sides being the oldest member in point of service on the club s roster, he appears to have many of the qualifications for a hig league manager. More than one club in the National league has been after Bull to take charge, but Gaffney has pursued a wise course when he reed to hand over his star second base man unless assured of his value in playing material. The job is coming to Sweeney, and he should be rewarded for his brilliant work with the Braves. Who knows but that he might be just the man to/put the club back on earth.
