Events in Society

It is imperative that those contributing news for the Sunday society page should have it reach the desk of the society editor not later than Friday whether brought in, mailed or telegraphed. News is always most welcome, but those who have affairs early in the week would confer a great favor by sending their reports in as early as possible, otherwise the volume of late society on Saturday may necessitate some items being left over for another day.

For Miss Ladd.

MRS. HELEN LADD CORBETT entertained with a lovely dancing party last evening as a farewell compliment to her niece, Miss Helen Ladd, who leaves for school tomorrow. About 100 guests were present.

Mrs. Walker Complimented.

Mrs. Fielding Kelly entertained with an informal luncheon of eight covers yesterday for Mrs. Robert Walker of Tacoma. Mrs. Kelly's mother, Mrs. A. Barker, who leaves on Thursday for Madison, Wis., asked a few friends in most informal for tea this afternoon. Mrs. Lloyd Wentworth and Mrs. Kelly assisted her.

Planned for Visitors.

Mrs. F. S. Stanley gave a bridge luncheon yesterday for Mrs. J. B. Kehl of Chippewa Falls, who is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. William Bowe. Richmond roses centered the table where covers were laid for Mrs. Kehl, Mrs. Bowe, Mrs. Warren E. McCord, Mrs. Harry Hickey, Mrs. J. P. O'Brien, Mrs. J. Bowman, Mrs. O'Connell, Mrs. Grace McDougall and the hostess. Mrs. O'Connell won the high score in the card games.

Wednesday Mrs. McCord was an informal bridge hostess when she had three tables for Mrs. Kehl and Mrs. Withers of Withers, Wis., who is the guest of Mrs. Natt MacDougall. The drawing room was beautiful with its decorations of roses and the sun parlor and dining room were both brilliant with scores of yellow blossoms.

Dinner Hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Metzger were dinner hosts last evening in compliment to Mrs. E. Heller of New York, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. S. Lipman. The table was beautifully appointed with michelmann daisies, green tulle and candles in green. The guests were Mrs. Heller, Mrs. Lipman, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Metzger, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Fleischner, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Lipman, Mrs. S. Rosner and Will Lipman.

Large Reception.

About 400 guests responded to the invitations of Mrs. Theodore Nicolai for a reception given yesterday in honor of

RECKLESS WAY WE MARRY

By Dorothy Dix.
A PRETTY young bride has just been deserted in a hotel after a honeymoon that had lasted only four days.

Detectives are out hunting the recalcitrant bridegroom, who disappeared owing the hotel and an automobile concern, and even a tailor from whom he had rented a swell dress suit to be married in, and the poor little bride has gone tearfully back home to reflect upon the uncertainty of matrimony.

This case does not stand alone as an illustration of the monumental folly with which people marry without taking the trouble to find out a single thing about the individual with whom they propose to spend the next 30 or 40 years, and on whose good faith and worthiness their whole happiness and welfare depends. Every day we read in the papers about girls who have married bogus noblemen or bigamists with another wife in the next block, or ex-convicts, or men whom they believe to be prosperous and who are swamped in debt and have no way of making a living, or men who have some terrible mental or physical malady, or men who have some hideous blot on their past that casts its sinister shadow over the whole lives of their wives.

The tragedy of these marriages is that almost every one of them could have been prevented had the girl and her parents used as much ordinary prudence in the matter as they would about acquiring a new horse, instead of a new member of the family.

Of course it's easy enough to see why a girl with no experience of life, and infatuated with a man's agreeable personality, might think that it didn't make any difference who he was, or what he had done. She might be willing to buy a pig in a poke, as it were, and marry a man without any investigation of his standing and character, but there is nothing else on earth so amazing as the indifference of fathers on this subject, and that a father would permit his little unsophisticated daughter to marry a man of whom he knew absolutely nothing.

In this day of telegraphs and telephones and newspapers, we all live in the glare of publicity, and there is no difficulty whatever in finding out all that is necessary to know about anybody else. An inquiry through Dun or Bradstreet will give accurate information as to any young fellow's past and present performances and abilities to support a wife.

With these sources of information at hand it is not simply incredible that any

Mrs. Herbert Bishop of Los Angeles, Mrs. Waller Chandler of Los Angeles and Portland, Mrs. Frank R. Johnson and Mrs. Albert Cheney of Los Angeles. The hostess and honor guests were assisted in receiving by Mrs. J. W. Watson, Mrs. D. M. McLaughlin, Mrs. Alice Shannon, Mrs. A. N. Wright and Mrs. D. H. Rand. The dining room was provided over during the afternoon by Mrs. Jacob H. Cook, Mrs. William Reid, Mrs. Johan Poulsen, Mrs. Charles King, Mrs. Wendell Poulsen, Mrs. Gus Hoffman, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Rand. Helping about the room were Miss Louise Watson, Miss Agnes McLaughlin and Miss Phyllis King. The decorations were strikingly developed in a color scheme of red with shaded candelabra, a great mound of gladioli on the table and a profusion of sweetbrier berries about the room. In the hall the decorations were all of palms and bamboo. Waldemar Lind's orchestra was stationed behind a screen of the green and played during the hours. The drawing rooms were both beautiful in yellow with a profusion of palms and bamboo of the green. The receiving party stood in front of an effective background of the green. At the punch table were Miss Menefee and Miss Stapleton. Little Misses Ethel Kissel and Winifred Chamberlain were at the door, and the hostess was assisted upstairs by Miss Antona Neppach and Miss Helen Nicolai.

Mrs. Nicolai received in a stunning gown of black lace and gold with diamonds and pearls for ornaments. Mrs. Bishop was wearing white champagne with an overdrape of blue and black marquisette and cut steel trimming. Her jewels were diamonds and pearls.

Mrs. Chandler had on an importation of gold and silver lace with a beautiful combination of coral, pearl and diamond ornaments.

Mrs. Johnson was in salmon champagne with lace and diamonds.

Mrs. Cheney wore an imported model of the new geranium pink taffeta with gold trimmings and ornaments of pearls and diamonds.

Mrs. Watson's gown was white marquisette draped over salmon.

Mrs. McLaughlin had on a combination of pink champagne and lace.

Mrs. Shannon was in pale blue with lace.

Mrs. Wright was in lace draped over blue champagne.

Mrs. Rand wore black and white silk with lace.

Mrs. Cook had on pale blue combined with lace and silver.

Mrs. Reid was in a gray importation embroidered in silver and gray.

Mrs. Poulsen's gown was gray embroidered in silver with overdress of black lace.

Mrs. King wore a foundation of gray with drape of black and royal blue.

Mrs. E. Wendell Poulsen was gowned in silver marquisette and cerise silk.

DISTRIBUTES TOOTH BRUSHES AND CHEER

New York, Sept. 13.—Miss Theora Carter, founder and president of the Society of Good Cheer, arrived in New York the other day after a 10,000 mile trip about the country, where she has been establishing Good Cheer clubs in many cities. Her first work in New York was to distribute some 300 tooth brushes among the children on the recreation piers. Miss Carter was born in Seattle, and was educated in the University of Washington. She established the Good Cheer society in 1903, after she had been taken ill while traveling and far from friends. The idea is to establish the society throughout the country so that any member may find a friend in almost any place. There is nothing mercenary about the society. Donations are not accepted, and no money is bestowed upon any member.

Mrs. Hoffman wore white marquisette.

Daughter Arrives.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson M. Cannon are being felicitated on the advent of a little daughter Wednesday morning.

For Bride-Elect.

Miss Adelaide Withycombe, a popular bride-elect, has been the guest of honor at several pretty affairs this week. Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Lulu Dahl Miller gave a delightful musical. This afternoon Mrs. L. S. Martin entertained four tables of bridge and tomorrow Miss Clara West will give a luncheon for the girls of the bridal party.

Short Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson Reed left this morning for Garibaldi to begin a tramping trip up the coast to Gearhart.

Miss Genevieve Thompson will return from the north this evening. Mrs. D. P. Thompson has been home for several days and Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Smith returned even sooner. The party went north expecting to motor extensively, but was not able to on account of inclement weather.

Judge and Mrs. Charles E. Wolverton, who have been spending some time near Albany with Mrs. Wolverton's father, Nimrod Price, left the first of the week for Monmouth to stay several days before returning to Portland.

Mrs. Herbert Bishop of Los Angeles is the house guest of Mrs. Frank R. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Webber of 661 Wasco street returned Sunday from their eastern trip of three months.

THREE TRAGIC DEATHS LOS ANGELES RECORD

(United Press Local Wire.)

Los Angeles, Sept. 13.—One man was killed and six were injured early today when a Short Line car left the rails at Venice. J. S. Lloyd of Venice died from his injuries.

The two infant sons of Mrs. Hilma Saarela, a widow, were burned to death early today in a fire that destroyed Mrs. Saarela's home here. The explosion of a gasoline stove caused the fire.

How To Be Beautiful ("Parisienne" in Woman's Realm.)

"A perspiring, shiny face is not beautiful. Powder only smears and makes it worse. Apply in the morning a lotion made by dissolving a package of mayatone in a half-pint of witch hazel. This 'holds' all day, prevents tan and sunburn, removes blemishes and makes the skin smooth, fair and satiny."

"When condition of health does not favor washing the head, use a dry shampoo made by mixing four ounces of orris root with an original package of therox. Therox is good for the hair and makes it light, wavy and lustrous. Just sprinkle on the head and brush out. Remember water causes brittle, streaked and falling hair."

"Thin and straggly eyebrows will grow thick, even and dark-colored if pyroxin is applied daily with the fingertips. Eyelashes, too, will become lovely and long if pyroxin is gently massaged into the roots."

"No woman need suffer humiliation from superfluous hairs on face or forearms. Just cover the hairs with a paste made of plain delatone and water. Leave on for a few minutes, remove, wash the surface, and hairs will be gone. This treatment is sure, safe and speedy."
