

GUNMEN WILL BE SENTENCED NOV. 26; ARE DEFIANT

Gamblers Expect to Be Free Today—All Plan to Travel—Rose to Write Book on the Underworld.

New York, Nov. 20.—Sentence on Harry Horowitz, alias "Gyp the Blood," "Lefty Louie," Rosenberg, "Whitney" Lewis and "Dago Frank" Crofcol, convicted of first degree murder for slaying Gambler Herman Rosenthal, will be imposed next Tuesday, November 26.

This date was fixed today by Justice John W. Goff in the state supreme court after motions to set aside the verdict and demands for a retrial had been denied.

The gunmen retained their nerve and were defiant and sullen throughout the proceedings.

Justice Goff granted a motion to release the wives of Horowitz and Crofcol, who have been held in the house of detention since the arrest of their husbands several weeks ago.

Freedom is in sight for the four New York gamblers whose testimony resulted in the conviction of former Police Lieutenant Charles P. Becker and his hired gunmen. The four men—"Bald Jack" Rose, "Bridgway" Webber, Harry Vallon and Sam Schepps—think they may be released this afternoon as a reward for their confessions. All four will leave New York at once, but have promised to return if needed to testify.

Rose is going to London to complete a book on the underworld and later will go into the theatrical business. Webber, who is wealthy, plans a tour of the world. Vallon has announced his intention of going to the Argentine Republic, where he plans to open a gambling establishment. Schepps says he will go to Hot Springs, Arkansas, to recuperate from the effects of his long confinement.

CALIFORNIA IS STEALING NORTHWEST APPLE GLORY

Are California apple growers deliberately trying to mule the fame of the great Pacific northwest as the apple center of the world?

J. W. Wisner, formerly connected with fisheries in Portland and now commissioner of fisheries in Uruguay, has written a friend in Portland from London, England, under date of November 2, as follows:

"Have been eating 'Grimes' Golden' apples from boxes labeled North Yakima, but displayed in the windows as 'Yellow Northern Pippins' from Wenatchee Valley, California. What's the matter with Oregon?"

This would indicate that Londoners are enjoying the wonderful lusciousness of Pacific northwest apples, under false pretenses, and unaware of the fact that the Wenatchee valley is one of the great fruitgrowing districts of the state of Washington.

BAPTIST SOCIAL UNION ORGANIZATION FORMED

The Baptist Social Union, an organization that has been under contemplation for some time, was perfected last night at a meeting at the White Temple, when a representative body of men of the Portland Baptist churches gathered to discuss final plans.

H. C. Knapp was elected president and Rev. O. C. Wright was elected secretary. A resolution condemning the action of the Portland News in its attack on the Y. M. C. A. was unanimously passed.

The first banquet of the newly organized union will be held some time in January. At the meeting last night several entertainment features were presented, and the ladies of the church acted as hostesses to the men in serving a banquet.

EX-SHERIFF FRAZIER REPORTED IMPROVED

William Frazier, formerly sheriff of Multnomah county, and a prominent horseman in the northwest, has sufficiently recovered from a recent operation at Good Samaritan hospital to return to his home. Mr. Frazier was operated upon for throat trouble. He has been at the hospital about 10 days, and will return to his home tomorrow.

INFORMERS IN ROSENTHAL MURDER TRIAL ENTERING COURT

MANY WESTERNERS BEING GROOMED TO GO TO THE CABINET

Colorado and California Both Have Candidates for the Interior Portfolio, But Advantage Seems With Oregon.

Democrats of four states of the far west are advancing the claims of distinguished citizens for secretary of the interior in the cabinet of President Wilson.

Oregon presents Joseph N. Teal and Will R. King. California offers James D. Phelan, Washington suggests ex-Senator George Turner and Charles G. Helfner, while Colorado brings forward ex-Governor Alva Adams. Others are being "mentioned," but for these men real movements are under way, and their claims are to be seriously urged upon the president-elect.

Geography is expected to play a part in the formation of the cabinet, political considerations play another part, and the qualifications of the man will likely be the most weighty consideration of all with the new president.

Leaving aside the personal equation for the present, Oregon appears to have an advantage over the rival states in other respects. In geography Oregon is on a par with California and Washington, at least, and has an advantage over Colorado, as it is considered that Wilson desires to give recognition to the Pacific coast group, in the center of which lies Oregon.

Oregon has a better claim on the new president than any other state of the far west, from the political standpoint, for Oregon was the only state west of Kansas that sent a delegation to Baltimore pledged to Wilson.

Washington and Colorado all sent delegations for Champ Clark, and the delegations from those states held out for Clark to almost the last ballot.

Again, on the score of past cabinet favors, Oregon has the best of it. California has had Joseph McKenna as attorney general under Harrison, and Victor H. Metcalf as secretary of commerce and labor, and later as secretary of the navy under Roosevelt.

Washington has had R. A. Ballinger as secretary of the interior under Taft, and Colorado had Henry M. Teller as secretary of the interior under Hayes. Oregon has had a member of the cabinet only once. That was George H. Williams, attorney general in the administration of Grant.

It will be observed that the far west has twice been honored with the secretaryship of the interior. In the case of Ballinger this recognition was a disaster, but the other men from the far west have acquitted themselves well. The west just now is asking for the interior

The death of J. N. Brown, a well known Portland attorney, at his home, 1014 Thurman street, following a lingering illness, occurred yesterday. His

MEN ARE HELPLESS AS CHILDREN

When Taken Suddenly Ill—Here Is a Common-Sense Safeguard.

Big, strong man is as a helpless infant when he is suddenly ill. The sturdiest chap in town usually loses his self-control, and is utterly unable to regard his condition with the common sense that characterizes his every-day actions.

For example: He comes home tired, eats a heavy dinner and sits down to read and smoke away a quiet evening. Suddenly he notices a weight on his stomach; then sharp pains around his heart, and a feeling of suffocation. Thoughts of "heart disease" rush over him, and in his agony he fears the worst.

His trouble was acute indigestion, brought on by overloading his tired stomach.

A couple of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets might have given him relief—might have saved him hours of suffering.

Carry a package of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets in your vest pocket or keep them in your room. Take one after each heavy meal, and ward off indigestion. Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets relieve stomach troubles by aiding nature to supply those elements, the absence of which in the gastric juices, causes indigestion and dyspepsia. They tend to aid the stomach to digest all kinds of food and to quickly convert it into rich red blood.

We know what Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are and what they will do. We guarantee them to relieve indigestion and dyspepsia. If they fail, we will refund your money.

illness had caused considerable worry among his friends and family for some time, as it was well known that his malady was incurable.

Mr. Brown was a native of Iowa, having been born in Burlington in 1857. He graduated from the Willamette university at Salem, Or., in 1888. He established a law office in Heppner, where he practiced until 1898. He was elected to the state legislature in 1893, and served until 1898. After leaving Heppner he practiced law in Salem, and later established himself here.

He is survived by a widow and one son, Vivian Z. Brown, and three sisters and three brothers, who live in eastern states. He was a member of Portland lodge, A. F. & A. M., of the Scottish Rite lodge, the Mystic Shrine and the Knights of Pythias and the Woodmen of the World.

The funeral was held this afternoon from the home, with W. G. Elliot officiating. The services at the crematorium at 4 o'clock are under the auspices of the Masonic lodge.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Tuxedo cannot bite the tongue or irritate the throat. The reason for this is that Tuxedo is made of only the mildest, choicest leaves of the highest grade, perfectly aged, Burley tobacco, by the famous "Tuxedo process."

The "Tuxedo process" is a secret, known only to its manufacturers.

It was discovered by Dr. R. A. Patterson, the founder of the R. A. Patterson Tobacco Co., after many years of experiment. Its popularity has never been artificially forced by sensational advertising. The demand has grown naturally and steadily, until now nearly eighty million packages are sold yearly.

You can smoke Tuxedo in the office, on the street, and at home. It cannot make you nervous; its aroma is delightful and it cannot smell up lace curtains or your clothes.
