

CHAUTAQUA GETS RECORD THROUGHS; GOOD CLASSWORK

Sunday Attractions Draw Big Number to Gladstone Park; Sacred Song Service Feature Greatly Enjoyed.

As was anticipated, Chautauqua caught the crowds from Elks' week in Portland in the rebound, and yesterday made a record attendance seldom reached in the history of the assembly. By a chain of delayed trains, connections missed, it became evident on Saturday that Charles Edward Russell, author, journalist, lecturer and Socialist, had a very narrow margin to travel on if he reached Gladstone Park for Sunday afternoon, and so it was announced twice on Saturday from the platform.

Lou J. Beauchamp was introduced to the audience by Platform Manager Jones, though he made the fatal mistake of not again explaining why the change had to be made. Just as the tall traveler whom Elbert Hubbard and Sam Jones delighted to honor, was about to make his stately bow to his 4000 auditors, Bedlam broke loose. W. S. U'Ren demanded to know why Charles Edward Russell, whom they had come to hear, was not to give the lecture.

Insistent Demands. Manager Jones explained, but the demand for Mr. Russell became more persistent and accusations of unfair treatment flew thick and fast, until the redoubtable Secretary H. E. Cross, mounted the platform and very emphatically put the situation before them, and the vociferous applauding and calls for "Beauchamp" brought the speaker to the platform.

Mr. Russell arrived at 4 p. m. and soon made plain to his friends that the management was not to blame.

At the close of the afternoon program Miss Helen V. Boswell, who was visiting at the Federation of Women's Clubs' headquarters, spoke to a large gathering on the work of the women of Panama, why she was sent there by President Taft to organize women's clubs, and what had been the result of them.

The sacred music provided for almost every hour of Sunday was excellent and most inspiring.

It is conceded by all whose opinions are regarded as authority that this has been the banner class year. The classes have never been so good as they were attended, and it is noticeable that there is much less visiting from one to the other and a much steadier attendance at all.

The Shakespeare Study club of Portland has outlined the following elaborate round table program for the week, which will be held at its headquarters from 4 to 5 p. m.

Monday, Professor Lee Emerson Bassett will give scenes from "The Merchant of Venice." Mrs. Julia La Barr, founder and leader of the club, will outline the club's work already covered, and Mrs. Allen Todd, president, will give a reading from "Romeo and Juliet." Tuesday, Mrs. A. H. Corliss of Portland will be heard in a lecture recital on "King Lear."

Wednesday the Shakespeare department will have charge of the hour. Thursday the Shakespeare Study club will give a dramatic afternoon.

Friday, Mrs. A. H. Corliss will be the entertainer for an hour. Saturday Professor Bassett will have charge of the closing program.

Culinary. Mrs. Miller's demonstrations (this morning were vegetable Soufflee Jumbles and cookies of various kinds. Tomorrow she will give black-bean soup, Honey-moon cake, fruit salads and vegetable cooking. Miss Francis Gage, who is in charge of the Y. W. C. A. headquarters, where the domestic angel school is held, is the beneficent angel to every one who wants table room for their lunch, a pot of coffee to boil or who has forgotten the essential tools with which to handle their luncheon—in short she helps everybody over the hard places, and adds to the happiness of all.

"Brook's 'Picketts Charge' is the grandest heroic poem I ever heard," said General Nelson A. Miles. This same "Picketts Charge," by Mr. Brooks will be one of the ten selections given by the poet orator this afternoon. Lou J. Beauchamp, who thrilled his audience yesterday afternoon, will advise the audience tonight how to "Take the Sunny Side." This will be supplemented with a reading by Professor Bassett who has fairly leaped into popularity with the Chautauqua audience. A splendid array of talent has been secured for the forum hour which will be held at 11 o'clock. Just one cloud mars the prospect for the hour, which will be the enforced absence of the great woman leader of Oregon, Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway, who, while steadily improving, is still unable to make the trip, as it was felt the effort would be too great a strain upon her returning strength. Mrs. Henry Waldo Coe

ASSERTS FRANKLIN CLEARED DARROW

Testimony of Los Angeles Attorney Subject of Legal Fight Begun Today.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Los Angeles, July 15.—Argument over the proposed admission of testimony by Colonel Tom Johnson, a Los Angeles attorney, was begun today in the Darrow trial.

Johnson, it is claimed, is ready to testify to the effect that Bert H. Franklin, one of the best known confidants of the defendant, was innocent of any connection with the bribery of jurors in the McNamara trial. Franklin's statement, according to the Darrow defense, was made after he had been arrested for bribery and while Johnson was acting as his attorney.

The prosecution argues that any information given Johnson by Franklin is inadmissible in view of the fact that it was a confidence of legal counsel. A long technical fight was precipitated over this question.

Johnson was expected would be the next witness called if the defense is victorious in its contention. If it fails, the immediate plans of the defense are not yet outlined.

will represent Mrs. Duniway. Dr. Dyott, Miss Mary Wood, of New York; Mrs. S. B. Ehrigott and Mrs. Helen M. Senn will fill the program and present the suffrage work of Oregon.

Miss Helen V. Boswell will be introduced by Samuel Hill, president of the Home Telephone Co., a traveler of wide experience and the good roads champion of the northwest. Mrs. Boswell will talk along social and industrial lines.

The evening program will be conducted under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. with Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh presiding. The lecturer will be Mrs. Florence Atkins, of Nashville, Tenn., said to be one of the most eloquent women of America and a popular Chautauqua lecturer. At the request of the Oregon society opposed to the enfranchisement of women, to have their side presented on this day at Chautauqua, arrangements were made with the management by the campaign committee of the Woman's club to have the auditorium the hour first following the regular program and an invitation was extended from the committee to the anti-suffragists to present their side of the argument, which was accepted. An interesting hour is anticipated.

BOY, HIT BY AUTO, MAY YET RECOVER

Lad Runs in Front of Car Driven by Mrs. W. W. McCredie.

Run over by an auto driven by Mrs. W. W. McCredie, wife of ex-Judge McCredie, owner of the Portland baseball club, and former representative in congress from Washington, Albert Lechthorn, 10 years old, who darted in front of the machine from behind a moving streetcar on Union avenue late yesterday afternoon, has a bare chance of recovery.

The little fellow is at St. Vincent's hospital, where he was sent by Judge McCredie in a Red Cross ambulance after the accident, with a sorely crushed chest and internal injuries. After the front wheels of the auto had missed him, the left rear wheel passed over his body just before the machine was brought to a complete stop.

At the hospital this morning it was said that the boy's condition was more encouraging than at any time since the accident, and that he was resting easily. With his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lechthorn of Eastacada, he was in Portland yesterday on a visit to an uncle, Edwin Weiser, an architect, living in the Jackson apartments, at Union avenue and East Davis streets.

The accident, which took place on Union avenue, just north of Killingsworth street, about 5:20 o'clock, was apparently unavoidable. The McCredie's auto had just crossed Killingsworth avenue going north on the right hand side of the street, and a south bound streetcar was approaching Killingsworth on the left hand side of the street. Just as car and auto were about opposite, the Lechthorn boy suddenly darted from behind the car and directly in front of the machine.

"I was in the rear seat with Fred W. Biers, former city treasurer," said Judge McCredie this morning, "and Mrs. McCredie was in front, with Miss Louise Surman of New Jersey, her cousin, who is visiting us. We were going between 10 and 12 miles an hour, jogging along at an easy pace—not more than 12 miles at the outside.

"We were about 100 feet north of Killingsworth and almost directly opposite the streetcar coming from the other direction when suddenly this little boy appeared from behind the rear platform, running across the street from the west to the east side at full speed. He had not gotten off the car, but ran out behind it, and was not more than 20 or 25 feet away from us when we saw him.

"As I saw him, I yelled, 'look out!' He saw us at probably the same instant, but he was going so fast that his stride carried him three or four steps before he stopped, directly in front of us. If he had kept running, he would have been safe.

"Mrs. McCredie screamed, but she had instantly thrown on the brakes and clutch. She is a very careful driver, and she did not think that anyone could have done. The boy was so close that Mrs. McCredie could not avert to miss him. He stood paralyzed where he had stopped, putting his face in his hands and stooping over with his back to us just as the auto hit him.

"A man who saw the accident lifted him into my car. We thought he said he lived in Woodlawn, so we took him to a doctor's there. I sent for the ambulance immediately, and he was removed to St. Vincent's hospital."

EPILEPSY IS CAUSE OF TRIPLE TRAGEDY

Bohemian in Chicago Kills Children and Self and Tells of Death.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, July 15.—That Rudolph Uhlman, a Bohemian inventor, killed himself and his two children, Rudolph Jr., 4, and Julia, 3, because they were victims of epilepsy was the opinion of the police today after questioning neighbors, who, attracted by the odor of gas, discovered the bodies in the inventor's Oak Park home late yesterday. Mrs. Uhlman, who was away from home at the time of the tragedy, is still under the doctor's care.

The authorities made public today a letter left by Uhlman, in which he described his sensations as he began to succumb to the gas. The man's body was found sitting upright at a table, his children lying at his feet as if asleep. The letter follows:

"11:45 a. m. I turned on the gas in the bedroom. Last regards to all my friends.

"1:40 p. m. Rudolph is getting weak. He is sobbing. Julia is crying for mamma. I am getting weak also. My strength falls rapidly. My God, what can I do now. The two children are motionless on the bed. My mind falls to work properly. I no longer know what I am writing.

"2:25 p. m. The pencil slips from my hand. I grope for it. I seem to hear the children breathing heavily. It cannot be—they are dead by this time. All is over. Forgive and—"

The record of the approach of death was lying before the dead man.

AD CLUB WILL HOLD INTERESTING MEETING

After a meeting missed because of the Elks' convention, the Ad club has come out this week with a call for especially large attendance at the Wednesday luncheon. E. D. Timms, who de-lighted the Ad club some time ago with a thoroughly original address on "Autos and Horse Sense," is to serve as chairman of the day, and he presents as speaker of the day a man of international reputation, Rev. James McGaw, field secretary of the Second World's Christian Citizenship conference, which is to be held in Portland the latter part of June and the first July next. Concerning Mr. McGaw, the announcement reads:

Mr. McGaw comes to Portland as publicity man and advance agent for the meetings in Portland next June of the Second World's Christian Citizenship conference. This will positively be the greatest meeting of its kind ever held on the face of the earth, and will bring together in one body more men of national and international reputation as scholars and progressive thinkers than we've ever brought together before in the history of the world. This week a luncheon of the Ad club will be held in the usual dining hall on the mezzanine floor of the Multnomah hotel.

OREGON PREPARING BIG HEALTH EXHIBIT

Moving Pictures of Parks and Playgrounds for Congress on Hygiene.

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.) Washington, July 15.—As an indication of the widespread interest aroused by the international congress on hygiene and demography which will meet in Washington, under the auspices of the United States government, September 22-28, the officers have received information from Oregon to the effect that the state and city officials are preparing an exhibit for Oregon, a feature of which will be moving pictures. At a recent meeting of a special committee appointed by Governor West it was decided to assemble a city council of Portland for an appropriation of $400 to be expended for films of the playgrounds, water and garbage disposal, sewer systems and parks. Views of schools have already been taken with $150 provided by the school board. Moving picture scenes of the two certified milk supply plants of Portland are also to be shown. The different state institutions will pay the cost of making the views and considerable sums are being paid by individual members of the state commission in securing other exhibits. In all there will be 4000 feet of pictures at the congress, showing the measures employed in the state toward promoting health and happiness.

NATIONAL GUARDSMEN FIGHT SHAM BATTLE

Portland companies of the Third Infantry, O. N. G., the Oregon City company, the coast artillery stationed in Portland and a part of battery A, 200 troops in all, marched and counter-marched, skirmished and at times clashed in fierce engagements all day long yesterday over an area of half a dozen square miles in the vicinity of the Clackamas rifle range. The occasion was a sham battle and the purpose the working out of a military problem arranged by Lieutenant Endicott, U. S. A., instructor of the Oregon national guard. The problem contemplated the defense of a load of supplies supposed to be near the Clackamas river. The opposing forces were designated as the "Reds" and the "Blues," the latter being charged with defense of the supplies. At one time during the progress of the maneuvers the "Reds" had all of the better of the contest, and were in a position where they might have overwhelmed the opposing army, but late in the afternoon a serious tactical blunder was made by their commander and but for the clever handling of the "Reds" by their officers, the entire force would have been captured.

Adjutant General Finzer and Major Bowman of the Oregon national guard, and Major Yeates and Lieutenant Endicott, U. S. A., who acted as umpires, decided that the "Reds" had the better of the day. The day's work was merely preliminary to the extensive maneuvers which will take place on Gray's Harbor next week, when the national guard troops of all the northwestern states and the regulars stationed in this territory will be engaged in the annual maneuvers.

Missionary Returns Home. (Special to The Journal.) Centralia, Wash., July 15.—Word has been received in Kelso that Mrs. Louise Roberts, a missionary who has been stationed in China for four years, will arrive in Seattle July 18. Mrs. Roberts was the first white baby born in Kelso.

THOUSANDS ENJOY DAY AT OAKS PARK

It was a record Sunday crowd that passed through the five entrance gates of the Oaks amusement park yesterday afternoon and evening, and anything in the line of cooling entertainment went. King Pharaoh, the educated horse, seemed to feel the desire for some cooling stimulant, for during the afternoon performance he persisted in spelling such words as "ice," "snow," "cold," and others of similar portent. King will be on the Oaks bandstand every afternoon and evening this week, as will every other feature of the Oaks program, with the exception of the band, which will play only in the evening during the fore part of the week. Lady Livingstone added to her repertoire. Lady last week was a skating bear. This week she roller skates on the bandstand, then sends for her baby buggy and consoles her offspring, demands a flag and is intensely patriotic. The Neapolitans closed their engagement. The Oaks park band, with several good new soloists, gave two pleasing concert. Punch and Judy proved an entertainment in itself. The bathing pavilion lured many in to swim.
