

RANCHERS FIGHT IN LONELY CABIN

One Now at Death's Door Proclaims Friendship for His Assailant.

(Special to The Journal.) Burns, Or., Nov. 22.—Dick Haines was shot below the heart and through one lung at the home of his friend and neighbor, Sim Hall, by Hall himself, about 2 o'clock last Sunday night. Haines is a man of about 45 years, and Hall is 63 years old. Both are home-steaders in the same neighborhood. Anna Leonard, a ward of Hall's, was the only one present and was in an adjoining room when she realized that the men quarreling were about to do some shooting. Haines had gone over to Hall's place in the afternoon with a team and wagon to borrow a few sacks of grain. Hall invited him to stay awhile, saying he had a gallon jug of whiskey. Haines accepted the invitation and they had "a good time" until evening. When Haines started to go home, Hall insisted on his staying for supper, and after supper, for all night. So after putting up Haines' team both men returned to the house to continue the "good time." According to the statements of both, they became drunk. Miss Leonard says both of them were talking about their wives, and Hall made a remark that Haines interpreted differently from the meaning intended, and being a joke tempered and impulsive he started in to threaten Hall and finally to make an attempt on his life by taking a shot gun from the wall. When he did so Miss Leonard came from her room and asked Haines for the gun. He gave it to her, then he look down another, and she asked him for it and he gave it to her. Neither of these guns were loaded. Then he went into her room still in a rage, and hunting for a gun. Here he found a loaded shot gun, but the woman again succeeded in coaxing his gun from him. Then he assaulted Hall first with a broom and then with a chair. All this time Hall was able to take care of himself but Haines succeeded in forcing him into a corner and striking him. Hall resented this and was afraid of Haines, and pulling his revolver, which he always carried, he shot Haines. The Hall cabin is about 40 miles from Burns and about two miles from Harrison. It was 1 o'clock the next morn-

Accidental Shot Kills Horse.

(Special to The Journal.) Cottage Grove, Or., Nov. 22.—In a peculiar accidental discharge of a rifle the hind legs of a pack horse belonging to Harry and Thomas Parker, were broken just as the animal had been packed for a trip to one of the Parker properties a few days ago. Ed Lewis, a mixer in the party, had just thrown a shell into his gun. For some reason the hammer did not hold and the cartridge was exploded, causing the injury stated. The horse was so disabled that it was killed to end its misery.

STRANGE CASE OF TWO BROTHERS

One on Trial for Murder at Same Time as Other's Slayer.

(Special to The Journal.) Canyon City, Or., Nov. 22.—Circuit court for the Ninth judicial district, Judge Dalton Biggs presiding, is now in session. Two criminal cases of wide local interest will be tried this term, at the grand jury has returned indictments against W. G. Settle for the killing of Bert Crowley, which is a first degree charge, and one for manslaughter against Thomas Crowley for killing J. G. Swick. The facts published at the time want to show that Settle and Crowley had been at Susanville and together were on a drinking bout. They became badly intoxicated. On their way home they got into a drunken altercation, Settle accusing Crowley of stealing his bottle of whiskey. Settle went home and the next morning went in search of Crowley and met him riding horseback on the county road. Without speaking a word, Settle shot him with a rifle, killing him instantly. John Crowley, a brother of Bert Crowley, who was shot and killed by Settle, will be tried for the killing of J. G. Swick, which occurred last summer at the town of Hamilton. Swick and Crowley, who were friends, came into town together. Crowley became badly intoxicated. He was impounded by Swick to return home with him. Crowley refused, and Swick, with his son, who were horseback, started without him. They had proceeded on the road but a short distance when Crowley was seen approaching, riding his horse at a reckless run. Swick turned to one side of the road and his son to the other, but before they could get out of the way Crowley ran over the elder Swick. He received injuries from which he died the following day. Sheriff C. M. Collier left today en route for Salem, having in custody Al Smith, who entered a plea of guilty yesterday to the charge of larceny of a horse. Smith was given a sentence of from one to ten years. Hugh C. Wallace of the state of Washington, who is mentioned for the post of postmaster general in President Wilson's cabinet, is a son-in-law of the late Chief Justice, Melville W. Fuller.
