Bondsmen Must Explain-H. Harris and John Parker, bondsmen of Meyer Kaplan, under sentence of 90 days on the rockpile for vagrancy, will be called eron Monday to explain his absence or else pay $350 each on the bonds they signed, according to Deputy City Attorney Sullivan. Kaplan was sentenced on appeal from municipal court by Circuit Judge Gantenbein several days ago and could not be found. The judge gave the bondsmen until 2 o'clock yesterday to produce him. Parker is out of fall pending an appeal from Judge Gantenbein's affirmation of Municipal Judge Tazwell's sentence of 90 days for vagrancy an $1000 cash hail. He is proprietor of a saloon at Fifth and Couch streets. Harris is out of jail under bonds on price, and we think we know the best cases of extortion and vagrancy. He is owner of the Coast hotel at Second and Burnside streets.

A Mortgage Purchase

Is one of the safest of all investments - provided-proper judgment is used.

First, the security should be at least twice the amount of the loan. Secondly, the physical condition of the property and the ability of the owner to pay the interest promptly, must be considered.

Thirdly, the question of clear title and the surety of the mortgage being an absolutely first lien on the property is most important.

These are a few of the requisites, and prove why a mortgage should come through such a caretaking institution as ours. If you are an investor, either large or small, command us. We are mort gage specialists.

"SHOP EARLY" PLEA BRINGS SEVERAL RESPONSES IN CITY

"Do Your Shopping . Early" plea that was made by the Oregon Humane society, which was promoted by a desire to save delivery horses from being raced to exhaustion at a late hour in the day, and which was backed by an argument that the best selection of goods could be had early and that thereby the worry of the day would be over. is meeting with hearty response. Merchants who have been questioned about the matter have stated that many of their customers have not only changed their usual plans and have shopped early, but have spoken to the merchants about the movement to save the horses, and incidentally the deliverymen from the grind late in the evening when they desire to get Detail drawings of the working plans of the buildings have been in the hands of the building inspector and the council committee for two weeks and just as soon as the question of granting the permit is settled, construction on the new skyscraper will begin. From the attitude of the individual members of the health and police committee of the ity council at the meeting held last Friday, it is apparent that the telephone company's request for a special permit will be granted, although Building Inspector Plummer opposes some features of the working drawings.

WARRANTS FOR PAVING MAY BE HELD UP

Attorneys Huntington and Wilson have served notice on the street committee that they would oppose the issuance of warrants in payment for pav-ing improvements on Fenwick, Kilpatrick, Winchell and Brandon streets, in the Kenton district. The paving was done under a waiver by Elwood Wiles and the attorneys claim that the council has no legal right under the charter to award contracts under waiver, but must advertise for bids in all cases and let contracts to the lowest responsible bidder in each instance. The amount of the Wiles contract on the four streets is $81,544. The committee referred the matter to the city attorney.

The committee vesterday recommended the awarding of a contract for the paving of East Tenth and other streets with gravel bitulithic to the Barber Asphalt Paving Co., the amount of that company's bid being $22,231.
