

SENATOR FULTON FLAYS BOURNE ON POLITICAL RECORD

Sarcastic Address Before the Meeting of Ben Selling Club Recalls Interesting Bits of Oregon History; Favors Taft

"Wholly without character, and as false as the pavements of hell" is one of the descriptions of Senator Jonathan Bourne by former Senator Charles W. Fulton, given last night in an address before the Ben Selling club in the Seligman-Hirsch building.

"That was only one of the scorching ex-senator turned out. He also said, among other things, that Bourne cannot be classed as an honorable man, that Bourne had not been in the senate a year before becoming a trusted agent of Standard Oil, that Bourne is guilty of treason to the Oregon system, and that the senator's public life has been shameful and discreditable in the extreme."

Bourne's Applauds.
About 100 men gathered to hear Fulton, and they cheered him on as he poured out his compliments to Bourne. Among those who helped out the applause were Jay Bowman, who was opposed by Bourne as a candidate for governor; David M. Dunne, whose former job Bourne wanted to bestow on another, and a good quota of the old line Republicans, who applauded impartially for Taft, Selling, or the Republican party, as they were in turn urged by the speaker.

Fulton gave his attention to Bourne after briefly discussing Roosevelt and the Democrats, declaring the Republicans must rally and save the country. Part of his exhortation of Bourne was read from a typewritten sheet, and part of it came without the aid of notes.

Against Botsers.
"If the primary law means anything at all," he exclaimed, "it means that when men go before the voters of a party and submit their claims to decision, they are under a solemn pledge as honest men to stand by the result, and he who violates that pledge cannot be classed as an honorable man."

"Shall we elect a man self-perjured—that is the only word properly to be applied as a description of Jonathan Bourne—a man whose words are so full of lies that in the space of a few weeks he will about face, stultify himself and break his solemn promises?"

"Oregonians are an honest and truth loving people. They demand that their representatives shall be men of moral and mental integrity. Does Jonathan Bourne's record indicate that he is possessed of these qualifications? All who know his record know that it does not. The proposition is not even debatable. All who know him know that his public life has been discreditable and shameful in the extreme."

"Then Fulton went into the political garet and began to rattle the bones of Bourne's earlier record. He denounced the senator as a "traitor" to John H. Mitchell. He said that in June of the year preceding the holdup legislative session Bourne had pledged himself to Mitchell and was active in pleading others to Mitchell, but a few months later, because Mitchell would not aid in petty ambitions, he turned against Mitchell.

Mitchell's Case Recalled.
"Bourne wants to be returned to the senate now because he holds good committee places," added Fulton. "If there were a spark of honesty left in him, how could he use that argument after what he did to defeat Mitchell, who stood high in the senate and also held good committee places?"

Coming down to 1898, the speaker referred to Bourne's election to the senate, and followed this with the reading of Roosevelt's letters to Bourne in connection with the Standard Oil negotiations, recently read. As he read these letters, Fulton kept the house applauding by sarcastic comment.

Would See Roosevelt.
"Why, President Roosevelt could not get out of the suburbs of Washington without this fellow chasing him in the interest of Standard Oil," he said. "He even pursued the president to his private residence on Sunday, after Roosevelt had reminded him, again and again, that the attorney general was the one to see. Think of it! He would even desecrate the Sabbath in the interest of Standard Oil! It is difficult to conclude that the motives were not discreditable in the face of the rebuffs he received from the president."

"If Bourne had exhibited a small part of the interest in the irrigation fund that he did in Standard Oil, Oregon would have millions more than it has today. He slumbered then, but he was alert for Standard Oil about the time it was about to be prosecuted by the government. No man can serve Standard Oil and the people at the same time."

Payne-Aldrich Bill.
Fulton next took up the Payne-Aldrich bill, saying Bourne was absent on 75 roll calls, but arose on one occasion to say that he knew nothing about the question and would leave it to Aldrich. "Standard Oil, too, was leaving it to Aldrich," exclaimed Fulton. "So Oregon was represented on the tariff, so far as Bourne was concerned, by the senator from Rhode Island."

Next Bourne was scored for helping to elect a Democratic governor over Bowman in 1910, and the speaker came to the present campaign. He read the telegram sent to Ben Selling after Selling defeated Bourne in the primaries, congratulating Selling and asking his rival to "accept my assurance of hearty support." Here Fulton found opportunity for new sarcasm.

Time to Be Careful.
"Those who knew Jonathan Bourne," he said, "wondered when they read that telegram what sinister motive he had. When he says 'accept my assurance of hearty support,' look out for him."

"The Bull Moose convention was the first chance he had to butt in, but the Bull Mooseers knew him, and he was defeated for their nomination. Then he proceeded to get out a spontaneous petition, at 10 cents per signature, it is said, but I would be surprised if he paid that much."

"He has been false to the direct primary law every time it failed to contribute to his advancement. The time has come to speak frankly and tell the

PORTLAND ATHLETE HONORED AT HARVARD

P. W. Cookingham.

P. W. Cookingham, son of Edward Cookingham, of 335 Eleventh street, a graduate of Portland academy and of Princeton university and now a student at the Harvard law school, has recently been named as a member of the editorial board of the Harvard Law Review, a signal honor, which is awarded as the result of having reached the highest standard of scholarship. This honor is accorded to high standard men and is one of the most important appointments made by the faculty.

Cookingham is well known in Portland, having been a member of the Multnomah Athletic club, and was prominent in athletics both here and at Princeton university. While at Princeton he was a member of the crew and participated in other sports. He is 23 years of age. It is his intention to return to Portland after completing his law course to practice his profession here.

truth. He is wholly without character and as false as the pavements of hell."

Reply for Taft.
In the earlier part of his speech Fulton eulogized Taft as one of the ablest and best presidents the country has ever had. He said this year has produced the "most marvelous crop of demagogues that ever infected the air of a free people." He said the Republican party has brought prosperity and given work to the laboring man.

"The new party offers only Teddy, and we have had too much of him already," said the speaker. "The Democratic policies have brought nothing but disaster every time they have been tried, and they have nothing new. Emboldened by the split in the Republican party, they have taken the sugar coat from their tariff pills, and stand more boldly for free trade than they have stood for 40 years. Give this a little thought. If the people will only pause and think, the Republican party will again triumph and will again save the nation."

Roosevelt Cause Helpless.

Fulton said there is no longer any danger of the election of Roosevelt, whose following is growing smaller and smaller. He urged Republicans not to desert Taft for Wilson. He said Roosevelt once performed valuable service for the country in awakening the public conscience, but he became drunk with ambition and greed, and with vanity, conceiving the idea the country could not go along without him. Now he is disloyal to the party, and disloyalty should be rebuked.

D. E. Bowman, president of the Ben Selling club, who presided at the meeting, explained that the club originally was formed by employees of the Republican senatorial candidate, but has extended its membership now to any who wish to join. He said the employees of Selling have a natural reason for being interested in his success, because Selling each year gives them a share of the profits of his business, enabling them to maintain comfortable homes, he pays good wages, he gives fair treatment, and he maintains a high standard of honesty, without discrimination between men as to creed or otherwise.

Personal Mention

L. S. Greenbaum, a prominent business man from San Francisco, is registered at the Multnomah hotel.

Mrs. H. Clay Levy of Cascade Locks is at the Multnomah.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Burnham, prominent New York society people, who have been hunting in Canada for the last two months, are at the Multnomah hotel on their way home.

Baron von Baron of Mank, England, is stopping at the Multnomah.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Runyon, who owns one of the show places in California, located at Los Molinos, is at the Multnomah.

R. B. Porter, of the firm of Porter Bros., railroad contractors; Charles R. McCormack, millionaire lumberman of San Francisco, and Louis Davenport, the millionaire restaurant man of Spokane, are at the Multnomah.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Edwards, prominent in Pasadena society circles, are registered at the Multnomah.

Ray F. Dean, general manager of the Hood River Gas & Electric Light company, and wife are registered at the Seward.

K. E. Miller, of the firm of Miller & Co., consulting engineers of Chicago, who is to take charge of the construction work of the electric light plant at Bend, is stopping at the Seward.

G. W. McClure and wife of Los Angeles are at the Seward.

W. C. Knighton, state architect from Salem, is at the Seward.

E. Riechel and William Murrin, mining men from Montana, are at the Seward.

E. J. Gerrard, of the firm of Gerrard & Graham, brokers of Portland, who has just returned from a trip to San Francisco, is at the Seward.

Rev. and Mrs. E. J. Bulgin, noted evangelist, and wife, are at the Seward.

F. V. Graham, industrial agent of the Great Northern Railway company, is registered from Seattle at the Bowers.

J. G. Gruver, manager of the Mountain Timber company of Kalama, is at the Bowers.

M. W. Bethel, superintendent for Twoby Bros. at Medford, is at the Bowers.

Mrs. Jacob Wirth of St. Paul, and E. J. Wirth of Seattle are at the Bowers.

J. H. Dunlap, a lumberman from Cascade Locks, is at the Oregon.

H. P. Loey, a lumberman of Eugene, is at the same hotel.

R. A. Parish, a realty dealer from Castle Rock, is at the Oregon.

E. A. Goodnough, owner of a big flouring mill at Wallows, is at the Oregon.

J. B. Winsor, director of the Roosevelt and company, has taken rooms at the Oregon.

G. T. Bryan, president of the state board of agriculture of Oklahoma, is at the Oregon.

J. R. N. Bell, grand chaplain of the Myrtle Shrine for the Oregon grand lodge, is registered from Corvallis, at the Imperial hotel.

Thomas J. Sweeney, a prominent mining promoter of Seattle, is at the Imperial.

Homer I. Day, a realty salesman of White Salmon, is at the Imperial.

Leo Wise, an Astoria merchant, is registered at the same hotel.

D. L. Sulke of Washington, D. C., is at the Imperial.

Harry E. Vickers, a Fendleton merchant, is registered at the Imperial.

A. S. Macgregory, president of the Eugene Commercial club, is at the Imperial.

R. M. Hardin, an extensive realty dealer of San Francisco, accompanied by Mrs. Hardin, is at the Portland hotel.

Dr. and Mrs. F. R. Hill of Tacoma are registered at the Portland hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. George and Mrs. C. H. Callender of Astoria are guests of the Portland hotel.

M. F. Munson, an extensive dealer in marble, of Tacoma, is registered at the Portland hotel.

A. N. J. Dolan, a prominent Chicago physician, is a guest of the Portland hotel.

Upton W. Smith, a prominent insurance man from San Francisco, is a guest of the Portland hotel.

George E. Stone, a well known attorney of Seattle, is a guest of the Portland hotel.

O. E. Baxter, northwest manager of Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston, is registered at the Portland hotel from Seattle.

D. M. Thompson, president of the Becker & Thompson company of Spokane is a guest of the Portland hotel.

P. M. Woodworth, a prominent physician of Chicago, accompanied by Mrs. Woodworth, is a guest of the Portland hotel.

L. S. Roberts, representing the Sherman-Clay company of Chicago, is in the city and is registered at the Portland hotel.

Mrs. James Dunham and Miss Anna Dunham, prominent society people of Chicago, are spending some time at the Portland hotel, before continuing their journey to the northwestern part of the state where they will spend the winter.

Mrs. F. P. Sully and daughter of McMinnville, are registered at the Portland hotel while stopping in the city.

Chief Forester Graves, of Washington D. C., is making his annual trip of inspection through the western field and is expected to be at the Portland offices to confer with the men of the department here about Oct. 15.

George H. Cecil, district forester, has left for the Whitman national forest in the northeastern part of the state to make a week's inspection of the land during the timber season now going on.

Congressman James McKinney of Illinois is visiting his nephews, Fredrick and George Strong. After a trip through California he says Roosevelt sentiment is waning in that state, and Taft is gaining to such an extent in other states that he believes a Republican victory will result. Many Republicans who had intended to vote for Wilson have reconsidered and are going to stand by the party in November.

PROMOTION FOR WELL KNOWN RAILROAD MAN

The numerous friends of J. R. Veitch of Seattle, but until about a year ago of Portland, will be pleased to learn that he has been selected for promotion from the position of general freight agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound line to assistant traffic manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the main line, with headquarters at Chicago. When located in Portland Mr. Veitch was district freight agent for the western end of the system. The promotion will become effective before the first of the year.

Wife Loyal to Convict Husband.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Los Angeles, Oct. 10.—Accompanied by his young wife, who declares she will stand by him through his prison term at McNeil's island federal prison, Earl Standard, the young bank clerk of Pomona, convicted of the embezzlement of about $150,000 of the funds of the American National bank, is on his way north today to begin his ten year term.

Mrs. Standard, it is said, will secure quarters near the federal prison, where she can see and comfort her husband from time to time.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER TRAINING PROGRAM PLANNED

Institute Begins Sunday With Address by Bishop Cooke— Conference to Be Held Monday— Subjects—Discussion.

The complete program of the Teachers' Training Week, an institute for training Sunday school teachers, has been arranged and the institute will be formally opened Sunday, when Bishop Richard J. Cooke of the local M. E. church will address a mass meeting at the White Temple, at 3 o'clock.

Monday all Portland pastors and Sunday school superintendents who are interested in the work will hold a conference in the Puritan cafeteria, Railway Exchange building, at 6:30 o'clock. Tuesday the institute will hold its first business sessions at 4 o'clock at the First M. E. church, the Sunnyside Congregational church and the Central M. E. church, where two sessions of four periods each will be held between that hour and 9 o'clock. The same hours will be observed Wednesday at the same churches and the following subjects will be treated at each place.

Subjects to Be Treated.
"The Problem Stated," "New Points of Emphasis in Teacher Training," "How to Secure Teachers of Training Classes," "The Philosophy of Illustration," "The Place of Child Study," "The Economics of Religious Education in the Local Church," "The Mechanics of Teacher Training," "Teacher Training and the Graded Lessons," "The Literature of Teacher Training," "The Graded Union and City Institute," "The Teacher and His Bible," "Practical Pedagogy," "Round Table Conference at Each Session."

Thursday night the teacher training will be discussed at all prayer meetings, and on Friday the denominational rallies will be held. The Baptists will meet at Oregon City at 9:30 o'clock with the Baptist state convention, and the other rallies will be held at 7:30 in the evening at the Congregational, Christian, Evangelical, Methodist, Episcopal and Presbyterian churches.

This institute is under the direction of Rev. Miles B. Fisher of San Francisco, Congregational; Rev. A. M. Williams of Portland, Presbyterian; and Rev. J. D. Springston of Portland, Baptist, who are traveling along the coast organizing these institutes in the larger cities.

Members to Speak on Subject.
They have already been held in Seattle and Tacoma, where they were considered a remarkable success.

The co-workers in this affair are Rev. H. N. Smith of Portland, Congregational; Professor E. O. Sisson, Reed college; Rev. Norman F. Coleman, Reed college; Rev. J. V. Milligan of Portland, Presbyterian; and Rev. Charles A. Phipps of the Portland Sunday School association.

Next Sunday morning all the ministers will preach at least part of the sermon on "A Trained Leadership in the Local Church." The object of this is to create an interest in the training of young people to become Sunday school teachers.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORS ENDORSE VICE CRUSADE

The Congregational Christian Endeavors of Oregon have adopted resolutions in support of Governor West's vice crusade, expressing appreciation of the governor's action and sympathy with the movement for better social conditions in Portland.

The Endeavorers at their rally, now concluded, also extended their congratulations to the societies of the Hillsboro and Atkinson Memorial churches, and to the First Congregational Church society for the entertainment provided. The resolutions committee was comprised of Edward A. Albrecht, Anna E. Taylor and Essie Maguire.

GATHERING EXHIBITS FOR TRI-COUNTY FAIR

L. S. Smith, assistant agriculturalist of the O. W. R. & N. company, is going over Morrow, Sherman and Gilliam counties gathering exhibits and putting them in shape for the tri-county fair to be held October 15, 16 and 17, at Condon. Mr. Smith reports he finds conditions very promising and feels sure that the results will be very encouraging.

The Portland Commercial club will run an excursion to the fair and J. J. Sayer, who has charge of the arrangements, says that the interest, shown is already surpassing all expectations.

Great Satisfaction AT LITTLE COST

A REGULAR BARGAIN FEAST

Test us, it will cost you nothing. If only a little curious come in anyway and inspect our stock of elegant Fall and Winter Clothes at

GREATLY REDUCED PRICES

$35.00 SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....	$26.25
$30.00 SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....	$21.65
$25.00 SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....	$18.75
$20.00 SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....	$14.85
$15.00 SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....	$11.25

Big Reductions in the Boys' Shop

LADIES' RAINCOATS AND SMART JOHNNIE COATS REDUCED

A. B. Steinbach & Co.

Lion Clothing Co., Successors
FOURTH AND MORRISON

The best work—by far—yet done by the author of That Printer of Udell's, The Shepherd of the Hills, The Calling of Dan Mathews, The Winning of Barbara Worth, etc.

Harold Bell Wright's

New Story Exalting Life and Love

THEIR YESTERDAYS

First Printing One Half Million Copies

Surpasses even the amazing popularity of the world's most wonderful book

The Winning of Barbara Worth

By the Same Author

Illustrations in Colors by Coates. Cloth, 12mo. $1.30 Net

Bound uniform with "Barbara Worth"

For Sale Everywhere Books Are Sold

Publishers—THE BOOK SUPPLY COMPANY, Chicago

Over Three Million Wright Books Have Been Sold

Announcement!

New Department

WE HAVE ADDED BOYS' GIRLS' and CHILDREN'S School Shoes to our large line of Men's and Women's Shoes

Men's $2.50 Shoes

Women's $2 Shoes

Boys', Girls' and Children's Shoes at Proportionately low prices.

Wright's

SAMPLE SHOES SHOP

244 WASHINGTON STREET BETWEEN SECOND AND THIRD

EMPORIUM'S FRIDAY OFFERINGS

Besides saving you money, Portland's Emporium is fast becoming famous for showing the newest styles first.

We have a resident buyer in New York who sends us the smartest garments as quick as they are approved by fashion.

$25 Fall Suits Here at $19.50

In fabric, tailoring and style, they are up to the standard set by other stores, at $25! In some cases, we select the fabrics and take them to a maker ourselves. The famous Skinner satin lining is used in most of them. Fine blue serges, in plain tailored or Norfolk styles. Also new wide-wales, chevrons, boucles, etc., in grays, browns, tans. New braid-bound models, as pictured, included. See these $25 Suits Friday, $19.50.

To $2 House Dresses Friday 98c

Think of it!—98c for regular $1.50 to $2.00 House Dresses. Isn't it worth a trip to the Emporium for one of them?

Ginghams, chambrays, percales—open front or side. Well made and finished. Not over 2 to a customer Friday. We've just 150 to sell at

$19.50 $13.50

$18 Fall Coats, $13.50

At least 8 different models. Smart gray mixtures, gray and blue chevron, chevrons. Plain notched, round and convertible collars. All misses', juniors' and women's sizes. Excellent $18 Coats, marked $13.50.

$20 Serge Dresses $14.75

Charming styles in fine French serges, storm serges, panamas. Navy, black, copeland, brown. Fetchingly trimmed. Dresses you'll say are worth $20—The Emporium's price is $14.75.

To $1.75 Waists $1.25

These $1.50 and $1.75 Manish Waists are one of our big leaders at $1.25. White madras, plain or plaited; also striped madras and percales with laundered collars to match. Buy them Friday

EMPORIUM $1.25

No Charge for Alterations at These Prices. See Our New Beaver Hats