

HAZELWOOD FARM GETS GRAND PRIZE AT DAIRY EXHIBIT

Bracelet DeKol, a Holstein, is Awarded the N. P. Sweepstakes Cup, as the Best Cow.

Today was the biggest of the Pacific International Dairy show, being held all this week at the Union Stock Yards, north of the city. The grand sweepstakes prizes were awarded about noon and knowing this the crowd began coming early. It was estimated that 2000 were present at noon and more were coming all the time.

For the best cow, three years old or over, the grand sweepstakes cup offered by the Northern Pacific railroad company, was awarded to Hazelwood Bracelet DeKol, a Holstein owned by the Hazelwood Holstein farm of Spokane, Washington. The sweepstakes were awarded regardless of variety to the best animal in the estimation of the judges.

La Creole's Pet, a yearling heifer owned by W. O. Morrow of Independence, Oregon, won the sweepstakes cup offered by the O. W. R. & N. Railroad company.

The sweepstakes cup for the best bull, three years of age or over, was awarded to Peter Pan, an Ayrshire owned by J. W. Clise of Redmond.

Oregon. This cup was offered by the S. B. & E. railroad.

Sons of the decisions are said to have been unpopular. Such a manner of awarding the sweepstakes, regardless of class, was regarded as unfortunate by most of the exhibitors and the judges were extremely reluctant to announce the result of their decision.

In the general division of money, J. W. Clise of Redmond, Oregon, has so far been the biggest winner. His herd of Ayrshires has brought him $351. In the same class, W. J. Domes has won $225; A. P. Stockwell of Aberdeen, Washington, has won $35 and H. W. Domes won $25.

D. H. Looney of Jefferson, Oregon, was the only exhibitor of Guernseys, and won all the money, amounting to $526.

Judges in the sweepstakes today were Professor E. V. Ellington of Moscow, Idaho, and W. L. Carlyle of Washington State college.

ILLNESS IN ARIZONA AFFECTED FIELD'S MIND
(Special to The Journal.)
Boston, Mass., Nov. 21.—Whitcomb Field, who comes to the city at Resburg, was expected daily to arrive here to spend Thanksgiving with relatives. His sister-in-law, Mrs. Parker Field, says his suicide was not, however, entirely unexpected. She said a short time before leaving Harvard he went to Arizona with Professor Farrabee to study the Navajo Indians, and while there was taken with typhoid fever, the result of which has been recurring mental troubles.

For the last 10 years the average number of days worked per week by the miners of the United Kingdom was 5.19.

LIPTON WILL DEFY WORLD AT FRISCO

Famous British Yachtsman Will Bring Shamrock to 1915 Sailing Races.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Nov. 21.—"I will bring a 23 meter cutter here to race at your great exposition regatta in 1915 and I will hoist my fighting flag and challenge all the world to race for the championship of the sea."
Sir Thomas Lipton, San Francisco's guest, made this assertion to a gathering of more than 200 yachtmen at a banquet tendered him in the St. Francis hotel here. The welcome tendered Sir Thomas was primarily as a yachtsman. Everything in connection with the banquet favored of the sea—the speeches, the decorations and even the guest himself.

"The opening of the canal may see the beginning of the greatness of Pacific coast yachting. The canal will bring this coast 3000 miles nearer and it will then be a pleasant voyage by yacht from Europe through the West Indies to San Francisco," said Sir Thomas, when called on at the close of the evening.

"In my case, I will bring over a Shamrock, though I don't know what one it will be. I am now on my way to New York, here I hope to arrange for a race off Sandy Hook in 1914."

At the conclusion of this reception the San Francisco Press club entertained the visitor at a jinks in the club rooms. Sir Thomas was made an honorary life member.

WILL WARN GROWERS OF FROST SO THEY MAY PROTECT FRUIT

That work tending to the betterment of the frost warning service in this part of the country is to be taken up on a more extensive scale than heretofore, in the assertion of Major Henry B. Hersey, one of the two inspectors in the weather bureau service, who is now in Portland.

Major Hersey says that Professor Willis L. Moore, head of the department of agriculture, is thoroughly in favor of extending the frost warning work wherever it is possible to do so advantageously, and the major and District Forecaster Beals expect to make some visits while he is here to get in touch with some of the fruit growing regions of this district.

It is planned to make a meteorological survey of the region between the Coast range, Cascades and Rocky mountains, that they may be charted and warnings perfected. There are several different methods by which the fruit from frost when warned, different ones being applicable to different sections. In certain districts electricity can be used, says Major Hersey, where there are hydroelectric plants.

DR. WOOD OUT FOR PRESIDENT OF SENATE

Dr. W. D. Wood, of Washington county, one of the elder members of the state senate, just re-elected for four years, is said to be among those who would be pleased with the honor of presiding over that body during the next session of the legislature.

Dr. Wood will naturally draw votes from the same crowd as two of his rivals, John A. Carson of Marion and W. W. Calline of Lane. All of them live in the territory south of Portland and all are of the standpat type.

The support Dan J. Malarkey of Multnomah will receive will depend somewhat on the progress of C. N. McArthur's candidacy for speaker of the house. Malarkey's friends assert he is the logical choice of all factions, but it is known that he will be opposed by the two Bull Moose members of the Multnomah delegation, Joseph and Kellaher.

Joseph and Kellaher have not forgotten or forgiven the bitterness of the fight two years ago over the Malarkey utility bill, when they exchanged with Malarkey the strongest words that parliamentary language would allow. They will be for any of the other candidates before they will favor Malarkey.

If the standpatters hang together and decide to show their power, they may be able to dictate the presidency of the state senate. That is the way it looks from an examination of the roster of members-elect and holdovers to assemble in Salem in January. The standpatters are active candidates for the honor of presiding.

ferry. It was reported that the numerous lapses from the present schedule, which came constantly without warning, worked a great injury to the public. The commercial club will also raise funds for the erection of a shelter at the ferry landing.

President Pennell urged on the club the study and endorsement of the employees' indemnity act which is now being drafted by the commission appointed by Governor West and which Mr. Pennell declared was a satisfactory one. Eugene Brookings, president of the Progressive Business Men's club, addressed the club on the development of St. Johns as a manufacturing center, and James J. Sayer of the Portland Commercial club discussed the problems that are common to St. Johns and Portland and urged the members to work for an industrial survey of St. Johns, looking toward the development of the resources that are nearest to that center and to work especially for factories that will supplement the lines of industry there that are already successful.

ST. JOHNS COMMERCIAL CLUB HOLDS BANQUET

One hundred and twenty-five members of the St. Johns Commercial club met last night at the Commercial club to enjoy a banquet in celebration of the announcement that beginning January 1, the people of that community will have free daily mail delivery.

The St. Johns office is to become a sub-station of the Portland general postoffice and a committee was appointed by H. E. Pennell, president of the commercial club, to learn from Acting Postmaster Williamson the details of the plan of consolidation of the two offices. A second committee was appointed to draw up a satisfactory working schedule for the operation of the
