

GREEK SOLDIERS CALLED TO CRUSH TURKEY

Fifteen Hundred Men in Oregon Expected to Answer Call of Homeland; Meeting Arranged to Organize.

Fifteen hundred Greek soldiers in Oregon were called yesterday by cable to start back to the kingdom of Greece in the war against Turkey. The cable will begin this week. A meeting will be held in room 400, 265 Morrison street tonight to organize for the trip.

That the Greek soldiers who have been in Oregon are seriously and immediately needed in the attempt to dislodge and crush Turkey, is the text of a telegram, said N. Stamoulis, president of the Oregon branch of the Pan-Hellenic union, which has in charge the sending of the Greek soldiers to the home country.

Many Greeks in Oregon.
In Oregon there are about 2000 Greeks. Of these about 2000 are from the kingdom of Greece, the remainder from Turkey. Of the number from Turkey proper, 1500 are included in the call to arms.

Louis Camella, Greek lawyer in Portland, said last night that the commander of the Grecian army is able within five days to assemble a force of 140,000 trained men to fall upon the Turks. In two weeks he will have assembled an army of 210,000 trained men.

War Arouses Patriotism.
As a result of the call to arms the greatest excitement prevails among the Greeks of Portland and Oregon. Mr. Stamoulis declares their loyalty to the same cause is so great that practically all will respond.

The order to move at once as cabled to the New York headquarters of the Pan-Hellenic union was translated to Mr. Stamoulis by telegram from President C. Papanichatopoulos of the national organization. The order came as a surprise for it was preceded Sept. 30, by an order of mobilization which details the classes affected and reads as follows, the dates referred to being by the Greek calendar:

The Call to Arms.
The mobilization of the soldiers of the reserve is ordered to begin at midnight on September 17. The soldiers of reserve from 1900 to 1905, inclusive, have served and drilled, are called to the army. Also every soldier in those municipalities that are included in the first, second, third and fourth enlisting offices (divisions) and members of the eighth, belonging to national guard, 1896 to 1899, inclusive. The unengaged of the conscription 1910 to 1911, to join the army at proper divisions.

This applies to the national guards and the enlisting officers of reserve. Notify by another royal decree that soldiers of the reserve of the navy, 1879 to 1888, are called to join the army.

Enlisted in 1910 and 1911. The conscription drawn by lots of the pre-conscription, sergeant majors, sergeants, corporals of the infantry, army light infantry and of the national guard from 1896 to 1899, inclusive.

ERNOR WILSON AND BRYAN SPEAK AT BIG BANQUET

praise me, for I consider that the deepest compliment I can be paid and when they call me 'Kid' and 'Woody' and all the rest of that I know I am all right. I have always said I knew the exact moment when I arrived as a candidate in New Jersey. One day a husky fellow hit me on the back and said: 'Doc, you're all right' and I know from that moment I was adopted into the family and that I need not be afraid of the opinions of New Jersey. I have sometimes suspected that I was taken up as an innocent and that some persons were disappointed that I turned out to have some sense. They have been complaining of it ever since.

There was tremendous applause for the governor when he finished his address. The crowd immediately called for Mr. Bryan and the Commoner got a lusty cheer as he arose. He said: "I am very glad to have Governor Wilson among us. I am glad to have any of our eastern Democrats come out into this western country and get acquainted with our people. But I am especially glad to have our standard bearer here and I appreciate the cordial welcome that you have given him. I want to carry away from this state and especially from this city the most kindly recollections. I want him to go back to New Jersey feeling that he was among his people when he came to Lincoln and to Nebraska.

Compliments Wilson.
"I want to express my deep gratitude to him for the mastery way in which he has led our forces in this campaign. We had reason to expect much of him; he has done better than we could have expected. He has shown wisdom and discretion in the choosing of the men who are to be around him and upon whom he is to rely for counsel and advice and he has shown a courage that not one man in a million has shown.

"Let me thank you again for having gathered here from this South Platte country to give him—not this royal welcome—this democratic welcome from a Democratic people.

"And now let me use this occasion to speak to those who are workers of our party. When I have been a candidate you have worked for me. No man has ever run for office who has had a more loyal band of workers than I have had and nowhere have they been more loyal than in Nebraska.

"I have not had to write to you and tell you what to do or what opportunities to improve; you have seen them before I could have seen that and you acted before I could have told you. Let me ask you to do twice as much for Wilson as you ever did for me. For I have as much at stake in this fight as he has and you have as much as I have.

Wilson Will Be Elected.
"On election night he and his wife will listen for the first news from the election and when the wires bring the returns that assure him of his election, he will be happy, and his wife will joy with him and they will deserve that happiness. But out at Fairview will be a man and wife who will be as happy as he and his wife.

The banquet finished, the governor was escorted to the balcony of the Lindell hotel, where he made a speech to a crowd of more than 5000. The candidate was then led through the crowd, amid wild cheers, to the auditorium, which had been filled to its capacity for an hour. It was estimated that it contained more than 5000. Mr. Bryan was introduced as chairman, and he made a short speech and presented the candidate. The governor said he was profoundly touched by the enthusiasm.

"You would not have received me in this way unless you believed in me," he said. "What this reception means is that I am put in bond to live up to the standards which you yourselves have created for me."

The governor then paid another tribute to Mr. Bryan, saying: "Mr. Bryan is the man who set the party free at Baltimore. He did not attempt to dictate what the choice of the convention should be, but he did splendidly succeed in wresting control of that convention from the forces which are inimical to the interests of this country. If I was the choice of that convention my responsibility is the greater. I am proud to stand shoulder to shoulder with Mr. Bryan."

"And now, gentlemen," added the governor, "what is there to do?"

"Vote for Wilson," shouted Crowd.
"Vote for Wilson," came a chorus of voices.

"Taft," replied the governor, "is the proper first preliminary, but that is only a preliminary, because Woodrow Wilson, if he is elected, will feel only as strong as the support that men and women like you give him."

The governor went on to discuss the issues of the campaign, the tariff, the monopolies and remedies proposed by the Democratic party. The speech was received with uproarious enthusiasm.

The governor completed the day's campaign with a speech at the Labor Lyceum.

ROOSEVELT WOULD BE A BENEVOLENT DESPOT, SAYS TAFT

—election to the presidency for a third term and vengeance upon the Republican party for refusing him a nomination for a third term.

"I had no thought of intimating that he was seeking personal vengeance upon me. As I said to you before, I entertain no feeling of bitterness toward him. I simply regard my former friend, Mr. Roosevelt, as one of the most wonderful and rare men in the world—a remarkable example of what human nature is capable of doing with itself, for itself and by itself when unbounded ambition and certain attractive personal qualities are united in a single individuality."

"Then there is nothing hidden or concealed in the causes that brought about so wide and unbridgeable a breach in the relations between yourself and Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. President?"

"None whatever, so far as I am aware," was the quick and candid response, accompanied by a vigorous nodding of the head and an earnest gaze into the brightening flames, as if seeking there some answer to the puzzle as to Mr. Roosevelt's changes of attitude. The conversation then switched to the broader one of the campaign.

"Mr. President, do you regard the avowed program of the Progressive party as an assault upon our established institutions?"

"I most emphatically do," came the reply. "It is fraught with the danger to the orderly progress, the peace, the dignity, the sanity and the health of the republic than any movement of wide reach since the civil war. Not even populism in its widest manifestations was such a menace. It seeks to transplant to this country the English system of government and that only in its worst form."

"Mr. Roosevelt and his followers in their tendency would do away completely with the constitution framed by the fathers of the republic and substitute for it the British form of constitution, which is no constitution at all, but merely a tradition. They would wholly destroy all constitutional limitations and restrictions and replace them with the unchecked will and emotions of a bare majority of the people."

"They would make the congress a permanent constitutional convention, subject only to the momentary whim of a bare majority of the people that they themselves could control, and their full program would place the control in the hands of the president."

"Taft would be a monstrous form of despotism that quickly would utterly destroy our liberties and lead to the establishment of a monarchy—probably by a referendum to the people themselves, to exalt the executive."

In discussing the trusts, President Taft said: "Our program on the trust question is clear cut, and definite. I would retain the present anti-trust law, but would favor the voluntary federal incorporation of all corporations doing interstate business under a law to be enacted by the congress which might denounce certain injurious methods of business."

Speaking of the income tax, he said: "I heartily favor the levying of a

Science Understands the Stomach

Treating Indigestion with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Is an Exact Science. They Give Quick Relief.

Medical men have learned more about the stomach than perhaps any other vital organ. They have discovered why the stomach rebels at certain conditions—what causes the formation of gases—what causes flatulency, heartburn, dyspepsia, burning sensation, brash and all the other disorders of the stomach.

They have gone farther. They have found remedies for all these afflictions, these results of improper digestion. They have learned that pepsin, hydrochloric acid and fruit salts are powerful digestants that relieve quickly and surely all the troubles to which the stomach is subject. They have discovered that one grain of these properties will digest 3000 grains of food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a medicine. They are a scientific compound that supplies the stomach with the digestive agents which it itself is unable to provide. When your stomach is sick and not working right—when it fails to give out enough of the digestive juices to properly take care of the food you eat, these tablets will make up the deficiency. You will have no indigestion. Your food will digest thoroughly.

You never can tell just when your stomach is going back on you. It gives no warning. If you eat a big meal, if you eat hurriedly, take one of these little tablets. You will avoid a lot of pain and misery.

Some of the most prominent men carry these tablets in their vest pockets when they attend banquets, etc., and never fail to take them. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists, at 50c a box.

TURKS GLAMOR FOR WAR—NEW REGIME POPULAR

Constantinople Seized With Strife Frenzy—Troops Pour Into City—Submission Is Impossible.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Constantinople, Oct. 5.—There was a fever of war enthusiasm in Constantinople tonight. The new regime has never been so popular. All elements are united. The press is howling for hostilities. Enthusiastic demonstrations occurred before all the ministries during the day. Troops are pouring into the city from all directions and out again toward the northern frontier. No one thinks of submission to the demands of the quadruple alliance. Following today's demonstrations against them, the Italian, Greek, Bulgarian, Serbian and Montenegrin legations are under heavy guard against mob violence.

Clash on Montenegrin Frontier.
(United Press Leased Wire.)
Constantinople, Oct. 5.—Sunday.—That the Turkish government has received news of a "serious incident on the Montenegrin frontier, amounting virtually to the opening of hostilities," was officially announced last night. It was evident that an armed clash was meant, but no details have been made public.

War Seems Inevitable.
(United Press Leased Wire.)
Berlin, Oct. 5.—Several skirmishes along the Turko-Bulgarian, Turko-Montenegrin, Turko-Serbian and Turko-Greek frontier were reported here tonight. There was some loss of life, it is understood, but the fighting was not on an important scale. The Turks generally held their own. It is hoped here that war may be averted, though the outlook is deemed exceedingly threatening.

Bulgarians Cross Turkish Frontier.
(By the International News Service.)
San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 5.—The following dispatch from its special correspondent at Athens was received today by the California Greek newspaper published in this city:

"The Bulgarian army has passed the Turkish frontier. Four hundred killed. All the Greek princes have arrived and have taken their positions in the army, also two sons of Premier Venizelos. It is said that the powers will recapture Crete."

No news was received today by the Greek consulate relative to the Balkan situation.

graduated income tax. I would not carry the principle to the point of confiscation or to the discouragement of enterprises and thrift in the accumulation of fortunes, but I certainly would insist upon millionaires with enormous incomes bearing their just proportion of the tax."
