

SWEET SIXTEEN--THE BARN DANCE

She goes to a real barn dance, and arouses the jealousy of the country belles and beaux when she dances with the neighborhood lion. But Uncle Silas is really the big noise.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE WORKERS SPEAK

Enthusiastic Street Meeting Held—Candidates Laud Cause.

The cause of equal suffrage scored Saturday night when a coterie of local politicians eliminated party affiliations and party lines, appeared in a common, groggy automobile at the corner of Sixth and Washington streets, and advocated "votes for women."

IN THE REALM FEMININE

Events in Society

It is imperative that these contributions reach the Society's office by the first of the month. News is always most welcome, but those who are unable to write, may send their reports in some other form, provided the necessary items being left over for another day.

Zeta Psi Dancing Party. WITH a flourish of silk and gauzy things, the flash and sparkle of dainty flying feet, and the swirl of merry dancers, the Zeta Psi chapter dance, the final function in the Omega No. 1000, passed into history. A brilliant finale it was. The Mulholland hotel was the scene of this beautiful week-end function and there were present more than 200 dancing couples.

Large Bridge Party. Emblematic of the autumn was the large and handsomely appointed bridge party given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Chester Deering at her home, 484 East Twenty-third street. Eight tables were used for the game of progressive bridge and handsome prizes were carried off by Mrs. Frank Riley, Mrs. Theodore Nicolai, Mrs. Charles S. Bunker and Mrs. A. W. Whitmer.

Collegiate Alumnae Meets. The Portland branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, comprising more than 50 of the college bred women of the city, held its initial meeting for the season Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James B. Kerr, 637 Terrace Road.

Weds McMinnville Woman. Lovell M. Keen of this city and Miss Beattie Baker, daughter of Mrs. M. A. Baker, of McMinnville, were contracted to wed in a pretty wedding ceremony last week at the Baker home. Rev. J. J. Davies, pastor of the First Presbyterian church officiated.

A GREAT DISCOVERY. Certain Ingredients That Really Promote Hair Growth when Properly Combined. Research is one of the most effective germ destroyers ever discovered by science, and in connection with Beta Naphthol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which rob the hair of its natural nourishment.

Freshman Frolic.

Under the unique caption of "Freshman Frolic" the Washingtonians announce a party in honor of the Freshman class of the Washington high school, to be given Friday evening, November 1, at Christensen's.

Motor Boat Club Hop.

Members of the Portland Motor Boat Club have issued invitations for a dance to be given at the clubhouse, foot of Ellisworth street, Wednesday evening, October 16. The committee on arrangements consists of Mrs. Alex G. Haddell, Mrs. Jack Yates, Miss Ruth Kinneer, Miss Elizabeth Barnes, Miss Mabel Boost.

D. A. B. to Meet.

The Willamette chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will hold its first meeting since the summer vacation Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the East Side library. A large attendance is desired.

Society Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lesner have as their house guest Mrs. E. Rhine and little son of San Francisco. Yesterday afternoon the Lesner home at 288 Twelfth street was opened for an informal reception to Mrs. Rhine's friends. There were about 50 present. Light refreshments were served and a pleasant social time enjoyed. The hours were from 2 until 5.

The Coterie will hold its regular business meeting Wednesday evening, 11 o'clock in Ella's hall. All members are urged to be present.

The Wolverine Strolling club enjoyed a hike yesterday through Macleay Park and terminating at the Forestry building. There were about 25 in the party. Next Friday the club members will meet at the corner of Jefferson and Chapman streets at 7:30. A trip around Council Crest will be made, ending with a big bonfire. All Michigan people are cordially invited to join the strollers on this occasion.

The members of the Grade Teachers' Association of Portland were entertained at an "afternoon tea" Friday by the Meter & Frank company, which has manifested much interest in this organization. This firm recently contributed $100 to the Teachers' Retirement Fund. This association has a membership of nearly 450 members and has become an active organization in advancing educational interests.

Coming and Going.

Mrs. Jesse R. Sharp and daughters, Misses Dorothy and Constance Sharp, arrived in New York last Monday, after having spent the past year abroad. They are registered at the Knickerbocker and will remain in the eastern metropolis for some time before returning to their home in Portland.

Mrs. Henry O'Melveny and son Robert are spending some time in Walla Walla, guests of Mrs. O'Melveny's mother, Mrs. James Williams.

Mrs. Harvey Hudson has returned to her home in this city, after a pleasant visit with her mother, Mrs. M. E. Best, in Forest Grove.

A. E. Allen and A. H. Allen are in Walla Walla visiting William T. Allen and W. R. Allen for several days.

Mrs. Frederick Hunter has returned to her home in Hiquiam after a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. Ray W. Mattson, 675 Northrup street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Tichner and a party of friends motored into the country for a Sunday outing.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Linn, 514 Lantana street, left Saturday afternoon for southern Oregon, where they will spend a week on their ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Emery and daughter Helen have gone to Seattle and Tacoma for a two weeks' business and pleasure trip.

Mrs. Anna Lobdell, Miss Avis Lobdell and Miss Grace Josephine Brown are spending the week at Classic Ridge, Beach Farm in the Tillamook country.

Miss Flora Mason of Albany spent the week end with Mrs. Anderson M. Cannon, 534 East Twenty-second street.

'THE WOMAN' REAL BELASCO TRIUMPH

Very Clever Company Presents. Gripping Play at the Heilig Theatre.

William C. DeMille wrote an unusually strong play in "The Woman." David Belasco, with his usual care for details, especially essential in this play, staged it. The clever plays who are presenting it at the Heilig complete the story of another Belasco triumph.

The girl discovers that the woman is the daughter of Blake and the wife of Mark Robertson, representative from New York, whom Blake is boosting toward the presidency. Wanda refuses to tell, though put through the "third degree," and as she has warned Mrs. Robertson what is impending, the two women fight valiantly to save Mrs. Robertson's honor. When the fight is seen to be hopeless Mrs. Robertson weakens, and Ralph Van Dyke, a corrupting attorney, who is aiding in the fight for the bill, realizes the woman's identity. The conspirators give up, and Robertson, with true manliness, forgives his wife, and Blake his daughter, though both are almost broken-hearted.

A pretty love story, involving Blake's son, Tom, and Wanda, runs through the play and adds the touch of romance necessary to complete the story.

"The woman," Mrs. Grace Robertson, is admirably played by Marion Barney, a former Baker stock company favorite and leading woman. An emotional role, the part as played by Miss Barney conveys the impression rather of repressed feeling than of hysterics.

Another member of the company who has been a local favorite in Austin Webb, whose delineation of Mark Robertson makes that character appear strong and vital.

So natural and sweet is Marjorie Wood as Wanda Kelly that nothing could be desired to be added to her part. A real, live telephone girl, without any of the usual paint, powder, gum and "freshness" and stily ideas, considered necessary to picture a girl of her type on the stage, Wanda leaves a decidedly pleasant impression.

Howell Hensel does some excellent acting in the role of Matthew Standish, and makes the part one of strength rather than one to be despised. James Seeley portrays the part of Jim Blake, leader of the "machine," cleverly. The other characters complete the story.

POWERFUL DRAMA DRAWS BIG CROWD

"The Bridge" Commands the Praise of Large Audience at the Baker.

Telling a story as intensely interesting as it is powerfully dramatic and possessing that rare attribute of holding the attention of the audience every minute is a remarkable new drama that made its initial appearance in Portland yesterday evening before the largest crowd that has ever been admitted to the Baker theater. The play is "The Bridge," a clear cut presentation of that greatest question of the present day, the problem of labor vs. capital.

John Stoddard is a young civil engineer engaged by a strong railroad corporation to build a $4,000,000 bridge planned to make a short cutoff of the mountain lines. The workmen on the bridge ask for better wages. The engineer resists the demands of the ultra radicals, but promises the men to stand by their demands for a just increase. He takes their fight before the directors of the railroad, but in vain. The directors of the company refuse to grant the increases. The men strike, and the company hurries strikebreakers, conveyed by troops, to the scene of the strike.

Meanwhile the president's daughter visits the bridge and the young engineer falls in love with her. She promises to marry him. Just at the moment when the troops are about to fire on the enraged strikers the old magnate discovers his daughter's intention. His aristocratic blood rebels at an alliance between the girl and a poor employe.

He forbids the girl to have anything further to do with Stoddard. She defies the old man and then he unexpectedly puts a proposition up to the engineer.

He agrees to grant the wage increase to the workmen and to call off the soldiers, thus preventing bloodshed, if the engineer will give up the girl. The answer to the proposition forms the thrilling climax of the great play.

Robert Conness continues to interpret successfully the leading roles of the stock company and in the part of John Stoddard finds even greater favor than has been accorded him in other plays of the past few weeks. Alice Fleming takes care of the loveliness in her accustomed dashing style. William Bernard and Elizabeth Ross are team-acting extraordinary in portrayals of the untutored Bohemian laborer and his wife, who lands in New York with a carpet bag and a small girl and finds herself in the mazes of a grand hotel looking for her husband.

The engagement ring should be just one single stone, in preference to a cluster. The diamond, of course, the most favored for an engagement gift, though many girls prefer to have their birth stones, or perhaps the stone that they most care for. A single sapphire is very lovely, and rubies, topazes and emeralds are also chosen for these rings. Pearls are seldom chosen for engagement superstition tells us that these beautiful stones bring tears to their wearer.

Ninety Happy Youths

"I don't know when I have seen 90 happier, more contented boys, than those who are in the state training school at Salem," said Miss Edna Rowan in speaking of a recent visit there, where she presented the Loyal Temperance legion work. "The new superintendent of the school is Will Hale, formerly of Portland," continued Miss Rowan. "His success as superintendent of the Boys' Home, is being repeated in the industrial school, for the boys seem to idolize him. He has the love and respect of every one of those 90 boys, and is doing a wonderful work for them.

The school is situated in the center of a 230 acre farm, and this is tilled by the boys. They raise all sorts of grains, fruits and vegetables, and have their own cows, horses and pigs. The boys even do their own cooking, under the direction of an experienced woman cook, of course. Many of the trades are taught as well as farming, so that all boys when they are again sent out into the world are fitted to earn an honest livelihood.

Men Go on Strike. John Stoddard is a young civil engineer engaged by a strong railroad corporation to build a $4,000,000 bridge planned to make a short cutoff of the mountain lines. The workmen on the bridge ask for better wages. The engineer resists the demands of the ultra radicals, but promises the men to stand by their demands for a just increase. He takes their fight before the directors of the railroad, but in vain. The directors of the company refuse to grant the increases. The men strike, and the company hurries strikebreakers, conveyed by troops, to the scene of the strike.

Meanwhile the president's daughter visits the bridge and the young engineer falls in love with her. She promises to marry him. Just at the moment when the troops are about to fire on the enraged strikers the old magnate discovers his daughter's intention. His aristocratic blood rebels at an alliance between the girl and a poor employe.

He forbids the girl to have anything further to do with Stoddard. She defies the old man and then he unexpectedly puts a proposition up to the engineer.

He agrees to grant the wage increase to the workmen and to call off the soldiers, thus preventing bloodshed, if the engineer will give up the girl. The answer to the proposition forms the thrilling climax of the great play.

Robert Conness continues to interpret successfully the leading roles of the stock company and in the part of John Stoddard finds even greater favor than has been accorded him in other plays of the past few weeks. Alice Fleming takes care of the loveliness in her accustomed dashing style. William Bernard and Elizabeth Ross are team-acting extraordinary in portrayals of the untutored Bohemian laborer and his wife, who lands in New York with a carpet bag and a small girl and finds herself in the mazes of a grand hotel looking for her husband.

The engagement ring should be just one single stone, in preference to a cluster. The diamond, of course, the most favored for an engagement gift, though many girls prefer to have their birth stones, or perhaps the stone that they most care for. A single sapphire is very lovely, and rubies, topazes and emeralds are also chosen for these rings. Pearls are seldom chosen for engagement superstition tells us that these beautiful stones bring tears to their wearer.

Power of Suggestion.

The harvest moon has come again. That lingers round, yellow light on high. And fills with beauty all the sky. The harvest moon will only stay a little while, and over the land as we hear its praises night and day. For 'tis admired on every hand.

Some love it that it comes to tell Of fruitful days and labors gone. It makes the lovers' bosoms swell. As 'neath its beams they wander on. Since with it autumn sports appear. Some greet it with a happy shout; It gives to poets far and near. A theme that they can write about.

But I am not inspired to sing A song of praise in lofty strains; I know not what I like a thing. And I do not like things in vain. I like the harvest moon--oh, yes, I'll always like it till I die. The reason I can well express: It makes me think of pumpkin pie!

George T. Meyers, a salmon packer from Seattle, is at the Multnomah.

Green Trading Stamps With Every 10c Purchase

Stamps on Charges If Paid in Full Before the 10th. Ask for Cash Sales Check and Get Stamps Same Day.

Olds, Wortman & King

Entire City Block in the Heart of the New Retail Shopping District.

A Manufacturers' Sale of Umbrellas at $1.45 and $1.95. Main Floor Morrison St. Way.

A sensational sale of 2000 men's and women's Umbrellas at about half the regular values. It's always wise to plan to have an extra Umbrella around the house when the cost is of such small consideration as it is here. Not an Umbrella in this immense lot but what would ordinarily be considered good values at double the price.

Mme. Marion Burton's LOLETA. To Be Used Instead of Powder. For removing the shine from the face and nose and for giving a soft, velvety look to the complexion. Loleta preparations are guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drug act. Priced as follows: Loleta Beautifier, the box... 50c. Loleta Massage Cream, the box... 50c. Loleta Rouge, special, the box... 39c.

Mme. Helene Corsets 1/2 Price!

Closing out our entire stock of Mme. Helene Corsets at exactly half the regular prices. We are doing this in order that we may confine our future efforts to an entirely different line. Women who have worn Mme. Helene Corsets will be quick to take advantage of the great high price sale. Stock embraces the very latest models for fall and winter, and the sizes range from 19 to 32. Note these reductions: $ 5.00 Mme. Helene Corsets at $2.50. $ 8.00 Mme. Helene Corsets at $4.00. $10.00 Mme. Helene Corsets at $5.00. $15.00 Mme. Helene Corsets at $7.50. $18.00 Mme. Helene Corsets at $9.00. $20.00 Mme. Helene Corsets at $10.00. Demonstration "Mariette" Corsets by Frances T. Dean, an expert corsetiere from the factory. Second floor, all this week.

CENTER CIRCLE--MAIN FLOOR Embroidery Sale

REDUCTION FROM 1-3 TO 1-2. A genuine stock cleaning sale of thousands of yards of high grade Embroideries at prices that range from one-third to one-half regular. An immense showing of all the most desirable patterns. Dainty baby effects, also the more showy patterns in blind and eyelet designs. Remember, these are all from our regular stock and represent the best qualities and values to be had. Come in widths from 3 to 27 inches. All marked in plain figures. Priced: 35c Embroideries now at 17c. $1.50 Embroideries now at 65c. 65c Embroideries now at 25c. $2.25 Embroideries now at 85c. $1.00 Embroideries now at 45c. $3.00 Embroideries now at $1.37.

BARGAIN CIRCLE--MAIN FLOOR Linen Remnants

On the Bargain Circle tomorrow. Another big lot of Table Linen Remnants. Crashes, odd Towels, Pillow Cases and Sheets at greatly reduced prices. Linen and crash remnants in good useful lengths--linens of all kinds and grades. A rare good chance to supply your needs at worthy savings and at the same time get merchandise of good, dependable quality. Keep your eye on the Bargain Circle for the best bargains.

Good Apples $1.00 Box. New shipment choice Bellflower Apples. Good for eating or cooking. $1.00. 4th floor Grocery dept., box.

Mrs. SCHILLER'S HOME-MADE GERMAN EGG NOODLES. 10c per box.