

SELECTION OF MEMBERS OF STATE LEGISLATURE IS MOST IMPORTANT DUTY OF VOTERS IN NEXT ELECTION

The Journal Today Prints the First of a Series of Articles Showing the Qualifications or Lack of Fitness of Candidates to Serve the People of Oregon; Seventeen Legislators to Be Chosen; Brief Sketches of Democratic Aspirants for Seats in Senate and House.

Seventeen members of the legislature are to be elected by the voters of Multnomah county at the general election November 2. Of these 17 legislators, five will be in the senate, elected for four years, and 12 will be in the house of representatives, elected for two years.

The session of the Oregon legislature this winter probably will be the most important ever held in the state. Each year the expenses of running the state are greater, and the next legislature will be asked to vote appropriations totalling sums larger than any other Oregon legislature has authorized.

Importance of Selection.

It is especially important therefore that the legislators elected this year be not only public spirited citizens, willing to devote their time and efforts to the people, but good business men as well. That the voters may be intelligently informed as to the merits of candidates, The Journal has gathered data about each, which will be presented briefly.

Democratic Candidates for State Senator

Woods Smith—Lives at 491 Clackamas street. Has traveled through Pacific northwest as salesman for 20 years and has lived in Portland for 13 years. Manager of Portland branch of Cribben & Sexton company, making suits and ranges. Regarded as an able salesman and business man. Though this is his first candidacy for office, he has displayed interest in public questions. He was a Portland delegate to the National Irrigation congress in Salt Lake City last month. At last session of legislature, lobbied with Dan Kellaher against Malarkey public utilities commission bill on ground that measure contained jokers. Now opposed to Secretary Oicott's "blue sky" law, also alleging jokers.

Richard W. Montague—Residence, 351 Thirty-second street north. He is a successful attorney, with a large practice. His reputation for ability, efficiency and integrity is very high. Mr. Montague has taken a very active part in matters pertaining to the public interest. Though this is his first candidacy for office, he has had much political experience. He managed Harry Latta's two campaigns for mayor of Portland, and was his legal adviser as mayor. He has also taken a leading part in the present campaign in Oregon for Woodrow Wilson. Mr. Montague was a member of the commission that framed the proposed commission charter now on the ballot. Was also member of the charter revision committees of 1901, 1909 and 1911. He is the author of "Montague's Digest of Oregon Laws," and when it became necessary to revise "Lord's Code of Oregon Laws," he was appointed assistant code commissioner by the supreme court. He is a trustee of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Portland Library association. Mr. Montague is a graduate with special honors from the University of Iowa, and has been in Portland 22 years.

Frank Schlegel—Residence 1521 Alameda, in Rose City Park. Successful attorney with good practice. No question of his ability. Takes regular in Forest in Rose Festival. He has not held political office before. Mr. Schlegel has been in Oregon for 25 years, for 16 of them in Portland. He was one of the members of the original People's Power party.

He is a son of Dr. John Welch, a Portland pioneer, and has lived here all his life. He is a successful business man. He ran for city treasurer in one of the Democratic "lean" years.

Democratic Representative Candidates.

George H. Watson—Residence, 864 Alameda avenue. Owner of the Baitmore Dairy lunch, with five cafeterias in this city. A very successful business man. He came to Portland 12 years ago with practically no capital but his business ability, and in that time has built up a large and profitable business. Actively interested in the Columbia river bridge. This is his first candidacy for public office.

Dr. Jack M. Yates—Residence, Bowers hotel. Dentist with a good practice, a graduate of the University of Tennessee and the North Pacific Dental college. He came to Portland 10 years ago from Neosho, Mo. Dr. Yates was a member of the state board of dental examiners in Senator Chamberlain's first term as governor of Oregon. As a member of the board, he was very active in prosecuting fake dentists. Member of the Oregon Yacht club and Portland Motorboat club.

Robert J. Upton—Residence, 601 Mountain boulevard. He is an attorney, of the firm of McAllister & Upton. Not to be confused with Jay Upton, candidate for the legislature on the Republican ticket. Standing in his profession high. Mr. Upton has been in Portland seven years, coming here from Norfolk, Va. He is a graduate of the University of Virginia. This is his first candidacy for office.

R. W. Hagood—Residence 661 East Taylor street. He is real estate reporter of The Journal, and has lived in Portland and vicinity for the greater part of the last 20 years. He has never aspired to office in Oregon before, but has always taken an active interest in politics. He is a staunch supporter of the Oregon system.

J. G. Nichols—Residence 1122 East Yamhill street. Secretary of the Willamette & Columbia River Towing company. He has lived in Portland for nine years. Regarded as an able business man. He has never run for office before.

M. D. Hawes—Residence 409 East Sixteenth street north, Secretary, treasurer of F. E. Bowman & Co., home builders. He has lived in Portland five years, coming here from Bloomington, Ill. He has not entered politics before. Reputation for business ability good. He is a graduate of the Culver Military academy.

O. E. Lent—Residence, 307 Gilbert avenue. Mr. Lent is in the fuel business at Lent's. He was born near Portland and has lived here all his life, being a son of O. P. Lent, an Oregon pioneer of 1852, after whom the town of Lent is named. Though a staunch Democrat and strong supporter of progressive movements, he has never run for office before.

Martin Kronberg—Postoffice, Gresham, Or. He is a very well-known farmer of eastern Multnomah county, and a prominent member of the state senate. His family has lived there for thirty years, his father having been one of the first settlers in this part of Oregon. He was once school clerk of his district. His standing in the community is high.

Elmer R. Lundberg—Residence, 450 East Thirty-eight street north. He is an attorney, of the firm of Lundberg & Lundberg, and his standing at the bar is excellent. He is 37 years old, and came to Portland from Nebraska four and a half years ago. Member of Scout Young camp of the Spanish-American War veterans, having been a member of the First Nebraska regiment in the Philippines. Not out for political office before. A graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Benjamin Brick—Residence, 1026 East Sixteenth street north. He is a wholesaler woolen jobber for eastern houses. Has been in Portland about three years, coming here from New York city. His business ability has not been sufficiently tested to pass upon, nor has he done anything since he has been in Portland to prove that he has the qualifications of a legislator. Claims to have been active in politics in New York city. Active in getting votes for boy mayor candidates, and friend of the newshybs. Interested in juvenile court work. He is 33 years old.

A. F. Fliegel—Residence, 601 Jarrett street. He is an able and successful lawyer with an excellent practice and high standing in his profession. Prominent in Y. M. C. A. and church activities, and has taken an active part in civic reform movements. Mr. Fliegel has lived in Portland for 24 years. He was a member of the city council during the term of Mayor George H. Williams. Has run for the legislature several times in "lean" Democratic years.

Ernest Kroner—Residence, 221 Jessup street. Architect of ability. He was at one time an ardent Populist, and has always been a political reformer. When Sylvester Pennoyer was mayor of Portland in the middle '90's, Mr. Kroner was his police commissioner and a right hand man. Very strong partisan for any man or cause that he espouses. One of the original workers for the initiative and referendum in Oregon, at the time when they were considered popular and impracticable. Recently he declared himself in favor of making the initiative and referendum laws more stringent so that they cannot be invoked promiscuously. This has been erroneously construed in some quarters as indicating that he has become an enemy of the Oregon system. His attitude is rather that these measures should be safeguarded to protect the Oregon system itself. Kroner is regarded as a deep political student.

Dismissal of Head METERMAN SUSTAINED

Dismissal of Cornelius G. Murphy, late head meterman of the city water department, was yesterday upheld by the city civil service commission to which body Murphy had appealed from the order of removal made by the city water board.

Murphy is now out of the city service for good, as he exhausted his last appeal when he went before the civil service commission.

The commission yesterday adopted a new scope of examinations for applicants for the position of sewer inspector. The old scope required three years' experience in brick and stone work, but the development of reinforced concrete construction in recent years has antiquated the former requirements.

REPORTED THREE OF ROSENTHAL'S ALLEGED SLAYERS WILL CONFESS

Waiter Kraus Says Rosenberg, Horowitz, Lewis, Men Who Did Shooting.

New York, Oct. 11.—When the trial of Police Lieutenant Becker, for the murder of gambler Rosenthal was resumed today reports were current that "Lefty Louie" Rosenberg and "Dago Frank" Cirofici, alleged to have been implicated in the actual slaying of Rosenthal, were ready to confess. The reports could not be verified.

Thomas Ryan, taxicab driver, who assisted in the pursuit of the murderers, testified that one man did the shooting. This contradicted the testimony of Louis Kraus, a waiter, who swore that several shots fired by at least three men rang out simultaneously and Rosenthal fell to the ground. Admitting that Kraus' testimony would be most damaging unless it can be disproved, attorneys for the defense announced today that they would show that Kraus was not on the scene when Rosenthal was shot down.

Kraus on the stand late yesterday afternoon said that the gambler was killed by the conspirators on a signal from their leader. "I saw a man walk out of the Metropolitan hotel," Kraus testified, "and raise his hand to a level with his eyes. Instantly shots were fired and Rosenthal fell to the ground."

Kraus also swore that he recognized "Lefty Louie" Rosenberg, Harry Horowitz, alias "Big Boy," and "Whitney" Lewis as three of the men who fired the fatal shots. He was not certain about "Dago Frank" Cirofici being with the party.

INDIAN PUPILS, LURED BY MOVIES, DAY LATE GETTING TO CHEMAWA

From 4:15 in Afternoon to 10 at Night They Gaze Entranced at Pictures.

(Special to The Journal.) Seattle, Wash., Oct. 11.—Under the guidance of Superintendent Wadsworth, a party of young Indians, seven boys and five girls, from 10 to 18 years old, on their way to the Indian school at Chemawa, stopped off in Seattle yesterday. They strolled out of the hotel Northern in groups of twos and threes. The "movies" lured them and when the 4:15 train, on which they were supposed to leave for Oregon, pulled out of the King street station, it carried Superintendent Wadsworth, whose business forbade his waiting over, but not an Indian. They were seeing Seattle, and they did not propose to have their vision eclipsed by a time table.

George Nix, one of the young men of the party, had been before on his way to school and to him and the clerk at the Northern was left the task of gathering the night-seeing natives together in time for the midnight train, a task that was not completed until 10 o'clock when the last eager one of them was finally torn from the absorbing clutches of the "movies" and bundled into a bus for the station. George Nix sat on a lounge in the hotel and bewailed the fate that had held him over here. "I wanted to get away right off," he said plaintively, "because I had more to do when I came last night, and I got nothing. Everything I see I want, I buy hat an' suit, an' shoe, an' see a lot of show, but I wish I had that money."

GOMPERS' NAME IS BROUGHT INTO DYNAMITE TRIAL

Prosecution Calls Witness to Show Gompers and Tveit-moe Met in Hotel in San Francisco in 1908.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Indianapolis, Oct. 11.—The name of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was brought into the trial today of the 47 members of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, charged with illegally transporting dynamite, over strenuous objections of attorneys for the defense. This was effected by Federal District Attorney Charles W. Miller, when Frank Schilling, a St. Louis hotel clerk, was called to the stand.

United States Judge Anderson permitted Schilling to testify to an alleged meeting between Gompers and Olaf A. Tveitmoos of San Francisco in the Southern hotel at St. Louis, November 27, 1908. United States Senator John W. Kern of Indianapolis, of the counsel for the defense, objected to the introduction of this testimony, asserting that organized labor is not on trial. The government met this argument by promising to show Gompers' connection with the defendants, and Kern's objection was overruled.

G. A. Dixon, a clerk in the Argonaut hotel at San Francisco, testified that a man giving the name of J. B. Bryce registered there in 1910. He then identified a photograph of James B. McNamara as that of the man who had registered as "Bryce."

George Hunter of Youngstown, Ohio, a hotel clerk, testified that H. S. Heckin, one of the defendants, once registered at the hotel where he is employed.

Pierce, recently candidate for Democratic nomination for United States senator, was in attendance, and gave an address. The meeting was held in the city hall, and was largely attended.
