

PLAN NOW TO USE THE SCHOOL HOUSE AS A LABOR OFFICE

To Link Social Center Work With the Economic Problem of the Unemployed Being Urged.

(Special to The Journal.) Washington, Nov. 5.—Schoolhouses as employment offices is the most recent proposal in the movement for the wider use of the school plant, according to information received at the United States bureau of education.

The plan to link the social center work with the economic problem of the unemployed is urged by Professor Commons in the following terms: "There is need of an organized market for labor."

Nor should this mark the end of the school's function in the labor problem, according to Professor Commons. "There is belief that the school, acting as a branch of the children's department of the employment office, should be made to help reduce the maladjustment of occupations that is now a crying evil."

Records of children's aptitudes should be kept in school. Teachers can best tell what the child is good for, and they should direct the children into the most promising occupations, he says.

The attention given to Professor Commons' proposal emphasizes the rapid development of the idea of "wider use of the school plant," since Edward J. Ward inaugurated the social center work at Rochester. Kansas City affords a current instance of the readiness to accept the social center idea.

The use of school buildings as forums for political discussion is now a fact in both Chicago and New York. In the latter city a plan to use the buildings as polling places received strong support from civic organizations; and while educators have no way of finding out just how far the suggestion of schoolhouses as labor exchanges will be adopted, the fact that a proposal like this receives

ROSEBURG MAN WRITES FOR WIFE

Quite Alluring Prospect Open to Dear Girls of Elgin, Illinois.

(Special to The Journal.) Elgin, Ill., Nov. 5.—Elgin's reputation for having a surplus of marriageable girls—pretty ones, too—has traveled over the country to Roseburg, Or. From that distant point comes a letter from one lonely bachelor, O. V. Beck by name, whose loneliness is doubly increased by being in a lonely town.

He wants a mate to share a fine modern home, an income of $150 a month and to enjoy the finest climate in the world. He prescribes that the girl must be fairly good looking, a good cook and of a loving disposition, and one who must have an education, so as to help him transact his business.

"As I am in a lonely western town, I will drop you this note to put in the leading paper of your town, as I hear that there are plenty of girls there. I thought I might happen to have the luck to get one of those girls, if she suits me. I have a nice modern home and a good salary, and I would not hesitate to share it with her. I also have a position that pays me $150 per month, and this is the finest climate in the world."

"I am 5 feet 10 inches tall, weigh 175 pounds, am 23 years old and fairly good looking, but haven't a very good education. I prefer a girl fairly good looking and of normal size. She must be a good cook and of a loving disposition. She must have a good education to transact my business. Please do this and I will be thankful to you and pay the expense. Please send me one of your papers with this appeal for a wife in.

O. V. BECK, 123 South Flint St., Roseburg, Or. P. S.—Doesn't require any wealth."

attention proves how widespread is the sentiment in favor of any and all projects involving a wider use of the school plant for the benefit of the community.

LIGHTNER CHARGES NEWS WITH CRIMINAL LIBEL

Criminal libel is to be charged against the Portland News by County Commissioner Lightner as the result of an article in the News yesterday attacking members of the county court and especially Mr. Lightner. The article charged Mr. Lightner and the other members of the court with fraud in connection with the purchase of county supplies.

Mr. Lightner is especially disposed to prosecute the management of the paper on account of the fact that the article was published just prior to the election, thus giving Mr. Lightner no opportunity to reply to the charges. He has requested the district attorney's office to investigate the publishing of the article, and at once proceed against the paper.

ENGLAND FAVORABLE TO OREGON APPLES

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.) Washington, Nov. 5.—The bureau of manufactures notes that the arrival at Manchester in mid-October of the liberal with the first of the season's shipments of American apples leads the Manchester Guardian to call attention to the fact that Manchester is now the fourth port in Great Britain for this trade. In the little known commercial snailroom at Deanigate about $2,500,000 worth of fruit is bought each year, buyers coming from all the large towns in the north of England and from Birmingham, Leicester and Nottingham.

Rev. Mr. Simpson caught the man's blow with his left hand, thereby receiving only a slight wound in the chest.

Northeast Washington Also Wet.

(Special to The Journal.) Spokane, Wash., Nov. 5.—In spite of bad roads and frequent showers, voting in eastern and northeast Washington is unusually heavy, farmers showing keen interest and coming to the polls in all sorts of conveyances. The woman's vote in the country appears lighter than expected. Roosevelt sentiment seems slightly stronger than Wilson. The big fight for governor here seems to be between Hodge and Hay.

TURKISH WAR IS LESSON TO U. S.

Japanese Menace Should Be Warning to This Nation, Says General Forbes.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 5.—"The American people will be betrayed into submission and serfdom to the Japanese within less than ten years at the rate they are arming and at the rate our national defense is being neglected," says Adjutant General E. A. Forbes after reading of the rout of the Turkish army.

Forbes takes the idea of Japanese invasion of this coast very seriously. He hopes to see the United States develop a great military power, such as that of Great Britain and Germany and to refer all aspirations for international peace to a balance in fighting equipment.

"The peace advocates who are seeking to stop the development of our naval and military strength are playing into the hands of Japan," he said.

NORTH BANK EQUALIZES SWITCHING CHARGES

W. E. Coman, general freight and passenger agent of the Hill lines in Oregon, announced this morning that the North Bank line has equalized switching charges on carload lots of lumber, grain, flour and other grain products between the North Pacific Terminal company's yards and industries on the tracks of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railway.

This means a reduction of the charge for the service from $5 to $3 per car and will prove a considerable saving to lumber and grain shippers, particularly the latter for large quantities of wheat brought over the North Bank line goes to the docks for reshipments by way of the terminal company's yards. The reduction applies on carloads, interchange with other lines through the terminal company's yard.

"The reductions become effective November 13 and December 14, on the date first mentioned for intrastate traffic, and on the second day mentioned for interstate traffic," explained Mr. Coman this morning. "The change, however, does not in any way involve the switching situation."

OREGON STATE CAPITOL FIRE CAUGHT IN TIME

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Or., Nov. 5.—A charred streak, reaching from the floor to the ceiling just outside the door of the secretary of state's office in the statehouse, indicates how nearly a disastrous fire was averted in the capitol last night. The fire occurred about 11:20 o'clock. Law students, who had been engaged in the state library until a late hour, dropped a match on the way out of the building, and the match fell against an exhibit of corn stalks leaning against the wall in the hallway. The blaze quickly leaped to the ceiling and door casing but quick action of Jim Allison, an employe in the secretary of state's office, who happened to be in the building, prevented serious results.
