

DECLARES LIQUOR TRAFFIC MENACES LIFE OF NATION

were made by Edith Smith Davis, a national superintendent of the scientific temperance department at the general conference of the W. C. T. U. convened this morning. Mrs. Davis said:

"We have found in deciphering of ancient Egyptian wall writing, composed 3000 years ago, that the evil of wine was recognized in that time."

Ancients Are Quoted.

"Homer, the first of the Greek poets writings recognized the vice and in coming down through history, evidences can be found of its condemnation in all ages."

"I believe that Norway will be the first country to be free of the curse of alcohol because the children of the nation are being taught of its evil so strongly in the public schools. 'Why are we troubling over this question so much?' It is because we have 3,000,000 people coming here every year and all of them, from more or less alcoholic drinking nations, are increasing to the extent of the vice in this country."

"Down the east coast of the United States I have been in nearly all of the public schools, and some of the conditions I have found are deplorable. Several teachers have told me of the Italian children having for their luncheon bread and home-made wine, and of the children returning to this school in the afternoon stupefied. I have seen immigrants after landing take the little children into the saloons and forcing the beer down the tender throats."

Do Not Drink Good Water.

"Do you know that Rome has the best water in the world, yet no one uses it. Even the poorest beggars and the smallest children have their loaf of bread and a bottle of sour wine if nothing else."

"I would begin to teach in the kindergarten, and not in the seventh or eighth grades, of the evils of alcoholic drink. But I would not show these little children the alcohol eaten stomachs and the hob-nailed livers of its victims. No little child in a kindergarten ever thinks of becoming a drunkard. I would use the constructive plan of instruction, letting them begin to learn of the evils of the habit from the start, and taking them deeper into its influence as they grow older."

"Among my 16 charts, I have two that I use in all of my work. One shows the food value of a bottle of alcohol, as determined by government experts and the other the food value of a keg of beer, as shown by tests made by the temperance association. This last shows that beer is composed of 91 per cent water, four per cent of alcohol and has a food value of one and one half per cent."

"I have marked the alcohol line on this chart with a skull and cross bones. Do you know that it is a deadly poison, ranking with ether and chloroform as an anesthetic, but having the same cell destroying property of strychnine and arsenic."

Mrs. Stella B. Irvine, superintendent of Sunday school work at Riverside, Cal., spoke of the use of temperance lessons in the graded study, and said that was the goal toward which her department was striving.

Score Cigarette Habit.

Mrs. Margaret Munns, superintendent of W. C. T. U. Institute work at Seattle, Wash., told of the necessity of constant instruction in the meetings of the local unions, in the national magazines and in the institutes, and while speaking of the latter, gave some instructions on how to conduct institutes locally. She said that many people joined the W. C. T. U. at the urging of some friend, as the result of having heard a good speaker for the cause, and having signed the register and paid their dues, apparently lost all interest. Her address was as to how to win these people back and secure others.

Mrs. E. B. Ingalls, national superintendent of the anti-narcotic department, of St. Louis, Mo., greatly deplored the increasing use of cigarettes by women. She said that she considered the tobacco curse even worse than that of liquor, for while some progress had been made against the latter, comparatively little attention was being paid to the ravages that tobacco smoking was making on the people of the nation.

She said that it was not the respectable woman that was to blame for this, because many of them did not smoke, while the others smoked behind closed doors where it was not offensive. She charged the well dressed society women of the day, with being the cause of increased smoking by women, as they were the example in manners and clothing that the young girls of all classes in the nation look to.

Set Bad Example.

"Our girls bright and sweet, admiring these well dressed people," said Mrs. Ingalls. "When these people indulge, and indulge openly in the use of tobacco, then they become the young girl's greatest menace."

The institute of the Loyal Temperance Legion, being held each morning in the Sunday school room of the White Temple, attracted the largest crowd of any of the morning's activities of the convention. The room was crowded, and extra chairs had to be brought in for the people who came to hear Christine L. Tilling of Norfolk, Va., give her scientific temperance address. She told of how this subject might be taught with understanding to children.

Roseella A. Davidson of Ohio organized and conducted a model Loyal Temperance legion, and Mrs. Unruh, president of the Oregon W. C. T. U., gave a chalk talk for children. This was followed by a discussion of blackboard helps by Mrs. Phelps, a southern California delegate, and Mrs. Helen Rice of Boston conducted a question box.

Mrs. Eva Wheeler, Oregon Young People's Branch secretary, spoke on the subject, "How Shall We Fit Young People for Home Building?" in the second day of the Young People's Branch conference being held in the Sunday school room of the Grace Methodist church. Other speakers were Mrs. Frances Adkins, national lecturer, and Miss Margaret Hill of Michigan. The meeting was rounded out with a discussion.

MERE MAN TAKES A BACK SEAT AT W. C. T. U. MEETINGS

Entitled to fame only because they were husbands of well known women of the assemblage, the feature of the Monday afternoon session of the national W. C. T. U. was the introduction of a score of male prohibitionists. All realized that for the present at least, they were subordinate members of the highly applauded by the delegates and visitors.

A subscription shower given the president, Mrs. Stevens, followed immediately after the report of the two W. C. T. U. papers had been read. Mrs. Stevens was making a plea for an increased subscription list for the coming year, when the increase started. One envelope from a southern state contained $65, and one from Illinois contained fifty-five paid up subscriptions. Another from Iowa pledged 1900 sub-scribers to the Union Signal and the Young Crusader. Altogether several hundred dollars was subscribed in a few minutes.

Prizes were afterward awarded for those who had secured the most new subscribers in the official papers. Montana received the big banner for the most subscriptions in a state having more than 1000 members while New Mexico received the most subscriptions in a state having a membership of less than 1000 and was awarded the small banner. The states of Washington, received two of the watches, making 13 that state has been awarded within the last ten years.

Timely because of the meeting of the city council special committee Monday afternoon to consider the "main place" ordinance, a resolution was unanimously passed by the convention condemning the social evil. The resolution, introduced by Mrs. Martha B. Platt of Seattle, read as follows:

"Resolved, That we, the members of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union, assembled hereby place ourselves on record in believing that purity of life is essential to men and women."

"We condemn as false and pernicious the doctrine that the social evil is a necessity."

"We declare segregation and regulation wrong in principle and utterly inadequate to lessen the evil and that they provide for its perpetuation, not its extermination."

from October 1 to the last day of the year, a slight change was made in one of the sections of the constitution which was passed without discussion. The constitution before the change was made, allowed the convention to be held only in October or November. Several years ago some trouble resulted, as the convention could not be arranged for December when congress could be in session, and the W. C. T. U. had some important legislation which it was felt would be furthered if the women, holding the meeting in Washington, could be presented when it was offered the two national legislative bodies for consideration.

Claims of the National Educational Quarterly, a magazine devoted to the cause, were vigorously promoted by Edith Smith Davis, the publisher, of Hartford, Wis. She made a great appeal for funds, by telling of some of the hardships she underwent in lecturing.

Monday night was designated on the program of the Women's Christian Temperance Union national program as "world's night" and the principal number on the program was an illustrated lecture given by Mrs. Anderson Hughes of New Zealand. Her talk was illustrated with a large number of slides of various scenes of New Zealand. Mrs. Hughes told, enthusiastically, the story of New Zealand's endeavor for the past 21 years, and how the organization had been a mighty factor in the betterment of labor and social conditions there.

The lecture was made more interesting by the presence of several girls in the costume of the Maori, the native New Zealanders.

Other speakers of the evening were Edith Smith Davis, superintendent of the department of scientific temperance; Mrs. Katherine Stevens of Massachusetts and Mrs. Eva Thatcher of New Jersey.

Mrs. Ella A. Bools, president of the

New York state W. C. T. U., as the hostess of the world convention of the W. C. T. U. to be held in Brooklyn next fall, was presented.

Spring, Ark., relative to what Sam

Schepps had told friends there, was read to the court.

"I don't want you fellows to think we killed a man who was of any account," Schepps told Postmaster Johnson of Hot Springs, according to Mr. Johnson's testimony. "That fellow Rosenthal was a dirty cur. He should have been killed. I don't want you fellows to think of me as a common murderer."

Mr. Johnson's testimony was read by John W. Hart, Becker's lawyer, to support the contention that Schepps was one of four men who desired Rosenthal's death.

Aunt Sally's Advice

To Beauty Seekers

Red Nose. The nose is a more delicate organ than most people imagine. It should be touched as little as possible.

For undue redness the treatment recommended in following paragraph will be found effective. Apply without rubbing.

Muddy Skin. The sanest, safest and surest method of giving a clear, healthy, transparent appearance to the complexion is to apply ordinary mercurized wax every night for from one to two weeks.

This wax, obtainable at any drug store

(one ounce is sufficient), actually takes off a bad complexion by gently and gradually absorbing the thin veil of surface skin. The new skin then in evidence is as fresh and velvety as a young girl's.

The wax is applied like cold cream and washed off mornings.

Wrinkles. A harmless lotion made as follows has been found very effective in cases of wrinkles and flabbiness:

Powdered mastic, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, 4 pint. Bathe the face in this occasionally.—Woman's Realm. Adv.

Rose said:

"You tell Rosenthal for me that he had better keep his mouth shut or I will shut it for him so that it will stay shut."

Sullivan rehearsed much of the testimony given at his former examination.

He declared that "Bridgey" Webber had said to him:

"I know Becker is innocent, but Rose is running this. He would plant a frameup on either Mayor Gaynor or Commissioner Waldo if he had to."

Continuing his direct testimony, Sullivan said:

"Rose told me that District Attorney

Whitman had stipulated that he would get them out of trouble if they framed up a deal on Becker. I said to Rose,

'So you frameup on people, do you?'

'Why, if I had to stay another month with you I would go insane.'

Sullivan then told of another talk he had with Webber.

"I am the happiest man in the world," Webber said to me," Sullivan testified, "and my wife is the happiest woman. Rosenthal wanted to kill me, but I do not have to be afraid now."

"Rose, Vallion and Webber asked me to say that I saw the murder, and said

I would be in bad with them if I didn't.

They said they had gotten Becker into

it. They admitted they had framed him, but said they knew enough to get out of it themselves."

Yesterday testimony taken in Hot

Tailored Suits That Are Worth While Regular $32.50 Models at $19.75

—Not from a standpoint of style alone are these suits worth while, but the materials embodied in their makeup are of the highest class. We have been favorably known for years for the excellent style and quality of our women's tailored garments.

—Popularity is, at best, but the flighty shadow of public approval, but the popularity which has been honestly earned and rightly merited will endure. This LASTING popularity we have achieved by our distinctly high-grade suits, for which our suit department is noted.

—We earnestly recommend to the critical and discriminating buyer this tailored garment at the special price of $19.75. It is strictly man-tailored in every respect. Even the materials used are such as are employed in the make-up of men's clothing—fine imported hard-twisted serges in navy and black.

—Two of the most popular Fall and Winter styles are shown here.

—One model is made in the correct 32-inch jacket, with straight four-button front and semi-fitting back.

—The other model has a three-button cutaway front with the jacket slightly dipping away in the back.

—Both styles are in the new straight lines, pronounced the most popular and correct style. Lined with finest quality guaranteed Skinner's satin.

—The skirts are cut on excellent lines in the silhouette style.

—No better suits are made than these at the price.

Style of Blouse Discriminating Women Want A $3.00 Model as Illustrated at $1.95

—This is a splendid opportunity for women who desire waists with a "made-to-order" style. In fact, the main characteristic of our blouse department is the fact that all our waists boast this particular exclusive air.

—The blouse on sale is illustrated minutely, even to the six tiny white buttons near the collar.

—A novelty style of allover tucked net, in white only, with a soft white lining. The white messaline silk vest gives it a very Frenchy air. The small yoke and collar are formed of fancy lace medallions. Trimmed on the sleeves and over the shoulders with effective two-inch wide Cluny insertion, piped with white satin.

The Pianos We Sell Whether for $250 or $2000 Are Absolutely Dependable

¶ We carry all kinds of pianos when measured by price—from $250 to $2000, but we sell only one kind of quality—dependable quality.

¶ We have had customers who needed only one piano in their lifetime, but the quality, the dependability, has been such that the second and third generations of that family have also come to us for their pianos.

¶ Some day you will want a STEINWAY Piano—the STANDARD of the world. We will sell you a less expensive piano now and agree to take it back any time within three years, allowing you the full purchase price toward a new Steinway.

¶ Moderate terms on any Piano, even the Steinway.
