Boy Will Go to Reform School

Two years ago Melbourne Evans, 17 years old, stole a motorcycle. Soon after that he was accused of stealing a horse. Saturday night he was arrested for stealing an automobile. Such is the progress made by Evans in his downward career, which now promises to end in the state reform school, as he is under a suspended sentence from the juvenile court. Evans took the auto belonging to H. B. Dabney, 307 Railway Exchange building, Friday night. The car was left at the Baker theatre. Leaving Portland, Young Evans started up the valley, reaching Canby, where the car burned out. Abandoning the machine, he made his way to Salem to the home of a friend. The Salem police arrested him. Detective Fisher returned with the lad to Portland yesterday.

Federal Grand Jury in Session

Sam Weaver, an Indian of the Klamath reservation, pleaded guilty to a statutory charge in the United States district court this morning and was given six months in the Multnomah county jail. C. E. Lloyd, the itinerant blind musician, who was arrested several weeks ago on a charge of violation of the Mann white slave act, was taken to the federal court in the eastern Washington district at North Yakima on an order of deportation Saturday for trial. Lorraine Day, the 15 year old girl of Walla Walla, who is mixed up in the affair, was taken to North Yakima several days ago to appear as the principal witness. The federal grand jury for the November term met at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Body Sent to Old Home

The body of Captain F. S. Whiting, whose death occurred at his home, 533 Webster street, was sent back to his old home in Des Moines, Iowa, yesterday, after services had been held in Holman's chapel. Captain Whiting was 76 years old. Born in Ohio, he early migrated westward and when the war broke out enlisted in an Iowa regiment of cavalry, and was made lieutenant. Later he received the title of captain because of gallant services rendered. After the war he settled in Des Moines, where he engaged in business until 20 years ago, when he retired on account of failing health. He came to Portland to be with his son, Raymond F. Whiting, six years ago. Five children survive.

Funeral of Howard C. Van Meter

The funeral of Howard C. Van Meter, Christian Scientist reader and publicity man, whose death occurred last Friday night, was held yesterday afternoon at St. Andrew's chapel, Third and Clay streets. The services were largely attended. They were conducted by F. Elmo Robinson, first reader of the First Church of Christ, Scientist. There was a great abundance of beautiful floral offerings. A private service was held later at the Portland crematorium. Pallbearers were A. T. Hines, C. H. S. King, Paul Seedy, W. D. McWaters, J. W. Reynolds and O. S. Hubbell.

pledged guilty and paid a fine of $50. Miller was first convicted by a jury in the municipal court, where he was sentenced to the rockpile for six months. The case was appealed, the higher court sustaining the lower court's verdict. By an error in the trial, the case was ordered retried. Joe Curry, the chief witness against Miller, and who had become a confirmed drug user through Miller's drug store, had left the state, going to California. He is now in the Hospital at San Francisco. Miller has disposed of his drug store.

John Is Much Abused

"Every time I come into a new town, the officers grab me. They can't leave a fellow alone that's down and out. I try to get along, but it's always jail, rockpile and trouble." Such was the plea of John Devine this morning in the municipal court, where he was charged with being a vagrant. Devine was arrested by Detectives Coleman and Snow. His partner was recently sent to the rockpile for 180 days for being a vagrant. Evidence presented by Detective Coleman this morning was to the effect that Devine had served two terms in the state prison of Washington, one term in the Oregon prison, and several jail sentences. He was given 180 days at the Linnton rockpile by Judge Taswell.

Bullet Through Woman's Hat

A sentence of 90 days on the rockpile and a fine of $10 was given Otto Frucht, 18 years old, this morning in the municipal court for discharging firearms within the city limits. Frucht, with three other boys was found shooting at Fifty-seventh and Alberta streets yesterday afternoon by Captain of Police Keller. The captain, his wife and two other friends were gathering ferns in this neighborhood, when several bullets whizzed past them. One missile cut through the hat of Mrs. Keller. The other boys are Thomas Prahl, William Blackwell and William Blum. They will be taken before the juvenile court.

Potato Shaped Like "S"

One of Kern Park, digging in the garden of H. G. Hartman at Gresham, unearthed in one hill three potatoes of peculiar shape. One of the tubers is in the shape of a fairly well formed letter "S," and the other two are almost perfect twins. Mr. Hartman also picked several large strawberries of the third crop on the same property. Mr. Bonner says that had it not been for the heavy rain and the frost of the past few weeks the berry crop would have been large and of splendid flavor.

Grill Mixed Up in Bootlegging Charge

—Bootlegging from a local grill was the charge made against J. R. Morgan this morning in the municipal court. A lumber camp worker by the name of Reynolds gave Morgan $1 with which to buy some whiskey yesterday. Morgan says he bought it from a waiter at the grill. The waiter denies it. Patrolmen Burston and Glace arrested both men at Third and Burnside streets. Morgan took the officers to the grill, pointing out the waiter who sold the liquor.

Salem, Or., Nov. 15.—The desert land board has granted the central Oregon irrigation company 90 days' extension of time to complete the north canal portion of the company's project. The company's contract calls for completion of this canal by the first of the new year, and the company officials asked for six months' extension of time, but the board cut the request in half.

CHIEF SUBS WHEN CITIZENS ASK THAT 'PIGS' BE CLOSED

Law Enforcement Supporters in Albany, "Wettest Dry Town in Oregon" Determined Bootleggers Must Go.

(Special to The Journal)

Albany, Or., Nov. 15.—To the city marshal of Albany and the sheriff of Linn county: We, the undersigned 200 citizens of the city of Albany, organized into a Law Enforcement league, being convinced that there are blind pigs running in Albany that can be prevented, that there are four or more gambling houses running in the city as well as houses of ill fame, request you to close them up at once to arrest all men who are selling liquor in violation of the local option law and also to arrest the men who own the buildings where liquor is sold contrary to law.

"We pledge you our individual and financial support and promise you that we will, in every way, back you up in the performance of your duty, which we expect you to perform at once."

This resolution was adopted at a mass meeting held at the Methodist church here yesterday afternoon and read to Chief of Police Ellis Daughtry, who had come to the meeting reluctantly after a committee had been sent to find him.

Daughtry was publicly informed of the accusations that have become so common about the city that he is receiving money from Jim Hart, said to be the principal blind pigger of the city, for allowing them to run without disturbance.

Chief Breaks Down and Sobs. In replying that he was ready to sign any complaint that the city attorney or the district attorney might draw against any of the blind piggers and that he was willing to raid any of them at any time when he had a reasonable bit of evidence, Daughtry broke into sobs. He added that if the citizens of Albany were not satisfied with his work and desired another man to do it, he would resign.

Specific requests were made to Chief Daughtry that he arrest two of the worst bootleggers, but he demurred on the ground that he had no warrants. He was then asked if he would raid these places, throw out their fixtures and furniture and destroy their booze, as he had done some time ago for Al Peacock. He replied that he might, but still seemed loath to say that he would do so.

Dr. J. P. Wallace, formerly mayor of Albany, warned him that unless he would do so, the citizens of Albany would petition the council to appoint a man that would, Daughtry broke into sobs and left the church, saying that the citizens wanted to put in another man to do his work, he would resign, but that he was willing to do all in his power to enforce the law.

Since Albany voted to remain dry by a majority of 151 at the recent election the leaders of the dry movement have been actively working toward a more rigid enforcement of the law against the sale of liquor, as the city has earned the reputation of being the "wettest town in the state." It is commonly known that booze is being sold over the bar in a number of places, some of them being so open about it that no effort seemed to be made to conceal the traffic which is carried on in the fronts of the buildings and in plain sight from the street.

Claims He Is "Goat"

Allegations that the blind piggers and the police have been working together are freely made, but this is the first time that such statements have been announced in public. Al Peacock, the leading figure in a number of blind pig cases and now under indictment charged with attempting to bribe Daughtry with an offer of $750, says he has been made the "goat" by the police because he would not "come across."

Mayor of Hood River Will Seek Reelection

(Special to The Journal) Hood River, Or., Nov. 15.—The eleventh hour for filing petitions with the city recorder for a place on the official ballot in the ensuing election for city officers has resulted in the candidacy of George Dimmick for city recorder and E. O. Biancher, present mayor.

PANAMA CANAL TO BE OPENED WITHIN YEAR, SAYS REPORT

Completion of Lock Gates Is Biggest Job to Be Done; Goethals Makes His Annual Statement to Sec. of War.

Washington, Nov. 15.—That the Panama canal will be completed within the next 12 months is indicated by Colonel George W. Goethals, in his annual report to the secretary of war.

While the chief engineer of the "biggest job on earth" does not say in so many words that his labors will be through in a year, he contrasts the work that was done during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912, with what remains to be done, and the reasonable deduction is that by this time next year the gigantic task will be at an end and vessels will be threading their way back and forth between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans through the world's greatest artificial waterway.

The most important work that is yet to be done is the completion of the lock gates. All the steel and other material that is necessary to make these gates are now in the shops of the canal zone and the work is going forward rapidly.

In June, 1912, there were 34,957 people on the payroll of the commission with an aggregate monthly salary of $1,500,000.

The population of the zone at the present time is 62,510. Of this number 42,174 are employees and officials of the United States government, their wives and children. During the year ending June 30 last, there were 7055 arrests—6452 males and 603 females.

The commission conducts 19 hotels throughout the zone, 3 night restaurants, 18 European laborers' messes and 18 common laborers' kitchens, out of which they made a total profit last year of $37,517.65. But all these profits accrued from the laborers' messes and kitchens, there being a loss on the hotels of $12,055.37.

The old French scrap, which the commission bought for $215,000, was sold for about $75,000.

In relation to the health conditions on the Isthmus the report says: Health Conditions Improve. The total admissions to hospitals and sick camps, including those sick in quarters during the year, were 48,307; the daily average sick was 22.51 out of every thousand employees, as against 24.77 for 1910-11 and 22.01 for 1909-10, on the basis that the total numbers employed during the years mentioned were 50,907, 49,129 and 50,535, respectively. The total number of deaths among employees was 608, of which 35 were Americans, 79 were white employees of other nationalities, and 594 were blacks. The total number of deaths from violence among all employees was 154, as against 178 for the preceding year. In addition, on the recommendation of the medical examining board, 133 deportations were made, 141 for disease and 52 for injuries.
