

ACCIDENTS OF P. U. MAKE THINGS GO AT CHAUTAUQUA

Interesting Chorus Rendered; Big Attendance at Classes Reported; G. A. R. Special Features Today.

A soaring thermometer was a close rival to Pacific university on the Chautauqua grounds yesterday. The college boys won.

The girls, who swarmed in great numbers over the grounds were there to make the welkin ring for the old university.

Fifteen hundred gate admissions told the tale of a banner day's attendance, and the college yells inside told the rest.

Music and dramatic art filled the two programs of the day, and beyond a doubt the "Cambridge players" made good.

In their scene from "The Rivals," Miss Granger, as Miss Malaprop, Miss Miller as Lydia Languish, and Mr. Coffey as Captain Absolute, the professional training showed in every part, and their coach, Elias Day, could well afford to allow them to use his name as director—a thing he rarely does. When the curtain went down after the scene from "Henry V" last night, the large audience felt well repaid for staying through the discomforts of an unusually warm evening.

Proceeding the afternoon program, the students from Pacific university, led by Miss Pauline Miller-Chapman, entertained the assembly with some excellent chorus work. Miss Frances Clapp, who has just returned from her studies abroad, was the piano soloist, and charmed her audience with her fine execution and finished work.

Study classes and headquarters were little affected by the weather, for in reality the grove was found to be a comparatively comfortable place by those coming out from the city. At the W. C. T. U. bungalow the young people's branch of the organization held another meeting in the afternoon. Mrs. Wheeler, who is in charge, explained the work fully, concluding with a well rendered selection. At the close Mrs. Florence Atkins showed the young people "the secret of a well ordered and successful life."

The Political Equality league met at the Oregon historical society, Mrs. Atkins, Mrs. Unruh and Mrs. Hilden addressed a large number; the latter taking for her subject "The Amazons of the Suffrage Cause." It was a caustic reply to some references that had been made the day before about the "masculine female."

Today the G. A. R. button is the open sesame to every good thing Chautauqua has to offer. The afternoon program will be readings, character sketches and recitals by Fred Emerson Brooks, the poet-orator, from his own works and they will be particularly adapted to the day. Tonight Rev. J. M. Cleary will give his stirring lecture on "American Citizenship."

The program for Friday is: Morning 8-11, Chautauqua summer school. 11-1, Chautauqua Forum—"Picturesque Ireland," by Rev. J. M. Cleary. Afternoon: 1:15, concert, Chapman's orchestra—Soloist, Miss Frances Clapp, pianist.

Reading, Professor Lee Emerson Bessett. The second and last appearance of the poet and orator, Fred Emerson Brooks, giving character sketches and recitals of his own poems.

8:30—Baseball. 7:15—Concert, Chapman's orchestra—Soloist, John Claire Monteth, baritone—"American Citizenship," by Rev. J. M. Cleary, of Minneapolis. Every effort is being bent to make the appearance on Saturday of John Mitchell the greatest labor leader of America, the culmination of the finest Chautauqua ever held at Gladstone park. Unions in the city will be duly represented. Saturday will be known as "Mitchell Day."

ble to my neighbors, but all he'll have to do is to call a cop.

"Tell Mother I'm Guilty."

"Tell mother again I'm really guilty, so that she'll come cry for me and heart out. I know she thinks I am innocent. I'm sorry I done it, but I got crazy, as I often do, and you can't blame me for that, nor anyone."

"NATHAN SWARTZ"

Pencilled on Swartz's solid linen collar was the confession: "I am guilty. I was caused by the beautiful makeup of women; that has set me very desperate. I felt sorry just two minutes after I did it; so don't cry for me."

Swartz went to the rooming house where his body was found just a week before the suicide, giving the name of Max Hirschowitz. When the landlord tried to call him today he received no response, so broke down the door.

street from Holladay avenue to the east end of the bridge, have been removed. Connections between the west approach of the bridge and the intersection of Third and Gilsan can be made over night.

Summary of Muddle. The above facts give a summary of the new railroad bridge traffic muddle. The authorities come out and they are entirely at sea. So is the railroad.

In the meantime Assistant General Manager G. W. Joseph, of the O-W. R. & N., says the first train will be operated over the bridge Saturday afternoon. He expected this to be done Friday, but there has been a slight delay. Street car traffic will be taken from the old railroad bridge the last day of this month.

The old bridge will be closed to all traffic and the draw will be opened wide on August 9.

May Cause Routing. Unless an agreement for the use of the bridge is reached by that time the entire trans-Portland traffic to and from the great northeast side district, including the Peninsula and St. Johns, will be routed entirely over the Burnside bridge, producing traffic congestion problems likely to prove highly serious. Many of the business men and citizens of the

Cleveland Grays, Crack Military Company of Ohio, Spend Few Hours Sightseeing as Honored Guests of City of Portland

Cleveland Grays and members of party, who posed for picture at the North Bank depot just before leaving on excursion to Stevenson, Wash.

Celebrating the seventy-fifth year of the existence of the organization, the Cleveland Grays, a military company from Cleveland, Ohio, spent a few hours yesterday in Portland on a tour of the Pacific coast. The organization is composed of wealthy young men and though subject to the call of the governor in case of riot, invasion or other necessity, the company has no other connection with the state, federal or other government or with any club or sporting organization. It is absolutely self supporting and owns its own splendid armory and equipment.

The Grays was organized by a number of the most prominent young citizens of Cleveland three quarters of a century ago. In 1860 as a company of the First Ohio volunteers its members took part in the early part of the Civil war. When their enlistments expired they were again mustered in as company A, 15th Ohio. A splendid record of service was placed against the names of the members at that time. In the Spanish-American war the company was again mustered into service as companies A, B and C, Tenth Ohio volunteers.

The task of determining which was the city's and which the railroad's part in the bridge involved highly technical calculations. We asked the bridge engineers, Waddell & Harrington, to do this. We opened our books to the county and we understand unofficially that the city and county engineers checked over our figures and found them as we had stated.

al difficulty had been turned over to the city. Mayor Rushlight said he had never heard from the county court that this responsibility had been shifted to the city. "The method of procedure," he said, "would be for the county court to notify the common council and then for the council to authorize me to enter into negotiations with the railroad. But I have never heard either directly or through the council about this matter. I do not feel that the city can take any steps in this matter until we are notified."

Asked if he believed the Broadway bridge could be completed in time to prevent long continuance of acute trans-Portland traffic congestion in case an agreement with the railroad was not reached, the mayor said: "I should think the old bridge might be left in use until the Broadway bridge is completed."

When advised that the contract between the government and the railroad required the removal of the old bridge within six months from the opening of the new bridge, the mayor said he would refer the entire matter to the city attorney for advice.

WASCO HARVEST IN FULL BLAST

Yield Promises to Be Close to 30 Bushels Per Acre for Fall Grain.

(Special to The Journal) The Dalles, Or., July 18.—Wasco county farmers are in the midst of a big harvest. Heading is well along, and a number of threshing machines and several combines are operating. Some splendid yields have been reported. As high as 60 bushels to the acre have been threshed on several pieces, and 40 bushels to the acre is nothing uncommon in the most favored localities. It is believed now that the yield for fall wheat throughout the county will be between 25 and 30 bushels to the acre, and spring wheat will average about 20 bushels.

The weather is ideal for harvesting, hot and dry. Farmers are well supplied with harvesting machinery, and will not take any chances on their grain being damaged by early September rains as was the case last season. With plenty of help and machinery, the bulk of the grain will be threshed by August 15.

MORAL WAVE HITS MEN WHO PAY BILL

Officers in Hood River County Likely to Lose Money Paid to Detectives.

(Special to The Journal) Hood River, Or., July 18.—About one year ago a moral wave struck the city and detectives were employed to watch the drug dispensaries and get evidence to convict those suspected for selling liquor. No "booze" peddling could be detected. When time for settlement came the sheriff and the chief of police paid the bills. It is claimed that the county judge and councilmen, who were then in power, promised to pay the necessary expense, but there is nothing on record to this effect, and the present county court and city council refuse to pay the expense incurred.
