GREAT CROWDS GREET BRYAN IN CALIFORNIA AS CAMPAIGN OPENS

Commoner Begins Work By Addressing Women, Who Will Vote First Time.

Los Angeles, Sept. 23.—William J. Bryan arrived here at 7 o'clock this morning to open the California campaign for Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, the Democratic presidential nominee.

Despite the early hour the commoner was met at the Salt Lake depot by hundreds of friends and admirers, and escorted to the Alexandria hotel, where an informal reception was held.

Trains from outside points brought several thousand Bryan admirers into Los Angeles last night and this morning 500 coming from the Imperial valley country alone.

The commoner's appearance on the Auditorium platform was the signal for a great ovation. He was cheered for five minutes, then the women voters took up the singing of national songs.

"America" was rendered with everybody standing, this being followed by "Dixie." It was fully 15 minutes before Bryan could make himself heard.

"Ladies without the gentlemen," began Bryan amid another outbreak. "I wish to draw a contrast between the Chicago convention and the Baltimore convention. I speak of the Republican convention, not the monologue which came afterward.

"ANTI-FREE SPEECH" CLAUSE TURNED DOWN BY CITY COUNCILMEN

Proposed Measure Not Proper for Insertion in Traffic Ordinance, Ruled.

There will be no so-called "anti-free speech" clause in the ordinance regulating the use of the city streets, as considered at its meeting Wednesday, so far as at least any recommendation from the special committee is concerned.

"We can't consider that," said Councilman Monks, when Attorney E. E. Covert, representing the Retail Merchants' association, brought forward this clause, which was one of the principal features of an ordinance drafted by the merchants as embodying their ideas, and asked that it be included in the ordinance presented to the council.

"No, no," we can't consider that in a traffic ordinance," supplemented Councilman Burgard, chairman of the committee, and Councilman Watkins, in the same breath.

"Such a provision is in the Los Angeles traffic ordinance," insisted Mr. Covert, "and it regulated the conduct of people in the congested district provided by the traffic ordinance, and ought to go in."

"I can't help that," said Councilman Burgard. "It doesn't properly come under a traffic ordinance and won't be considered, that's all the ordinance is."

That ended the discussion, for the committee promptly adjourned until this afternoon.

The action of the committee forestalled a lively time in the council chamber, for representatives of the Socialist party were present to make a fight on the clause, which they have hitherto opposed since it was first proposed.

Heated Discussion Held. There was a big delegation of citizens and representatives of various organizations present when the committee took up consideration of the ordinance at 10 o'clock, and most of them had something to say. The result was a number of important changes in the ordinance as it had been tentatively drawn up by City Attorney Grant.

One of the most important changes reduced Mr. Grant's proposed three districts, with 13, 15 and 25-mile speed limits for autos, to two districts with (Continued on Page Two.)

TABERNACLE AWAITS LOST EVANGELIST

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 23.—Dr. E. J. Bulgin, evangelist, who was to have arrived in Vancouver last Thursday to hold a series of meetings, has not been heard from. A tabernacle has been erected at Thirteenth and Grant streets, and last night Rev. C. R. G. Pope occupied the pulpit in place of the evangelist.

Rev. Mr. Bulgin was last heard from in Idaho, where he was planning a hunt in the mountains. Mr. Rose, who accompanies the evangelist, is much exercised over his absence, and fears he has been lost in the mountains.

JUDGING IN JOURNAL PRIZE BABY CONTEST TO BE BEGUN BY COMMITTEE THIS EVENING

Photographs Must All Be Delivered to the Editorial Rooms of The Journal by 6 o'Clock P. M.; Result of Contest Will Be Announced in Tomorrow's Journal; East Side Represented by Most Pictures; Judges Face Difficult Problem of Selecting Winners.

Today is the final day in The Journal's contest. Promptly at 6 o'clock this evening the entry list will be closed, and the judges, Mrs. George Lovejoy, Mrs. Robert H. Tate and O. M. Plummer, will undertake the task of selecting the prettiest baby in Portland.

Naturally, every mother—and father, too—who has a baby in the contest will be anxious to know the result of the judges' deliberations at the earliest possible moment. Paradoxical as it may seem, this is the very reason why The Journal has decided that absolutely no information regarding the outcome of the contest will be given until the newspaper has come to press Tuesday afternoon. It would not be fair to tell a few and not all. On Tuesday there will be no need of seeking information from private sources, because the photographs and names of the three prettiest babies will be published on that day.

The prizewinning baby will be awarded a box at the Heilig while "Baby Mine," Margaret Mayo's funny farce, is being played this week. Four lower floor seats will be given the second prettiest baby, and two lower floor seats will go to the third in the contest.

Tonight the parents of the babies whose photographs were among the first 50 received by The Journal when the contest opened will see "Baby Mine" at the Heilig as a reward for their alertness in grasping the opportunity offered by The Journal. And they will come away laughing, because married people are in position to really understand the fine strain of humor which underlies the visualized story concerning the experiences of a man who finds himself unexpectedly the father of triplets.

WOMAN KILLED IN ELEVATOR SHAFT; FALLS 3 STORIES

Mrs. Belle E. Haskins, Telephone Operator in Department Store, Instantly Killed Before Eyes of Employees.

VICTIM'S NECK IS BROKEN BY FALL

Accident Occurs as Woman Steps From Elevator Which Was in Motion.

While attempting to step from the elevator on the Fifth street side of the Meier & Frank store at 10:30 o'clock this morning, just after the car had started on its upward journey from the third floor, Mrs. Belle E. Haskins, 31 years old, of 24 East Thirteenth street north, telephone operator in the grocery department of the store, fell down the open shaft, striking the cement basement. Death was almost instantaneous. In falling she turned a complete somersault, and landed on her head and shoulders.

For nearly two hours after the accident employees of the store were unable to find out who the woman was, beyond the fact that she was one of the workers. It was only by checking up the names of women in different departments and finding who was missing, that they got her name.

In charge of the car was A. W. Mills, an old employee of the store, with him, however, running the elevator was C. D. Emery, a new man, who had just started work in the store this morning.

Neck Broken in Fall. According to the story told by Mr. Mills, Mrs. Haskins, in company with another woman, got on the elevator at the first floor. The car had stopped at the third floor, going up. Emery pushed the door to shut it when Mrs. Haskins hesitated a moment, then hurriedly started to step off the car to the floor, pushing the elevator door open. The car was then about 18 inches above the store floor level. The woman made the step in safety, but stepped only upon the edge of the floor. In some manner, apparently caused by the momentum of the car, she tottered backwards. Before the elevator could be stopped, she went under the car and fell to the basement, breaking her neck in the fall.

In the car at the time of the accident were Mills and Emery, the girl who had gotten into the elevator with Mrs. Haskins and two other passengers. After the men in the car had seen that Mrs. Haskins had missed her footing and had fallen, Emery who is said to be an experienced elevator man, immediately let go the car control, which caused the car to stop. The top of the car stopping on a level with the fourth floor.

Employees of the store immediately called Dr. Ong, but the woman was dead. The coroner was notified and deputy Gosh with others got the body out of the bottom of the shaft. It was taken to Dunning and McIntee establishment.

As soon as the manager of the store immediately started to find out the name of the woman. It was thought that she was an employee of the alteration department on the third floor, but a search of that department failed to find anyone missing. A check was then started in the departments and the regular operator in the grocery department was found to be missing.

American Ambassador Wilson Allowed Premature Publication of Contemplated Move.

Mexico City, Sept. 23.—Publication of a note warning President Francisco I. Madero that he was never delivered threatened today to result in complications between Mexico and the United States.

Nichols was released without the necessity of the threat being presented to President Madero. Now Wilson is placed in the position of publishing a threat which was never presented to the government. It is understood President Madero is preparing a protest against Wilson's action.

REED INSTITUTE OPENS DOORS OF COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS TODAY

Students Begin Registering; Faculty All On Hand; Students to Have Bonfire.

Marking the real entrance of Reed Institute into the collegiate life of the nation, the doors of the college of liberal arts were thrown open this morning for the registration of students for the first time in the new building.

At noon 47 of the 130 students who are expected to matriculate had completed registration. Tomorrow morning the first assembly of the college year will be held and classes will meet for the first time.

All the loose lumber left over from the construction of the new administration building and the dormitory will be collected by the students for a bonfire upon the campus tonight, which will be held for the purpose of celebrating the opening of the college and the completion of the buildings.

Although the college buildings are practically completed and are furnished, considerable detail work yet remains to be finished. Final touches are being put on rapidly, however. Owing to the fact the chapel will be finished in stone, it will not be ready for occupancy for some time because materials have been denied in shipment.

Tomorrow morning special ceremonies will be held in the assembly room to commemorate the completion of the second progression of the institute which came into being through the wealth and desires of Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Reed.

When registration opened this morning every member of the faculty—fifteen in all—had reported for duty. The majority of them have taken up their residence in special apartments in the college dormitory building.

GUBERNATORIAL CONTEST IN NEW YORK UP TO WILSON

Leaders in Anti-Tammany Fight Will Ask Presidential Nominee to Give Approval to Candidate for Governor.

PROGRESSIVES STRONG FOR CLEAN TICKET

National Committee Likely to Aid in Movement to Oust Tammany.

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Sept. 23.—Governor Woodrow Wilson will be confronted with the situation in New York when he returns from his western trip. Anti-Tammany men from upstate, who insist that Tammany control of the state convention will defeat the national ticket in the coming election, so far as New York is concerned, probably will demand that the Democratic presidential nominee interfere to secure an open convention at Syracuse next month. It was declared that they intended telling the governor that if he did not declare for a complete progressive ticket they will put a ticket of their own in the field.

Acting National Chairman William C. McAdoo has already canvassed the situation, it was said. He was satisfied that Charles F. Murphy, with control of the New York city delegation, and friends from other localities, would be able to nominate anyone he pleased. Certain anti-Tammany workers, headed by Thomas M. Osborn, Jacob H. Teneyck and others, were reported today to be preparing to appeal to Governor Wilson as the national leader, to say just who shall be nominated. It was reported that McAdoo has already been in communication with Murphy regarding his intentions, through John B. Stanchfield.

The action of the national committee in interfering in the New Jersey senatorial situation and forcing the withdrawal of John Westcott of Camden, leaving former Congressman Hughes as the single progressive candidate for United States senator, was cited by knowing politicians today as evidence that the national committee would see that only a Progressive was nominated for governor of New York.

Folk Says Wilson Is Strong. New York, Sept. 23.—Former Governor Joseph W. Folk of Missouri, discussing the presidential race here, declared today: "It would not surprise me if Governor Wilson, Democratic nominee, was to carry every state in the union. He has a chance to carry all of them. Taft and Roosevelt are not sure of a single state."

Mr. Medler's work emphasizes what may be done by an energetic man who is willing to give a little time to the collection of money among his neighbors. Dollars are not hard to obtain if a little individual effort is put into the work.

The advancement of Woodrow Wilson's interests depends on what the people in each town and community are willing to do. Expenses of the campaign must be defrayed, and this time it is the people themselves to whom the campaign managers are looking for the money, a little here and a little there.
