Lancashire, a Great Cotton Goods Center, Feels Results Severely and Manchester's Trade Is Hunt.

(By the International News Service.) ndan, Nov. 23 -- Manchester trade with the Near East, is now practically at a standstill, and there is a likelihood of short time being enforced in several mills and warehouses.

Lancashire will be affected by the Balkan war more than any other part of England, for cotton goods for a great part of England's made with Turkey. me idea of its extent can be gathered from the board of trade returns. These show that the total enumerated exports from Great Britain to Turkey during the nine months ending September, 1912, were $25,000,000. Of this amount, $18,000,000 represents the value of the cotton piece goods sent to Turkey. Turkey is the third best customer Lancashire has, only India and China taking nore cotton goods.

Anxiety is being felt in some quarters as to the probable effect of a victory of the Balkan states on Lanca-shire's trade with Turkey. Turkey is practically an open market for Lancachire goods. The other countries, particularly Bulgaria, are manufacturers themselves, and if they obtain a hold on Turkish territory, it is more than likely that they will do all they can to shut out Lancashire manufacturers. Lancashire would thus have to meet a dangerous rival on an unequal footing.
