TURKEY REJECTS TERMS OF ALLIES AS UNREASONABLE

Claim Cholera Is Subsiding Among Nazim Pasha's Soldiers and That Sultan's Forces Are in Good Shape.

WILL RESUME FIGHTING AT TCHATALJA FORTS

Russian Cruiser Sent to Jaffa on Report of Christian Massacre There.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Constantinople, Nov. 21.—The ports confirmed today earlier reports that Turkey has rejected the allies' terms, deeming them excessive. Fighting has been ordered resumed.

London, Nov. 21.—Special dispatches to a London news agency say that Turkey has rejected the terms of the Balkan allies, and that Nazim Pasha has been ordered to resume fighting. It is thought possible that the Turks have refused the original terms offered, and that this gave rise to the report of a resumption of hostilities.

Paris, Nov. 21.—Constantinople dispatches today quote Kaimil Pasha as declaring that the war with the Balkan allies will continue unless the allies offer better terms of peace than have yet been suggested. Kaimil is quoted as saying that cholera is subsiding among the Turks. This is denied by eye witnesses, who declare the dead and dying are lying everywhere at Hademkeul, and that but little effort is being made to remove the sick to the cholera camp at San Stefano.

Medical treatment, these witnesses say, is most perfunctory. Cars crowded with sick arrive at San Stefano and the victims are unloaded head over heels down an embankment along the tracks, where most of them are left without further attention. There are few tents in the camp. The death rate among the stricken is said to be more than 50 per cent.

Report Massacre at Jaffa.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Constantinople, Nov. 21.—Reports that a massacre of Christians has started at Jaffa, 30 miles northwest of Jerusalem, have not been confirmed, but there is great anxiety here among representatives of the powers. The Russian cruiser Oleg is steaming full speed for Jaffa to bring succor to the Christians there, if they really have been attacked.

SERVIA YIELDS POINT IN SEAPORT DISPUTE; AVERTS AUSTRIAN WAR

Will Make Restitution to All Who Suffered by Depredations in Territory.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Vienna, Nov. 21.—Serbia notified Austria today that all restrictions in the Turkish territory captured by Serbia had been removed, and that Serbia is preparing to make restitution to all who suffered at the hands of the Serbian troops.

Will Make Restitution to All Who Suffered by Depredations in Territory.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Berlin, Nov. 21.—Danger of a general war in the Balkans is considered past in diplomatic circles here, Serbia's acceptance of a compromise over the Adriatic port dispute having removed Austria's casus belli. The Servians yielded under pressure from their allies. Bulgaria was unable to promise support in the demand for a port on account of her own tremendous losses in the Constantinople campaign. Under the probable arrangement between the Balkan states and the powers it is almost certain that Albania will become a separate principality. Austria and Italy will choose its ruler, and thereby control the east coast of the Adriatic sea. The principality will be under the nominal suzerainty of Turkey. Serbia will get a commercial outlet at some port, but without political authority. The impression is general here that it will take many years for Serbia and Bulgaria to recover from the war. Greece and Montenegro will not be crippled long. It is estimated that 70,000 Bulgarians have been killed and wounded. This estimate does not include the thousands of victims of cholera, whose number is as yet unknown.

Premier Denies Yielding Port.

London, Nov. 21.—Belgrade dispatches received here today quote Premier Pasic of Serbia as denying that his government has yielded to Austria on the question of an Adriatic port. Pasic insisted that Serbia is still determined to retain Durazzo, but his denial is not taken seriously, it supposedly having been issued to satisfy the Serbian war party, which almost dominates King Peter's court.

Servians' Purse Emptied.

Belgrade, Nov. 21.—Serbia's need of money has already reached the point where the government is asking to draw upon the pension fund of the government employes and military officers. The money is demanded as a "loan," with interest at 5 per cent.

Big Cave-In Wrecks Marquam Building Scores Menaced by Avalanche of Brick

Photograph shows great rent in Sixth street side of Marquam building; section of brick wall 16 feet wide by eight stories in height gives way and huge mass of debris is hurled to street below; blocking traffic; structure was undergoing alterations when underpinning is supposed to have given way.

Young Woman Injured in Wild Scramble of Crowd in Street When Second Crash Comes; Foundation Gives Way; Police Are on Guard at Scene of Catastrophe.

Due probably to some defect as yet unexplained, in the foundation for the wooden underpinning used as a temporary support until steel columns could be put in place, a section of the brick wall, 16 feet wide, on the Sixth street side of the remodeled eight story Marquam building, collapsed suddenly at 4 o'clock this morning, and at 11 o'clock this forenoon another big section of the wall, ripping out floors and nearly a score of offices as it went, crashed into the street. No one was hurt in the double crash, but that was due to the rarest good luck. Had the wall collapsed in the daytime instead of at night, there must have been many fatalities among the occupants of the six offices that went down in the first tumble.

The first collapse extended only as high as the fifth floor, but it left a brick column cracked and tottering without support from the fourth floor up, and threw a terrific strain on the unsupported upper stories and the walls to the side of the break. It was quickly seen that another crash was inevitable, and the police roped off Sixth street and part of Morrison street and kept the crowds back. Just before 11 o'clock, as hundreds of curious persons were straining at the police ropes, there was a sudden cracking sound. Half the side of the building seemed to crumble. With a roar that was heard for blocks, a great avalanche of bricks sank into the street. Directly after the crash, an immense cloud of brick dust was hurled outward as if from an explosion. In a slight panic that ensued, Miss Watkins, a young woman living at No. 400 Tenth street, was knocked down and trampled and her right leg was broken. She was carried to her home.

Narrowly Miss Death.

That was the only injury, so far as the police know, to result from the accident, but Architect E. B. MacNaughton, in charge of the remodeling work, said R. G. Grace of the Hurley-Mason company missed death by a narrow chance. MacNaughton and Grace had gone almost under the great hole in the building left by the first break to determine the best way to repair the damage, when the second shower of bricks came without warning. Before they could flee they were enveloped in a cloud of brick dust so thick that they could not see. The only thing they could do was to stand still. The bricks missed them by less than 12 feet. Emory Olmstead, president of the Portland Trust company, and member of the Northwestern Fidelity company, owner of the building, was only a few feet farther away, with Charles H. Carey and F. W. Leadbetter. They were able to run, however, with the first warning about.

The second collapse left a great jagged rent about 30 feet wide, extending the entire height of the building and reaching back from the street for 18 feet in the side of the building. But both E. B. MacNaughton, architect, and J. M. Dougan, of the Sound Construction company, contractors in the remodeling of the building, declared at

EXPLOSION HURTS 20 ON JAPANESE CRUISER

Tokyo, Nov. 21.—Twenty sailors were badly wounded today when an explosion of gunpowder occurred in the magazine of the cruiser Nishin. Half of the wounded were killed.

GIRL IN TOTTERING BUILDING CAREFULLY DRESSED, THEN LEFT

Orpheum, Although Considered Safe, Will Close Until Investigation Is Made.

Miss Eva Aldrich, 20 years old and pretty, night telephone operator for the Equitable Hospital association, which had offices on the entire Sixth street front of the fourth floor of the Marquam building, was sleeping in one of the office rooms when she was awakened by a terrific crash.

"I thought right away that perhaps part of the building had fallen," she said afterwards, "because we had been joking about the possibility of such a thing. I got up and looked out of the window, and the dust made it look as if a bomb had blown up. Then I saw that only the reception room was between me and the place where one of our offices had fallen."

Miss Aldrich was scared but she did not run. She telephoned instead to her chief, Dr. L. Morey, who told her to hurry up and leave. Then she telephoned to Mason Mangham, attorney for the company, who said the same thing. But before she finally went out, she used the telephone a third time, carefully dressed and pulled her hair down before she went down the stairs to the street. On the floor just above is Dr. L. E. Trommald's office. Dr. Trommald's younger brother, Joseph, a University of Oregon medical student, generally sleeps in the office. Last night he did not, but the light in the room was burning.

MADE-IN-OREGON GOODS CAMPAIGN GIVEN IMPETUS

First State Convention of Manufacturers Opens in Portland Under Most Favorable Conditions for Industries.

150 ARE IN ATTENDANCE AT TODAY'S MEETING

President McMonies Gives Address; Advertising of Goods Urged as the Best Policy.

The importance of advertising made-in-Oregon products to insure their use by Oregon consumers, and the need for greater cooperation toward this end by the manufacturers themselves and the dealers who handle their goods, were emphasized by various speakers before the state convention of manufacturers, which held its opening session this forenoon in the Selling-Hirsch building.

Approximately 150 manufacturers representing Oregon industrial concerns were in attendance. Of this number 100 were from Portland and the remainder came from Pendleton, Salem, Eugene, The Dalles, Corvallis and Newberg.

Salem and Marion county were especially well represented by delegations from the Marion County Manufacturers' association and the Salem Women's Home Consumers' league, who invaded the hall bearing banners.

Makes Opening Speech. President W. H. McMonies, of the Portland Manufacturers' association, in made the opening address, presided and introduced the speakers.

Governor West and Mayor Ruhlright, who were scheduled to speak, were unable to be present. The governor was represented by Joseph N. Tabb and D. Solis Cohn spoke for the mayor.

In his opening address, Mr. McMonies said in part: "It is a pleasure in calling to order the first state convention of Oregon manufacturers, and look for much good to come of the meeting. The 'Made in Oregon' movement has been carried along on an increasing scale for several years by the Manufacturers' association. We have now reached the point in our campaign where we must have the support and cooperation of every manufacturer in the state."

Fighting Single Handed. "The association has been making the fight single handed and through our efforts most of the people of Oregon have been made to know the importance of the movement. The manufacturers of the state are receiving considerable benefit, and we wish to make the movement as far reaching as possible and to improve generally the condition of the manufacturers of Oregon. We want the cooperation of everybody, in public and private life. We want you to go away from this convention with the full determination strong in your hearts to do your utmost to increase the demand for Oregon goods. We want you to insist that your retail dealers give 'Made in Oregon' a square deal. They will be forced to do it if you will insist upon being served with Oregon products. Force them to it. That is the way to get your wants supplied."

"If Oregon manufacturers are prosperous, real estate values will enhance, the farming communities will be more prosperous, the public school system will be extended and fine broad highways will gridiron the state, and the railroads will extend their systems in

E. S. J. McALLISTER ARRESTED ON WAY INTO CALIFORNIA

Attorney Wanted in Connection With Juvenile Court Inquiry Fails to Report to the Portland Authorities.

SOCIETY MAN SUSPECT; REPORTED TO HAVE FLED

Warrant Issued for H. L. Tabb, Wounded in Automobile Murder at Oswego.

Medford, Or., Nov. 21.—E. S. J. McAllister was arrested on a southbound train late this afternoon. He said he was on a business trip to California. Medford lawyers identified him. He was supposed to be on his way to Portland.

The failure of E. S. J. McAllister, named in a complaint from the juvenile court in connection with the recent investigations of depravity in this city, and the lack of information at his office as to the time of his expected return, yesterday caused the officers of the court to telegraph to Marshfield, asking his arrest on the warrant issued several days ago.

The message was delayed and the officials this morning were notified from Marshfield that McAllister had left yesterday on the regular morning boat for the mouth of the Umpqua river, in investigation of a special stage had come through from the mouth of the river during the night, carrying four men. One is described as very large and without a mustache, which fits McAllister. This man failed to register at any hotels along the way or at Drain.

The four men left on train No. 15, going south on the Southern Pacific this morning. The officers of the juvenile court have telegraphed to Medford to find out if McAllister is on the train, and if so, he will be arrested.

Every effort will be made to have him returned to Portland in case he has tried to escape, as also will be done in the case of H. L. Tabb.

Tabb, who is contracting freight agent of the Illinois Central lines in Portland, and prominent in the younger social circles of the city, is wanted by the juvenile court in connection with the investigation of wholesale acts of degeneracy unearthed here a few days ago.

Tabb left the town hurriedly some time Monday, shortly after a warrant for his arrest, charging an act of depravity against a boy, had been issued. His present whereabouts is unknown. Tabb, who was popular among the younger set, had been promoted to the position of contracting agent just a few days prior to the exposure which involved about 20 men and boys.

After having taken the matter in her own hands, Mrs. Lee Master had a warrant sworn out for her husband, charging that he married her when he already had a wife in Eugene, and that for the past four months he has been living as the husband of a woman at Klamath Falls. Lee Master is now in jail and declares he is a victim of a frame-up.

"GOVERNOR, HANG ME AND SPARE THE 5 MURDERERS," WRITES KLAMATH WOMAN

"Offer My Life for Theirs," Pleads Mrs. Charles D. Wynne, Who Is a Christian Prepared to Die and Fears the Five Murderers Aren't: "I Would Gladly Give My Life to Save One Soul and Here Are Five."

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Or., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Charles D. Wynne of Klamath Falls, is pleading with Governor West to accept her life in exchange for the lives of the five men condemned, and with their sentences affirmed by votes of the people of Oregon, to be hanged Friday, December 13. Her second letter was received by the governor today. She asserts she is in deadly earnest and that her only provision is that the condemned men must "give assurance that they would give up the world and life for Jesus only."

"Governor West, it is a terrible thing to take a human life," she says. "Suppose the people willed that you spring the trap yourself. Could you do it? Then think of the man whose duty it is to send those souls to eternity. Suppose the people willed that you should stick a knife into each of those five warm, throbbing hearts, and have the warm blood spurt over your hands. Could you ever cleanse the stain? Is it not the very same sin to hang them?"

Like you took a wild bird and put it into a cage and then tortured it and finally when it was stupified with fear, killed it. It is the same with those men. They were put in cages and have suffered a thousand deaths since their sentence. Once those men were tiny babies. You know what they are. Their mothers loved and fondled them the same as your mother did you. Are their mothers alive? If so, think of their anguish of soul at the fate of the little boys they held upon their knees. Are their mothers dead? Think of what might have been had they lived. Put yourself in their places and think of your mother.

"I Offer My Life for Theirs." "Governor West, I am making this second appeal for your own sake, as well as theirs. If they must hang, will you please be merciful and put off the deed for six months or so and give them a chance to get right with God? If you cannot do this, would you accept a substitute for them? If you will, I offer myself, my life for theirs. This would mean absolute freedom for them and a chance as free men to get right with God.

ILLEGAL BALLOTS DISCOVERED MAY START CONTESTS

Acknowledgment of Blank A to Permit Unregistered Citizens to Vote, Before Notary Public, Unlawful.

THIRTY PRECINCTS MAY BE CAST OUT

Legislative Ticket and Circuit Bench Results May Be Changed by Recount.

Consternation and confusion struck the political camps this morning when it was learned that not less than 150, possibly 200 or more illegal votes were cast at the election in Multnomah county.

The serious feature is that the illegal votes are scattered through many precincts, possibly 20 or 30, and in case of a contest these ballots could not be segregated from others. The only recourse, if the courts hold that these votes cannot be counted, would be to throw out the vote of every precinct where such votes appear, which would mean many thousands of votes.

... discovery opens the way for a contest by George Tawell for the place on the circuit bench awarded to George N. Davis on the official count by 128 votes. It might also alter the result on the fall end of the legislative ticket, where A. F. Fiegel, Democrat, is only 238 behind Jay H. Upton, Republican. These are the results most likely to be affected by a contest, but there lurks a possibility that still other results might be overturned.

The illegal voting came through the

PLAYFULLY TYING UP "SWEETHEART," SHE LAMBASTES HIM WELL

Mrs. Fred Lee Master, of Medford, Then Casts Out His Clothes, Says "Beat It."

(Special to The Journal.)

Medford, Or., Nov. 21.—"This is how they lasso cattle in Arizona," laughed Mrs. Fred Lee Master, placing a noose over her husband's head.

"And this," she playfully continued as she tied him in a chair, "is the way I tie up my sweetheart so he can't run away."

The next moment the wife, armed with a rubber hose, was beating the helpless husband black and blue. She then threw all his clothes out of doors, cut the ropes and told him to "beat it." Lee Master "beat it."

After having taken the matter in her own hands, Mrs. Lee Master had a warrant sworn out for her husband, charging that he married her when he already had a wife in Eugene, and that for the past four months he has been living as the husband of a woman at Klamath Falls. Lee Master is now in jail and declares he is a victim of a frame-up.
