NORTH BEACH

LONG BEACH, Wash., July 13.—During the winter, largely through the efforts of Miss Louise Conant, money was raised from beach property owners and used to good advantage in opening trails from the beach to the fishing rocks, Beard's Hollow and North Head. The old trail to Beard's Hollow and North Head has been reopened and widened, a new trail has been made enabling persons to get on and off the Fishing Rocks at high tide, and a new trail has been opened back of the struble cottages near the Fishing Rocks connecting with the trail leading to Beard's Hollow, North Head and the Fishing Rocks.

Cooperation of Beach People.—In this climate, ferns and other shrubbery grow so quickly that if care is not taken the trails are soon overgrown. Now that these beautiful, winding paths are again open, beach visitors should try to keep them clear. If each person traveling on these trails would do his part toward breaking down the ferns which spring up, the trails could be kept permanently open.

A number of years ago one of the most beautiful and popular trails on the peninsula was that leading from North Head to Fort Canbyighthouse, by way of Dead Man's Hollow and McKenle Head. Beach visitors, tired of city things, prefer these trails and woodland paths to macadamized roads and other improvements, indicative of the city and it seems a pity that this beautiful trail has been neglected and allowed to sink into disuse, when a small amount of money would again place it in use.

Among the Cottagers.—Mrs. F. A. Collins and daughter, Audrey, of Portland, have been guests at the Sunset a week and a half. Mrs. W. P. Adams and daughter, Helen and Marjorie, are expected in the Fishermen cottage at Beach Center the first of the week. Joe Cosgrove and Miss Elizabeth Stanley, of Portland, spent the weekend at Sunset. Miss Alice Stanley, who has been a guest at Sunset since June 27, returned to Portland Sunday evening.

Dave Brace, of Portland, spent the weekend at the Walton cottage near Holman. The popular Banzai cottage of E. L. Smith of Pendleton, was opened by Mrs. E. L. Smith and daughters last week. The Whitaker cottage in the meadows houses Mrs. L. M. Whitaker and daughters, Mrs. Kate McDonald and Mrs. Florence Booth, of Portland.

Edward P. Kendall and wife are in their tent house at Long Beach for the season. Mr. Kendall will again institute his automobile trips to beach points of interest. Mr. and Mrs. H. Pomeroy and son are here for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Reiner, of Portland, pioneer visitors at Shelburne Station, are in their cottage for the season. Their neighbors, Mark and Irwin Buller, are with them. Mrs. L. D. Thomas, of Portland, is in the Thomas cottage at Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jeffery and daughter, Miss Bessie Jeffery, arrived last week for the first of the summer in the Jeffery cottage near Bette. Sea breeze, the pretty bungalow summer home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Shoefeld, of Portland, is the resting place of Mrs. C. L. Schoefeld, Mr. and Mrs. David Morris, and Master Arthur Schoefeld.

Mrs. Thomas Vaughan of Pendleton will be an all summer guest of the E. L. Smith family at Banzai cottage in the Meadows. Mrs. L. E. Chemin and Miss Julia Chemin are in their cottage at Beach Center for a few days.

Mrs. Frank Klerman, Frank Klerman Jr. and Miss Ruth Klerman have opened their Beach Center cottage for the remainder of the season. The Frain cottage at Long Beach has been rented to the Brothers of Christian Brothers Business college of Portland. At present eight of the cottagers are here.

E. F. Murphy of Portland, spent the week with his family at Long Beach. Mrs. A. Prall of Portland, has opened her cottage near Newtons for the season. Mrs. R. C. Bell and family returned to Portland for the Elks' convention.

S. Bromberger is expected the first of the week from the Elks' convention. Mr. and Mrs. T. Frank Carney and baby daughter, Mary Helen, are expected from the Elks' convention. Mrs. E. P. Murphy and children and Master Ambrose Lawrence have moved into their recently completed summer home at Long Beach.

Mrs. W. Ader, Amiel Ader, Miss Minnie Ader are down for the season. Mrs. N. E. Dewey, of Portland, arrived on Saturday to open the popular North Beach Inn. Frank B. Thompson and wife, of Walla Walla, are registered at the Chamberlain cottage.

SEASIDE

SEASIDE, Or., July 13.—All the Elks' tickets were good to Seaside, and large crowds have found the way to the ocean during the week. The scars of the fire have been bandaged with bolts and bolts of purple and white, and one might think that the convention were being held at Seaside from the preparations that Seaside Elks have made. The committee in charge of the work deserves praise for the way in which they entertained. Bouquets of purple and white dahlias were distributed to all the visiting ladies.

The event of general interest was the formal opening of the Moore theatre. Seaside now has a first class theatre. The "Moore" is situated on Broadway just off Bridge street, and is easy of access to all while it is at the same time free from all noises and disturbances.

The Bungalow dance hall on Bridge street has been opened, and many of the beachers have availed themselves of this form of amusement. The Octagon has also opened its doors to the public and bids fair to become one of the popular amusement places at Seaside.

Among the Cottagers.—Mrs. G. A. Peel has taken her abode for the summer at the "Ro-Man," a pretty cottage which Mr. Peel purchased this spring. Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Giest are again located in the Giest cottage on the old Shell road.

"Stellada bungalow" will have as its dwellers this season Mrs. C. L. Tostevin and her two children, Dorothy and Jack. Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Oliver, Mrs. Testevins' parents, are with her for the season. Mrs. S. J. Richards and son, E. A. Richards, have taken the "Hazelwood" for a few weeks.

Mrs. H. P. Christensen and daughter, Miss Marie, together with W. B. Christensen, are at the "Christenson." The "Patton" has Mrs. Charlie Muck and three children, Clement, Alma and Donald, for its guests for July. "Burnham" cottage, on the bank of M. N. Mayle cottage on the north board walk for the season. Mrs. Rothchild has as her guests Mrs. Blitz and Etta Kaufmann of San Francisco. Miss Amy Rothchild is also at the beach for the summer.

E. T. Crosby and family will occupy the "Runsey" cottage this summer. "Burnham" cottage, on the bank of the Necanicum, has as its dwellers for the summer John Gavin and family. The guests at "Burnham" will be Miss G. E. Kelly and Miss Florence Conside of Seattle.

E. O. Gloss was a week end guest at "Laf-A-Lot." The Piper cottage will be occupied for the summer by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Doyne, and their four children, Kathleen, Helen, Jean and Billy. Mrs. J. K. Levy and daughter Lucille will be at "Ramona," on the north board during the summer months.

They have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. George Fitzgibbon and Miss Nell Peterson. Sam Goldsmith is again at the beach with his family. Mr. Goldsmith will occupy "Moesada." Mrs. H. Silberstein is a guest of the Goldsmiths for a few days.

At the "Elberts" are Mrs. S. Brown and two sons Jack and Scott. The Misses King, Iene and Hyacinth, are guests of Mrs. Brown. Mrs. Maurice Goodman and mother, Mrs. M. Ackerman are guests of Mrs. George Alexander at the McCallum cottage. J. F. Niedermeyer is a week end visitor at the "Niedermeyer" during the beach season.

At the "Potter" cottage are M. B. Potter and Mrs. Frank McFarlane. The guests at "Potter" are Miss Ruth Abrams of Boston and Miss Lucy Burgett. Mrs. F. T. Wagner and Miss Mildred Copeland are at the "Mildred." Mrs. R. A. Hudson and Miss M. Flood will occupy the "Woods cottage" during the hot months.

At the Chamberlain cottage for the season are Mrs. J. J. Chamberlain and small son Joe. D. C. Bogart and family have taken the "Breakers" for the season. Mrs. Bogart and son Clark will have Mr. Bogart with them for a few days. The latest arrivals at the "Sea Shell" are Mrs. M. G. Everett of Portland and a bevy of ladies from Pendleton, who include Mrs. George Hamilton, Mrs. J. E. Tyson and Mrs. George Stalger. J. P. Hartman and his son-in-law, T. N. Nedermeyer, will occupy "Loriel" during the summer months.

Mrs. R. M. Rau has opened the pretty cottage "Euphrosyne." Her son Jack is with her. At the W. E. Williams cottage for July and August are Mrs. H. S. Hollingworth and son Sedrick. Mrs. F. H. Brandes and daughter Agatha will spend the summer on the bank of the Necanicum in their cozy cottage, the "Yata." Mr. Brandes is a week end visitor.

Mrs. A. M. Compton and son Robert are at "Wald-Stille" for July and August. "Idleberg" will be occupied by Mrs. J. F. Gannon and the Hartman children, Anna, Madeline and Teddy. R. Williamson and P. Bettendorf have opened a cottage in the grove just off the board walk. The Williamson children, William and Harold, and the Bettendorf children, Harold, Edward and Evelyn, are with their parents enjoying beach life.

At the "Henrietta" are Mrs. J. H. Hanson of Astoria and her guest for the week, Miss H. Labeck. Mrs. Samuel White and Mrs. R. H. Wisdom are at the Judge Samuel White cottage for the season. Mrs. Asa L. Brown of Baker is a guest for a few days. Among the people from Pendleton is the family of R. Forester, who has taken "Idlewild" for the summer. "Lauretta" cottage has been opened by Mrs. Alfred Peterson, who has her two sons, Norman and Clarence, with her.

G. K. Henry and family have taken "Will-ah-me" cottage, on the north board walk, for the summer. Mrs. K. E. Sloan, Mrs. Henry's sister, will also be at "Will-ah-me." H. C. Goddard and his family, Mrs. Goddard and daughter Elizabeth have arrived and taken their abode at the

GEARHART
GEARHART, Or., July 13.—Gearhart's Chautauqua was such a success last year that the management unhesitatingly provided the feature for the beachers again this year. The grove at Gearhart is one of the few places in the northwest where an attraction such as the Chautauqua can be enjoyed at the best. The beach and bathing opportunities are not the only assets of Gearhart. The grove in which the auditorium is situated is one of the masterpieces of nature. The beautiful Neacolee flows within a short walk of the grounds, which are rich in all the verdure and forest beauty that can be bestowed on landscape. Those who attend the Chautauqua have the advantage of all the side trips into the many interesting places that the beach affords, not the least of which is the wrecks along the beach. The program covers the afternoon and evening beginning July 14 and extending to July 28. Among the prominent speakers this year is Honorable F. P. Sadler, municipal court judge of Chicago, whose addresses will be on criminals and the way to handle them. The platform will also be occupied by Arthur E. Gringle, editor of the Lyceum World.

The hotel company has made every effort to accommodate the campers and other guests, and all who attend the Chautauqua will be more than satisfied with the outing. Mr. and Mrs. L. Rosenthal have opened their cottage for the season. "Bobby Burns," one of the prize winners in the last horse show, is at Gearhart with his owner, Oscar Huber. Mr. Huber's family is at the Huber cottage. D. F. Price's family have taken their abode in one of the Gearhart cottages for the summer months.

One of the summer residences at Gearhart will be occupied by C. C. Johnson and his family. Mrs. Ellen Fraley is at the ocean shores with her children. They are snugly settled in one of the Gearhart cottages. Dr. and Mrs. A. Tilsen are in a Gearhart cottage for the summer. F. Breake and children, Fred, Henry and Laura, are at the beach for the summer.

The family of George O'Brien is settled at Gearhart. Other cottages at Gearhart are Mr. and Mrs. A. Anderson and family, Councilman C. B. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Clark, R. B. Caswell and family, C.
