

HOME INDUSTRY CAMPAIGN TO BE MADE PERMANENT

Promoters Not to Await Governor's Proclamation; Slogans Sounded at Banquet Which Ended Celebration.

A serious resolution to continue Home Industries day every day, without necessitating further proclamations as calls to duty, culminated the "Made in Oregon" banquet in the Commercial club last night and the culmination of the first made in Oregon celebration.

A permanent exhibit of made in Oregon products should be displayed by the chamber of commerce. Goods of high quality should prominently bear the made in Oregon label. An educational campaign should be carried on to acquaint people with the manufacturing possibilities and activities of Oregon and to call attention to the vast store of raw materials and undeveloped resources.

Greater effort should be made to help small industries obtain a start. These were some of the conclusions reached at the banquet, where 320 prominent Oregon men and women sat down to a spread composed entirely of Oregon food products.

J. N. Tait Endorsed.

When Colonel David M. Dunne, the toastmaster, proposed that the Manufacturers' association might properly endorse Joseph N. Tait as the one whom President-elect Wilson should appoint secretary of the interior, there was a great response in applause and a unanimous vote of approval.

President Edgar B. Piper of the Commercial club responded to the toast "The Made in Oregon Movement and Its Relation to the Upbuilding of the State." He spoke of his agreeable surprise to find women present at the dinner, and advised that they had as much influence in promoting the campaign for the use of Oregon made products as the men.

C. C. Colt, president of the Union Meat company, found it impossible to attend the dinner, but sent a letter, which was read by Secretary H. B. Vincent of the Manufacturers' association.

"What Women Can Do to Benefit Manufacturers," was discussed by Mrs. Edith Kellogg Bartlett of Marion county. Women, she observed, can patronize Oregon hair goods instead of sending to China for switches and curls. More attention, too, she said, must be paid to Madam Hen, who never yet has consented that her product be kept in cold storage a year before being sold.

Tells of Work in Washington.

Mrs. E. T. Weathered of Tacoma asserted that the first thing the women of Washington did, when given the ballot, was to organize for the promotion of a made in Washington movement, which, because of its systematic character and persistence, has been highly successful. She said that no movement for state development, either agricultural or manufacturing, can be successful unless the people unite in the building of good roads.

C. W. Hodson, introduced as a pioneer in the printing business of Portland, addressed himself seriously to the disposition of Oregon merchants and manufacturers to give outside printing firms great orders and then, when they do please an order with a local firm, to make it much smaller, still asking the same rate. He suggested to the county court, Judge Cleiton being present, that if it could buy its printed goods in Oregon, the money now going to San Francisco would be kept at home for the use of the taxpayers.

Money Will Remain Here.

That the Lipman, Wolfe & Co. department store contains over $350,000 of made in Oregon furnishings was asserted by Colonel Dunne in introducing Will F. Lipman. That the institution did buy fittings from Oregon manufacturers and at an additional cost of some $30,000, is true, said Mr. Lipman, who added that the fact had never been mentioned before by him, as the plan had not been followed for advertising purposes, but as a result of the conclusion that money spent in Oregon will remain here to be spent again and again, while money that goes out of the state never comes back.

State Senator-elect I. N. Day said that one of the important laws to be sought this winter is a workmen's insurance fund law, the fund to be established by employers.

County Judge Cleiton, answering Mr. Hodson, asserted that the reason the county court bought stationery in San Francisco was because it got it 40 per cent cheaper there, and that it was made by law a duty of the court to award contracts to the lowest bidder. He said, however, that the county court had adopted a 10 per cent preferential in favor of Oregon made goods.

Keeps Guests Laughing.

John F. Carroll kept the guests in an uproar of merriment, telling one story after another in inimitable way and announcing that as the hour was late he'd not make his speech.

The significance of the first Home Industries day was phrased by Marshall N. Dana, who said its theme had been, help one another; its slogan the Golden Rule—"Do ye unto others as ye would that they should do unto you"; the admonition, "working without ceasing"; the watch words, "cooperate-reciprocate."

Don J. Zan sang twice, to the delight of the banqueters. The program ended with brief remarks by Mayor Grant B. Dimick of Oregon City. Moving pictures were shown by the American Lifeograph company, an Oregon concern. The menu, beginning with Yachima bay oyster cocktail, and continuing through Clatsop Beach clam chowder, Beaverton olives, Portland pickles, Columbia shad, Union meat roast beef, Morrow county potatoes, Oregon beans, Jackson county walnuts, Albers cookies, Tillamook cheese, Eugene asparagus, Oregon roasted coffee and Portland made cigars, was entirely satisfactory to the guests of the evening.

Permanent Exhibit Favored.

The banquet committee consisted of Colonel David M. Dunne, J. B. Vincent and Rufus C. Holman. The resolution approving a permanent made in Oregon exhibit was proposed by Dwight Edwards and reads:

"We favor the establishment in Portland, preferably in connection with the chamber of commerce or in the new auditorium, of a permanent made in Oregon exhibit. We believe it to be just as much the duty of the chamber of commerce to exhibit the products of the factory and the loom as of the soil and sea.

"We further request the auditorium commission, in erecting the new auditorium, to arrange for a conspicuous place for exhibiting not only the products of the farm, but of the factory and the loom.

"We also express ourselves as favorable to the immediate establishment of a permanent exhibit in the chamber of commerce of the manufactured products of the state."

TWO CITY TICKETS IN FIELD AT ONTARIO

Ontario, Or., Nov. 22.—Two caucuses were held in Ontario Tuesday night and two city tickets nominated for the regular city election, which will be held here the first Monday in December. A call for a citizen's mass meeting had been called to meet at the Ontario opera house at 8 o'clock. About 6 o'clock a number of electors gathered, and after organizing, nominated the following councillors, three to serve two years, and one to serve one year: Dr. G. A. Fogue, G. L. King, William Sanders and S. F. Taylor.

At 8 o'clock when the crowd began to gather for the mass convention they found the door locked. Unable to procure the key, the meeting adjourned to the city hall, where a permanent organization was perfected by electing Mayor A. W. Trow, permanent chairman, and City Recorder H. B. Gravel permanent secretary, and the following councillors were nominated: E. A. Frazer, A. Zimmerman, L. B. Frye and J. H. Farley. Frazer, Zimmerman and Farley are at present members of the city council, and were renominated. Mr. Frye was nominated to take the place of H. C. Boyer, whose term expires January 1.

Injured Falling Down Stairs.

(Special to The Journal.)
Mount Angel, Or., Nov. 22.—Harold Dussseau, a senior at Mount Angel college, was knocked unconscious here today by falling down a flight of stairs on the fourth floor of the college. Medical attendance was at once secured, and the physician in charge pronounced it a slight concussion of the skull. It is thought that no serious injury will result from the accident. Dussseau is a prominent student and athlete at the college, playing tackle on the football squad and forward on the basketball team.

THREE DIFFERENT APPLICANTS GET CAR FRANCHISES

Blanket Franchise Recommended for P. R., L. & P.; Heusner Request Included After Amendment is Made.

At the conclusion of a long meeting, lasting almost continuously from 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning till after 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the street committee of the city council recommended that franchises for proposed street car lines be given to three different applicants. Perhaps the most important grant of the three was that of a blanket franchise covering 18 miles of streets sought by the Portland Railway Light & Power company. This includes Broadway street and Seventh, from the approach of the Broadway bridge to Grant street; also those portions of the route selected by Heusner, that traverse Prescott street and Maryland and Patton avenues.

The committee further recommended that the Seventh street franchise requested by Dickinson and Heilig be granted also.

The Heusner franchise was amended after a hot debate, and then recommended for passage. The amendment provides for the laying of tracks from the west approach of the Broadway bridge along Seventh street only as far as Flanders, instead of Grant, as was provided in the original application. The line will turn at Flanders, and follow that street to Tenth, along Tenth to Salmon, along Salmon to Fourth, along Fourth back to Flanders and back on Flanders to Seventh.

Spokesmen for a delegation of property owners from the Peninsula foundation, in a deal of words with property owners of Seventh street, but the efforts of the spellbinders from the northeast side to have the committee favor the granting of the Heusner franchise clear up Seventh street to Grant street proved unavailing.

L. A. McNary, attorney for Heusner, stated that his client is willing to have the interurban traffic turn off Seventh street, at Flanders, but that he desires the rest of the street for urban service. Property owners of Seventh street thought they would feel a lot safer if Heusner were not permitted to have any franchise beyond Flanders, and the street committee, by a vote of 4 to 2, agreed with this view.

The franchises disposed of by the committee will be sent to the city attorney to be re-drafted for submission to the city council at the first meeting in December.

Tenth Meeting of S. W. Washington Congress Opens at Montesano.

Montesano, Wash., Nov. 22.—The tenth quarterly congress of the Southwestern Washington Development congress held jointly with the Olympic Peninsula Development league, opened its meeting this afternoon when President N. E. Coffman of Chehalis called the body to order. Mayor Eldredge Weber, in a neat and witty speech, gave the visitors the free rein of the city, with the admonition that "if you get thrown in jail send for me."

The committee from Chehalis county offered the following resolutions, which were adopted:

"Resolved, That Chehalis county is in favor of the Pacific highway, an appropriation of $75,000 for state road No. 9; that the next legislature pass a bill creating a state road between Eima and the Pacific highway at Olympia, via Summit lake; the amending of section 138 of the session laws of 1911, by further extending the zones and by reducing the restrictions on introducing petitions, so as to put it on a good operative basis; the wide tire bill and the building and maintenance of roads in all government reserves by the government."

A telegram was read from Judge J. T. Ronalds of Seattle, president of the Good Roads association, stating that he could not be present, but his paper, an interesting one on "Economic Value of Highway as a Developing Agency and Necessary Legislation," was read and well received. James P. Stapleton of Vancouver made a short address on the necessity of legislation for better roads.

The officers of the association are: N. E. Coffman, president, Chehalis; J. Ford, vice president, Olympia; E. H. S. Mulder, financial secretary, Centralia; county vice president, Mark L.
