SISTER LOST FOR 52 YEARS, FOUND

New York, Oct. 19.—John McKeon of Yonkers, captain of a lighter, has just found his sister, Bridget, who vanished from their home in Rondout, 52 years ago. When McKeon was 7 years old, his sister, then 13, had a quarrel with her parents, and was chastised. She felt so humiliated she ran away from home and met new friends, with whom she made her home.

Both tried, unsuccessfully, for years to find one another. Recently Patrick Gibbons, a riverman from Rondout, informed McKeon that he met James Smith, who inquired for him. Smith's mother is Bridget McKeon. McKeon then went to Schenectady, where brother and sister proved relationship.

STATE DRUNKARDS' HOME ADVOCATED BY GOVERNOR WEST

brief word of introduction, "even although most of the people from outside of this state have never seen him before."

"Now, governor, we would cheer you as long as they cheer great men in a political convention if we were not in such a hurry to hear you," she added, after the demonstration had broken forth.

Advocates Drunkards' Home.

In the course of his address, Governor West also announced that he would not run for office again. He advocated a state drunkards' home and a law making it a crime for a saloonkeeper to cash a check.

"I'm not going to be a candidate for office again," he said in part. "When my term expires, I'm going to put in my time making a living for my wife and youngsters, but you good women are going to get a lot of help out of me in the next two years."

"I'll tell you something we're going to do that'll cut a lot of figures because it will save money to the taxpayers. I believe there ought to be a drunkards' home in this state. It ought to be a monument to the booze joints. And the booze joints ought to support it. We take care of our old soldiers. Now why shouldn't the booze joints take care of their old soldiers, their veterans of years of drinking?"

At another point he said: "There isn't a one-legged constable weighing 95 pounds who couldn't clean up Portland if he wanted to. You know the average politician is the biggest coward on earth, and that is one reason I want woman suffrage, because when that comes about we're going to get more action out of a lot of loafing office holders."

Speaks in Behalf of Mayor.

The convention was inclined to take a sarcasm Mrs. Stevens' announcement that Mayor Rushlight was unavoidably detained and could not welcome the delegates in behalf of the city, but gave close attention to the remarks of D. Solis Cohen, who represented the mayor.

"I can assure you that the mayor deeply regrets his inability to be present," said Mr. Cohen in part. "I have the honor to extend to this body of sincere, earnest and helpful women the greeting of the city. By your great work you are building your own monument in the communities in which you work."

Addresses of welcome were also made by Rev. E. Nelson Allen, in behalf of the church at large; by Rev. W. B. Johnson, for the White Temple; by Mrs. Sarah A. Evans, for the Federation of Women's Clubs; by H. L. Sheldon, for the Anti-Saloon league; by B. Lee Paget, for the Prohibition party; by Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh, for the Oregon W. C. T. U., and by C. C. Chapman, for the Portland Commercial club.

In response, Mrs. Emma Sanford Sheldon, of Washington, D. C., read a poem and brief addresses were made by Mrs. Stella B. Irvine, of California, national president of the department of Sunday school work; by Mrs. Helen L. Hood, president of the Illinois W. C. T. U., and by Mrs. Silena M. Holman, president of the Tennessee W. C. T. U.

U. has workers, and Miss Gordon herself took each little one by the hand, brought him or her forward, and made the introduction to the smiling and cheering audience. The countries represented, some of them by more than one little girl or little boy, were Bulgaria, Burma, Egypt, England, Japan, Scotland, New Zealand, Uruguay, Germany, Iceland, India, Ireland, Norway, Sweden, Chile, Canada, France, Funchal Madeira and Newfoundland.

Earlier in the afternoon, after Mrs. Frances P. Parks, national corresponding secretary, had given her report, and Mrs. Elizabeth P. Hutchinson, national treasurer, had told the delegates that the affairs of the W. C. T. U., financially, are in better shape than ever before, going so far as to quote figures showing that 256,887 women paid dues to the organization last year, the audience heard brief addresses from three women. They were Miss Rhena E. G. Mosher of New York, general secretary, and Mrs. Bessie Lathé Scovell of Minnesota, college secretary of the Young People's branch, and Miss Edna Rowan of Kansas, general secretary of the Loyal Temperance legion.

Miss Mosher dwelt on the work the Young People's branch has performed in the past year, cited the increasing evidence in the work as shown by the fact that membership has gained 101, and urged that the "growups" take more interest in enlisting the interest of the young folks. From them, she the future temperance workers must come.

"The college branch of the W. C. T. U. has had a most satisfactory growth the past year," said Mrs. Scovell, in her turn. "One of the best things about the college secretaryship created by our national organization is that it opens college doors, and hence the opportunity to present our beautiful temperance work to college professors and students. Strange as it may seem, there are college students who do not yet know of the W. C. T. U. or its object and aims."

"Many college professors are still ignorant of the great strides science is making in its conclusions concerning alcohol. A little prejudice on any subject will close one's avenue of knowledge on that subject. It is a great thing to have an open mind in this temperance battle.

"Two states this year will pay a small salary to a college secretary to look after the interests of the Y. P. B. in the state universities."

Miss Rowan told her hearers enthusiastically of the results accomplished in West Virginia in the fight for prohibition, and of the important part that 30,000 tory workers, children of tender years, are expected to play in bringing victory to the prohibition forces.

A non-sinkable boat, in which the seats and ends are air tight tanks to hold food, water and spare clothing, is provided with openings into the tanks through the bottom so they may be reached if the boat should capsize.

How to Brown Hair Without Detection

Mrs. Potter's Walnut-Tint Hair Stain Can Be Applied in a Few Minutes Every Month.

There is a way of staining gray, faded or bleached hair any shade desired, from a beautiful rich brown to almost black, so that it is difficult, if not impossible, for even experts to detect that the hair has been treated in any way.

This preparation has the tremendous advantage over hair dyes of containing no silver, sulphur, lead or other poisons which invariably cause hair falling. It has no odor, no oil, no sediment and no grease, and does not rub off on the clothing. It makes the hair grow out fluffy and luxuriant.

A liberal amount as a laboratory trial package of this Walnut-Tint Hair Stain, together with a booklet on hair, is sent by Mrs. Potter's Hygienic Supply Co., 1785 Grotton Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio, in plain, sealed wrapper, if you will send twenty-five cents in stamps or coin, and if it is desired to continue the treatment, full-sized packages may be obtained at drug or department stores for one dollar a package.

It is applied in a few moments with the comb, and it stains the hair evenly from tip to root. It produces any shade desired, from a beautiful rich brown to almost black.

One bottle of this Walnut-Tint Hair Stain can last a year.

300 CHILDREN FROM SCHOOLS RAISE VOICES IN TEMPERANCE SONG

The feature of yesterday afternoon's session of the convention was a demonstration by 300 school children, girls and boys, who marched and counter-marched up and down the aisles of the White Temple, their childish voices raised in piping chorus to the air of a temperance song.

The little girls, dressed all in white, with here and there a blue-cloth youngster, marched two by two in a single file, while knickerbockered little boys would pass up the opposite passageway.

After they had marched for several minutes, the little girls went on the platform, where, by a series of quick evolutions, they formed the living letters "W. C. T. U." for Loyal Temperance legion. That brought more cheers, which were increased when they sang in unison from convention hymns. They did the marching and drilling under the leadership of Miss Edna Rowan of Kansas, general secretary of the Loyal Temperance union.

After the girls had marched off the church platform, the audience was treated to a surprise. The announcement was made that Miss Anna A. Gordon, general vice president, would bring forward 25 "foreign" children. The next minute there popped onto the platform an array of youngsters dressed in pretty nearly all the costumes of the earth. They were intended to represent the different nations in which the W. C. T. U.
