Wife No. 1 Sues for Divorce.—While taking a vacation in Portland this week, Howard Alfred Fields, leading man for the Enterprise comedy company, was served with divorce complaint filed by wife No. 1, Ruby Lane Fields. Wife No. 2 declares her love for Fields, and proposes to call him her lawful husband. Fields and his second wife were assigned in the municipal court, last week, both charged with a statutory offense against the marital laws, the first wife being the chief witness against them. In her complaint, Ruby Lane Fields sets forth she married the actor at De Lamar, Cal., in 1908, that he deserted her in 1910 at Turner, Or., and has not returned. In the complaint in the municipal court, she accused him of marrying wife No. 2 at Gold Hill, where she showed a stand of one week. This one week was what caused the trouble between the couple, and it was then that he met No. 2, and later married her at that place.

Do You Want the Best Auto Truck on the market in either three or five ton, at a price that is within your means in terms of suit conditions? If you do, see us and investigate the Avery. There are a number in use in and near Portland to speak for themselves. The Avery has the power, and will stand the abuse and still run. We can give it to you with special tractor wheels, which have steel tires and wood plugs, which eliminate the trouble and have better traction. We have a good stock of trucks and plenty of repairs in the city. We have a bargain in a second hand three ton truck. Beall & Co., 309 E. Yamhill st., Portland, Or.

Sues on $6100 Bond.—Suit to collect $5100 on a bond was started yesterday in the circuit court by William Neilson against C. Masters and the Title Guaranty & Surety company. Neilson claims this amount was lost by the failure of Masters to complete a contract of clearing land near Mosier, Or., which land was to be set in trees this year. The surety company was on the bond of Masters for the faithful performance of the work. Instead of performing the work as agreed, the plaintiff alleges Masters worked slowly, and what was done was not properly cleared.

Ad Club Luncheon.—L. R. Mahone and C. L. Smith will be the speakers at tomorrow's weekly luncheon of the Portland Ad club. This was announced this morning by H. E. Lounsbury, general freight agent of the O.W. R. & N. company, who will be chairman for the day. Mr. Mahone will speak on the geological resources of the state and Mr. Smith will take for his topic, "Oregon from an agricultural point of view." The luncheon will be held as usual at the Multnomah hotel.

Fiske Will Filed.—The will of B. E. Fiske, who was killed July 23 in an auto accident, was admitted to probate yesterday in the county court. The instrument was drawn in 1907. The widow and children are left the estate, amounting to approximately $20,000, with the exception of a house at 460 East Eleventh street, which is bequeathed to Mrs. W. V. Farrell, mother of the deceased. An allowance of $10 a month was granted the widow for the support of the family.

May Locate Office Here.—That the Missouri Pacific will probably establish an office here, and then move back to Portland by W. C. McBride, general agent for the Denver & Rio Grande and other Gould lines in this city. Mr. McBride's tour of two weeks took him as far east as Kansas City, where he was in conference with representatives of the traffic department of the Missouri Pacific.

Steals Burr; Wagon Wrecked.—M. E. Maguire, a driver for the Pacific Face Brick company, who leaves his wagon at Water and Columbia streets, reported to the police last night that someone had stolen the burr off the rear axle of his wagon and when he started up, the wagon was wrecked, and he narrowly escaped injury. This has been done, he states, on several occasions recently.

City Charter Amendments.—For the benefit of the general public 500 copies of the city official paper containing such a complete draft of the proposed city charter amendments to be voted on next October have been delivered to the city hall for distribution. Any one wanting a copy can obtain it by calling at the city auditor's office.

Protests Against Assessment.—B. M. Lombard has filed a protest with the city auditor against the assessment of certain lots owned by him on Fremont street for a street improvement between East Eighth and East Thirty-third streets on Fremont. Lombard says part of the improvement consisted in the filling of an old gravel pit which was excavated over his remonstrance. He does not believe it fair that the city should permit a pit to be excavated and then order it filled again at the expense of property owners.

Must Furnish Use of Wires.—Under the provisions of the franchise owned by the two telephone companies of the city the executive board can compel the companies to furnish the use of all the wires necessary for the installation of a proposed system of semaphore and gong signals to be installed at various intersections. This is the substance of a long opinion submitted to City Auditor A. L. Barbur by City Attorney Frank S. Grant today.

May Lay Cable.—City Attorney Grant this morning filed an opinion for the executive board declaring that the board has power to grant permission to the Home Telephone company to lay a cable across the Hawthorne bridge. The board asked the city attorney some time ago if it had the right to issue a permit, some of the members being of the opinion that the company might have to take out a franchise.

May Assess Cemetery.—The city may levy an assessment against a private cemetery operated for a profit if the property owned by the cemetery is benefited by a street improvement, this being the opinion submitted to City Engineer Hurlburt from the city attorney's office this morning. The city engineer proposes to assess the Brainerd cemetery for the cost of a street improvement.

LYRIC HORSE BALKS; DOCILE ONE PROMISED

The Armstrong Follies company at the Lyric theatre this week is presenting one of the biggest plots of laughter in "Playing the Races" that the patrons of the popular playhouse have seen in some time. It is one continual round of mixups and funny situations, and the comedians, Will Armstrong and Gus Leonard, never worked harder. They are in the limelight continually, and never miss an opportunity to keep the audience in an uproar. The climax of the play comes close to the finale, when Armstrong decides to become a jockey.

A very large horse, much to the bad for looks, is brought out or is supposed to be brought, upon the stage for the scene, but last night, as horses will sometimes do, it became very balky at the time set for its appearance, and, judging from the noise off stage, it had to be rolled in, much to the mortification of all concerned. It was a very trying scene for the performers, as they were seen scurrying to all corners to get away to safe places. The stage boys promise a more docile animal for the balance of the week, and Will Armstrong promises to win the race or forever keep his peace. "Playing the Races" is full of life from start to finish. All the musical numbers are good, especially "Rosa Digeletto," by Miss Beatrice Flint and chorus, which was encored no less than five times. Its name is very deceiving, one imagining that it is a serenade section, but it borders on the higher class, carrying the melody of the sextet from "Lucia" in a manner that gives Miss Flint an excellent opportunity of showing what a magnificent voice she possesses. "Daffodils," by Ed Armstrong, and the "baby dolls," was well received, each girl telling a daffodil, such as, "If chicken is tough, is a bartender." If the town was thrown into darkness, would Mayor Bushlight? If Ethel Davis is weak, is Armstrong? etc. Clara Howard is to the front with a couple of lively numbers and the chorus works as gingerly as ever. "Playing the Races" will be the bill up to and including Sunday night, with a matinee daily and the chorus girls' contest on Friday night.

DENIES CHARGE OF JURY TAMPERING

Le Gette Jr. Takes Exception to Statement of Juror in Damage Suit.

Vigorous denial of charges of "tampering" with the jury in the breach promise suit of Helen M. Goodeve against Robert H. Thompson Jr., of Portland, in which Mrs. Goodeve won a verdict for $50,000 damages, were made by Wilber Le Gette Jr., this morning. Le Gette has been accused of taking W. A. Wallis, a juror in the case, to the apartment of Mrs. Goodeve at Nineteenth and Marshall streets, while the trial was in progress.

"I met Wallis in front of the Lyric theatre about 8:30 o'clock the evening of July 20," said Le Gette in a statement. "I had a camera with me, but I was not going to take pictures, as I am told the affidavit of Mr. Wallis sets forth. How could I be going to take pictures at that time of night?"

"I did not try to induce Wallis to see Mrs. Goodeve. The suggestion came from him. He said he would like to meet her, as she looked like a 'lady friend' of his. He knew where he was going all the time. I was using the house phone to call her apartment when, unseen by me, she came in from the street and she and Wallis were talking while I was trying to get her on the telephone."

"If Wallis was so 'dumbfounded' at meeting her, as he says, why did he sit on the steps of the schoolhouse out there with her from about 8:45 to 10:30 o'clock? That is what he did, and he did not seem to be very 'dumbfounded,' either."

"Some one evidently was watching, and saw the meeting, for I did not say anything about it till I was called on by an attorney for the defense after the trial and told to tell what I knew. I did not want to make any trouble for Wallis, so I let him off easy in my statement and took the blame myself, not telling half I knew about the meeting. Now that he makes the statement he is credited with, however, I shall tell all about it."

"I have not been 'jury tampering' for either side in the case. I am a friend of Mrs. Goodeve and hope she gets the $50,000—I think it's coming to her—but I won't stand for the accusations made against me without telling what I know."

"Furthermore, I am not and have not been connected with John B. Goldard in the real estate business, as has been asserted."

Horse Throws Boy Onto Rock. (Special to The Journal.) Cottage Grove, Or., July 30.—As the result of being thrown from his horse that had shied at a piece of paper, 12-year-old Otto Senter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Senter, is suffering from several severe bruises, the most serious of which is a gash on the forehead, which required three stitches. This wound was caused by a sharp rock. The boy's back and shoulders were also bruised and there were several minor scratches on the face.

Charles Mayer, a business man of Lincoln, Neb., and family, are registered at the Multnomah.

FISH HATCHERY WILL BE ON DRESS PARADE

"Fish stories" far beyond the conception of the average sea captain and which will put the "whale" story in the shade will be turned loose at Bonneville next Sunday for the edification of members of the Portland Press club and their friends on the club's annual excursion, when the state fish hatchery is placed on the outing a cordial invitation is extended by the state fish and game commission, Master Fish Warden Clanton and the management of the hatchery to see the tiny trout by the millions disport themselves in the ponds where they are being held until large enough to be turned loose.

That the methods employed in raising these denizens of the lakes and rivers may not remain a mystery there will be attendants to tell the unsophisticated everything there is to be told, and then to answer the thousand and one queries which are sure to be asked. That the story is interesting has been verified by all who have ever inspected the hatchery.

"We will not make any extra preparation for visitors," said Warden Clanton, "for the hatchery is always prepared for company." We do want the newspapermen to see the fish and the hatchery for we want them and all of the people of the state to realize what a wonderful work we are doing. The sight is worth seeing and the welcome we will give will be as cordial as possible."
