

TWO COACHERS CONFUSED DUFFY LEWIS SO THAT HE WAS HELD FAST AT THIRD

SPEAKER DIVIDES BLAME WITH HIS MATE, WAGNER

By Tris Speaker of Boston Red Sox. (Copyrighted, 1912, by Associated Newspapers.)

Boston, Mass., Oct. 11.—Marquard pitched a great game, but I think we were getting to him in the latter part of it. The grand catch of Devore undoubtedly saved Rube from defeat.

Devore and Marquard are chums and Josh would play his legs off to save his friends. He plays hard for his own sake and for the sake of his team, but if it is possible for him to extend himself a little farther he always does it in support of the great Giant southpaw.

Devore Saves Game.
The great catch that he made for a wind-up of the game was as cleverly executed as any I ever saw. I did not think that it would be possible for him to get it and when the ball went off Cody's bat I looked upon the game as good as won for Boston. He played the ball well, although he did not have much choice in that respect. All he could do was to let it for all he was worth and get the ball.

And how he did it: he made the catch while in a very awkward position, but he made it and that is what saved the game for the Giants. Up to this inning Marquard's pitching was very effective and he deserves unstinted praise for his work.

Besides doing some great pitching he held his position finely. He walked only one man, although he worked some of us to the limit, which showed that he had plenty of confidence in himself. The Rube was given great support in the field, Murray covering an immense lot of ground and making several difficult catches, one of which he took with one hand after a high backward jump. Marquard's pitching with the support accorded him, explains why Boston could not win.

Mixup Mars Boston's Chances.

Boston's chances of winning were marred by a mixup in the coaching on third base in the last inning, with which I in a way was connected. Duffy Lewis was on first and Gardner hit the ball over first base, just inside the foul line and the ball rolled on fair ground to the fence, where it caromed and got away from Devore.

Duffy was legging it from first base and of course could not see where the ball went or what became of it. Wagner was coaching at third base and as he follows Stahl, who succeeds Gardner at bat, I went to third to relieve him in the coacher's box. I got there just about the time Gardner made the hit and as Wagner naturally stayed to see the play come around third, we were both there yelling for Lewis. Duffy apparently became confused over our joint coaching and did not know what to do and he was delayed so long at third that Gardner could not get all that was coming to him on the hit in the way that it was handled. The unfortunate incident may have spoiled a good chance we had to at least tie up the score.

O'Brien Pitched Good Game.
Buck O'Brien pitched a masterly game and showed that he packs around plenty of nerve by what he did the fifth inning. He purposely passed Doyle, filling the bases, and then went to work on Snodgrass. He could not take any chances of giving the batsman a good ball and it was not long before he was in the hole with Snodgrass, it being three balls and one strike.

Snodgrass tried to get his goat by jollying him, holding up his fingers to indicate how the count stood, but he did not fear Buck, who took the whey out of his gladness by chucking over a strike and then Snodgrass was in about as deep as O'Brien. He had to hit the next ball, which he sailed out to Duffy Lewis for the third out.

Buck had several fielding chances, which he took care of in fine style. If we could have done any hitting we would have pulled out the game for him. Larry Doyle's work was again, as it has been in all the other games of the series, a prominent feature.

Umpiring Generally Good.
The umpiring, generally, was very good, but I think that Klem lost something at third base when he decided Gardner out in the ninth inning. It looked to me as if Herzog dropped the ball and lost the out.

McGraw will probably rely on Tesreau to do the pitching in the second game at New York, and Joe Wood will go in for Boston. Nothing has been shown by the Giants thus far to make me believe that we will not win the series, although I expect a hard fight.

Walker Beats Greek.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 11.—George Walker, former amateur middleweight champion wrestler of Canada, won his first professional match last night when he tossed Peter Buzukos, an aspirant to the world's lightweight title, in straight falls at the Dominion hall here. He took the first fall in 40 minutes 46 seconds and the second in 19 minutes 40 seconds. Walker greatly outweighed the Greek.

HIS HEFTY BAT IS HELPING GIANTS

Charlie Herzog, the New York third baseman, who has been playing a tremendous game for the Giants, and his clever work with the bat has been scoring a lot of New York runs. In the second yesterday he scored Murray with a long sacrifice fly to Hooper, after Murray doubled and took third on Merkle's sacrifice. In the fifth inning he doubled and scored on Myers' out and Fletcher's single.

DIXIE W OWNER IS PLEASED WITH WOLF

New Yorker Says Oregon Boat Would Make Good Show-in the Races.

After taking a ride of over five miles in the Oregon Wolf yesterday, F. K. Burnham, who twice piloted the Dixie IV to the international motorboat championship, was a bit surprised to find that the local speed boat was such a consistent runner. Burnham was very much pleased with the running of the Wolf and was surprised when making the turns with the craft.

"The Wolf is a very consistent boat and that is what counts in the international races. A boat that goes 45 miles an hour for several miles is not as safe as one that travels 40 miles an hour and keeps it up," said Burnham.

Burnham is vice commodore of the Motorboat club of America and is on a tour of the world. He remained out of the motorboat game this summer on account of injuries which he received in the international race last year when his boat ran on the beach and killed two men.

Burnham has been hunting in Alaska for some time and had very good success. He will leave Saturday morning for San Francisco and from there will return to his New York home. He is accompanied by his wife.

Burnham said that he would probably build another boat to take the place of the Dixie IV to race in England next season.

John J. Wolff and Elwood Wiles were in the boat with Burnham during the spin on the river and were made acquainted with much valuable data in relation to the international motorboat contests in which Portland will no doubt be entered next year at London, England.

T. R. BESMIRCHED, SAYS JOHNSON

Colonel's Running Mate, in Pennsylvania, Declares He Will Prove Assertion.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—Proof that Democratic and Republican "bosses" have joined forces to besmirch Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, his running mate on the Progressive national ticket, was promised Pennsylvania voters here today by Hiram W. Johnson, California's governor.

Johnson came to Philadelphia to participate in the fight against Boies Penrose, who, testifying before the senate campaign contributions investigating committee in Washington, charged that the Standard Oil company had contributed $125,000 to the 1904 Republican campaign with the knowledge and consent of Colonel Roosevelt.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Fond Du Lac, Wis., Oct. 11.—"Cyclone" Johnny Thompson is the victor today over Art Godfrey, after eight rounds of rough fighting. The bout was scheduled as a 10 round go, but Godfrey was in such a bad way that the referee stopped it in the eighth and gave Thompson the decision.

The Chalmers commission of newspaper writers selected to name the most valuable player to his club in the National and the American leagues, did some voting that will be of general interest to the baseball fans on the coast who follow the big league pastimes. BOXING COMMISSION LIKELY FOR FRISCO

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 11.—All four round boxing promoters in San Francisco will appear before the police committee of the board of supervisors later today, when the advisability of appointing a boxing commission to supervise the game will be discussed. Recent decisions in a number of bouts, especially those of last Friday night, have aroused the committee to the necessity of taking drastic action, and in a commission with full power it sees a cure for the evils that have crept in.

Astoria Waiting for Jefferson.

Astoria, Or., Oct. 11.—Manager Riefel of the Astoria high school football team has arranged a game with the Jefferson high school team of Portland, to be played on the local gridiron Saturday afternoon. The locals are confident of winning. The game last Saturday with Lincoln showed the weakness of Astoria's defense and Manager Rogers has been strengthening the lineup this week wherever it was needed.
