

PACIFIC HIGHWAY ASS'N PLANNING NEW DEPARTURE

Meeting to Be Held Sept. 1 to Select Executive Officer and Consider Raising of Dues to $5 a Year.

A meeting of the Pacific Highway association for the purpose of discussing a proposition of a new departure in the Oregon highway work will be held at the Oregon Hotel, September 1, according to Samuel Hill, president of the Home Telephone and Telegraph company and one of the foremost advocates of good roads in the United States. A proposal to raise the dues to $5 a year will be submitted to the consideration of the committee in addition to other matters.

"It is important," Mr. Hill said, "that Portland should have as large a membership as possible as the state of Oregon looks to Portland to lead in highway work. This highway work is all-important, not only to the state, but especially to the cities. A telegram received a short time ago stated that a reduction had been made in the rail rates to Portland owing to the fact that the farmers can now haul over good roads from Klickitat county to the Columbia river, and the saving to the farmers alone this year was $19,000 on the wheat crop."

Executive Officer Needed.
"Another matter which will come before the meeting is the selection of an executive officer who will be required to speak English and Spanish, to run an automobile, handle a camera, and operate a typewriter, and whose duty will be to make twelve trips per year from Vancouver, B. C., through to Mexico. He must be a man who is qualified to not only talk roads but to build roads and to suggest to the people along the route how the work should be done. He will also carry stencils and where a sign is down stencil the proper direction on the tree or fence. He should report on hotel accommodations and where stencils can be had. These reports probably will be summarized twelve times a year and published in some official paper, so that anyone desiring to make the trip will know the conditions as they actually exist. Incidentally, this will advertise the Pacific highway throughout the east, so a man bringing his car to the coast, whether he strikes Mexico, California, Oregon, Washington or British Columbia, will know where he can go and just what it will cost him to make the trip."

Paying Taxes on Scenery.

"I know of no one single thing that will be of so great value to the coast in an advertising way as this. The whole coast has, in my opinion, scenery unequalled anywhere in the world. To capitalize this scenery we must have the roads. We are not now paying taxes on scenery. We will not have to pay taxes on roads. This is for the benefit of all alike. Primarily, of course, my interest in the work is for the farmer. Unless we can get the farmer on the land, producing something there will be little use for office buildings and town houses. Tuesday I was invited to meet with a body of business men called together by Mr. Julius Meier, and have agreed to go to Gearhart, leaving here Sunday night, and address on Monday a mass meeting at the county commissioners and the county courts of the three counties located on the river between Portland and the sea. Mr. Meier and his associates recognize the importance of bringing these scattered points into close touch with Portland by means of a trunk railway. They also recognize the fact that people in Portland need an opportunity to visit those beauty spots along the road and at the coast. I am interested because I know the country somewhat, know it to be fertile, and if this highway is put through I foresee this fertile land occupied by a prosperous and happy people who can locate along the road and find a market for what they raise."

MRS. MERRICK'S BROTHER HURT IN LOGGING CAMP

Suffering from a compound fracture of the right leg and from internal injuries, Eugene Kearney, brother of Mrs. C. B. Merrick, lies in St. Vincent's hospital as the result of an accident while working in a lumber camp near Prindle, Wash., Tuesday morning. His condition is considered serious. Dr. Samuel C. Bloom, Dr. Andrew C. Smith and others who are attending him, have not been able to make a thorough examination of his injuries. Kearney was working in the logging camp at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, when he fell between several logs. After an hour's work in which a donkey engine was brought into play, he was put on a train and brought to the hospital.

NORTH PORTLAND CLUB FAVORS BELT LINE ROAD

At an enthusiastic meeting of the North Portland Commercial club Tuesday evening in which everything was discussed from Eugene to transportation problems, the club went on record unanimously in support of a belt line and the common terminal amendment proposed to the city charter. The club was addressed, besides members of the club, by F. S. Myers, J. B. Ziegler and Judge Muirly.

Storm Damage Heavy.

(United Press Special Wire)
Logan, Utah, Aug. 29.—Estimated today place the damage to grain, orchards and sugar beets by last night's hail storm in this vicinity at $500,000. The storm swept a path 50 miles long and five miles wide.

Dedication Day Will Be Sept. 1

Riverside Congregational Church at Hood River.

(Special to The Journal)
Hood River, Or., Aug. 29.—The illustration represents the new stone Riverside Congregational church edifice erected at a cost of $20,000, exclusive of property and furnishings and that is to be dedicated Sunday, September 1. Rev. E. A. King of North Yakima will preach the dedicatory sermon. Dr. George E. Paddock will represent the Oregon Congregational churches. Rev. Cephas Clapp of Washougal will offer the dedicatory prayer, a service which he performed in the old original church in 1841. Rev. Dr. Luther R. Dyott, pastor of the First Congregational church of Portland, will preach the sermon at the evening service.

The state conference of Congregational churches will be held in this edifice October 8 to 10, at which fully 150 delegates will be present. The Congregational church is the pioneer church of Hood River, organized April 25, 1890, with a membership of four. The present membership numbers 231 and the church is making rapid advance under the present pastor, Rev. E. A. Harris, who has been in charge for the past two years. The new edifice will seat approximately 800 and the furnishings are of the latest. A large pipe organ has been installed that will be formally dedicated Wednesday, September 4 by the rendition of a sacred concert by Lucien C. Hecker, F. O. G. A., now pipe organist at the Trinity Episcopal church of Portland.

COLLEGE EXPERTS JUDGES AT FAIRS

Demand for College Men at Autumn Exhibitions Very Strong in Oregon.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Or., Aug. 29.—With the Linn county fair at Selma yesterday began a long series of fairs, institutes and grange exhibitions at which professors from the Oregon Agricultural college faculty will act as judges and deliver addresses. Their popularity in this capacity has resulted in a much larger number of calls for their services than could be met, since the various departments at the college are busy preparing the exhibits to be sent to the state fair next week, and getting their laboratories ready for the opening of the college, September 20.

At Selma, Professor E. L. Potter of the animal husbandry department is judge of the livestock, Professor F. L. Kent the dairy exhibits and Fred Brown of the horticulture department the fruit and vegetables, while others from the college are judging the home economics, agronomy, and poultry exhibits.

Jackson Among Orchardists.
Professor H. S. Jackson of the plant pathology department is making a tour of the orchards of the Freewater, Frazer City, John Day, Canyon City, Mount Vernon and La Grande districts, showing growers how to combat pests.

Today Professor E. D. Ressler, in charge of the industrial pedagogy work at the Wilsonville school, and H. E. Pratt of the bacteriology department is judging the exhibits. Friday they will go to the school fair at Clatskanie to perform a similar service.

The Melrose grange fair, September 11-12, will claim the services of four college experts as judges. Mrs. Henrietta W. Calvin, dean of domestic science, A. G. Linn of the poultry department, E. R. Stockwell of the dairy division and E. J. Krause of the research laboratories will go to Melrose September 13. They will judge the exhibits at the South Deer Creek grange fair.

Judges at County Fairs.
The Josephine county summer fair at Grants Pass is to be held September 18-20, and Professor F. L. Kent will represent the college on the board of judges. At the Multnomah county fair at Ontario September 24-25, R. W. Allen, superintendent of the Hermitas experiment station, and W. I. Powers, superintendent of the Crook county irrigation demonstration farm, will act as judges.

Dr. Withycombe is to give an address for the Yankton Fair association which convenes September 25-26. The Gilliam county fair at Mayville October 2-4, will be attended by Professor James Dryden of the poultry department, G. R. Sampson of the animal husbandry department, and Professor H. D. Scudder of the agronomy department, who will act as judges.

The Grant county fair is to be held at John Day October 8-12. The college will send Professor E. L. Potter, R. W. Allen and E. T. Judd as judges. Professor Dryden and Professor Scudder will be in attendance at the Tri-county fair at Condon October 15.

FEED LIVESTOCK, SAYS WITHYCOMBE

Experiment Station Expert Says Export of Grain Is Not Best.

That it is no particular honor to Oregon to be known as a great wheat exporting state because the grain is more valuable when fed to livestock, while at the same time the soil is not impoverished, was asserted by Dr. James Withycombe of Oregon Agricultural college in an address before the Ad club at luncheon yesterday afternoon in the Multnomah hotel.

Oregon is neglecting a livestock opportunity not equalled by any of the famous stock raising and dairy countries in the world, averred Dr. Withycombe. He added that there are 10,000,000 acres of dairy land in Oregon; that two acres can support a cow, or a total of 5,000,000 cows, each of which would be worth $100 profit, at least annually, or $500,000,000 annually. He said that feeding grain rather than exporting it would give to the farmer 50 cents more a bushel or $7,500,000 for the state on a crop yield of 15,000,000 bushels.

Denmark, with its hospitable climate, at the same time exporting annually $101,000,000 in dairy products, bacon and eggs, although it gets so cold in winter that cows have to be blanketed to keep them from freezing.

The meeting was in charge of O. M. Plummer of the Union Stockyards company. It was given over to the defining of the importance of the Pacific Northwest Products show in Portland next November. The meeting was presided over by Dr. Withycombe, G. E. A. Bond, secretary-manager of the show, Harvey Lounsbury of the O-W. R. & N. company, and A. P. Hincham, president of the state horticultural society. Oregon products were served at the luncheon in such amount and number that the Ad men were unable even with the best of appetites, to make away with all.

It was announced that Theodore Roosevelt will be guest of the Ad club September 11. The Rotary club, Progressive-Business Men's club and the local Board will be invited to attend. A committee consisting of Edward O. Burdick, W. Vincent Jones, F. I. Goller and W. Vincent Jones, F. I. Goller, was appointed to greet Roosevelt and escort him to the luncheon. Upon motion of R. W. Raymond, the club moved to wire Washington asking that Mrs. Merrick be made postmistress to succeed her husband, the late Charles H. Merrick.

LAND PRODUCTS SHOW FUND GAINS FRIEND

There is one man, at least in Portland who believes so thoroughly in the value and permanent benefits to be derived from the Pacific Northwest Land Products show in Portland, November 18-23, that he has voluntarily sent a contribution, and asks that if more is needed he may be given the opportunity of increasing his contribution.

In a personal letter to G. E. A. Bond, secretary-manager of the show, he writes:

"You are working on a subject in which I have taken a very deep interest for many years. I have, and am, working rather as a free lance, as I am inclined to get impatient when the other fellow won't see what seems to me as plain as the nose on one's face. I have in a quiet way done a great deal of good for Oregon, and I haven't stopped yet."

"When I think of this beautiful country of which I have been so long a part and of its great possibilities, I hope to do more for Oregon and if all you fellows would only feel as I do about it, we will soon bring it to its own."

"Should you fall short of funds let me know."

The plan for the show grows daily more encouraging. It was announced this morning that activity and energy of committees on solicitation give promise of an easy securing of the amount necessary to stage the great exhibit, and to supply the long list of premiums. The friends have given assurance of contributing generously and are to make definite announcement of the amount of their contribution this week.
