Miss Frances Beaumont (left) of Washington, D. C., who arrives today to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Matthes; and Miss Helen Clark (right) who has returned to her home in New York, after a visit with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jackson.

ONE thousand dollars' worth of bride books sold by one local firm in three days might seem to indicate that society has little time for anything else than the doings of Master Dan Cupid and his train, but a glance at last and this week's calendar will tell quite another story. This week might rightly be called the week of buds, for when in Portland have four young girls made their bows to society in the same week. Miss Sally Hart will receive with her mother, Mrs. Frank E. Hart, on Saturday, and Miss Wilcox, Miss Jean Morrison and Miss Dorothy Huber will be presented on Thursday. Last week was essentially a week of big things and this week will be the same, which is an unusual round of gaiety at this season of the year, when the social boards of other cities are practically swept clear for the summer.

Waverly Golf club has never been so attractive as for the large dinner dance which Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Green gave Friday evening in compliment to Miss Dorothy Morrison and her fiancé, Donald Green. A large table at which sat the honor guests, centered the room. Bridesmaid roses were chosen for the decorations. The smaller tables were decked with pink sweet peas and places for 50 guests were marked with dainty pink rose cards. About the clubhouse was a profusion of vine maple, syringa and pink carnations. The veranda was illuminated with Japanese lanterns. One table of unusual charm held places for the debutantes, Miss Claire Wilcox, Miss Jean Morrison, Miss Barbara Mackenzie, Miss Dorothy Huber and the Misses Grace and Mildred Honeyman. Miss Morrison was most attractive in a gown of apricot chiffon over satin of an deeper shade with lace. Miss Green wore heavily embroidered lingerie with deep hem of pink and pink tulle.

A delightful surprise in the betrothal announcement of Miss Alice Carey and Dr. Eugene Rokey awaited the guests who responded to Mrs. Gilbert Durham's invitations for tea on Friday. Yellow was the color motif in the dining room where Mrs. Stanley Jewett served iced while Mrs. Gerald Beebe and Miss Maude Hart poured. Miss Milla Wessinger served punch. Floating about the rooms were Miss Katherine Holbrook, Miss Louise Burns, Miss Margaret Hewitt, Miss Barbara Mackenzie, Miss Evelyn Carey, Miss Clementine Lambert and Miss Lora Cumming. The living room was decorated with clusters of crimson rambler. Miss Carey is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Carey and a sister of Miss Evelyn Carey. She is a graduate of Portland academy and Dana Hall and also took one year at Smith. Dr. Rokey is the younger son of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Rokey and a brother of Dr. Paul Rokey. He is a graduate of Stanford and the Harvard Medical school. He is a Zeta Psi man. Dr. Rokey will spend next winter in the Massachusetts General hospital in Boston. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mrs. James F. Walling was hostess at a distinguished affair on Thursday for which she sent out 300 cards to meet Mrs. Edward J. Walling (Miss Marjorie Holcomb), her son's bride. The two drawing rooms were artistically arranged with decorations of crimson rambler and white syringa and the dining room was brilliant with yellow gladioli and other blossoms of the same color.

The table was charming with a centerpiece of water lilies and ferns. Presiding were Mrs. Carl R. Gray, Mrs. John Bingham, Mrs. Adrian McCallum and Miss Failing. At the lemonade table were Mrs. Marion F. Dolph and Mrs. Frederick H. Strong. Assisting the hostesses about the rooms were Mrs. Henry C. Cabell, Mrs. William Brewster, Mrs. Herman Burpee, Miss Mary Failing, Miss Kate Failing, Miss Rhoda Failing, Miss Barbara Holcomb, Miss Louise Lelter and Miss Henrietta Chase Failing.

Making their formal bows to society on Thursday with Miss Claire Wilcox will be two young girls, Miss Jean Morrison and Miss Dorothy Huber, who have been their playmates since they were little tots.

In spite of lowering clouds in the morning, the garden party given by Mrs. Peter Kerr yesterday afternoon at her handsome Riverside drive home, was one of the most delightful affairs of a week filled with a number of big events. The grounds of the Kerr home are beautifully adapted for such an affair as that of yesterday and made a picture of charming interest as the smartly gowned women strolled about or chatted over the punch bowl or tea cups, less were out by Mrs. L. Allen Lewis and Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, while Mrs. Richard Koehler, Mrs. Walter J. Burns, Mrs. Holt C. Wilson and Miss Failing poured. Mrs. C. E. S. Wood with Mrs. W. B. Ayer presided over the punch bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. John K. Kollock, Miss Claire Houghton, Miss Jean Mackenzie, Miss Barbara Mackenzie, Dr. J. N. Cochran and Roderick Macleay were the guests of Walter Beebe for a jolly motor dinner at his attractive bungalow on the Clackamas Monday evening.

Miss Virginia Burns and Miss Tone Stewart were the complimented guests at an informal evening of dancing which Mrs. Lee Hoffman gave for them on Thursday. Mrs. Lee Hoffman, Mrs. L. Hawley Hoffman and Miss Margaret Hoffman have cards out for an at home Thursday afternoon.

Miss Margaret Hewitt was hostess at a charming buffet luncheon given at her Mount Zion home on Wednesday. Her guests were Miss Claire Wilcox, Miss Dorothy Huber, Miss Barbara Mackenzie, Miss Katherine Holbrook, Miss Clementine Lambert, Miss Jean Morrison, Miss Louise Burns, Miss Cully Cook, Miss Katherine MacMaster and Miss Evelyn Carey.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Daugherty entertained with a dinner of 14 covers at the Golf club last evening for Mrs. Horace H. Irvine of St. Paul, who arrived Monday to pass a month with her sister, Mrs. Alexander McDonnell. Mrs. Irvine is accompanied by her small son and daughter and will be joined on Wednesday by Mr. Irvine.

Wednesday evening members of the Portland Academy Sigma Phi Upsilon fraternity were hosts at a launch party chaperoned by Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd. Supper was enjoyed on board the launch. The hosts and their guests were Miss Katherine Holbrook, Miss Helen Ladd, Miss Nancy Zan, Miss Grace Peters, Miss Rhoda Rumel, Miss Sara McCully, Miss Louise Morgan, Miss Miriam Haggendorf, Miss Margaret Haggendorf, Miss Rosamond Walker, Miss Margaret Cameron, Miss Ruth Plummer, Stuart Freeman, Harold Jones, Alexander Morrison, Bud Krize, Lee Patterson, Lester Brix, Aaron Whitmer, William Steiner, Horace Cardinell, William Huesner, Melvin Fell and Ernest Crich-ton.

Attractive cards have announced the birth of Miss Ruth Bowne to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bowne Jr. The little miss made her advent on June 5, her father's birthday.

Miss Katherine S. Arnold returned Friday from New York, where she has been taking post-graduate work in mathematics at Columbia university, and will spend the summer here with her brother, Homer K. Arnold, 87 East Seventeenth street. In September Miss Arnold will return to Milwaukee, Wis., where she will be in charge of the department of mathematics at Milwaukee-Downer college. Miss Ellen C. Sabin, formerly a resident of Portland for a number of years, is president of Milwaukee-Downer college and has built up this college for women to a very high standard with a large attendance. Miss Arnold taught mathematics at St. Helen's hall for five years prior to her trip to England last June.

Miss Marjorie Strain, of London, Ohio, was the complimented guest at a pretty tea given Tuesday afternoon by her cousin, Miss Mary Campbell. Miss Campbell's mother, Mrs. Jerome W. Campbell, received with her and the honor guest. The living room was decorated attractively with pink roses and Enchanted carnations were the flowers in the dining room. Nasturtiums were chosen for the den, where punch was served by Miss Helen Simon and Miss Ruth Rosenthal. Mrs. William T. Fangle and Miss Laura Smith presided at the table with the assistance of Miss Mary Kern, Miss Evelyn Jans, Miss Lucille Brough and Miss Harriet Kern. Assisting further about the rooms were Miss Mildred Vail and Miss Frances Brady.

Mrs. Imogen Harding Brodie presents Mrs. Henry W. Metzger, Miss Lucille Parker, Miss Margaret Hausman, Miss Reatha Fowler and Miss Muriel Williams in matinee recital, Thursday, June 27, at 3 o'clock, in Christensen's hall, 171 Eleventh street.

Joseph Cronin entertained with a delightful dinner dance at the Cronin home at Garden Home Wednesday evening for the pleasure of the Misses Nancy Jane, Helen and Ruth Stack, of Escanaba, Mich. Supper was enjoyed in the grove, lighted with Japanese lanterns. About 40 guests motored or rode out for the affair.

Miss C. Anita Whitney, suffrage worker from California, will be the honor guest at a luncheon given at the Imperial on Friday by the members of the Colgate Equal Suffrage league. Miss Whitney will present some aspects of the California campaign.

Miss Anita Whitney of California will be entertained Tuesday at a meeting of the Portland Equal Suffrage league. Mrs. Solomon Hirsch, president, to be held at 2:30 in the Selling-Hirsch building.

Mrs. Charles F. Latimer, Mrs. Edwin D. Whitney's cousin from Chicago, and Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Warren E. Keeler's mother from the same place, were the inspiration for a matinee party given at the Orpheum yesterday by Mrs. Charles F. Bunker, Mrs. Keeler, Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. W. A. Hathaway were additional guests. Tea followed at the Portland.

Mrs. Edwin A. Beals will entertain with a reception on June 28 for Mrs. A. W. Beals, Mrs. N. A. Middaugh and Miss Julia O. Hall.

Mrs. Vaughn Beharrell, of Seattle, was the complimented guest when Miss Dagmar Korell invited a few friends for an afternoon of cards, on Thursday. Card honors fell to Miss Judith Scott and Miss Geraldine Courson, with a guest prize for Mrs. Beharrell.

An interesting bit of news comes from Eugene to the effect that Miss BIRDIE WISE, of Astoria, won the Falling Prize in the annual U. of O. oratorical contest with her suffrage paper, "The Dawn of Tomorrow." The fact of a young woman capturing the prize was somewhat unusual in the face of several strong men rivals, but the decision was most popular. Miss Wise's paper was so good that she will be sent over the state by some of the suffrage organizations to deliver it in other places. The second, or Beakman, prize, fell to Miss Alberta Campbell, of Eugene.

Mrs. Coleman Wheeler will be a hostess on Tuesday.

Miss Irene Daily complimented her guest, Miss Imogene Carraker of Seattle and the Misses Nancy Jane, Ruth and Helen Stack at Escanaba, Mich., with an informal afternoon of bridge on Thursday. Five tables were made up and a few additional guests called for tea. Card honors were divided between Mrs. Oliver King Jeffery and Miss Dorothy Moulton.

Three of the largest affairs of the week were given by Mrs. Benjamin F. Weaver, when she entertained with bridge luncheons of thirteen tables each on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for her guest, Mrs. Charles Coon, of Omaha, and Mrs. A. E. Hutchinson, recently of Salt Lake, now of Portland. A charming color scheme of pink was developed in the decoration. On the table a centerpiece of pink roses seemed to support an artistic, long handled basket of pink roses and baby breath suspended from the chandelier. The door was opened by little Miss Frances Allen and the score cards were given out by little Miss Doris Streeter. Miss Sallie Sterrett presented the guests to the receiving line and the hostess was further assisted about the rooms by her daughter, Mrs. Charles L. Boss. Mrs. Coon was gowned in pearl gray with a handsome bertha of real lace. Mrs. Hutchinson was in green with elaborations of lace and Mrs. Weaver was distinguished in white. Wednesday card honors fell to Mrs. Chester Deering, Mrs. Charles F. Jones and Mrs. Abbie Wright. Thursday the fortunate players were Mrs. Charles Eastman, Mrs. Frank McCredis and Mrs. William Boyce. On Friday the prizes were won by...
