SUFFRAGISTS TO HONOR LEADER

Great Rally Will Be Held Tomorrow Evening for Mrs. Duniway.

One of the biggest and most important and at the same time the most unique suffrage gatherings of the entire campaign will be held tomorrow evening in the Gipsy Smith auditorium. This great rally is for the twofold purpose of advancing the cause of suffrage in Oregon and to do honor to Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway, Oregon's pioneer suffrage worker and recognized as one of the most able and progressive women of the Pacific coast. The day marks the 78th anniversary of Mrs. Duniways' birth.

Among the speakers will be Governor Oswald G. West, Senator George E. Chamberlain, ex-Senator Charles W. Fulton, Rev. Father Black, Honorable B. Lee Paget, Dr. Harry Lane, Honorable Jonathan Bourne and Attorney A. E. Clark. By special request Helen Miller Senn will give her anti-suffrage address. A suffrage hymn, the words for which were written by Mrs. Duniway and the music composed by Mrs. A. E. Clark, will be sung.

The platform of the great auditorium will be suitably decorated and it is expected that the gathering will be a large and representative one. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend. The women in charge announce that the auditorium will be comfortably heated.

TEAL PRAISED FOR AIDING CANAL BILL

Recognition of the part played by Joseph N. Teal for Oregon and the nation in securing free tolls through the Panama canal is contained in a letter from S. H. Thompson, secretary of the Nationl Rivers and Harbors congress, to the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Thompson says, in part:

"Your city ought to profit greatly from the opening of the Panama canal, and you are to be congratulated on the form given the Panama canal bill before its final passage. I consider that bill the most important in a transportation sense which has been passed by the congress of the United States since the interstate commerce bill became a law, and I take considerable satisfaction in the fact that the National Rivers and Harbors congress carried on a nation wide campaign to back up the efforts of Mr. Teal and the city of Portland, and other cities on the Pacific coast, and believe that we had no inconsiderable share in the creation of the public sentiment which compelled the passage of that bill in spite of the opposition both in and out of congress."

Mr. Teal is now in Washington, but he expects to return to Portland in time for the banquet which is to be given in recognition of his achievements for the Panama canal and the opening of transportation on the Columbia river, on the evening of November 7. It was announced today by the committee in charge of arrangements that semi-final assurance had been given of the presence of Senator W. E. Borah of Idaho as a speaker on that occasion. Professor William D. Lyman, the noted historian of the Columbia river and the Pacific northwest, has consented to come from Walla Walla to deliver an address. The complete list of speakers will be Senator W. E. Borah, C. S. Jackson, Professor Lyman and J. N. Teal.

"DON'T DOG THE COWS," SAYS DR. WITHYCOMBE

(Special to The Journal.)

Newberg, Or., Oct. 21.—Professor Withycombe of the State Agricultural college talked to a big audience of farmers Saturday afternoon on diversified farming. He said the Willamette valley is the choicest section in the world for all kinds of farming and that the time is coming when it will sustain a population of 2,000,000 people, a date not far in the future.

He said that with wheat farming $8 worth of plant food is taken from the soil with every ton of grain and that with a dairy less than 50 cents is taken.

He urged the farmers to cooperate and buy the best sire possible for a dairy, and to keep only the best of cows, Jerseys preferable for this locality. He said gentleness in handling cows is all important. If his hearers were in the habit of sending a boy and a dog and a pony to bring the cows up, they had better sell the pony, kill the dog, send the boy to school, and let the cows come home by themselves. The use of stanchions he condemned in the severest terms.

DARROW WITNESSES LOTH TO COME BACK

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Los Angeles, Oct. 21.—More difficulties are faced today by the prosecution in preparing for the second trial of Attorney Clarence S. Darrow on the charge of bribing Robert F. Bain, a juror in the McNamara case. Many witnesses brought here from the east to testify in the former trial of Darrow do not desire again to go on the grill, and if brought to California at all, it will be under pressure.

John R. Harrington, one of the principal witnesses for the prosecution in the first trial was brought to California on a federal subpena and it is reported he is reluctant to return. Federal aid, it is said, will be necessary to produce Harrington and other eastern witnesses a second time.

School Fairs in Wheeler County Win Praise of Expert

Although District Is Sparsely Settled and Distant From Railroad Exhibits Are Said to Be Among Best in State; Girls Beat Boys Raising Pigs.

Public school pupils and some of exhibits shown at school fair at Spray, Wheeler county, Or. Top, left to right—Charley and Gladys Rayse, and their fine specimen of potatoes. Irene Davenport, 10-year-old girl who beat all the boys in pig raising contest. Bottom—Boys and girls on parade, showing some of exhibits.

Wheeler county, sparsely settled and distant from railroad transportation, had three of the best school fairs held in the state this year, says N. C. Maris, earth education expert, who has just returned from attending fairs at Fossil, Mitchell and Spray.

When it came to the raising of pigs, the girls outclassed the boys and won the chief prize, but in the growing of potatoes the boys excelled, although the sister of the boy who won first prize was the second prize winner.

Wheeler county is naturally divided into the three centers mentioned. The quality of the fairs is the more surprising when it is known that they were the first of the kind ever held in the county. Credit for their success is largely given to the work in organization of Professor Maris, Oregon superintendent of school children's industrial work, in cooperation with County Superintendent H. J. Simmons, the teachers, parents and local press.

Fair Opens With Parade.

"The fair at Mitchell," said Mr. Maris, "was held September 27, opening in the morning with a parade of school children, who carried flowers and vegetables down the street. A program was held in the church, opening address by Superintendent Simmons, followed by a number of thoroughly delightful exercises by the children, including the reading of the prize essays on 'Back to the Farm.' Professor R. L. Green talked on the importance of the movement, A. J. Shrum gave a very practical talk on irrigation, and the program closed with an address by myself. Then came a basket lunch, with tables groaning with the good things well representing the fat of the land, and all brought in by the hospitable and expert cooks for which the district is noted.

"After lunch the awards were made, I passing on the livestock, agricultural and mechanical exhibits and Mrs. Maris judging the exhibits of the domestic science department. There were 100 entries, including lambs, pigs and chickens. One of the strongest features of the exhibit was the display of cakes which Mrs. Maris pronounced better than the ladies made at the state fair. There were about two dozen and not an inferior one in the whole lot.

"The fair was held at Spray on the 28th, with much the same program as was carried out at Mitchell. It brought out the largest crowd that had ever been seen on the streets of that prosperous little burg. There, too, the school children paraded with arms filled with vegetables and furnished a good share of the literary program. The opening address was made by Superintendent Simmons, followed by myself, dwelling upon the value of the movement to the children and the state at large, giving the boys and girls some good advice as to how to proceed with their work for another year.

"Fossil is the larger town and county seat, where the concluding fair of the series was held on September 30. Partly owing to the greater population and partly owing to the untiring efforts of Professor Blough, superintendent of the Fossil schools, the exhibit here was considerably larger than at either of the other places. There were over 150 entries, including quite a number of collective individual exhibits, for which quite a liberal prize was offered, altogether filling the large Odd Fellows' hall completely. Outside, in improvised pens, were seven or eight young porkers, and as many lambs, and two calves, and quite a string of chicken coops, each containing a trio of chickens, with one exception, where the juvenile had figured that two birds constituted an entry. Here, as at the other two places, the program began with the children parading all the principal streets of the town.

Boys Work Hard.

"Mrs. Maris and I did the judging, with Mrs. Angel of Maryville assisting in the domestic science department. One of the striking features of the exhibits here was the individual entry of the two Stewart boys, 10 and 12 years old. Each one had 27 varieties of vegetables and farm products, all good specimens raised by themselves. This is the first year the Stewart boys have been on a farm, but with the stimulus of these prizes in view and with the advice and encouragement of interested and enthusiastic parents, these juveniles farmers took to their work like ducks to water, getting up at 5 o'clock every morning and staying by the hoe the whole summer long. Other boys were filled with the spirit of rivalry and ambition to defeat the Stewart boys next year, but they are not weary in well doing and say if they wrest the laurels from them next year they will have to make a bigger showing than they have done this year. Besides their vegetables, one of the boys had an exhibit of butter on which he won second prize in strong competition. It is a matter of interest that at each of the fairs in Wheeler county boys won prizes in either making bread, butter making or on jelly, while in several instances the girls were winners upon their potatoes or pigs. The literary program at Fossil was given at the largest church at 8 o'clock in the evening, when the house was packed with parents and children equally interested in the work so splendidly begun. The program here was practically the same as at the other two places.

NEW VIADUCT NOW IS OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

The East Twenty-first street viaduct over Sullivan gulch is being formally opened this afternoon, a number of city officials and prominent citizens being in attendance. Miss Minnie A. Menefee, daughter of Councilman and Mrs. R. A. Menefee, is sponsor for the new span, and will formally "christen" it for the use of the public.

Special local interest and pride are taken in the viaduct because it is an altogether "Oregon made" proposition. The designing and engineering features were taken care of in the office of City Engineer Hurlburt, and the materials used were all of Portland or Oregon manufacture.

SOUTH JETTY IS DONE

Contractors Move Plant to North Side of Siuslaw River.

Eugene, Or., Oct. 21.—Work on the south jetty at the mouth of the Siuslaw river was finished during the latter part of last week and Johnson & Anderson, the contractors, have transferred all their machinery and equipment to the north side of the river, where work has already started on the north jetty. Hauling rock to the jetty from the quarry on the upper river, which has been suspended for a week or more, will be resumed in a few days and the north jetty will be extended out to the ocean. The south jetty is now completed according to the original plans of the government engineers for improving the harbor. By reason of building the breakwater the water on the bar has been deepened several feet and it is expected that when the north jetty is finished the depth will be sufficient for large coasting vessels to enter the harbor.

CREW DESERTS VESSEL

German Bark Egon Is Left Without Sufficient Men.

During her short stay in the harbor since her arrival from Japan, the German bark Egon has lost most of her sailors by desertion. The captain supposes they have struck out for the logging camps to find more remunerative employment than sailing the seas. The Egon has been discharging ballast at Linnton but shifted this morning to Irving dock to load wheat for Europe. She will receive quick dispatch and will probably be ready to clear by the end of the week.

The French bark Eduord Detailled which cleared Saturday for Queenstown or Falmouth for orders has in her hold 111,305 bushels of wheat, valued at $100,750.

SINGLE TAX PLAN CONVINCES MANY

Observation of Prosperity in Canada Gains Another Convert.

An opportunity to see the benefits and advantages of single tax, in communities where it has been given a fair try-out, served to convert C. McCoy, local real estate broker and investor, to the support of single tax issues.

Mr. McCoy has just returned to Portland from a trip through the Canadian provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and visits in "single tax" cities and towns in these provinces.

"I had some decided tendencies against the single tax idea before I made this trip," said Mr. McCoy this morning, "but now, after seeing its principles in atcual, every-day practical use, I must admit that I have been won over to the single tax idea.

"One must see the actual application of single tax as it is worked out in Canada to realize just what its possibilities are.

Points Out Advantages.

"In Edmonton, for instance, a thriving city of 40,000 inhabitants, the tax is but 11 mills this year, and the building permits already issued in 1912 amount to over $12,000,000. The tax is equitable, too, as applied there, and I was told by business and professional men and capitalists with whom I talked that the plan is altogether satisfactory, and conducive to the prosperity and growth of the community in which it is applied.

"Without going into the technical whys and wherefores of the single tax proposition, any one who visits single tax communities in Canada, can, with even slight observation, see the practibility of the system.

"For instance, a laboring man say, has two lots adjoining. On one of them he builds himself a home, plants some trees and a lawn, builds a fence around it and keeps it up in pleasing manner. The other lot he allows to remain without improvements. The owner, however, pays the same tax on the improved lot as he does on the unimproved lot.

Treats All Fairly.

"That is as much as to say to that laboring man, or to the professional or business man either, who does the same thing, 'go ahead and fix your place up, and you won't be taxed for your civic pride and your industry.' This is the secret of the rapid, solid and substantial growth of the newer of the Canadian towns in which single tax is in order.

"In the business district the same proposition holds good. If a man has to pay as much taxes on a vacant lot down town as he does on an adjoining lot on which he has a store or office building, the chances are ten to one that he is going to improve his adjoining vacant lot and start deriving revenue from it just as soon as he can do so.

"Another thing that impressed me in my investigation into conditions in Canada is the substantial backing given land owners in the matter of title. For instance, if a man acquires a piece of property and gets a deed for it, and this deed is recognized by his government, then his government will stand behind that deed or title whatever form it may be in, and there is no 'come-back.' This materially lessens litigation, and simplifies ownership title to a considerable extent."

CHURCHES INDORSE WORLD CONFERENCE

The latest general church conference to adopt resolutions favoring the Second World's Christian Citizenship conference, which will meet in Portland June 22-July 6, 1913, is that of the Christian church, now in session in Louisville, Ky. A telegram has just been received by Manager C. C. Chapman, of the Portland Commercial club, from J. F. Ghormley, pastor of the Central Christian church of this city, who is in attendance at the Louisville conference, telling that strong resolutions have been adopted by the church council.

Church assemblies and religious societies throughout the country have quite generally indorsed the coming conference. Among them are the Presbyterian General Assembly, which held its session in Louisville, Ky.; the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which was held at Minneapolis; the Northern Baptist convention; the Free Methodists, when they held their conference at Sacramento, Cal., and the United Presbyterian general assembly, held at Seattle, Wash.

Many other churches, including the Reformed Presbyterian church and various branches of the Lutheran church, have, through their governing bodies, formally approved the Christian Citizenship conference and will do what they can to make it a great success.

In every case, delegates have been named from the various church societies to the conference.

ISLAND EDUCATION OF PRACTICAL SORT

Washington, Oct. 21.—The director of education of the Philippine Islands, who is visiting in this country, says, in speaking of the Filipinos:

"We are not trying to make good Americans of them, but we are trying to make good Filipinos of them, and we are succeeding. We have established, as generally as possible throughout the archipelago, an educational system which we hope will give the greatest possible number of the islanders the kind of education which will do them the greatest possible good—as islanders."

An enrollment of over half a million children in the public schools, taught and supervised by over nine thousand American and Filipino teachers with very practical courses of study from the primary grades up through the professional colleges of the Philippine university, seems to substantiate the conclusion of the director of education.
