

THE WEATHER
Probably fair and warmer with south-west winds.

Oregon Journal

VOL. IX. NO. 15.

PORTLAND, OREGON, SUNDAY MORNING, JULY 21, 1912.

The Sunday Journal
6 Sections---66 Pages

PRICE FIVE CENTS

WOMEN TERRORIZE PUBLIC MEN WHO WITHHOLD BALLOT

Suffragettes Make Demonstrations That Lead English Ministers to Fear Reign of Violence.

POLITICAL UNION IS BACKING MOVEMENT

Women Complain That Efforts Before Parliament Have Been in Vain.

(United Press Leased Wire.) London, July 20.—Completely terrorized by the suffragettes, English public men are guarded tonight as the czar is guarded at a time of Nihilistic activity in Russia. They are no longer worried by the risk of mere annoyance. They fear for their lives and the safety of their families.

King George's advisers have warned him strongly against public appearances for the present. Scotland Yard's intensity and resources are taxed to protect the members of the cabinet, their wives and children and their homes.

Bitter Fight Planned.

The police are convinced that the votes for women militants have entered upon a campaign of arson and homicide. There is no question that an attempt was made to burn the home of one member of the cabinet. The hangings of the Dublin theatre, where Premier Asquith spoke last night, were actually set on fire. That the gun powder found in the rooms of a party of suffragette demonstrators was intended to blow up the theatre, the suffragettes themselves do not deny. It is agreed that the hatchet thrown by a suffragette at the premier in Dublin yesterday narrowly missed killing or seriously injuring him.

The women's social and political union issued a statement tonight commending all these demonstrations. It is feared that this will inspire further violence. Premier Asquith, chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George, Home Secretary McKenna, Minister of the Navy Winston Churchill, and other cabinet ministers have received threats, anonymously, of what will happen to them unless they declare for equal rights at the polls. Not only are they assured that they are in danger of being killed, but that the burning of their homes and the kidnapping of their children are planned.

"There is only one thing to induce us to declare a truce," announced Miss Annie Kenney, who is acting as head of the women's social and political union during the period of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst's convalescence from her recent experience as a hunger striker in Holloway prison, and that is the passage of a law giving us the ballot.

"We did declare a truce twice while the conciliation bill which provided part of what we demand, was before parliament during the period of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst's convalescence from her recent experience as a hunger striker in Holloway prison, and that is the passage of a law giving us the ballot.

WOMEN'S EFFORTS HAVE FAILED.

"We do not propose to be deceived again. And even if the union were to agree (Continued on Page Nine.)

CITY MAY CONDEMN USE OF NEW BRIDGE, HOLDS JOHN F. LOGAN

"All This Business About Reaching Rental Agreement Foolishness."

That the city may condemn the use of the new railroad bridge in two weeks' time, that a rental can be established by a court, and that delay is not only unnecessary but an offense against the interests of 125,000 east side people, was asserted yesterday evening by Attorney John A. Logan.

"It is within the charter power of the city to condemn the use of the bridge," declared Mr. Logan, after reviewing the entire situation. "All this business about reaching an agreement and finding it impossible to do so, is foolishness."

"The city doesn't need to fear paying an excessive price because the proper amount of rental can be easily determined in trial.

"The city doesn't need to fear being victimized because there isn't a minute in which it hasn't the obligation and the power to be in control of the situation.

"I don't say condemn the bridge so that the city can own and operate it. I mean condemn the use, so that the city shall pay for the traffic which crosses that bridge, just what an impartial jury has decided shall be paid.

Too Big to Fool About.

"This is too big a matter for the city and county authorities and the railroad to fool about. Close the old bridge and fall to secure the use of the new bridge and this town will witness damage in traffic congestion that the rental won't be an incident to."

LUMBER MARKET BETTER THAN ANY TIME SINCE 1907

Demand for Building Material Coming From Many Foreign Countries and Local Consumption Increases.

SUPPLY OF SAWLOGS NOW BELOW NORMAL

Prospects for Lumber Market Keep Improving and Operators Are Sanguine.

After two years of extreme sluggishness the lumber market has improved during the past two or three months at a steady pace until it is today better than at any time since 1907 when the lumber manufacturers of the Pacific northwest were selling all they could produce at good prices and profits. This means that thousands of dollars are placed in circulation every month in the various lumber manufacturing districts and a revival of business in all lines in these communities and Portland, the chief source of supplies, is already noted.

The railroads are placing large orders for ties and other material for construction and cars and the foreign markets show splendid activity. Europe has bought several cargoes here already this year and a number have been placed for early delivery, while Australia, China, the west coast of South America and South Africa, too, have bought larger quantities in the past three months than in any like period for a number of years. As a result values have stiffened until they are now on a profit paying basis, whereas six months ago many of the mills were operating at a loss.

China Rebuilding. From China comes the news that the government is urging the rebuilding of cities laid partly in ruins during the recent revolution, and this is expected to further increase the demand for Oregon fir, the Chinese having found it the most suitable material for their purposes, especially where it enters into heavy construction.

As a result of the light buying in the past two years yards in the middle states are said to be carrying light stocks that now have to be replenished to meet the increasing demand, and this is giving the rail mills a lot of business for which they have waited patiently many months. Several mills are said to be booked ahead for their entire capacity for two or three months.

The greatest difficulty confronting the mill men and lumber dealers today is the scarcity of vessels available for offshore cargoes and there is some danger of a car shortage when the grain crops begin moving. But for the shortage of vessels the office business could be increased to a much larger volume, it is said, as inquiries are being received from all quarters and many of them urging immediate delivery.

Demand for Logs Increases. Some operators have felt tempted to operate double shifts in order to hasten the filling of orders, but there is a general sentiment against this among the manufacturers as it presents the danger of overproduction of the lower grades of lumber for which the demand is never as keen as for clear.

As a result of the activity in the (Continued on Page Nine.)

EX-MAYOR SCHMITZ IS TO WRITE BOOK UPON THE GRAFT CONDITIONS

San Francisco Man of Troubles to Expose Methods Commonly Used in Old Days

(Special to The Journal.) San Francisco, July 20.—Library shelves are already growing under the weight of histories and memoirs of the San Francisco graft prosecution, and of the local politics of that fast receding day, will soon be burdened with another volume.

Eugene E. Schmitz, former mayor of this city and one of the chief defendants during the era of indictments, in the latest accession to the numerous and more or less distinguished company of graft authors.

Will Write of Scrafts. Schmitz, who was serving his third term as mayor when he was snared by the temptations of individual and four guilty of extortion, ousted from office, thrown into the county jail on a million dollar bond, and finally saved from prison by a state supreme court decision that he had been adjudged guilty of the wrong crime, announces that he is about ready to give to an eager world his own separate and distinct version of graft and grafters, of prosecutors and prisoners, and of politics and politicians.

The Schmitz book will deal with the former mayor's personal career from the time he laid down his baton at the old Columbia theatre until the last score of indictments against him were dismissed in the superior court.

Will Tell Whole Truth. The promise is made by Schmitz that his book will contain nothing but the truth, as the truth appears to him. He says that he writes without malice, and only for the purpose of setting himself and other persons right with the world.

Principles among these other persons, according to the friends of Schmitz, is Abraham Ruef, who is now hiding from his cell in San Quentin prison. Schmitz, it is said, holds that Ruef, in the security of prison walls, is writing (Continued on Page Nine.)

Accused by Husband

Mrs. Eugene Grace, whose husband accuses her of having shot him.

MRS. GRACE WILL FACE HUSBAND'S CHARGE IN COURT

Sensational Developments Are Expected When Atlanta Woman Goes on Trial Charged With Attempted Murder.

(By the International News Service.) Atlanta, July 20.—What promises to be one of the most sensational trials ever held in this city will open next Monday when Mrs. Daisey Ulrich Opie Grace will be brought into court charged with shooting her husband, Eugene H. Grace, on the 5th of last March, as he lay asleep in his home in this city.

The chief feature of the trial will be the presence of the accusing husband, who will sit in the courtroom in an invalid chair, with the lower part of his body paralyzed, aiding in the prosecution of his wife, who, he says, shot him to obtain $27,000 insurance he had taken out on his life for her benefit.

The circumstances surrounding this strange case necessarily give it a romantic air of mystery. It will be recalled that shortly after 12 o'clock on Tuesday, March 5, the police headquarters of Atlanta received a feeble call for help over the telephone. A number of policemen were dispatched to the home of Eugene H. Grace, whence the call came, and they found every outside door of the house securely locked. Forcing an entrance they made their way to an upper bedroom. There they found Grace lying unconscious with a gaping bullet wound in his side. On further search they discovered a revolver, with one chamber empty, lying on the floor in the room immediately below the one in which Grace was lying. After Grace was revived he said he had been shot while he was asleep, sometime during the early part of the morning and that he had every reason to believe that his wife had done it.

Then it was learned that Mrs. Grace (Continued on Page Two.)

AUTHORITIES AT CROSS PURPOSES IN MURDER CASE

New York's District Attorney's Office and Police Department Divided in Search for Rosenthal's Slayers.

SENSATION EXPECTED IN GAMBLING SCANDAL

Whitman Leaves Town Suddenly; Waldo Defends Police Attitude.

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, July 20.—With the police and district attorney's officers plainly working at cross purposes, and with a number of the prominent figures in the case in receipt of threatening letters the developments in New York's gambling scandal were believed tonight to be bordering on the sensational. District Attorney Whitman was out of town. It was currently reported that he was at a seashore resort in consultation with the head of the private detective agency hired by private citizens to aid him. It was reported he was also able to listen to the story of gamblers who were anxious to put him in possession of the facts in the case while at the same time keeping their skirts clear of the charge of sneaking.

It was admitted, both by the police and the district attorney's office, that anyone squealing in this case was almost certain to meet the fate of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, murdered last Wednesday morning in front of the Hotel Metropole. The very public nature of this crime, it was pointed out, showed that the men responsible would stop at nothing to close the mouths of the men who could tell of their crimes. The district attorney, it was known, was carefully guarded, and so were certain others connected with the case.

WOMEN ARE INTERVIEWED.

Police Commissioner Waldo went home late this afternoon declaring he was confident the entire murder of Rosenthal and all of the circumstances surrounding it would be cleared up within a very short time. Deputy Commissioner Dougherty and Inspector Hughes, commanding the detective bureau, remained on the job.

Dougherty interviewed many mysterious visitors late this afternoon. Among them were two women who it is admitted were prominent factors in the investigation, but whose identity was kept secret by the police. One of them was said to be a Mrs. Bernard, the identification being made by the number of her automobile. She was accompanied to headquarters by her husband. It was recalled in this connection that Mrs. Rosenthal has alleged that her husband was warned by a friend named Bernard less than seven hours before he was killed that an attempt was to be made on his life, and that he should leave town until things quieted down. Discussing the situation tonight, Dougherty said:

"In the first place, it must not be overlooked that we have in our possession the car used by the murderers; the chauffeur who drove that car to and from the Metropole, where the murder was committed, and the man who (Continued on page five.)

PLOT TO ASSASSINATE KING PETER UNCOVERED

Wholesale Arrests in Belgrade Follow Discovery of the Murderous Conspiracy.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Belgrade, Serbia, July 20.—Suspects are being gathered in here by the wholesale tonight in connection with the plot uncovered in Montenegro to assassinate King Peter. The police are aware of the conspiracy was widespread and that those not yet in custody may attempt to carry their purpose through as their safest course, now that discovery is imminent. The police is heavily guarded. (Continued on Page Five.)

Defends N. Y. Police

Rhinlander Waldo, New York police commissioner, who figures in the Rosenthal investigation.

MITCHELL MAKES ELOQUENT PLEA FOR UNION LABOR

Distinguished Leader Strikes Sympathetic Note in Fervent Address at Chautauqua—Audience Stirred.

A new and sympathetic conception of the labor union, what it stands for and has accomplished, its place from a humanitarian standpoint and its deep significance in the progress of the world was gained by those who heard John Mitchell speak on "The Philosophy, Ideal and Purpose of the Trades Union Movement" at the Glendstone Chautauqua yesterday afternoon.

At 4 years of age an orphan, at 8 years "trapper boy" in a coal mine, at 15 a miner, passing his days under ground and laboring for 15 long hours, at 21 a labor organizer, and at 32 leader of the great anthracite strike which the whole world recognized as just—at 42 Mr. Mitchell, as his audience saw him yesterday, is a plain man of remarkable force and personal magnetism. Simple in his dress—a black suit of almost clerical sternness—he is as plain and straightforward in his speech.

Story of Laboring Man.

His address was a simple story of the laboring man and his efforts to rise from poverty and adjust himself to changed industrial conditions through the medium of the labor union. Though it told of struggle and hardship and of men, women and little children swept under in the grind of industrial competition, it was a story, as Mr. Mitchell told it, that breathed stirring optimism and a rare understanding of all phases of the great problem.

For instance, he said: "It is my (Continued on Page Six.)

OFFICEHOLDERS WILL FACE INVESTIGATION

Activities of Federal Appointees in Pre-convention Campaign Will Be Examined.

(By the International News Service.) Washington, D. C., July 20.—Investigation of federal officeholders' activities in the Republican pre-convention campaign and at Chicago will be undertaken by the United States civil service commission and will commence about August 1. Charges have been made that at least 20 officeholders, the majority located in the south, have violated the rules and used the influence of their offices in politics.

DECIDES TAX SUIT FOR N. P. AFTER HE GOT 21,000 ACRES

Judge Hanford Cuts Railway's Levy $45,000, Which Circuit Court of Appeals Reverses; In Ballinger's Day.

INVESTIGATORS BREAK INTO RENTON CASES ALSO

Countenancing of Collusion Is Charged Against Seattle Federal Judge.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Seattle, Wash., July 20.—That Federal Judge C. H. Hanford had pending before him an important Northern Pacific tax suit at the same time that, as promoter of the Hanford Irrigation company, he was actively negotiating business deals with the railway company, was the evidence introduced before the congressional investigators today.

George H. Plummer, western land agent for the Northern Pacific, was on the stand all forenoon and part of the afternoon. He read a mass of correspondence that ensued between Judge Hanford and the Hanford Irrigation company and the railway officials. In all, the Hanford company purchased approximately 21,000 acres from the railway. "There were eight transactions," said Plummer. The committee, however, took up in detail only the three most important. The last, which involved 10,000 acres, which the railway company had withdrawn from sale in accordance with an agreement with the government reclamation service, hung fire for over a year and was not concluded until after the reclamation service released the Northern Pacific from its obligation. This, it developed, did not occur until June, 1909.

Put Over in Ballinger's Time.

Although his name was not mentioned in the testimony before the probers, the significant fact concerning the last transaction is that the reclamation service released the Northern Pacific from its obligation. This, it developed, did not occur until June, 1909.

The tax suit which was begun on April 6, 1908, was decided by Judge Hanford, in favor of the railway and against King county (Seattle) and a reduction of $45,000 in the tax levy of 1907 was ordered. This decision was later reversed by the circuit court of appeals, and it is now pending in the supreme court.

Renton Cases Opened Up.

Almost simultaneously with the development of the dual business and judicial relations of Judge Hanford and the Northern Pacific, another sensation was sprung by the probers today. A blanket "duces tecum" subpoena was issued ordering that all the files in the office of Kerr & McCord, attorneys for the Seattle, Renton & Southern Railway company, relating to two important cases in which that company was involved in Judge Hanford's court during the past year, to be brought before the attorneys connected in these cases.

Did He Wink at Collusion.

In both the cases under investigation Judge Hanford is charged with having countenanced collusion. In the first, the alleged collusion was between the traction company and its bond holders, the Peabody & Houghtaling company of Chicago, against the people Judge Hanford gave Peabody an injunction against the company enjoining the latter "from refusing to collect more than 5 cents fare." At that time William R. Crawford was president of the Renton line.

Bond Holders Force Him Out.

In the second case the collusion is charged by Crawford to have been framed against him. He testified this afternoon that the bond holders had forced him to resign. He owned practically all the stock. The company, he said, had borrowed $300,000 from the Peabody interests on it. The scheme, as he outlined it, was to throw the traction company into the bankruptcy court when the loan became due on June 1. To forestall this, Crawford began suit in the state court against Peabody, E. (Continued on Page Nine.)

GOVERNOR WILSON MEETS HUNDREDS OF CONGRESSMEN

Democratic Love Feast at Sea Girt Crystallizes Splendid Sentiment for Party Success in November.

SPEAKER CLARK IS THE LEADER OF DELEGATION

Congratulatory Address Presented to the Nominee by Members of House.

(Special to The Journal.) Sea Girt, N. J., July 20.—Another Democratic love feast was held here today when 200 members of the house of representatives, headed by Speaker Champ Clark, called on Governor Wilson. Information in regard to conditions in the home district of each visitor was given to the Democratic nominee, and between times small groups and the congressmen went sightseeing about the picturesque home of the candidate. Informal talks were made by Governor Wilson and Speaker Clark.

Clark delivered a congratulatory address and presented Governor Wilson with a leather bound book containing autographs of the Democratic members of the house. Wilson replied with a speech of thanks.

Mean Do Not Understand.

"The real difficulty in politics today," said Governor Wilson, "is that men have not laid their minds alongside one another in order to gain a common understanding as to what they were seeking to do."

"I am told," he said, "that this occasion is unique in American history, and for that reason it is the more enjoyed and appreciated."

Congressman Sabath of Illinois asked Governor Wilson to give an explanation of his reference to "men of the meaner sort" in his "History of the American People."

Explanation Is Made.

"I want an explanation," said Sabath, "because of the charge that he has slandered a race or nationality. He told me that he had been improperly quoted and that an unjustifiable interpretation had been placed on what he wrote. Taken in its entirety, he said, the portion of his book referring to 'men of the meaner sort' was no reflection on any people, and was not intended as such. He satisfied me wholly, and I hold nothing against him."

Extra Session Foretold.

"Next year we will be in session all summer, because Governor Wilson will be elected president and will call an extra session to begin the work of carrying out the pledges of the Democratic platform."

Some of the visitors returned to Washington on their special cars, and others remained to spend Sunday at resorts along the coast. Speaker Clark and his son Bennett went down to Deal Beach early in the afternoon to see his daughter, Miss Genevieve, who is a guest at the cottage of Colonel George Harvey, editor of Harper's Weekly. He returned in time to catch the special to Washington.

JAPANESE EMPEROR IS AT DEATH'S DOOR; NO HOPE IS ENTERTAINED

Recovery of Mikado Is Impossible; Throngs Await Word at Palace Gates.

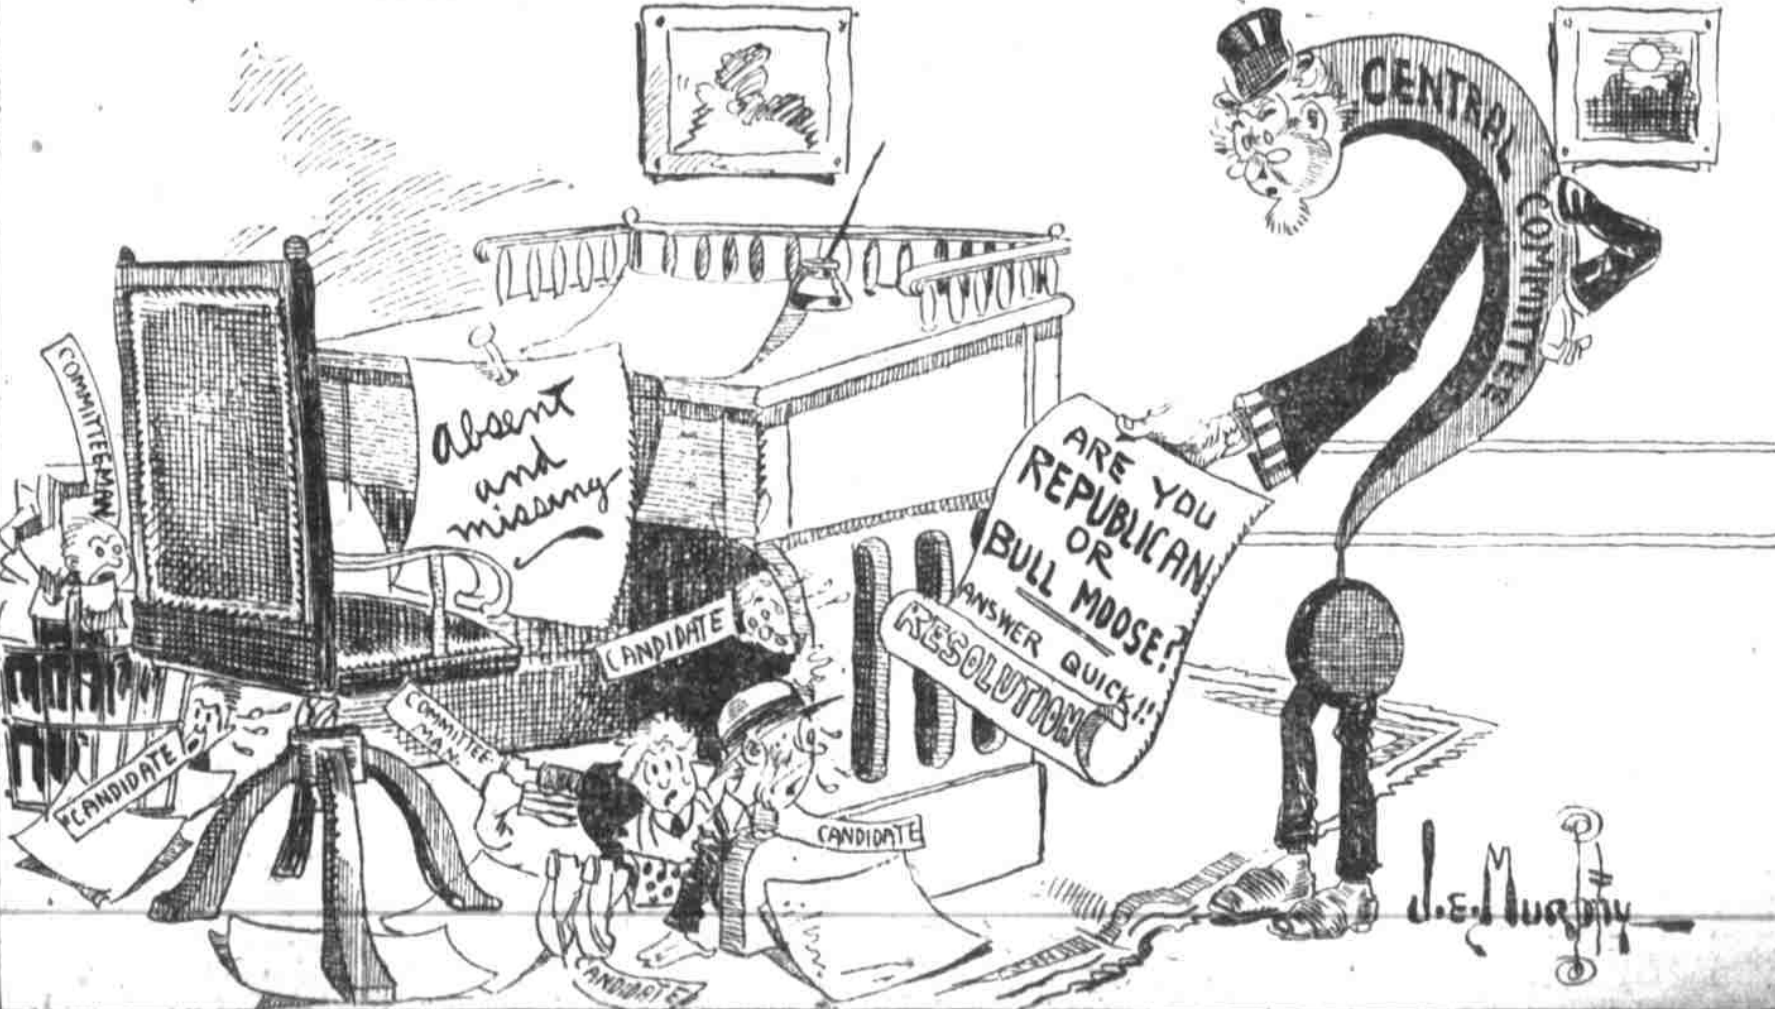

(United Press Leased Wire.) Tokyo, July 21.—(Sunday)—The Mikado was still alive this morning but very low. His temperature at 9 a. m. was 102.3; his pulse 108 and his respiration 33.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Tokyo, July 20.—From Mikado Mutsuhito's bedside the latest report given out by doctors Genko Oko, Tanemichi, Aoyama and Kinoshita Mura was that the imperial patient seemed at death's door, but that they had not given up hope.

The throng outside the walls of the palace ground tried to make the most of the few crumbs of encouragement given them by the physicians, but the better informed few within knew that the word "hope" meant little in the present case—his illness is mortal, and though he may linger in agony for a few days, or even weeks, his recovery is impossible.

Suffers High Fever. He is an elderly man with little power of resistance or recuperation and a sufferer from a chronic and incurable disease of the kidneys, which recently developed into acute inflammation and is now complicated with a grave intestinal disorder. His fever was high tonight, and though he occasionally murmured a few words, he was never more than partially conscious and remained most of the time in a state of complete stupor.

AN UNWELCOME VISITOR

(Continued on page five.)