

PROGRESSIVE SAYS PARTY MUST NOT MAKE UP A SLATE

Ackerson, Candidate for County Commissioner, Sounds Warning; County Convention Meets Tomorrow.

Talk of a slate being prepared for the Progressive county convention, which will meet at the Washington high school auditorium tomorrow afternoon, is producing the first rumblings of a possible storm in the ranks of the third party.

Recently it has been reported that the "smoke 'em out" committee appointed some time ago to ascertain how candidates of the old parties stand in some beyond this and has been discussing candidates to be named tomorrow.

Out of the caucuses that have been held the report has grown that a ticket is being agreed on, and this report has been disseminated in the rank and file.

Today Charles W. Ackerson, who was a delegate to the Chicago convention, and stood to the end of Roosevelt's program, announced himself a candidate for nomination for county commissioner.

and at the same time declared himself against any faction in control of the party.

He says he is opposed to any effort to pick candidates in advance, and wants the nominations to come from the floor without previous "understandings."

Must Be in the Open.

"This convention will make or break the party," he said. "If it is an open affair and no faction is in control to force slate candidates upon the genuine Progressives, we will be stronger for the battle yet to come."

All should have equal rights and voice in this convention. Every Progressive should make an effort to attend and fight for candidates who have been Progressives in the past, men who come before the convention with clean hands, uncontrolled by past political intrigues or dark room methods.

The young men of the party should see that no man receives a nomination who does not truly believe in the principles of the Progressive party. We are building for the future, and not for a day. Every man should give a few hours to politics. We complain of labor abuses after the soup is cooked, and fail to take a hand in the cooking.

Young men particularly should get into this convention and fight against the control of any faction and any slate.

Right Must Be Fair.

"My name will be presented on the floor tomorrow for county commissioner. If I am defeated in a fair fight I shall not complain, but I am against any secret deals."

Members of the "smoke 'em out" committee declared the wrong conference has been placed upon the conference. They have held. They say that after talking and corresponding with regular Republican and Democratic candidates, certain ones were eliminated and certain others regarded with favor.

Discussion of new candidates is not denied, but it is said that this was informal, that no effort was made to confine the selection to any one man for an office, and that no plan of putting through a slate has been thought of.

Few candidates have appeared in the open as seekers for the nomination of the convention tomorrow. The exceptions are Ackerson, for commissioner, and Professor Edwin Anders, for county school superintendent. Harry Yankwich, who was regarded as a candidate for the circuit bench, says his name will not be presented for any office.

Sentiment generally seems to favor endorsement of a number of the Republican nominees for county office, and a lesser number of Democrats. H. D. Wagon, Democratic nominee for assessor, has considerable support, and some of the Democratic legislative candidates are believed to be standing where the lightning will strike.

Circuit Judge Gantenben, who was defeated for the Republican nomination for congress, is being discussed both for the supreme bench and the circuit bench. His attitude is not clear, and as the matter stands he would have opposition for either nomination.

A nomination against George Tazewell for circuit judge is certain, however, and the gossip today includes W. A. Carter, who started as a candidate for district attorney at the primaries, but withdrew in favor of Walter H. Evans.

May Leave Morrow Alone.

For the other place on the circuit bench it appears Judge Morrow will be unopposed, as Judge Van Zant, the Democratic nominee, has declined, and the Bull Mooseers seem disposed to leave Morrow alone.

The let alone policy may be adopted as to other offices unless the unexpected happens and the straight ticket election secures control. The discussion over the sheriff's office is languid, with W. H. Fitzgerald, Republican nominee, and Tom Ward, Democratic nominee, each favored by a number of supporters.

No opposition has appeared to Walter H. Evans for district attorney, and John M. Lewis, Republican candidate for treasurer, also appears to have the call. For county commissioner, in addition to Ackerson, Lute Pease and J. T. Wilson are being discussed. Pease is also mixed in the gossip for nomination for county clerk. John B. Coffey, Republican nominee for the latter office, is not without friends.

On the legislative ticket the situation is hazy, beyond the expectation that the two labor candidates on the Republican ticket will be endorsed, and that several others will be picked from the Republican and Democratic lists.

The convention will be called to order tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Washington high school, it having been decided that the East Side library is not large enough. Levi W. Myers, as state committeeman for Multnomah county, will handle the gavel until a chairman is elected.

Don't be angry with your child because he or she is continually fretful. In ninety-nine out of one hundred cases you will find that the trouble is worms.

MEXICANS WANT REBEL RETURNED

Federal Officials Fear Plan of Escape Is Being Worked Out for Officer.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 27.—To prevent the possible release of General Emilio Campa, the Mexican rebel chief, who was taken prisoner on American soil, Mexican Consul E. V. Anaya is represented by counsel here today and prepared to resist any attempt of Campa to regain his freedom.

Consul Anaya, with other Mexican officials, believes that Campa's release would mean the surrender to the American Generals Orozco and Salazar. He declares he has reliable information to this effect. He is fighting for Campa's extradition on the ground that if the United States officials permit Campa to go free, Orozco and Salazar will cross the line and surrender to the American authorities in the hope of amnesty.

Send Arms to Rebels.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Los Angeles, Sept. 27.—Three Los Angeles hardware dealers are on record today as admitting to the senatorial subcommittee investigating Mexican revolutions as having sent arms to Mexican border towns, supposedly for use of the revolutionists. James Klindt admitted that he had sent 30,000 cartridges to a firm at Yuma, but could not be sure of their ultimate destination.

Railway Contractor Robbed.

Juarez, Mex., Sept. 27.—The Mexican rebels raided the camp of William Orr, contractor employed by the Mexican Northern railway at Cumbe, in the Casas Grandes district, and robbed him of his payroll money, $14,000, equipment valued at $12,000, and about $10,000 in commissary supplies is contained in reports received here today by railway officials and friends of Orr. The raid occurred last Wednesday, according to one report which states that Orr was injured and badly maltreated.

OFFER REWARD IN BARR MURDER CASE

One thousand dollars reward is offered for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who murdered Harry G. Barr on the Linnton road on the night of September 16, or the morning of September 17. The offer is made by George E. Barr, brother of the victim, through Robert E. Hitch, his attorney.

An effort was made yesterday to have the county offer a reward of a like amount, but Judge Cleeton refused to do so. Judge Cleeton cited the recent Tanner and Erwin conviction for manslaughter as travesties on justice, and said that while such cases are going on all the time, it would be just like throwing the county money into the sewer, so far as the prevention of crime is concerned, to offer rewards for arrests and convictions of murderers.

Harry G. Barr was part owner in the Multnomah Bus & Automobile line. He was shot and killed by an unknown person while presumably returning from The Hut, a Linnton road house, in an automobile. His body was found at the bottom of the embankment at Dead Man's curve Tuesday morning, September 17. His blood stained automobile was found at about the same time at the corner of First and Taylor streets, where it had presumably been left by the murderer.

PENITENTIARY TO ASK NO INCREASE FROM LEGISLATURE IN 1913

Cheering News Is Given Out by Governor, Who Has Cut Down the Expense.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Or., Sept. 27.—Governor West announced today that the two institutions directly under his control, the state penitentiary and the soldiers home at Roseburg, would ask the next legislature for no increase in maintenance appropriations.

This comes as a surprise in the face of the struggle the governor has to keep penitentiary expenditures within the appropriation of $142,000 for the biennial period. But the governor says he has the institution running on a more economical basis now than ever before and that it can be so conducted during the next two years.

The request was made of the last legislature to appropriate $152,000 for penitentiary maintenance, but the ways and means committee lopped off $10,000 and thereby put the governor on his mettle. He declared at the time there would be no deficiency.

Useless Office To Go.

The governor said one of his first acts will be to ask the legislature to abolish the office of prison superintendent.

"This office is a fifth wheel" he declared, "and was created in the first place to give a man a fat job."

The head of the prison will be called warden and the present salary of superintendent will be thus abolished.

"If we can get a permit from somebody to run the institutions on a business basis, like any sensible business man would run them, we can go a long way toward making the institutions self supporting," said the governor. "We intend to ask the legislature to give us a law, which can be stated in about ten lines, allowing the state institutions to use their earnings for their maintenance, and to put all the institutions under the supervision of the state board."

The governor said he then intended to ask the legislature for a small appropriation for the purpose of enlarging industries now established at the penitentiary. The plan of the governor and other members of the state board for using the surplus products of the state institutions is for each institution to sell its surplus to the other state institutions which are short in that particular product.

In this way no product will be sold in the open market, but the institutions will receive as much benefit as though they were.

At the present time the prisoners at the penitentiary are making shoes, clothing and machine work, and the institution is furnishing these articles to the asylum, but under the present law the penitentiary's maintenance fund receives no benefit from industries. And if the penitentiary buys vegetables, grains and other products from the asylum farm the asylum maintenance fund receives no benefit, but instead suffers the loss of cost of production.

Convicts Pick Fruit on Shares.

The governor said the fruit dryer had been installed at the penitentiary, that prisoners were picking apples and other fruit on shares where opportunity offered and that fruit was being dried for the penitentiary and asylum.

In regard to the Soldiers' home, the governor said no requests would be made for appropriations for improvements or betterments. Under the supervision of Superintendent Elder the institution has been kept in good repair on the maintenance appropriation of $16,000 annually.

Carpenters Select Indianapolis.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, Sept. 27.—At the fiftieth ballot the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners in convention here today decided on Indianapolis as the next meeting place. Indianapolis received 198 votes against 196 for San Francisco.

"HOB NAILS" HURT THESE

Several Somebodies Must Have Been Stealing a Ride

In the shipment of pianos westward from the various factories Eilers Music House employs special cars, and a so-called harness method of shipment, which does away with the expense of the piano box for each piano and the freight charge on bulky lumber contained in piano boxes.

The pianos thus shipped are snugly covered with dust and moisture-proof paper and rubber covers. But even though the cars are locked from division point to division point, a set of men must have managed to get into one of our cars containing principally the fine Story & Clark pianos, and almost every top and some of the covers over the keyboards are damaged by deep hob-nail marks as the trespassers clambered and walked over the tops of these beautiful instruments.

This is not our loss. The railroad company has told us to sell these pianos at whatever discount we deem it necessary to make them sell quickly.

Thus a veritable bonanza awaits the buyer of one of these elegant pianos who does not mind the marks on top and fall boards. A regulation piano scarf will completely hide the former, and as the piano is open most of the time, the latter will never be visible.

WOMAN DENIES POISON CHARGE

Chorus Girl Declares Her Arrest is the Result of Spite Work.

"Of course I didn't poison his wife; I wasn't here when she was poisoned," asserted Margaret St. Clair, a chorus girl from Fritz's theatre who was arrested last night at her home on East Seventy-ninth street by Patrolman Schirmer, on a charge of attempting to commit murder with poison, preferred against her by Mrs. Rose Dickes, wife of the piano player at Fritz's theatre.

"My arrest is mere spite work, but I don't know why they pick on me. They say I threatened his life and the life of the wife and baby, but I didn't and when I found out that the man was married I was all broke up about it and went away from Portland," said the woman this morning as she sat in the matron's quarters at the county jail, apparently very much unconcerned over her arrest.

"I also say that I was seen on his back porch, but I don't know where he lives, so how could I go there," she said.

The arrest of the chorus girl followed three alleged attempts to poison Mrs. Dickes, all being nearly successful.

Last night, after the warrant for the arrest of the girl had been put in the hands of the police, Dickes is said to have gone to the girl's home and urged her to keep a promise she made to him some time ago to marry him if anything ever came up between himself and his wife.

"Something seems to tell me you are going to make trouble for me," the girl claims she told him and soon after this interview, the police arrived and took her to police station.

"I hate him now, but I did care a lot for him," she said. "Of course I would never marry him now no matter what came up. We were very friendly until I found that he was married and then I went to Canada where I worked for some time."

The arrest of the girl came at the instigation of Dr. David Nelson, who attended Mrs. Dickes on the three occasions when she was poisoned.

Margaret St. Clair declared this morning that when she returned from Canada several weeks ago, Dickes told her that two attempts had then been made to poison his wife and that he suspected a neighbor woman who had caused her and his wife trouble.

BOUNDARIES OF SCHOOL DISTRICTS CHANGED

A petition for a change of boundaries between school districts No. 25 and No. 39 was granted this morning by County Judge Cleeton, County Commissioner Lightner and County School Superintendent Robinson, by which one family from 39 will be included in 25. A similar petition changing the boundaries between districts 39 and 43, changing two families from 43 to 39 was taken under advisement. A petition to change the boundaries of district 42 at Maplewood was denied. A petition to form a new district from territory in the Gresham districts, Nos. 28 and 15, to be known as the Linneman district was held over pending a personal investigation and the presence of all interested parties.

ELKTON YOUTH'S SUICIDE DUE TO SAD SEPARATION

(Special to The Journal.) Roseburg, Or., Sept. 27.—It was deplorably because the girl he loved was about to move away, that Gerald Traylor, a 17-year-old Elkton boy, took a gun, went to the banks of the Umpqua river, near his home, and blew off the top of his head yesterday morning. Young Traylor was desperately in love with the daughter of a Methodist minister who had a pastorate at Elkton. The minister recently was transferred to the Willamette valley, and when the boy learned this he became so blue that his peculiar actions were noticed by neighbors for several days before the tragedy.

COMEDY TEACHES LOVE MAKING ART

The "Heart Breakers," at Helig Theatre, Proves Revelation; Damerel Scores.

The art of love making brought down to a fine point is demonstrated by a clever aggregation of players headed by George Damerel of Merry Widow fame, in the roaring farce comedy "Heart Breakers," which opened a three nights' engagement at the Helig last night. The comedy is replete with humorous situations and the ardent wooing by the members of the Saxon club, a forlorn collection of jilted young men, is a revelation. The examples of osculatory triumphs, as well as crushing rebuffs at the hands of the fair ladies, kept the audience in a continual state of laughter. The piece is enlivened with a generous selection of catchy songs. The soloists never failed to score, as the frequent applause attested.

George Damerel himself is the embodiment of grace. His face, figure, smile and voice might well be the envy of any man. Mr. Damerel knows how to woo. That was proved without question. He has a voice peculiarly fitted for producing that seductive, soothing effect so necessary for use in a moonlight serenade under the window of the maiden adored.

The stage settings and the costumes of the "Heart Breakers" are unique. One scene depicts a trysting place, with shady bowers, lover's lanes and inviting seats. Even the imitation of a full moon is added to complete the reality of the scene. Another scene depicts a castle of which the bed chambers and other rooms on the second story are exposed to the full view of the audience.

The troubles of the Saxon club are legion. The lonesome, jilted young men band together for mutual help and comfort. Their one object in life appears to be to kiss a pretty woman, whether she be married or single. They have rules to follow and they must obey them or suffer a fine.

Miss Myrtle Vail, the leading woman, shares with Mr. Damerel in the honors of the production. Her song, "Bashful Bumble Bee," was generously applauded. "Four Eyes, Your Smile and You," sung by Mr. Damerel, was the hit of the evening. It was given three times before the audience was satisfied for the show to continue. "Somewhere She's Flirting With Someone," was another of Mr. Damerel's favorites.

Edward Hume furnishes the most of the humor of the piece in the character of a chimney sweep. His work was heartily received.

GRAND JURY AWAITS RETURN OF CAMERON

The county grand jury did not meet today owing to the absence of District Attorney Cameron, who is seeking extradition of a prisoner wanted, being held at Victoria, B. C. A vacation was also held yesterday through an accident as Foreman R. P. Rasmussen misunderstood directions and left the city for Hillsboro. The members of the grand jury and Mr. Cameron waited all morning yesterday for Mr. Rasmussen, while search was being made for the missing man.
