

PIONEER TIMBER MAN SUCCEUMBS TO HEART ATTACK

David C. Pelton, Portland Capitalist, Dies Suddenly at His Summer Home at Seaside; Funeral Wednesday.

David C. Pelton.

David C. Pelton, pioneer Columbia river timberman, and well known Portland capitalist, died suddenly at his summer home at Seaside yesterday morning, as the result of an attack of heart disease.

The funeral will be held from Finley's chapel, Third and Madison streets, Wednesday at 2 p. m. Rev. Dr. D. R. Dyott will read the burial service.

Mr. Pelton was a native of Michigan, and was about 75 years old. He came to Portland about 16 years ago, and at once became interested on a large scale in the logging and timber business with John B. Yeon, under the name of the Yeon-Pelton company.

BARR MURDER CASE REMAINS UNSOLVED; FAIL TO FIND MOTIVE

Detectives Delving Into Past Life of Victim to Find Clue in Baffling Case.

Declaring that what evidence has so far been gathered in the investigation of the Barr murder case amounts to but little of real worth, and that they are looking to Barr's friends and companions for more tangible clues, the detectives working on the mystery are now delving into Barr's past life and entanglements.

Harry G. Barr, chauffeur and one of the owners of the Multnomah Hotel Auto Bus line, was shot and killed on the Linnton road last Monday night, evidently while returning to the city in his own automobile from The Hut, where he had taken a party of two men and a woman.

At a week's investigation of the case the officers have been unable to ascertain a real motive for the crime, though it is believed that the anger or jealousy of a wronged husband or a rival suitor prompted the crime.

It is stated at headquarters this morning that Harry Harkin, who was a former employe of Barr, and who figured in several escapades in Portland, has been virtually eliminated as a suspect in the case, because his present whereabouts are known and because it has been established that he has not been in Portland for several weeks.

George Barr and Miss Elsie Barr, brother and sister of the murder victim, have gone to San Francisco. Miss Barr, it is said, has been so upset by the crime that it was imperative for her health's sake that she be taken away from the city.

Captain Baty, Detectives Pat Moloney and Swennes have been working on the case continuously, and this morning Captain Baty assigned Detectives

"PRINCESS" DIES WHEN LOVER FIRES TO HEART ATTACK

Failure to Be True to One Man Costs Beautiful Squaw Her Life.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 23.—Charged with slaying his true love heart, Gustaf Olson, a longshoreman, pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree before Judge William O. Chapman here today.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 23.—Gustaf Olson, Tacoma longshoreman, has killed Etta Cushman, 25 years old, a princess of the Kitsap Indian tribe, considered the most beautiful Indian woman on Puget sound, who had been his common law wife for two years.

Finishing two men in their camp on the summer road, two miles from Seaside, yesterday morning, and greeted by the taunts of the girl, who, he says, laughed at his rage and told him he was a coward and afraid to shoot, he discharged two shots from a revolver into her body.

When Olson realized what he had done, he turned the weapon on himself, the hammer of the gun falling three times while the muzzla was held close to his chest, each of the three cartridges falling to explode.

Still clinging to her, kissing her face and hands, Olson was placed under arrest a few minutes after the shooting by Deputy Sheriff J. A. Mitchell, who was camping with the Indian hop pickers trying to obtain information who was bringing whiskey to the camp.

M'CREDIE DRAFTS PLACED IN SEVEN

Material Portland Manager Is Trying to Secure, Looks Promising.

Judge McCredie yesterday filed the following drafts with Secretary Farrell for minor league material, which will be drawn at the office of the secretary of the National association at Auburn, N. Y., today.

Pitcher Ellis, Wichita, Western league. Pitcher Evans, Dallas, Texas league. Catcher Armstrong, Dayton, Central league.

Shortstop Courtney, Brantford, Canadian league. Shortstop Kores, Des Moines, Western league. Shortstop Young, Harrisburg, Tri-state league.

McCredie also has drafted money for the Chicago Cubs, but who were compelled to make a cancellation on account of the player limit, batted 298 last season. He made 138 hits and 71 runs in 470 times at bat.

Catcher Armstrong, who is declared to be the best backstop in the Central league, is battling in the neighborhood of 375 this year and has all the scouts looking over his shoulder.

Pitcher Ellis, who was with Pueblo last year, won 22 and lost 11 games. In 47 games he pitched 4 ties and gave 42 bases on balls. Pueblo finished third.

Pitcher Evans won 18 and lost 16 games last season. He also put up a record 18 strikeouts. There is no dope record in the records on Hynes.

MEDICINE FOR CRAMPS CONTAINED ALCOHOL

Whiskey was better under the Roosevelt administration than it has been under the Taft regime, testified A. S. Wells, chemist in the office of the state health commissioner, this morning before Judge Gantenbein in a liquor case appealed from the municipal court.

The chemist said the standard for whiskey recognized in the two administrations was from test cases in Kentucky. He said the tests required in the cases prosecuted at the instance of the Roosevelt administration was much higher than the standard set in the present administration.

The foregoing question came up when Attorney Roger Sinnott was asking Sheriff Stevens whether S. M. Helford, a druggist at 214 Third street, was on trial for selling liquor on Sunday. Patrolman Ennis testified he purchased a bottle of whiskey from Helford on December 10, paying 25 cents for it. The druggist had given the officer "medicine for cramps." It contained about 40 per cent alcohol, he testified.

Judge Gantenbein held the same way, but increased the fine to $10. The latter judge recently announced that penalties would be increased in appealed cases, where the evidence is conclusive of guilt. In this case, the chemist found the "cramp medicine" to be strong in alcohol.

Vaughn and Litherland to assist in the investigation. Sheriff Stevens is working in conjunction with the police officers in an effort to clear up the mystery.

SAVING HOME RULE BOUND TO COME TO EMERALD ISLE

People in Many Sections of Country Giving Cause Financial and Moral Aid, Says Irish Patriot.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Philadelphia, Pa., this morning, may not be far from the last meeting of the kind of American soil, but in all probability two years hence an auxiliary movement to further the Irish Home rule cause here or elsewhere will be no longer required.

From reports received the convention is the largest in point of numbers and influence ever held in this country and the selection of Philadelphia for the gathering most appropriate.

Itter as were the lashings of Swift and Moloyeux on the conduct of England toward Ireland, it was Burke with his incomparable diatribe against the attention of mankind on the penal code of Ireland which he declared brought about such dreadful conditions "more grievous than all the 10 pagan persecutions of the Christians," and the penal code itself as the most diabolical cruelty of any age and done and never used against a people or ever devised by "the perverted ingenuity of man." Gladstone at a later day in closing his speech on the second home rule bill, said:

"To into the length and breadth of the world, ranging the literature of all countries, find, if you can, a single voice, a single book—find I would almost say, as much as a single newspaper article, unless the product of the day, in which the conduct of England toward Ireland, is anywhere treated except with profound and bitter condemnation."

It was the memory of these words which caused the congress of the United States at Philadelphia in 1775 to send a message of sympathy to the people of Ireland in these words: "We know that you are not without your grievances; we sympathize with you in your distress, and we are pleased to find that the design of subjugating us has persuaded the administration to dispense to Ireland some vagrant ray of ministerial sunshine. Even the friends of the constitution have long been cruel to you. In the rich pastures of Ireland many hungry parasites are fed, and grow strong to labor for her destruction."

Three years later, in 1778, Benjamin Franklin wrote thus to the Irish people: "The most glorious and successful revolution in the history of the world has been so frequently exposed to, and has so often experienced, by such a combination of rapine, treachery and violence, as would disgrace the name of government in the most arbitrary country in the world, has most sincerely attacked the friends of America, and has engaged the most serious attention of congress."

Financial Support Pledged. The vagrant rays of ministerial sunshine above spoken of has since these words were written caused the death of over 2,500,000 of the Irish people from famines alone, and reduced the population of the island since O'Connell's time by forced immigration from 8,000,000 to 4,000,000 people. But the thousands of delegates to the United Irish league convention at Philadelphia today will visit the old Independence hall and Franklin's mansion, and receive the messages of sympathy to their forebears came from, proud of the fact that one half of the revolutionary army was composed of Irish exiles and their descendants and offering no apologies for treading the footsteps of their forefathers in their sympathy for Ireland today.

Cables and telegrams from all parts of the world are being sent to the convention pledging continued financial and moral support to the Irish parliamentary party in their fight for home rule. The convention will be in session six days, and will be closed by the departure of William K. Redmond, head of the delegation from the Irish party and every principal city in the United States is represented by delegates.

If scarcely one sixth of the population of Ireland is to dictate its form of government to the rest of the world, it is not for no other material purpose but to keep a small coterie of office holders in Dublin castle, as a "badge of conquest" then the present newspaper revolt in Ulster is justified.

"Home Rule Will Come." "Truth is, the agitation for the disestablishment of the Irish church and moral support to the Irish parliamentary party in their fight for home rule. BOURNE'S ADHERENTS WILL MEET TONIGHT

Keen interest is manifested by politicians of all parties in the meeting of Senator Bourne's adherents called for tonight at the East Side library by Dan Kellaher. The avowed purpose of the meeting is to do something to get Bourne into the senatorial race.

What form the meeting will take no one will predict. Kellaher says others are joining with him in making the call, but he will not tell who they are. He says there is no "program" and he has no idea what will be done.

In view of Bourne's recent statements the inference has been drawn by some of his supporters that with a reasonable amount of coaxing he will go into the fight. The spellbinding tonight are expected to give some impetus to the movement in the senatorial race.

While Bourne has declared for Roosevelt, and Kellaher is for Roosevelt, the colonel himself has sent a telegram inquiring the candidate of A. E. Clark, the Progressive party nominee. Bourne has avoided any alignment with the third party, and said on the day of his arrival that he is still a Republican. This position kept him from getting the Progressive party nomination, and Roosevelt's declaration for Clark is likely to subtract from Bourne's strength among the radical Roosevelt men.

The three leading aspirants for the senate, Ben Selling, Harry Lane and Mr. Clark, are alike trying to analyze the situation likely to result from Bourne coming into the race, and the conclusions reached are nearly varied in number as those who do the guessing.
