

Leader of Zion Defends Wealthy Man

Says Evangelistic Meetings Are Silly

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, general overseer and religious head of Zion City, who says captain of industry should not be shackled unless he becomes harmful—Death bed stories in revivals scored—Leader to speak tonight.

Religious Leader of Zion City Visits Portland—To Speak Tonight.

A preacher who won't accept a salary and yet is rotundly well fed, conspicuously well dressed, and his vehicle a private car, came to Portland this morning. His conception of pastoral duties is that he should not only preach weekly to a vast audience, but also supervise a printing factory, deal in land and edit a publication. The two greatest liars in the United States are the pious and a tombstone—this, because 100 different preachers preach 100 different doctrines, all claiming to get them from the Bible and the $10,000 tombstone covers the grave of the 10 cent man with epitaphs that all the world knows are false. This was his vigorous "compliment" to preachers other than his faith.

Wilbur Glenn Voliva.

The preacher is Wilbur Glenn Voliva, general overseer of the Christian Catholic Apostolic Church in Zion City, Mo., and the successor of Dr. John Alexander Dowie. He is on a 5000 mile tour of the United States, and he expects to return to Zion City November 2, after traversing California, Texas and Missouri. He is to speak in Gipsy Smith auditorium tonight. Overseer Glenn is heretical to the doctrine of the separation of church and state. Not only do his men of Zion City cast their 1300 votes as a unit, but he is not at all adverse to obtaining such assurance as will win the votes of Zion.

Willingly he commented on the qualifications of presidential candidates this morning. He said that very choice of a president is not the gentleman with the judicial temperament, who, he said, should be on the bench. In Doubt About Election.

Nor does the prospect of a highly trained educator in the White House appeal to him. He said he had not the slightest definite yet as to which way the vote shall be cast, but he uttered the following enlightening intimation of trend: "All things are sacred. The business of the ministry is to help people in all activities of life, not in the individualistic system of commerce. It has built great cities as gigantic monuments of enterprise. The men who propose socialism and the paternal system and oppose individualism under the word 'capitalistic' I recommend that these gentlemen buy a large tract of land and establish a model community. If their theories succeed there, let them try it in a county, then in a state, then the nation.

In commercial enterprises, we must have brains and not backbone better. We must have money and muscle. There should be a fair distribution of profits. "But I do not believe in putting any shackles on the giants of commerce unless they attempt to use their talents for tyranny and oppression.

Can Make $1,000,000 Honestly. "This statement is called for by the proposed legislation which would make it impossible for the giants of commerce to forge ahead. The legislation would keep the giants with the pygmies of civilization who must always be followers. I say it is possible for a man to make $1,000,000 and make it honestly, and because a man has made money and has a nice home is no reason for hounding him as a thief and a rascal. It means that the man of brains has been working with tremendous energy while others have been lying.

"Roosevelt is my type of man. I like the strong, vigorous, aggressive character. I like the man who does something worth while, and he does. The vote of Zion City was a unit for Roosevelt before." And ending this rather long statement, Rev. Mr. Voliva leaned back with a cryptic expression in his dark brown eyes as though to inquire, "Have I given you an inkling to my attitude on socialism, capital and labor, and the proper presidential nominee?"

Was Jaw of Fighter. "The smooth shaven, colorless but healthy cheeks and slightly doubled chin, Voliva has the jaw of a fighter and the mouth of one who carefully plans his purposes. The complacency of a round face is disturbed by eyebrows heaviest where they meet, which shade deep set brown eyes, that again reveal the follower of a self-outlined program. His air of persistent comfort might be explained by his own assertion: "I never do anything someone else can do." As spiritual and temporal head of Zion City, with its population of 5000, and its communicants the world over, he has a manager for every department. He personally holds title to the $100,000 of church property and $1,000,000 industrial property, but he says he takes not a cent from the income, which amounts to $2,000,000 a year, except what is needed for the food, raiment and shelter of himself and family. This, he says, has never exceeded $1500 a year. He doesn't believe any preacher should have a salary.

He sells lots and acre tracts in Zion City and adjoining areas at the market price on an 1100 year lease, this lease containing pledges prohibitory to the use of tobacco, liquor and drugs and relating to the mode and conditions of living. This is the way the habits of Zion City residents are controlled, for, being in the lease, the prohibitions are made part of the municipal law.

Voliva says the reason people don't go to church is because preachers address themselves so entirely to the hereafter they give no time or attention to present necessities. Consequently about 5 per cent of the population of any given city goes to church. He intends to discuss this situation in his address tonight. Also he intends to strike a heavy blow at present evangelistic meetings, calling them "silly recitals of death bed stories calculated to stir the emotions, when the appeal should be first to the intellect and then to the heart."

Through the interview in his car Voliva employed the same honorific tones that he uses in the pulpit. He likes to talk about his pastoral success. He expects to remain in Portland studying the city until tomorrow evening. On the car are 22 persons, including the famous double quartet of Zion church.

MOTORMAN WOUNDS A LONE HOLDUP MAN

(United Press Licensed Wire.) San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 9.—Warned by his previous experience when his car was held up by a lone bandit near San Mateo, Motorman W. E. Gray battled with another bandit near the same spot, and has informed the police that he had wounded the highwayman in the hand. Gray saw a lone man signaling him to stop, he slowed down, but at the same time drew his revolver. When the headlight revealed a gun in the man's hand, Gray jerked on the current and his car sped by as a shot crashed through one of the windows. Gray returned the fire and saw the man drop his gun and disappear in the darkness.

Sunnyside Push Club.

A meeting of the Sunnyside Push club tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the office of Dr. J. A. Pettit, Thirty-fourth and Belmont streets, has been announced by the secretary, E. I. Gilbert. All interested in the welfare of the district have been urged to attend this meeting.

Austrian Linens Hand Embroidered

—From our linen sale, for your immediate attention and to show how deep the reductions on fine imported linens are, the following items are selected: —We know that many Portlanders have visited Europe and were impressed with the beauty and quality of imported Austrian linens. —We know, too, that these same people purchased freely; for it is only to be expected that no woman could withstand the temptation of possessing as many of these exquisite linens as possible.

We Know All This

But we know, also, that no matter how shrewd and what careful shoppers these buyers were, we can demonstrate to their entire satisfaction that the linens on sale this week are being sold in Portland for less money than the same linens purchased in Europe. —Out of the enormous collection we set forth these few examples.

BRIDGE COULD BE BUILT IN 2 YEARS—MODJESKI

(Special to The Journal.) Vancouver, B.C., Oct. 9.—The Vancouver committee for the proposed Pacific Highway bridge met with the Portland committee and Engineer Modjeski at Portland last night and went carefully over the plans. It is the opinion of Mr. Modjeski that the bridge can be built in two years. He stated further that the structure would last 50 years and possibly 75 years. He said it would outlast the North Bank railroad bridge as the traffic would be less. He figured the structure to carry 19 ton trucks. A committee of three Portland attorneys was appointed to draft a bill to be presented to the Oregon legislature, and three will be named at Vancouver. Attorney James P. Stapleton will be chairman of the Vancouver committee and he will select two assistants. It is contended that Washington now has a bridge fund of over $80,000 and that likely $500,000 of this can be secured and the balance needed from the state made in an appropriation. The instance of the Woodland bridge is cited wherein the state last year appropriated $10,000 from the bridge fund while Clark county and Clatsop county appropriated $15,000. The state appropriation was made without protest as it would form a link of the Pacific highway. The Vancouver committee believes no difficulty will be experienced in securing the needed money from Washington.

Small Boys Go a-Thieving.

(Special to The Journal.) Vancouver, Wash., Oct. 9.—Three boys, Harold and Gerald Chenes, Alfred Culpe, 11, 12 and 11 years old, respectively, broke into the residence of C. B. Dunlap at Twenty-third and G streets and stole a camera, gold watch and a quantity of jewelry and old coins, yesterday. They gained entrance by cutting a screen and then raising the window with a "jimmy." They were arrested last night while attempting to sell the camera to a man on the street. They were released to appear today before the county attorney to determine what disposition will be made of the case.
