm of Price & Huston for a number of years. He is a graduate of the University of Oregon law school and has been a resident of Portland for 16 years.

Alleged Forger Taken.—Guy R. Willcox, arrested yesterday by Detectives Heilner and Howell on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. The complainant, Harry Hippell, a saloon man, and the police are searching for another man said to be an accomplice in the forgery. It is said this man wrote the checks, and then accompanied Willcox to a saloon or other place of business where he would vouch for the validity of the forged paper.

"Fourth" Committee to Meet.—The safe and sane Fourth of July commission will hold a meeting this afternoon to consider plans for the celebration of Independence day. Its action will all depend on the attitude of the county and means committee on a proposed ordinance appropriating $150 for the celebration. The council committee will meet at 2 o'clock.

Funeral of Patrolman.—The funeral of Patrolman Albert Blackman, who died yesterday morning, will be held Thursday afternoon from the Fuller undertaking parlors at East Sixth and Alder streets. The first night relief, of which Blackman was a member, will attend the funeral and the police band will accompany the body.

"Sex and Health."—Tomorrow afternoon, from 12:10 to 12:45 o'clock, at Fantages theatre, Dr. D. C. Hall of the University of Washington, will give an illustrated lecture on the subject of "Sex and Health." This is for men only and there is no charge for admission. The Social Hygiene society has arranged the meeting.

The National Convention at Chicago is the leading event of today. But the sale of men's ready-to-wear suits for $15 and $20 (regular $22 to $30 values), by the Hunk, the upstart clothier, will make him prove it. Take elevator to second floor. 327 1/2 Washington St.

The Bankers and their friends have reserved every room at Hotel Gestner, by-the-sea for this week end. Other guests will be accommodated in the annex.

Paroled Man Routed.—One of Judge Gaither's paroled men reported to him yesterday that certain members of the police department are causing him trouble by circulating reports of his former conviction in the circuit court. The

POETRY IN ADVERTISING

By Bert M. Moses, President Association of American Advertisers

There is said to be a period in every young man's life when he allows the mail on his little fingers to grow as long as they possibly can.

What this peculiar trait really means is difficult to determine. Possibly it harks back to the day of the pterodactyl, which, I believe, antedates the mammoth.

And just as inescapable is that period in the early days of the advertiser when he yearns to make his wares famous through poetical advertising.

Very many folks who have an itch to break into advertising imagine that rhymes are more potent than reason. Nearly every day the mails bring me short verses of senseless rhymes which are offered as improvements upon the copy I am now using.

These good but mistaken people seem to think that the public will be impressed more by poetry than by plain reasoning in prose. Instances which there are one or two instances which came to mind where advertising rhymes proved very effective.

These were the Phoebe Snow and the Spotless Town series of verses.

It wasn't the rhymes themselves that proved so taking, but the facts which the rhymes so cleverly emphasized.

Successful advertising by means of poetry is the exception while successful advertising in prose is the rule.

Poetry does not belong in business any more than an Irishman belongs in Jerusalem.

Poetry belongs to the good folk who dream and dally with the unknowable but prose is the weapon that the man of hard, practical sense employs when he wants to get business.

A poet is rarely a good business man, and a business man is rarely a good poet.

Poetry is a beautiful and useful thing in its proper sphere, but in business it has no more place than pink tea and poe-die dogs with dainty ribbons around their necks.

state board of health, asking that he use his influence to have the council make an appropriation of $400 to secure moving pictures of Portland's city crematory in action, the new Bull Run pipe line and reservoirs and the headworks plant and other public utilities that have a bearing on the health of the city. To Entertain Delegates.—Delegates who are attending the Northwest student conference of the Young Men's Christian Association in session at Columbia Beach, will be entertained at luncheon at the Portland Y. M. C. A. when they are en route to their homes next Monday. The luncheon is being arranged by C. N. Wagoner, assistant general secretary of the Portland Y. M. C. A.

Boosts Horse Show.—Colonel J. S. Cooper of Independence was in Portland today boosting for Portland Day at the Independence horse show and race meet which begins today. Colonel Cooper is president of the Independence Commercial club. In taking the matter up with Manager C. C. Chapman of the promotion department of the Portland Commercial club, Colonel Cooper explained that Independence stands prepared to give the Portland people who attend the race meet a fine time, a very interesting program having been prepared. The visitors will also be shown the large polo fields for which the Independence country has become famous.
